IMPORTANT HOMESTEAD PROPERTY TAX NOTICE

"If the property you now own and live in was not being used by you - or by a "qualifying relative" - or by the previous owner - as a homestead on January 2, 1999, you can reduce the amount of property tax you will pay on your home in 2000 by applying to have the property classified as a homestead.

If you wish to claim homestead on a property that was not receiving the homestead classification in the past, you must contact the county assessor's office and make application on or before December 15, 1999.

You–or a "qualifying relative"–must have moved into the home you now own and live in it as a principal residence, on or before December 1, 1999, to apply to have the property classified as a homestead.

A "qualifying relative" is defined as a parent, step-parent, child, stepchild, grandparent, grandchild, brother, sister, uncle, or aunt, niece or nephew. The relationship may be by blood or by marriage.

If you should sell, move or for any reason no longer qualify for the homestead classification, you are required to notify the county assessor's office within 30 days of the change in homestead status.

To find out how to apply for the homestead classification and receive the proper application form contact the Marshall County Assessor at 208 E Colvin Ave., Warren, MN 56762 or call (218) 745-5331.

Application deadline for payable 2000 taxes: December 15, 1999.

CHANGES TO AGRICULTURAL HOMESTEAD LAW

Article 5, section 13 of the 1999 Omnibus Tax Bill allows agricultural homestead classification for farms of at least 40 acres where the farm owner does not live on the farm, but lives within four cities or townships from the farm, if the owner actively farms the land, is a MN resident, and neither the owner(s) nor the spouse claim another agricultural homestead in MN.

This section replaces the old, "Agricultural homestead: special provisions" statue, which remains in law but qualification is limited only to those who qualified and received this "special provision" for previous assessments. Any property in the county receiving this classification should continue to receive it as long as they continue to qualify. However, it is no longer available to other property owners beginning with the 1999 assessment.

The new legislation provides for homestead for noncontiguous farmland under the following conditions:

Agricultural property consisting of at least 40 acres shall be classified homestead to the same extent as other agricultural homestead property, if all of the following criteria are met:
(1) the owner is actively farming the agricultural property;
(2) the owner of the agricultural property is a MN resident;
(3) neither the owner nor their spouse may claim another agricultural homestead in MN; and
(4) the owner does not live farther than four townships or cities, or a combination of four townships or cities, from the agricultural property.

This new legislation is effective beginning with the 1999 assessment, taxes payable in 2000 and thereafter.

The following definition constitutes "actively farming."

Persons engaged in actively farming must participate in the day to day labor, administration and management of the farm. They must assume all or a portion of the financial risks and they must participate in any profits or losses.

Additionally,

- The applicant must own the farmland in question;
- The farmland must be a minimum of 40 acres in size and;
- The farmland must meet the definition of agricultural property contained in MN Statutes 273.124, Subd. 14(b).

This legislation provides another important departure from the past homestead requirements. Namely, the applicant can live in their own home but they can still qualify even if they live in an apartment, a rental home, a manufactured home park, a condominium or a cooperative.

Homestead application: This special homestead provision is only available to qualified individuals that make application by the filing deadline of December 15, 1999. Because the property owner must attest to certain facts that the assessor cannot possibly know, the classification cannot be given without a completed application. In order to monitor this homestead provision, the owner will be required to make annual application. This special homestead provision requires much more compliance on the part of the applicant than an ordinary homestead, particularly in the area of actively farming.

For applications you should contact the Marshall County Assessor at 208 E Colvin Ave., Warren, MN 56762 or call (218) 745-5331.

Application deadline for payable 2000 taxes: December 15, 1999.

State football playoffs move into Metrodome for semi, final rounds

Rest of the Section 8 state playoff qualifiers were beaten in the quarterfinals, including Fertile-Beltrami in Class A; Crookston in Class AAA, Sartell in Class AAAA, and Alexandria in Class AAAAA.

Deer/car collision hazard is highest during the fall

Fall harvest and increased activity associated with mating season puts deer and motorists at greatest risk from now through December. As the fall harvest picks up and as the deer rut nears its peak, the potential for deer-vehicle accidents increases.

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources urges motorists to take extra precautions while driving this time of year. Defensive driving is especially necessary during the fall because of the increased deer movement due to harvest activity and the rut. The rut may override a deer's normal instinct to move out of the path of approaching vehicles or to wait until a car has passed before attempting to cross a road.

A few minor adjustments in traveling habits can reduce the risk of a deer-vehicle collision, according to the DNR.

The DNR offers other tips that may help drivers avoid a deer-related accident:

- Slow down immediately when you see a deer if you can do so without causing a traffic hazard. Do this even if the deer already has crossed the road; the animal could turn back into your path. Also, deer often travel in groups, so other deer may follow.
- Deer are often dazed or confused by vehicle headlights. Try to scare the deer away from the roadside by flashing the lights or sounding the horn. Use emergency flashers or tap the brakes to alert vehicles behind you to the danger ahead.
- Some deer-vehicle collisions are unavoidable, occurring when a deer runs into the side of a moving vehicle or leaps out in front of a car. If this happens and you cannot stop, slow down but don't swerve wildly to avoid the animal. Some of the most severe deer-related accidents result when drivers lose control of their vehicles while trying to avoid deer. It's better to steer straight than to risk losing control.

Report deer-vehicle accidents to local law enforcement officials. Reports help the DNR track the frequency of deer-vehicle accidents.

To keep a road-killed deer for its meat, a person must contact a state conservation officer or local law enforcement office. Before the deer can be taken home, law requires written authorization from a conservation officer.

Minnesota Video

Nature set the stage and people played various parts in shaping Minnesota's landscape.

The dynamic interplay of these forces is the theme of "Living in the Landscape: Leaving Boundaries Behind," a 27-minute video recently produced for the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources by Hamline University's Center for Global Environmental Education.

A cinematic celebration of the state's natural heritage, the video explores the significance of three major North American ecological regions that meet in Minnesota: prairie, pineland and hardwood forest. Several leading Minnesotans, including photographer Jim Brandenburg and ecologist John Tester, describe their connections to the landscape and explain how this rich natural heritage is being conserved into the future.

The video is targeted to educators, community groups and other citizens who want to better understand Minnesota's landscape. It should be especially useful as an addition to curriculum that centers on ecology, geology, history, geography and sustainability. The program is intended for audiences 12-years-old and older, but it is suitable for viewing by all ages.

"Living in the Landscape" is available for $11.95 by calling toll-free 1-888-MINNDNR.

Turkey Permit Deadline

Wild turkey hunters who are interested in Minnesota's 2000 spring hunt must submit their applications by Friday, Dec. 3, according to Kevin Lines, Farmland Wildlife Program leader for the Department of Natural Resources. A total of 20,160 permits will be available for the 2000 spring wild turkey hunt, compared with 18,360 in 1999.

All wild turkey hunters who applied for the 1999 spring wild turkey hunt will be sent a reminder postcard with a peel-off label, Lines said. Interested hunters must pick up a spring wild turkey hunt application booklet, available from most license agents, county auditors' offices and the DNR Wildlife Section field offices.

A $3 application fee must accompany each hunter's application. Hunters age 18 or older must possess a DNR wild turkey stamp in addition to their license in order to hunt turkey in Minnesota.

The 2000 spring wild turkey hunt will consist of eight five-day seasons between April 12 and May 22 in 40 wild turkey permit areas.

Licenses are made available by a preference system drawing. This preference level is determined by the number of years that a hunter has submitted valid but unsuccessful applications.

To participate in the drawing, a person must be at least 16 years old or possess a firearms safety certificate prior to April 12, 2000.

For more information, call the DNR Information Center toll-free at 1-888-MINNDNR.

State Parks Deer Hunts

Deer hunts will take place in 22 Minnesota state parks in November and December this year. While most of the parks will remain open to the public during the hunts, for public safety reasons five parks will restrict use to special hunt permit holders only, due to the extensive area open for hunting in those parks.

According to Ed Quinn, State Parks Natural Resource Program coordinator, state parks annually host a number of deer hunts in order to manage park resources.

"Deer are part of the natural communities that we seek to preserve or restore in state parks," said Quinn. "When deer populations in an area become too high, however, they can have significant negative impacts on other components of the ecosystem. Heavy deer browsing on seedling trees during the winter can nearly eliminate regeneration of some tree species, such as pine." Quinn added that deer browse can also greatly reduce the number and variety of wildflowers and other herbaceous plants that grow on the forest floor.

"We do utilize a variety of other techniques, such as bud-capping and exclosures to control levels of deer browse," Quinn said. "Our overall goal is to manage the deer population in the parks so that their numbers are at a level that does not negatively affect the other natural resources. In some cases, that is best accomplished through special hunts."

DNR officials strongly suggest that visitors plan on wearing blaze orange while they are in any park where a special hunt is occurring. Visitors should also refer to park maps to familiarize themselves with where the no hunting zones are in the park. Maps of the no hunting zones will be posted on park bulletin boards or can be obtained at the park office.

Applications for antlerless permits and special area permits were made on the permit application card. Successful applicants have been notified by mail. While most of the hunts are designated for regular firearms, six parks will hold hunts for muzzleloaders, and one park will hold a hunt for bow and arrow only.

Area state parks that will hold special hunts include Itasca (Nov. 6-14); Lake Bronson (Nov. 11-14); Maplewood (Nov. 13-16; and Zippel Bay (Nov. 6-14).

Grouse Expert Wins Award

He'll talk your ear off when it comes to sharp-tailed grouse, but Bill Berg was left speechless recently when he was presented with one of the most prestigious awards given to grouse biologists.

Berg, a Minnesota Department of Natural Resources wildlife biologist, was honored on Sept. 22 at the 23rd biennial meeting of the Prairie Grouse Technical Council in Gimli, Manitoba. The council consists of North America's top sharp-tailed grouse and prairie chicken experts.

The council's Hamerstrom Award is given each year to individuals or organizations who've made extraordinary contributions to the science or management of prairie grouse. The award is named after noted Wisconsin bird biologists Fred and Fran Hamerstrom.

"Bill is a great combination of wildlife scientist and practical manager who cares about people and resource use," said Dan Svedarsky, a wildlife biologist with the University of Minnesota, Northwest Experimental Station at Crookston and a past council president.

For decades, Berg has championed Minnesota's sharp-tailed grouse. Once common through much of northern and central Minnesota, the bird populations declined drastically from the mid-1980s to the mid-1990s, due mainly to the loss of open brushland habitats. Throughout that time, Berg banged the drum of brushland restoration and helped secure a $200,000 grant from the Legislative Commission on Minnesota Resources in 1995 to study the feasibility of brushland biomass. He also helped obtain more than $300,000 per year for brushlands as part of the 1998 Governor's Access to the Outdoors initiative. During the past four years, Berg has documented an increase in sharptail numbers.

Berg, who earned bachelors and masters degrees in wildlife management from the University of Minnesota, has worked for the DNR since 1971. He is currently stationed at Grand Rapids with the agency's Forest Wildlife Research Group. In addition to tabulating Minnesota's yearly sharptail population surveys, writing articles on grouse, and promoting brushlands in Minnesota, Berg is one of the founders and driving forces of the Minnesota Sharp-tailed Grouse Society. The group promotes public awareness of sharptails, organizes brush-cuttings to reinvigorate brushlands, and prepares habitat management guidelines. In recent years, Berg has found time to help organize similar groups in Manitoba, Wisconsin and Michigan.

"They say one person can't make much of a difference in the field of natural resources, but it's a plain fact that if it weren't for Bill, sharp-tailed grouse would never have had much of a chance of recovering in Minnesota," said Roger Holmes, Minnesota DNR Fish and Wildlife Division director.

Perch Regulations

To maintain a quality perch fishery, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources is proposing to reduce the yellow perch bag limit for all inland waters to 20 daily and 30 in possession. This regulation would go into effect May 13, 2000.

DNR Section of Fisheries biologists determined that yellow perch were being over-harvested on some waters and that reducing the limit was the best way to maintain a quality fishery. Extensive statewide and local public input and analysis of perch population and harvest data on Lake Winnibigoshish were used to make this decision.

Possession limit for yellow perch, which is currently 100 for inland waters, reflects a time when perch were not as highly valued as they are today. As recently as 1978, there were no limits on perch harvest. Today, perch are a popular panfish in Minnesota. The current 100-fish limit has resulted in over harvest of larger perch on Winnibigoshish, one of Minnesota's premier perch fisheries. Surveys on Winnibigoshish over the last 25 years indicate that over-harvest is causing the average size and weight of perch to decline.

Biologists have determined that declines in the average weight and number of perch greater than 9 inches will continue unless harvest rates are reduced by at least 60 percent.

"The proposed regulation is necessary if we expect to maintain or increase the number of decent-sized fish on Winnibigoshish and other lakes where perch are under a lot of harvest pressure," said Ron Payer, DNR Fisheries Section chief.

"This is the first time in recent years that the DNR has proposed different daily and possession limits for game fish species," added Payer. "On all other fish species, the daily and possession limit is the same for statewide inland water regulations."

Although the perch decline is most evident on Winnibigoshish, the bag limit reduction is proposed for all inland waters to avoid similar problems developing on other lakes.

MN women honored at convention

American Agri-Women honored Myrna Evanson of Climax with the Leaven Award. The presentation was made at the closing banquet of the 24th annual meeting and convention in Green Bay, WI. Evanson received the award with four other women: Buenta Barger of Clay Center, KS; Jacquie Compston, Wellington, NV; Orabelle Fischer of Valders, WI; and Pat Lawfer of Stockton, IL.

The Leaven Award is named for leaven or yeast, a small element that can interact and influence everything around it. It permeates and raises the elements with which it is mixed. Leaven multiplies its effectiveness for good. American Agri-Women presents the Leaven Award to those persons who, to an outstanding degree, have acted as "leaven" for the organization. It is the highest honor that can be bestowed upon a member of the organization.

First Care honors Home Health Care

In honor of the nation's home care and hospice professionals and volunteers, First Care Medical Services is joining the nation's home health and hospice providers in celebrating November as both National Home Care Month and National Hospice Month.

National Hospice Month. Sponsored by the Hospice Association of America and the National Hospice Organization, the month-long celebration not only pays tribute to hospice providers who are dedicated to providing physical, spiritual, and emotional support to terminally ill patients. It also serves as a means of increasing public awareness about choices in end-of-life care that are available in the community.

"All too often people facing terminal illness don't know where to turn for comfort and support," said Marinell Waterworth, division I manager of First Care Hospice. "Through this celebration, our goal is to diminish the fears that make people reluctant to talk about death and to let them know about the supportive, compassionate and pain-relieving services that hospice provides."

To recognize the very special care that hospice professionals and volunteers offer to patients and their families who are coping with life's most challenging transition, this year's NHM theme is, "Hospice: Exceptional Care for the People You Love."

First Care Medical Services Hospice provides comprehensive health and supportive services for patients in northern Minnesota who have reached the final part of life's journey, along with the families of these patients. Its team of professionals and volunteers provide services ranging from high tech nursing and medical care to basic assistance with the activities of daily living and bereavement counseling.

National Home Care Month. "Home Care: The Spirit of Health Care in the 21st Century," a month-long celebration sponsored by the National Association for Home Care, pays tribute to the dedicated home care professionals and volunteers who enable elderly, disabled, and chronically ill individuals to live their lives where they want to most — in their own homes. As America's elderly population continues to rapidly grow, home health care will play a pivotal role in health care delivery into the 21st century and beyond.

"Studies and common sense have shown that given a choice, the vast majority of people faced with disability or illness would prefer to remain at home instead of in a hospital or institution," said Lori Sundbom, director of First Care Home Health and Hospice, "Home care professionals and volunteers provide the high quality health care and the close, personal contact that allows that to happen."

In addition to recognizing the work of home care providers, NHCM serves to educate the public about issues affecting home care and the home care services available in their local communities.

First Care Home Health Care's mission is to provide comprehensive in-home health and supportive services for northern Minnesota's disabled and chronically ill patients and their families. Its caregiving team offers services ranging from basic assistance with daily living to advanced medical treatment."

Rydell Refuge hosts Christmas tree harvest

Rydell National Wildlife Refuge (NWR) will be hosting its second annual Christmas tree harvest. This year it will be conducted on two days, December 4 and 5.

A second day has been added this year to accommodate the schedules of all those wanting to cut a Christmas tree. Bring a hand saw (no chainsaws allowed) and cut your own tree. There are plenty of trees to choose from. The cost will be $10 per tree. It would be a good opportunity for the whole family to do something together in the great outdoors. Hopefully, it will be an experience similar to days of old.

Hours for tree cutting will be from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. on Saturday, and 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. on Sunday. The Refuge Visitor Center will be open to warm-up and have a hot cup of cocoa or coffee and cookie. Depending upon snow conditions the trails may be open for cross-country skiing and snow shoeing.

Volunteers and U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service staff will be on hand to register those who wish to cut a tree, orient them to the field where the trees will be harvested and assist with tree removal. The removal of the conifer stands is part of the management goal of the Refuge. Eventually these stands will be replaced by native tallgrass prairie and by a maple, basswood forest.

The money collected from the tree sale will go to the Friends of Rydell Refuge Association (FRRA). The mission of the FRRA is to promote a better understanding and appreciation of the natural and cultural history, natural environment and wildlife management of the Rydell National Wildlife Refuge.

During the winter season volunteers open the Visitor Center on Sundays from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Trails are open for outdoor activities such as cross-country skiing and snow shoeing.

To get to Rydell NWR go three miles east of Mentor or three miles west of Erskine on U.S. Highway 2 and turn south on Polk County 210. Follow 210 about 2.5 miles south to the large entrance sign and main gate of the Refuge. If arriving from the south, turn north off Polk County 41 onto Polk County 210 and go about 3.5 miles north and turn left at the Refuge entrance sign. For more information contact Paul or Mary Soler at 218-687-2229.

Groups cooperate to launch sale of uniform feeder calves

Feeder calves that meet specific health standards will be grouped in uniform lots by size and color for a special sale December 9 in Bagley.

The occasion will be the first ever Minnesota Quality Assured Feeder Calf Sale, a cooperative effort of several public and private organizations.

The sale makes it possible for producers selling small numbers of calves to group their animals with those of other producers.

"Calves in uniform lots are usually more attractive to buyers," says Terry Nennich, educator in Clearwater county with the University of Minnesota Extension Service.

Nennich says the Minnesota Quality Assured program is a way to add value to calves. The program is administered through the Minnesota Department of Agriculture. The Extension Service is working with producers to certify that calves meet the health standards specified in the program. Local veterinarians and the Bagley Livestock Exchange are cooperating with producers, Extension and the Minnesota Department of Agriculture to prepare calves and organize the sale.

All calves in the sale will come from certified farms and be immunized with modified live vaccines against a series of bovine diseases. The calves will be healed from dehorning and castration and will be delivered to the sale barn 24 hours before the sale.

"Any feeder calf marketing outlet can implement a Minnesota Quality Assured sale by identifying cattle that meet the specific quality and health standards of the program," says Nennich. "The Minnesota Department of Agriculture issues the license for certifying that calves meet the standards."

Calves consigned to the December 9 sale at Bagley must be delivered to the Bagley Livestock Exchange sale barn by 2 p.m. December 8. The cattle will be weighed and sorted upon arrival.

For more information or to consign calves to the sale, contact Nennich at (218) 694-6151.

Northwest Technical College in Moorhead is offering a course designed to prepare the boiler operator or those preparing for employment as a boiler operator to take either the Minnesota Low Pressure (C Level) or Minnesota High Pressure (Levels A and B) Boiler Exam for a number of classes.

The class will run on Tuesdays from February 1, 2000 through April 4, 2000. The class will meet on Tuesdays from 6 to 10 p.m. in room 105 at Northwest Technical College in Bemidji.

Challenger Elementary and Preschool students accepted the Millennium Madness challenge to read 2,000 books by the year 2000 end, as of late last week, had already read approximately 1,800 books. Paper chains whose links represent books read by the students decorate the hallway at the school. The second grade classes of Mrs. Dalagar and Mrs. Campball hold one of the chains which is ready to be hung.

Students participating in the Millennium Madness challenge write the names of the books they read on strips of paper which are then made into chains and hung in the hallways of the school. Shown with the materials used for the project are Heley Tele and Brian Hruby. Parent volunteers have helped construct the chains. Students, challenged to read 2,000 books by the year 2000, have already read approximately 1,800 books.

Lutheran Social Service promotes respite program

November 21-28 is National Caregivers Week. This is a wonderful time to say thank you to the approximately 18 to 25 million family caregivers in America.

Caregivers are people who assist others who are chronically ill, disabled or elderly. Caregivers help others with daily personal activities such as shopping, bathing and feeding. They are parents, friends, spouses, siblings, children, and neighbors. They give so much to the ones they love.

Lutheran Social Services, in cooperation with the Minnesota Extension Service, is presently operating the LSS Respite and Caregiver Support program to lend a hand to caregivers so they can have some time off from their caregiving responsibilities.

Volunteer respite care services provide short term relief for caregivers while they are absent or unable to provide care for their loved one. Non-medical, in-home services are available in their home.

Continuous efforts are being made to identify caregivers who need assistance and volunteers to provide respite care. Referrals from public and private agencies, churches, and the public are vital to the success of this program.

Speakers are available to do presentations to any interested groups, individuals, or congregations. For more information call 1-800-317-4845 or 1-218-281-5975.

Bikers deliver stuffed animals to First Care

The North Star-Bemidji Chapter of ABATE (American Bikers for Awareness, Training and Education) recently delivered 15 stuffed animals known as "Buddy Bears" to First Care Medical Services Ambulance department.

ABATE raises money for the Buddy Bears through donations they receive. The bears are given to children who are in need of medical attention by an ambulance, or First Responder group.

"I just want to convey our sincere thanks to the North Star Chapter of ABATE for the Buddy Bears." Said Jim Augenes, manager of the First Care Ambulance. "When a child is dealing with a traumatic event like an injury or a house fire, something like a Buddy Bear to cuddle up to offers comfort."

The Buddy Bears will be divided up among the Winger, McIntosh, Fosston and Erskine Fire Departments, and First Care Medical Services Ambulance.

MN Department of Agriculture trying to keep pace with changing times

by Gene Hugoson
Commissioner
MN Department of Agriculture

International marketing, risk management, and diversification: In years past these terms were more often associated with Fortune 500 companies than rural Minnesota farmers. Heading into the 21st century, however, it is becoming more apparent than ever that successful farmers must not only be skilled producers but also savvy business managers.

As the agricultural industry goes through this incredible transition, the Minnesota Department of Agriculture is moving to keep pace. Through efforts such as our state meat inspection program, our international trade missions, our work with marketing clubs, and our recently released contract guide for producers, we have strived to find new ways to meet the changing needs of Minnesota farmers. We are placing emphasis on helping farmers find new marketing options and more information.

Other examples of our efforts to keep pace with the fast-changing global marketplace can be found in Governor Jesse Ventura's Big Plan. In the fourth segment of the Big Plan, the Governor describes his vision of Minnesota as a thriving world competitor. Agriculture is a key component in this area, and the Big Plan stresses the importance of the state promoting Minnesota agricultural products abroad, promoting innovation and value-added activity at home, and tackling burdensome and needless regulations. The Governor's Big Plan also points out the need for diversifying Minnesota's commodity base through the market-driven development of new crops.

One final example of how we are adjusting to the changes in agriculture can be found inside the MDA Commissioner's office itself. In the last month, we have brought aboard two highly respected specialists we believe will help us serve farmers better.

David Bullock, formerly the senior economist at the Minneapolis Grain Exchange, joined the Department in early October. He will develop and implement stronger risk management tools. Bullock has a doctorate in agricultural economics from Iowa State University and has previous experience as an assistant professor and extension marketing specialist at Montana State University.

We have also added Paul Strandberg to our staff. Strandberg represented the MDA for years while working as an attorney in the Minnesota Attorney General's office. In his new position at the MDA, which he started in early October, he will assist the Commissioner's office with policy analysis, development and support. His focus will be on reviewing producer contracts and evaluating the regulatory structures needed to prevent contracting abuses. He will also educate producers about their contracting rights and responsibilities.

I am very pleased to add these two experts to our staff. I am confident they will be valuable sources of information and education for Minnesota farmers who are looking for ways to survive and thrive in the next century.

Of course, as any biologist will tell you, evolution is an ongoing process. In the coming months, the MDA will conduct a strategic analysis of our internal structures and business plans. We will look at the specific ways agriculture has changed and how the MDA can evolve to follow suit.

The bottom line, of course, is that a government agency like the MDA serves the citizens best by being responsive to change. That is the motivation behind all our efforts I have described in this column, and it is our goal to continue being responsive to change. If anyone has any questions about the moves we have made or the additional plans we have for helping farmers in the future, I invite them to contact my office at 90 West Plato Boulevard, St. Paul, 55107, or call at 651-297-3219.

The weather in northwest Minnesota isn't hard to take these days, up in the 60 and 70 degrees. It is now 4 o'clock and the sun is almost down on the horizon. It no sooner goes down than so do all four of Roy's trusty thermometers, down to frosting, but the ground isn't frozen at all.

Hazel planted her tulips and other spring flowers about two weeks ago and they are already up. Morris covered them with straw and the wind not only blew the straw away last week, but also a bundle of shingles off the barn roof. There is a strange phenomenon of life in seeds and bulbs which can cause them to sprout if the temperature and soil is right and her straw bales can't stop them from growing right through them. Because they are perennials, they may come up in the spring again, or at least the next year. Maybe Hazel has discovered a new kind of tulips and daffodils??

I've been wishing for this kind of weather all fall, for the time when I have to spend a couple of days in Fargo to catch up on the income taxes. If it could be earlier in the year, it would be great, but they keep changing the rules even after the first of the year, and sometimes after April 15. There is nothing as good as dry roads as we venture away out on the prairie and if the fellows reading these newfangled weather informers are correct, we won't have bad roads until Thursday, the day of our first snowfall???

The clock changing back to normal and my mind clock in sync with saving daylight, instead of awakening at 6 a.m. or so, it is now at 7 a.m. or so. Already in the morning I'm an hour behind time and regardless how I hurry, the day isn't long enough to catch up again. I think the people in Arizona have a good idea and stay normal all the time but being so far south their daylight hours don't change as much as ours.

The Strandquist Seniors met last Thursday and finished tying the last quilt for this year and also got other things ready for next week when they plan to close for the winter. They will go to Irene's Cafe for dinner and then go to the Center, cook coffee and serve cookies etc. to the public, who are all invited to come to their sale. I hope to see you there.

Richard and Nancy Johnson of Albertville, Scot Wikstrom of Oakdale, and Scot's friend Greg Meyer of Minneapolis were guests of Elphie Adlis while they were up here hunting last weekend.

Orlean Boen of Minneapolis and his son, Gary who pastors in Iowa, had afternoon coffee at Isaac Thompson's home.

Jim and Cindy Wetterlund of East Grand Forks visited with Morris and Hazel Anderson on Sunday.

Saturday afternoon, Carol Thompson of Red Lake Falls, and Elmer Holmstrom of Newfolden visited at Isaac and Betsy Thompson's home.

Becky Johnson, Michelle and Jake called on Peter and Pearl Thompson on Thursday afternoon.

Melanie Lefrooth of St. Paul arrived home on Thursday to celebrate Donnie Lefrooth's birthday. On Friday, Donnie, Merlys and Melanie had dinner at Elsie Lefrooth's home.

Isaac and Betsy Thompson had dinner with Peter and Pearl Thompson on Sunday. After dinner they were joined by Merlys Lefrooth for a 2 p.m. program at the Healthcare Center in Karlstad.

Claudia Berggren, Kali and Cheyenne, and Pat Larson, Katie and Rebecca were visitors at the Judy Kleinvachter's home last week.

Shirley Lefrooth and Hazel Anderson visited Elsie Lefrooth on Friday. Marcelyn Lindstrom stopped by to give her mother her new address at Park Rapids where they have moved to live. We miss you both a lot.

Roy just returned from Robert Halberg's home with four five-gallon buckets of good rain water for our flowers. We haven't had any rain for awhile and he doesn't really like the idea of melting snow for them so he stores rain water. When Robert Halberg called it took no coaxing for him to take off for it. Roy is a farmer at heart and the flowers show it. Thanks!

New Book

John Helley tells me that he has completed the first of two books he plans to write. It is entitled "The Fadden Pioneers 1854-1930" and deals with his grandfather's life - how they were befriended by Indians and taught many useful ways after immigrating to the USA from Ireland. They settled at Henderson, Minnesota and lived a pioneer life and later moved to Grand Forks, ND by covered wagon. There they were active in city affairs. The book also deals with the Sioux uprising in 1862. There is much more, and I'm sure we'll find it a very interesting book. It will be in the Grand Forks Historical Society and the University of North Dakota Libraries. Be sure to watch for it! Congratulations, John!

Corporate Accountability Law Gives Cities Power over Subsidies

by Beth Fraser
Minnesota Editorial Forum

Minnesotans continue to argue over giving the Minnesota Twins corporation millions of dollars to build a new stadium. However, this is just the most visible example of private business asking the government for a handout. In Minnesota, officials at all levels of government regularly give corporations welfare, usually with little public attention.

Fortunately, a law passed earlier this year by the Minnesota legislature significantly changes how city and state governments can provide subsidies to corporations. As a result of years of effort by citizens throughout the state, Minnesota now has the nation's strongest law controlling the use of taxpayer dollars to subsidize businesses. From now on, these subsidies must face a new level of public scrutiny and accountability.

The new law requires that all subsidies to private business given out at the local or state level must meet strict criteria designed to safeguard investments of public money. In the future, deals like the state's 1991 subsidy of Northwest Airlines, or St. Paul's $101 million gift to Lawson Software, will have to be evaluated in public and in a whole new light.

Proposals for business subsidies must now define how the project benefits the public interest. State and local government agencies must set standard criteria for evaluating all subsidy proposals. In addition, companies receiving public money are now required to make a commitment to remain in the community for at least five years.

The new law also requires that the public receive prior notification about local subsidies over $100,000 and state subsidies over $500,000, and have a chance to voice its opinion at a public hearing. Final decisions must be made by an elected body whose members can be held accountable by voters.

The law strengthens the payback requirements for corporations that fail to meet their commitments to job creation and wage goals. It also establishes penalties for corporations and local governments that fail to report their progress toward achieving the subsidy's goals.

Currently, city councils, local and regional economic development authorities, county boards, port authorities and housing and redevelopment authorities across Minnesota are learning that they must establish legal criteria to evaluate all corporate subsidy proposals. The law requires the criteria to include a wage policy governing the jobs that the company intends to create. Therefore, we can insist that corporations receiving a public subsidy pay livable wages of over $16,450 a year, which is still barely enough to bring a family of four up to the poverty level. The law also gives citizens an opportunity to define the type of corporate behavior they are willing to subsidize. For example, the City of Mankato is proposing that businesses receiving subsidies dedicate no less than five percent of the subsidy to a program encouraging housing opportunities for their employees. Depending on the priorities of the sponsoring jurisdiction, there are countless options for shaping subsidy criteria.

A community could require that the number of jobs to be created be proportionate to the amount of corporate welfare (one job for every $35,000 in subsidies is a benchmark for loans backed by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development). Or, a city could require that a business provide healthcare benefits, contribute to child care costs or provide funds for retirement accounts. A regional economic development authority could decide that it is important for the company to respect workers' right to organize, not cause layoffs at other local businesses, or not have standing violations with the Environmental Protection Agency.

The possibilities are endless, but the results are likely to be quite limited if elected officials and economic development managers are left to make these decisions by themselves. Subsidy criteria will only reflect a community's values if its residents are engaged in the process of establishing them.

To make sure that the new law works as intended, we will have to make sure our elected representatives stay focused on the public good and require something tangible in return for its citizens' money.

Students explore careers in their hometown

Recently, I was one of several presenters at a Career Information Day at Lincoln High School, which is organized by the chamber of commerce and the school. During the year, students are asked to attend one or more of several sessions on careers. Area business people generally volunteer as presenters for the "career exploration" activity. I've been a presenter for a number of years, and though I dragged my feet the first year, I now find the event interesting, and if not interesting, certainly entertaining. Sometimes it's even enlightening.

I'm always a little afraid I'll be sitting alone or be forced to talk about myself or the career of journalism to students who have no interest in either. Who could blame them. Not that I don't find journalism interesting myself, but students are well . . . students. At times they surprise us with inciteful comments and demonstrate incredible knowledge about issues that could only be learned from personal experience, but generally, they are more interested in what's happening now. To them, the future is bright, but still a long ways off. That's not a bad way to be. There are times too when I'd rather think only of the moment.

This year the students asked very intelligent questions right off the bat and without any encouragement. They seemed genuinely interested.

I told them that journalism is a good career. An education in journalism will demand that they be disciplined, and require accurate reporting under deadline pressure, and above all, demand constant learning.

Two of the students attending Career Information Day have already demonstrated an ability to write. One of those students recently won an award for her writing. She faced some difficult issues in writing the story and hopefully learned a great deal from the experience. This student and several others are given the opportunity to write for The Times in a special column called "On the Other Hand." Over the years, students have covered a wide range of topics that are important to them. Sometimes they open up in their writing and offer adults a view of their world. As a friend said, "It's an interesting read."

I considered it an honor visiting with those students. I'm sure the other volunteers would have similar comments and would agree that the community, school district and their parents, should be very proud of these students. In addition, school district administration, staff and teachers, should be congratulated for continuing their efforts to involve the community in the education of these students.

"The 55th annual Firemen's Ball, longest-standing social event staged in Thief River Falls, will be staged in the municipal auditorium on Thanksgiving Eve, Wednesday, November 23, under the sponsorship of the local fire department, Chief Roy Langevin stated today. Music for dancing will be supplied by Aaseby's orchestra. Langevin added that a portion of the proceeds of the event will be used to purchase dolls to be given at Christmastime to needy children of this community."

Lions Club Will Stage Annual Turkey Party Friday

"The Lions club is preparing to accommodate another capacity crowd Friday evening, November 18, when it stages its second annual benefit turkey game party in the municipal auditorium, Bill LaFave, general chairman, stated today. He added that the proceeds of the affair will be used to defray the cost of the annual Lions-sponsored community Halloween party and of the club's Kiddies Carnival to be staged this winter. The games will get under way at 8 o'clock."

Legion Building Formal Opening Is Slated Nov. 26

"Eklund-Holmstrom post of the American Legion will hold the formal opening of its new home in the recently purchased Hanson Motor company building on Main avenue south Saturday evening, November 26, it was announced today by A. C. Tiedeman, post commander.

"Under the direction of Robert Bredeson, chairman of the building committee, remodeling of the quarters is now being completed, much of the work being done by volunteer helpers. To celebrate the opening, a banquet will be staged at 7 o'clock, with the principal speaker being Oscar R. Lewis of Bagley, post department commander of the Legion."

National Guard Chorus Of Twenty Voices Formed

"A new choral group, with its membership restricted to members of Company F of the National Guard, has been organized in this city. Dr. Robert M. Watson, medical officer of the company, is director of the group of twenty young men, while Ardell Ripley is accompanist. The chorus practices each Tuesday evening preceding guard drill."

Area Trade School Opens Next Monday

"The area vocational school will formally open its doors for classes next Monday, November 21, at 8:30 a.m., to begin training in the all-day trade courses in electricity and auto mechanics. The course in practical nursing will open a little later, the exact date of which will be announced when finally determined.

"Equipment and tools are being installed this week in the shops in preparation for the opening of the school. While all details and equipment of the school, in its final form, will not be complete for the opening, sufficient machines, tools and accessories will be assembled to carry on instruction.

"Students already enrolled are asked to report at the vocational school between 8:30 and 9:00 a.m. on Monday ready to begin work.

"Further information on courses may be obtained by calling at the office of W. G. Claffy, superintendent of schools, or by calling this week at the area vocational school and seeing C. W. Pope, director of the school."

SUPT. OF POLICE

A Number of Applications for this Position.

"Mayor Kretzschmar is just now receiving some advice on the matter of whom to appoint superintendent of police for the next two years. Ed Baker last week circulated a petition endorsing him for the position, and states that it was signed by about two-thirds of the businessmen of the city. George Lipscomb had his petition in the field early in the week and it was quite generally signed by those who had not already pledged support to other candidates. William Benzie, the present chief, is not adverse to being reappointed and a number of the friends of Ed. Wilcox are urging him to enter the contest. Mr. Kretzschmar intends to carefully consider all applicants and then use his own good judgement in the matter."

FOR THE SEASON

The Saw Mill Was Closed Down Tuesday.

"The Thief River Falls Lumber company saw mill at this point closed down Tuesday. The mill has been running steadily all summer, giving employment to nearly 300 men, and has been proved to be great benefit to the city. Next year the output will be larger, as the company will cut about 40,000,000 feet of pine this winter. A number of the men employed about the saw mill are making arrangements to go into the woods, but employment will be given to a large number in this city. The mill will be repaired and some new machinery put in, and a large planing mill and stable built."

Out in Society

Oriental Tea

"An Oriental Tea will be served by the Girl Scouts on Saturday, November 15, at the Legion rooms. Beginning at 3 p.m. the lunch will be served until 7:30 p.m. Come and eat. It will cost you only 15 cents, and at the same time you will be helping a good cause."

Election Party

"Dr. and Mrs. O. A. Penney entertained a few friends at an election party last Tuesday evening. The hours were passed playing cards and listening to the election returns as they came in over the radio. Besides the hosts, were present Mr. and Mrs. John Bratrud, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Chommie, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Dolan, and Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Melgaard."

Armistice Dance

"The American Legion Armistice dance, which was given last evening at the city auditorium, proved a fitting wind-up to the day's celebration. A profusion of balloons, horns, ticklers, rattlers, and other carnival favors added to the general merriment and Snyder's orchestra furnished excellent music. A very large crowd was present to participate in the fun."

St. John's Lutheran Church

"E. H. Kreidt, Pastor. Sunday school at 9:30 a.m. German service at 10:30 a.m. German service at Holt at 1:30 p.m. Second Bible class lecture Wednesday at 7:45 p.m. Being 'American Education Week', Pastor Kreidt will speak on 'Religion: a Necessary Part of Education.' Lunch will be served after the lecture. Everyone is cordially invited to attend."

"Club dance Saturday night

"There is a great demand for men in the lumbering camps this month. All companies are figuring on making a big cut this winter.

"It is surprising the amount of poor butter that has been brought to town the past month. What puzzles us is that they even get a cent a pound for it.

"Stay up tonight, cast your eyes heavenward and look for the meteorite shower that is predicted and claimed to be the grandest sight in nature. The best time to observe is between midnight and sunrise tonight.

"A dozen men or more tried to stop the runaway team of A. Dainard's yesterday without success. Outside of the buggy pole and whiffletrees broken, little damage was done. The team finally stopped at the muskeg.

"The gates of both dams were thrown wide open Sunday afternoon and by Monday noon the water was lowered about seven feet sufficient to begin work at the old dam where they will tow pile and otherwise improve it. A large crew are now at work and doing a first-class job.

"The St. Hilaire Lumber company shut down its mill last Friday for this season. They have been playing in the best of luck as they have run the entire season without an accident or breakdown. The night crew laid off early in the season for want of logs but regardless of that the little mill sawed a little over thirty one million feet. Next year's cut promises to be a large one as the company has now on hand ten million feet of logs that are ready for the saw and work will begin as soon as the river opens next spring."

REGULAR BOARD MEETING
October 25, 1999
7:00 p.m.
S.D.S.C. Conference Room A

A regular Board meeting of Independent School District #564 was held on Monday, October 25, 1999, at 7:00 p.m. in Conference Room A of the School District Service Center.

The following Board members were present: Carl Clark, Barb Kalinoski, Lyle Olson, Mike Spears, Randy Twistol and Steve Young. Also present was Dr. Jerry Robicheau, Superintendent of Schools.

Chairperson Steve Young called the meeting to order and appointed Mike Spears as acting clerk. A quorum was established.

A motion was made by R. Twistol and seconded by L. Olson to approve the agenda as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

Information was distributed regarding the MSBA Annual Leadership Conference to be held on January 13 & 14 in Minneapolis.

The Board thanked the following for their recent donations to the Little Brother/Little Sister Program: City of Thief River Falls, Bethany Church of Red Lake Falls, United Way, Kiwanis Club, First National Bank, Sportsmen's Club, TRF Lioness Club and the American Legion. The St. Hilaire Community Center was also recognized for their donation of $500.00 to the Lincoln High School Scholarship Program.

Roy Lunde from Brady Martz presented the 1998-99 audit report to the school board. He indicated that the fund balance is approximately $900.00 per pupil unit. He is very pleased with that, however, he is concerned and expressed caution regarding the declining enrollment that is taking place in the school district. It will be necessary to address the fund balance considering this decline in enrollment.

Carl Clark and Lyle Olson reported on negotiations indicating two meetings were held with the teachers group in the last couple of weeks. There are a few language items and financial issues that need to be addressed. Carl and Lyle also reported they are close to a settlement with the administrators.

Mike Spears and Carl Clark reported on behalf of the facilities committee indicating they met and discussed a couple of issues, a proposal to make the District Service Center handicapped accessible and discussion regarding wiring for technology at Lincoln High School and upgrading the phone systems in the three buildings.

Barb Kalinoski reported on the October 18 MEC Center Joint Powers Board Meeting. The BMX track was on the agenda but there was no report as more information is being developed. Barb also noted that fencing around the football field is to be installed in October and there is $13,000 left to fund-raise for Phase I. Dedication of the center has been moved to September of 2000; however, there will be a fall walk-through for those individuals who would be interested in doing that. Discussion was held regarding the track and the commitment the district must make. The district will be taking steps, with the support of the Joint Powers Board, to assure that the track does not present an unexpected liability to the district.

Business Manager Harry Nelson reviewed the recommendation to get specifications to install an elevator in the District Service Center. Projected estimated cost is $185,000 to $200,000. It is anticipated that bids will be developed in January and February for work to be done in the summer of 2000. The district can levy approximately $192,000.00 to assist in the cost of this project. Harry also reviewed the recommendation to proceed with wiring for technology at Lincoln High School at a cost of approximately $53,000.00. It is anticipated that bids would be let in December and awarded in January with work to be completed in July. The recommendation to install voice mail and upgrade the phone system would cost approximately $10,000.00 at Challenger. At Lincoln, the cost of upgrading their phone system would be approximately $40,000.00 and at Franklin, the cost would also be approximately $49,000.00.

Superintendent Jerry Robicheau discussed the goals that have been outlined by the School Board. Incentive goals for the superintendent were identified. It was recommended that the strategies identified as new would be earmarked as incentive goals and continuation of the goals be part of the incentive strategies as well.

The issue of fund-raising for student activities was presented to the Board and discussion was held regarding the process that is used for soliciting and collecting information from organizations involved in fund raising. There was discussion regarding establishing guidelines and overall objectives for fund raising and representatives from the different organizations will be asked to meet with the Board. It was decided that the superintendent would work with the Board chair in developing a process for getting information regarding fund raising.

A motion was made by L. Olson and seconded by B. Kalinoski to approve the minutes of the October 11, 1999, regular Board meeting as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

Concerns about elected officials/employees aired

■ Mayor feels it's a direct attack upon his reputation, but others feel he's taking it too personally

Points of order or procedure raised by Superintendent Arlo Rude have stirred up emotions of city councilmen and Mayor Mark Borsheim. Borsheim believes the questions raised by Rude amount to a personal attack and retribution for questions he raised at a recent council meeting. Rude denies that it has anything to do with a recent dispute.

Last Thursday the Public Utilities Committee discussed the list, which questions the roll of a city employee serving on the city council. Fifteen questions in the letter include:

Rude said he was concerned that there be rules or guidelines for city employees in the future. The rules and guidelines would help city employees who chose to run for office that a separation of duties must exist.

(Borsheim is not the only city employee has run for office. During the last election Roger Meunier, who works for the Parks and Recreation department, ran for representative at large.)

Jean Heinrichs said Rude raised some very good questions that should be answered by the council. There is a potential for a conflict of interest, she said.

Don Barron, chairman of the committee, said these situations put the council in a tough position. Barron noted that the sensitive issues of late may have caused people to stop at the Mayor's desk, and they should not do that.

Mayor Borsheim, who is not a member of this committee, angrily denied that his position as Mayor has affected his productivity. Borsheim presented a job review by his supervisor which said he was performing his duties. Borsheim also said that this was clearly a "retaliatory act".

At an earlier meeting of the city council, Rude was directed to create a list of standards for lineworkers seeking certification on high power lines so that they know what they need to achieve to become certified. Prior to the list being prepared by Rude, certification was left up to Rude and another line worker. The discussion and request generated considerable discussion if not animosity among employees in the utilities department.

Borsheim pointed out that the list presented by Rude was printed the same day as the list of standards for lineworkers. He didn't think it was mere coincidence. In addition to pointing out that the Minnesota Attorney General's office had issued an opinion on the matter and that an understanding regarding hours had been worked out, Borsheim asked why hadn't these questions been raised two years ago when he was elected Mayor.

Borsheim also pointed out that it's the duty and responsibility of the Mayor to be accessible to the citizens of the community.

Heinrichs said the opinion of the attorney general was too nebulous, and agreed that these issues should have been

TRF Salvation Army unit to ring in the holidays

Thief River Falls Salvation Army volunteer unit will begin its bell-ringing campaign December 1. Volunteers will be most visible at Kmart and Pamida.

The local unit raised an all-time record during the fund-raising campaign last year, but Thief River Falls Salvation Army Chairman Ken Fraschheiser noted that demands for Salvation Army assistance was very high during the summer.

Pat Klemisch, chairman of the bell-ringing campaign, said he is always encouraged by the contributions citizens of the area make to Salvation Army. He is already pleased this year by the number of individuals who have volunteered to watch the kettles and ring bells. About one-third of the available slots have already been filled.

"The success of the [illegible] campaign is due to the volunteers and generosity of citizens in the area," said Klemisch.

The Salvation Army service units strive to help the needy in their communities resolve a crisis or emergency with practical aid, personal support and sincere compassion. The local service unit coordinates its assistance with

TRF School board debates whether lasers are weapons

The definition of "lasers" as a weapon in the district's weapons policy was a matter of contention at School District 564's Board of Education meeting on Monday evening.

The proposed policy included lasers among the first article which defines weapons to include objects, devices and instruments designed as weapons or through their use capable of threatening or producing bodily harm or which may be used to inflict self-injury.

While some board members felt that lasers should be included in the policy's third article which forbids students and non-students of inflicting bodily harm or intimidating others with articles designed for other purposes, other board members felt more strongly about lasers and desired that they be featured in a separate article of definition.

The "lasers" are lazer pointers which, when used as a teaching tool, enable an instructor to point a beam of light at a map or other item from across the room. If used destructively, the instrument can cause permanent eye damage.

Currently, the school handbook forbids students and non-students from possessing lazer pointers at any school location. Possessing a lazer falls under the district's "zero tolerance" policy resulting in an initial suspension of up to five days.

Taking the board's discussion into consideration, Superintendent Robicheau will rewrite the policy and bring it back for approval at the next regular meeting of the board of education.

In other business, deadlines for the Minnesota School Board Association Annual Leadership Conference on January 13-14 were discussed as was the MSBA Phase II Workshop on December 4 or January 12 in Minneapolis.

Board member Lyle Olson was appointed the district's MSBA Legislative Liaison, and it was mentioned that nominations are open for election to a three-year term on the Northwest Service Coop Governing Board.

Carl Clark reported on negotiations, stating that while the committee was nearly done with language, it was not close on finances. Committee members Jean Larson and Lyle Olson agreed with Clark's report.

Jerry Robicheau commented on the work of the social promotion/retention committee with comments from committee member Steve Young. Jean Larson discussed the progress of the student achievement committee. Both committees have set meeting dates for the rest of the 1999-2000 school year and will seek community involvement.

In his report, Superintendent Jerry Robicheau discussed the Ag Magnet High School Feasibility Study and the appointment of Tom Hunt as Lincoln High School Principal.

Lincoln High School student Zack Olson explained the student committee's involvement in the interview process.

A committee of eight students, one Student Senate member and one class officer from each grade, provided tours of Lincoln High School to the three candidates and asked questions. The student committee based its decision on the candidates' questions, and presented its recommendation to the 18-member interview committee which consisted of LHS staff, administration and parents.

• The board of education recognized the following: Carol Johnson of Norwest Bank, winner of a national Wells Fargo award for her volunteer efforts with the Little Brother/Little Sister program with the program receiving a $1,000 donation in Carol's honor.

The Thief River Falls Education Association for its recently awarded grants totaling $11,706 to the following:

From the General Endowment Fund, grants were awarded to purchase a computer and stand for kindergarten students at Challenger, a newspaper subscription for seventh and eighth grade communications classes at Franklin, books for the Early Childhood Incentive Reading program at Challenger, take-home reading books for kindergarten students at Challenger, cassette players and headphones for Franklin reading students, and agricultural reference materials for the media center at Lincoln High School.

Grants awarded from the foundation's Swenson Endowment Fund included additional books, discs and tests for the Accelerated Reading program at Franklin; Jamestown Signature Reading Series at Franklin; Grand Forks Herald newspaper in the classroom at Franklin, a laptop computer and presentation software for the Lincoln High School Science Fair, support for the Lincoln High School Concert Choir New York City Performance Tour and completion of a second classroom set of calculator based lab equipment for the Lincoln Science Department.

The Thief River Falls school board named interim principal Tom Hunt the new Lincoln High School principal. Hunt served the district as dean of students from 1991 to 1999. From 1980 to 1991 he taught sales and marketing at LHS. During that period he also coached varsity boys basketball and seventh grade football for a time.

Tom Hunt assumes job of LHS principal

The Thief River Falls school board named Tom Hunt the new Lincoln High School principal.

Hunt is not new to the district. From 1980 to 1991 he taught sales and marketing at LHS. During that time he also coached varsity boys basketball and seventh grade football for a time.

From 1991 to 1999 he served as the Dean of Students for the district. He spent one year at Franklin Middle School and seven years at LHS. In 1999 he was named interim principal at LHS.

Hunt grew up in California, where is father, Richard, was a pipe fitter and welder and his mother, Katherine, worked in a delicatessen business.

In school he was active in band, student council, football, basketball, and baseball. A talented athlete, Hunt was selected most valuable basketball player his junior and senior years. He was also selected two years to the East Bay Athletic League all conference team in basketball and baseball. He graduated from John Swett Union High School, Crockett, CA, in 1967.

Hunt attended Gonzaga University, Spokane, WA, on a basketball scholarship in 1967. There he earned a Bachelor of Business Administration in December of 1971. He played one year of freshman and three years of varsity basketball. He received the Most Inspirational Award for the 1969-70 season.

He went on to earn a teaching certificate and coaching certificate from Montana State University in 1977, a Master of Arts degree from the University of St. Thomas in 1996 and his Six Year Endorsement for Principals at Mankato State University in December 1999.

At Gonzaga, Hunt was a cross country coach and assistant freshman basketball coach. He taught at St. John Vianney Parochial School, Spokane, WA, and Central Cass High School, Casselton, ND. He was also the head freshman and junior varsity basketball coach at Montana State University, Bozeman, MT, from 1972 to 1975.

Few attend hearing on proposed block scheduling at LHS Monday

by David Hill
Editor

Representatives from the Bemidji school district, and Marshall County Central, provided the those in attendance at a hearing on block scheduling Monday night, an opportunity to learn more about how block scheduling works in those districts.

School District 564 has been discussing block scheduling for approximately six years. In the past two years, however, the proposal has moved from discussion stage to planning. Nevertheless, the decision as to whether the district will allow Lincoln High School to move toward block scheduling has yet to be made by the school board. Members of the high school's scheduling committee were on hand at the hearing to add their input to the discussions.

Educators from Bemidji and Marshall County Central said they faced the same concerns and worries when they were making their decision about block scheduling. Each of the visitors said they would not want to return to a six- or seven-period day, because they like block scheduling.

Ron Paggen, superintendent at Newfolden School District, said when they went to block scheduling three years ago, they probably went about it in the wrong way. They started in the middle of the year, and decided to start planning in March to implement it the next fall. There were some problems at the start, but they were not insurmountable. Generally, he said, it has been quite successful.

Bryan Thygeson of Marshall County Central, said there was a definite learning curve. The results from a survey of students and teachers after it was implemented indicated that about 93 percent did not want to back to the way it was. Generally, he said, there have been fewer distractions, discipline problems, and more contact with students.

Liz Neff, a foreign language instructor at Bemidji, said the four-period day has been wonderful. Originally, she said, she didn't want to change to a four-period day. It has been a wonderful change, she said. In the past, she said, they were hurried, and never got to really know the students. She believes block scheduling has increased the level of learning. It takes more planning and [illegible] for teachers, [illegible] tend to find it easier to study for four classes rather than six.

Dave Moriss, assistant principal at Bemidji, said they would never go back. Moriss presented Lincoln High School Principal Tom Hunt

Talkin' turkey about Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving trivia offers food for thought and maybe even some conversation-starters for your holiday table

By Kathi Carlson
Times Reporter

It Wasn't "Thanksgiving"...

The first Thanksgiving wasn't "Thanksgiving" at all. At least, that wasn't what the pilgrims would have called it. To them, thanksgiving denoted a religious holiday when they would go to church and thank God for a specific event, such as winning a battle.

The activities that the pilgrims and Wampanoag Indians participated in during that first gathering — dancing, singing secular songs and playing games — would never have been allowed at a religious gathering.

A One-time Event...

The first Thanksgiving was not the beginning of the tradition we know today. Instead, feast was a one-time event that was not repeated, so it was not the beginning of a tradition.

Also, the event did not take place on the fourth Thursday in November, but instead sometime between September 21 and November 11. The event was based on English harvest festivals which typically took place around the 29th of September. Unlike our one-day holiday, the 1621 celebration lasted for three days.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt set the date for Thanksgiving to the fourth Thursday in November In November of 1939, and the date was approved by Congress in 1941. Abraham Lincoln had previously designated the holiday as the last Thursday in November, which may have correlated with the November 21, 1621 anchoring of the Mayflower at Cape Cod.

No Pumpkin Pie?

With regard to that first Thanksgiving menu, historians are certain of only two items that were served —venison and wild fowl.

Many of the foods, considered staples of the modem Thanksgiving meal, would not have appeared on the pilgrim's first table.

Potatoes and sweet potatoes were not common in New England in 1621. The com, by that time of year, was dried so there was no eam on the cob.

Ham was probably not on the menu, because, although they brought pigs with them from England, there is no evidence that colonists had butchered a hog by this time. Also, while it is know that hens were brought from England, no one knows how many were left at that point or if the hens were still laying.

The cranberry sauce, if there was any, would have been on the sour side. While the colonists had cranberries, the sugar supply they had brought on the Mayflower had dwindled by that time.

Milk would not have been the beverage served with the first Thanksgiving meal as there were no cows aboard the Mayflower. However, it is possible that the colonists used goat milk to make cheese.

The first Thanksgiving meal didn't include pumpkin pie either. The recipe didn't exist at that point although the pilgrims did have recipes for stewed pumpkin.

Unlike our traditional meal, the first feast may have included a variety of seafood, including cod, eel, clams and lobster. Wild fowl available to the colonists included wild turkey, goose, duck, crane, swan partridge and eagles. While it is known that venison was served, the pilgrims may also have enjoyed seal.

Grains included wheat flour and Indian corn, and carrots, lettuce, radishes, onions, peas, beans and pumpkin were among the vegetables available at that time.

Plums and grapes may have been the fruits enjoyed, and nuts available to the colonists included walnuts, chestnuts and acorns. Herbs and seasonings may have included olive oil, leeks, dried currents, parsnips and liverwort.

Finger Foods...

No forks were used that first Thanksgiving. The pilgrims didn't use them. Instead, they ate with spoons, knives and their fingers, and hot morsels of food were picked up with the large cloth napkins that they used to wipe their hands.

During the seventeenth century, a person's social standing determined what he or she ate with the best food placed next to the most important people. Pilgrims did not tend to sample all of the foods on the table either, but instead ate what was closest to them.

The salt shaker stood alone on pilgrim tables, and people would have sprinkled it on their food. Pepper, used for cooking, was not available on the table.

The Spice of Life In Colonial America

While we tend to think of English food as bland, that first Thanksgiving meal was probably spicier that we think.

The pilgrims used a variety of spices, including cinnamon, ginger, nutmeg, pepper and dried fruit to make sauces for meats. However, the sauces probably didn't always taste the same as pilgrims didn't measure ingredients, but instead improvised.

Roasting was the best method of cooking meats in the seventeenth century with one of the pilgrims assigned to sit for hours at a time and turn the spit to make certain that the meat was evenly cooked.

With no refrigeration the pilgrims and Wampanoag Indians dried a lot of their foods to preserve them. Dried foods included Indian corn, fish, hams and herbs.

Three Meals a Day Vs. Hunger Pangs

While the Indians and pilgrims shared a Thanksgiving feast, their normal eating styles were quite different.

The pilgrims' biggest meal of the day, called dinner or "noonmeat," was eaten at noon after housewives had spent the biggest part of the morning preparing it. Supper was a lighter meal eaten at the end of the day, and breakfasts tended to be leftovers from the previous day's noonmeat. In a pilgrim household, the men and women sat down to eat with children and servants waiting on them.

The Wampanoag Indians, on the other hand, had no set eating pattern. Instead, they tended to eat when they were hungry with pots of food cooking throughout the day.

Not So Nutritious...

By today's standards, the first Thanksgiving probably would not have been considered a very healthy meal.

Fatty is the word we would probably use to describe that first harvest feast. However, it was probably more healthy for the pilgrims than it would be for people today, because the colonists were more active and needed more protein. Heart attacks were the least of their worries. Instead they concerned themselves with the possibility of pox and plague.

Pilgrim Fashion

While we've been led to believe that pilgrims wore black and white clothing and had buckles on their hats, garments and shoes, buckles did not actually come into fashion until later in the seventeenth century, and black and white clothing was commonly worn only on Sunday and for formal occasions.

Instead, colonial women of that era typically dressed in red, earthy green, brown, blue, violet and gray, and men wore garments in white, beige, black, earthy green and brown.

Turkey on the Moon

When Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin sat down to eat their first meal on the moon, their foil food packets contained roast turkey and all of the trimmings.

Presidential Pardon

For over 50 years the National Turkey Federation has presented the President of the United States a live turkey and two dressed turkeys in celebration of Thanksgiving. Harry S. Truman was the first president to receive this honor in 1947.

Each year, the live turkey is "pardoned" by the president and sent to live out its life at a historical farm.

Official Bird?

Benjamin Franklin, who proposed the turkey as the official United States bird, was dismayed when the bald eagle was chosen over the turkey.

He wrote to his daughter, referring to the eagle's "bad moral character," saying "I wish the bald eagle had not been chosen as the representative of our country. The turkey is a much more respectable bird, and withal a true original of America."

Did You Know?

- Only tom turkeys gobble. Hen turkeys make a clicking noise.
- A large group of turkeys is called a flock.
- A baby turkey is called a poult and is tan and brown.
- Turkey eggs are tan with brown specks and are larger than chicken eggs.
- Domesticated turkeys cannot fly. Wild turkeys can fly for short distances up to 55 miles per hour and can run 20 miles per hour.
- More than 25 percent of American households consume turkey deli meat at least once every two weeks.

Turkey the bird of choice

Turkey — the Bird of Choice

While everything else we've come to believe about the first Thanksgiving may not be true, the pilgrims had already acquired a taste for turkey before leaving England.

Early explorers to the New World enjoyed eating turkey on their adventures and took birds back to Europe. By the 1500s, turkeys were being raised domestically in Italy, France and England.

Turkey Trivia

The National Turkey Federation (NTF) estimates that approximately 45 million turkeys are eaten at Thanksgiving, 22 million at Christmas and 19 million at Easter.

Ninety-one percent of the Americans surveyed by the NTF eat turkey at Thanksgiving.

The average weight of turkeys purchased for Thanksgiving is 15 pounds — that's about 675 million pounds of turkey consumed in the United States on Thanksgiving Day!

Turkey Parts

While we all know the legs from the wings from the breast, did you know that . . .

. . . the caruncle is a red-pink fleshy growth on the head and upper neck of the turkey?

. . . . the snood is a long, red fleshy growth from the base of the beak that hangs down over the beard?

. . . the wattle is a bright red appendage at the neck?

. . . the beard is a black lock of hair found on the chest of the male turkey?

Leftovers

The five most popular ways to serve turkey leftovers are as follows.

1. Sandwiches.
2. Soups or Stews.
3. Salads
4. Casseroles.
5. Stir-fry.

"Someone to Lend a Helping Hand: Rural Older Women in Central Minnesota," a touring exhibit on loan from the Minnesota Historical Society, will open on November 22 at Marshall County Central High School in Newfolden.

The exhibit, a collection of 30 photographs of elderly women, will be available for viewing in the hallway display cases during hours when the school doors are open until December 21. There is no charge to see the exhibit.

The women in the photographs were participants of a two-year study of rural older women's aging experience in central Minnesota. The study examined the women's life experiences, formal and informal social support systems and their needs and expectations of service delivery systems.

The study was sponsored by the Central Minnesota Council on Aging which used the information to guide subsequent planning, policy and service development.

Conducting the study was Dr. Dena Shenk who is currently the coordinator of the Gerontology Program at the University of North Carolina in Charlotte. Through her work, Dr. Shenk sought to better understand the lives of aging rural women and those they turn to for help and support. The work of St. Cloud photographer Ron Schmid enables viewers to meet the women who shared their lives so that this story on aging could be told.

This photograph is part of a touring exhibit entitled, "Someone to Lend a Helping Hand: Rural Older Women in Central Minnesota," which will be at Marshall County Central High School in Newfolden from November 22 until December 21. The 30-photograph exhibit by St. Cloud photographer Ron Schmid is on loan from the Minnesota Historical Society and will be available for viewing during hours that the doors of the school are open.

Tunes for Thanksgiving

Turkey, Turkey

(Tune: "Twinkle Twinkle, Little Star")

Turkey, turkey, look at you,
Please be careful what you do.
Thanksgiving Day is almost here,
We eat turkey every year
Go and hide out in the woods,
We'll eat pizza, like we should!

We Give Thanks

(Tune: "Three Blind Mice")

Thanksgiving, Thanksgiving.
We give thanks. We give thanks.
We're thankful for the food we have here,
We're thankful for the trees so near,
We're thankful for the people so dear.
Thanksgiving.

Sharmat, Marjorie. One Terrific Thanksgiving. A few days before Thanksgiving Irving Morris Bear goes to the grocery store and buys bags and bags of cranberry sauce, honey cakes, marshmallows and other goodies that he loves to eat. Now just how can he refrain from eating all of this before the big day arrives?

Stock, Catherine. Thanksgiving Treat. A little boy was feeling sad because he's "too little" to help out with holiday activities. Grandpa, who may have been feeling a bit left-out himself, comes to the rescue with a very special Thanksgiving treat.

VIDEO VARIETY

PARENTING TIPS

Expectations

Young children want to please their parents. A parent's approval can make a child feel loved and capable. But if the child cannot live up to the parent's expectations, the child may end up feeling like a failure, someone who is unlovable and unable to do things right.

What are your expectations for your child? Do they have anything to do with your child's abilities or interests? Or are they expressions of your own needs and interests? Are your expectations too high and rigid? Are they perhaps too low?

Take some time and examine your expectations of your child.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Have real conversations with your child, in which you listen as well as talk. Find out what your child's interests are, so as to make sure that you have realistic expectations.

Down On The Farm

Eric Bergeson

I ran into one of my favorite elementary teachers, old Mrs. Hermanson, at an all-school reunion ten years ago. She was an excellent teacher, a stern taskmaster from the old school.

In third grade, I was Mrs. Hermanson's pet, which meant that when she threw her used Kleenexes in the general direction of the waste basket and missed, I got to pick them up.

We were gathering for our class photo at the reunion, Mrs. Hermanson appeared out of the blue. She was in her eighties, but didn't look much different than she had twenty years before. She still smelled of cigarette smoke and exotic perfumes.

I greeted her warmly, but true to form, all Mrs. Hermanson did was stick her crooked finger in my chest and growl, "Never, never, never retire. Retirement is not good." With that last little lesson, she walked out. I never saw her again.

I think Mrs. Hermanson was right. What is the point of retirement, anyway? It is crazy that people spend their lives working their tales off at jobs they hate so they can retire. And if you enjoy your work, why quit?

When people quit work, what do they do? Many die right away. Others become depressed. Some are too tired and decrepit to enjoy that for which they have worked so hard and long.

Fortunately, most people simply switch work. "I am busier than I have ever been," they say, which is a sign that they have adjusted just fine to retirement and aren't idle.

No, the trick is to find work you love and do it until you drop. I admire people like Ed, a neighbor who died while milking cows at age 86.

Or Geneva, the legendary restaurant hostess in Fargo who is approaching 90, yet still shows up for work in her glamorous hats, and seats the customers with style.

Or Rose Blumkin, the Omaha furniture store owner, who despite being a millionaire many times over, managed a furniture store until her death last year at age 104.

What isn't good is to see physically healthy people become entirely idle. Full-time retired folks often lose their sense of self-worth. They have given up that which gave them a sense of significance.

Often they have no choice. Businesses and government policies force many people to retire cold turkey. Wouldn't it be better if people could simply taper off as they get older? Think of the accumulated wisdom companies lose by throwing away older people as if they are worthless.

It seems that one key to a long, happy life is to keep busy at work one loves for as long as one can keep going. But that's easier said than done. What a rare privilege it has become to die with one's boots on!

SPEAKING OF . . .

Sherry LaCoursiere

...Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving is one of those holidays that is difficult to write about year after year. What new things can one say about a holiday in which we give thanks for the blessings and bounty of the past year and then sit down at a table groaning with goodies and consume everything in sight until we, too, are groaning?

Of course it is easy to be thankful for our blessings. We live in a country where we are blessed. We have warm homes, abundant food, good jobs, enough money to get along, our health and families and friends to share the holidays with. Of course we are blessed.

And really, don't we have far too much food? As I shopped for the Thanksgiving meal, I found myself marveling at the abundance in the super market. Bobbing balls of turkey breasts, line after line in the frozen bins. If you don't want turkey for Thanksgiving, choose ham or beef or pork or chicken. Be fancy with fish. Fruits and vegetables, canned, frozen and fresh, the choices boggle the mind. Bread and rolls too numerous to count, pies, cakes, cookies and other, wonderful desserts, ready-made or buy all the ingredients to make them at home.

All that food, and how many of us are watching what we eat? I would bet that most of us are keeping an eye on what goes into our bodies, either by watching what foods we eat, or else by supplementing our intake to make sure we have enough vitamins and minerals.

People are not just afraid of fat nowadays, they are interesting in taking better care of their (thinner) bodies, exercising regularly by walking, running, gliding, sliding or jumping around to keep fit. Some people even go so far in their search for perfection as to have their fat sucked away or tucked away in surgery.

But Thanksgiving is no holiday for the faint of heart. Thanksgiving is a holiday of excess, an excess of people to share the holiday, an excess of laughter, excess of love, and excess of loaded plates. But who wants low fat food for this wonderful feast? Not me.

Oh, I'll make sure the grease is off the gravy and I'll cut back a bit on the butter in the side dishes, but my family will have the traditional Thanksgiving feast and I'll eat it too. We'll have all the old favorites that we MUST have to make our Thanksgiving like all of the others: scalloped corn, green beans with cheese sauce, mashed potatoes and real, homemade gravy, candied sweet potatoes, stuffing dished from a fat, browned butterball of a turkey, lefse, rolls, green and black olives and pickles. Dessert will be the traditional pumpkin pie, the family recipe for "Cranberry Dessert," and something new that my son-in-law especially likes, a pistachio bundt cake, with real whipped cream for all of it. That should take care of everyone.

Too bad we aren't much of a family for wine so we could have a toast to all of you, but we'll toast you with the tasty Thanksgiving punch and hope you do the same for us.

Happy Thanksgiving from my family to yours!

ON THE OTHER HAND

Taryn Pream, Lincoln High School

It's the middle of November and there is no snow on the ground.

Now, to many people who live in Thief River Falls, this is a relief. Then there are others--myself included--who just can't wait for those big drifts to fill our streets and close our schools. But for people who don't normally live in our area, there are a few things I should point out before snowfall begins, just so they don't have any misconceptions about us. Unfortunately, many of these myths are regarded as fact in different parts of the country. So for those who have never experienced a true Minnesota winter before. . .let me present:

"The Abominable Blaze-Orange-Man" or "No, I don't Live in an Igloo"

Myth 1: We live in igloos. . . all year round.

Now, not only do we NOT have winter all year round (although it can seem like it), I have personally never witnessed an igloo anywhere in this area. Maybe I'm not looking hard enough.

Myth 2: We stock up for winter like people are stocking up for Y2K.

Yes, we do buy a little extra food in the wintertime--incase of a power outage--but not 400 gallons of water or a year's supply of Macaroni and Cheese. We know we can always head to a nearby grocery store and get some type of food.

Myth 3: Ice fishing is when we go fishing . . . for ice.

Can you imagine someone pulling a block of ice out of the river? "Look, I got a big one! Darn. It's only a boot. Better luck next time." No, I don't think so.

Myth 4: There is a guy in the woods who kills deer and wears blaze orange. We call him the Abominable Blaze-Orange-Man.

Now this may sound familiar to some of you . . . blaze orange . . . killing deer . . . deer stands . . . hunting season . . . You get the picture.

And now for the fifth and final myth:

We all talk like the people in the movie Fargo.

Occasionally, an "uff da" or a "you betcha" may slip from our mouths, but we don't talk like that all the time. We only do it to impress people who have never been in our neck of the woods before. That way, they can tell all their friends, "Hey, they all talk like the people in Fargo!" It's a Minnesota thing.

I hope most of you have found this little story humorous and at least worth an "uff da!" But then again, it is a Minnesota thing.

PRAIRIE RAMBLING

Gretchen Beito

The Thief River Falls Arts Council has chosen "The Wizard of Oz" for their musical production in August, 2000. Here is the story behind it, thanks to OFWC Zehlians who selected for discussion the book, "The Wonderful Wizard of Oz," which was published by L. Frank Baum in 1899.

In the introduction to his book, Baum said "Wizard" was "written solely to pleasure children of today. It aspires to being a modernized fairy tale, in which the wonderment and joy are retained and the heartaches and nightmares are left out."

Baum succeeded beyond his wildest dreams.

It is not only the first American fairy tale, but it also shows American society and culture in all its diversity at the turn of the Twentieth Century. His book is a story so rich that it can be, like the Wizard, anything you want it to be.

In Kansas the dry, deadly environment dominates everyone except Dorothy and Toto, her pet. When the cyclone very gently--for a cyclone--sets Dorothy down in Oz, she discovers a country of great contrast, of marvelous beauty. Stately trees bear luscious fruits; birds of brilliant plumage sing and flutter in the trees and bushes. A small brook, rushing and murmuring, is welcome to a little girl from a dry, grey land. Oz' people, the Munchkins, are kind and helpful to Dorothy.

Yet the first thing Dorothy wants to do is to leave Oz in order to get back to the people who love her, Aunt Em and Uncle Henry. For all the attractions of Oz, Dorothy only thinks of others, wants to return to drab Kansas, and spends the rest of the story trying to do so.

Goodness prevails. The Witch of the North puts the mark on Dorothy's forehead which serves as protection through all her travels. This optimism makes the tale American and midwestern.

Henry M Littlefield, a college professor, wrote the essay, "The Wizard of Oz: Parable on Populism." Some accept his interpretation as Baum's because the author wrote the story at the time of the Populist Party. Others believe Littlefield composed the parable to help his students understand and remember the tenets of Populism.

Dorothy sets out for the Emerald City on the Yellow Brick Road wearing the Witch of the East's silver shoes. Littlefield claimed the Yellow Brick Road symbolized the Gold Standard of the U. S. The Witch of the South tells Dorothy, "All you have to do is knock the heels together three times, and command the shoes to carry you wherever you wish to go." This is the Populists' view that unlimited coinage of silver would solve economic problems. Free silver was also William Jennings Bryan's platform when he made three futile tries for the U. S. Presidency. The Cowardly Lion would be Bryan himself.

The Wizard is straight from the fairgrounds and symbolizes American criterion for leadership: he must be able to be everything to everybody. The wizard assumes a different shape to each of the four travelers. To Dorothy he is an enormous head, an image for a naive and innocent little citizen.

Other interpretations besides Littlefield's abound, but the important thing is that Baum's story is a exceptionally entertaining. It also leaves the reader with the conviction that strength lies within; that it is not bestowed by some wizard. For instance, Scarecrow has a terrible sense of inferiority and self doubt. He thinks he needs brains to replace straw in his head. However, as the four friends confront problems on the road, Scarecrow emerges as an astute and shrewd thinker.

A musical version of the 1899 book toured the country, and, in the flush of success, Baum moved his family to Hollywood, where he named his new estate "Ozcot." He formed Oz Film Co., but it failed in one year. In the 1900's he relied on writing thirteen sequels to "The Wizard of Oz," and later, others wrote more Oz books. Baum had selected the name for his magical country from his file drawers: "A - N" and "O - Z." Baum died in Hollywood in 1919 at the age of 63 years.

What Baum did not know was that twenty years after his death, Metro Goldwyn Mayer (MGM) would produce a musical of "The Wizard" starring 16-year-old Judy Garland. Because of this popular film, Baum's inventions such as "Oz," "Emerald City," "Yellow Brick Road," are in vocabularies of many languages of the world. MGM changed the color of Dorothy's shoes to ruby because silver did not show up against the yellow brick road.

It will be delightful to see and hear the talented people of Thief River Falls again interpret this timeless story. We especially look forward to seeing many children on stage: One of the goals of the Arts Council is to involve as many children as possible.

Meanwhile, I'm going to find a pair of green-tinted glasses so that I can see the Emerald City--now.

Steph Hoard (left), who scored four goals in Thief River Falls' 6-1 girls high school hockey win over International Falls Friday, drew attention from the Broncos' Christy Lane near the International Falls net in the third period. It was the second game for the Thief River Falls program.

Prowlers beat Broncos 6-1

■ Steph Hoard scores four goals in first TRF win

Thief River Falls co-head coaches Troy Hanestad and Tim Magnusson said they expected big things out of Steph Hoard as the Prowlers began their first season of girls varsity high school hockey. Friday, the strong-skating freshman forward showed why with a four-goal, five-point game that led to a 6-1 win over International Falls at the Huck Olson Civic Center.

It was the first-ever win for the Prowlers, who made their debut with a Tuesday loss at home against Warroad, by the same 6-1 margin. It was the program opener for the Broncos.

"It's good to get that first win," said Magnusson. "They're pretty happy."

Hoard was the sparkplug. She started the game with a natural hat trick, scoring three straight goals in a 9 1/2-minute span of the first period.

The first one came at 5:57 – off a rush that followed a nifty butterfly-style save by Thief River Falls goalie Melissa Clark at the other end of the rink. The breakout put Hoard behind the International Falls defense, and she didn't let the opportunity slip away.

Two minutes later Hoard again slipped behind the Broncos' defenders for another one-on-one confrontation with International Falls goalie Sammi Scholler that made it 2-0.

A final-minute goal upped the margin to 3-0 when Hoard split the defense for a clean breakaway down the middle of the ice at 14:23.

"We were very happy to get off to such a good start," noted Magnusson, after watching his team struggle in an effort to mount an attack against Warroad in the opener. "We got some offense going, picked up some quick goals, and we played some good defense."

The Prowlers bogged down in the second period, but Clark came up big, including back-to-back point-blank saves on Brandi Morin and Chrissy Woolsey just seconds apart in the middle of the period.

"We were trying to do to much offensively," explained Magnusson. "Everybody was trying to score goals, and they were forgetting to do their job in the defensive zone."

Despite the territorial edge by the Broncos, the only second period goal came from the Prowlers' Jenni Gonsorowski, who was standing on the door step and tapped in a loose puck on a power play at 11:44.

Skating shorthanded, Thief River Falls increased the spread to 5-0 at the four-minute mark of the third period when Abbie Houske intercepted an International Falls pass in the Broncos' zone, then flipped the puck toward the net from the face-off circle to the left of Scholler that managed to skip through the goalie's pads.

Clark's bid for a shutout disappeared at 7:03 when Woolsey finished a rush by pushing the puck into the net from the side.

"Melissa had a real good game," mentioned Magnusson. "We were really disappointed she didn't get her shutout."

Final goal came from Hoard, who showed a nice bit of stickhandling to work her way in front on a power play at 13:56.

High school girls basketball opener is Nov. 30...

TRF will use fast break, press

Fast break offense and pressure defense will be the style employed by the Thief River Falls girls during the 1999-2000 high school basketball season, according to head coach Jeff Loe.

That will be a change for the Prowlers, who primarily featured a half-court game in the past. The quickness and overall athleticism displayed by this year's squad dictated the switch.

"We're going to stress getting the ball up the court in a hurry," said Loe, "and we're going to pick it up defensively with some pressure. We've got some good athletic ability and some quickness. They're smart players, and they're working hard."

Two starters return from last year's 6-17 team – 6-1 center Sara Jensen, who averaged 11.5 points and 4.4 rebounds per game, and 5-7 forward Ayla Donlin, who had a 3.0 scoring average. Both are juniors.

Senior guard Erika Hudson was one of the first players off the bench a year ago, and junior forward Kylie Rogalla, worked her way into the line-up by year's end. An ankle injury has sidelined Rogalla during early workouts.

Hudson and Nicole Wiseth, a letter winner who played mostly junior varsity basketball last winter, are the only seniors on the team.

Sophomores Chelsea Haviland, Nikki Tvedt and Meghan Nelson also lettered last year. Haviland and Tvedt provide backcourt quickness to spark the up-tempo game, pointed out Loe.

Five seniors were lost to graduation from a year ago, including starters Nicole Kopari, Katie Harbott, Taya Hunt. Kopari finished as the Prowlers' career leader in assists, rebounds and steals. She wound up with 1,495 points, second on the school charts to the 1,771 points scored by Jodi Krutz.

"We'll be young," acknowledged Loe. "Our numbers are down a little in the top three grades, but I don't want to call it a rebuilding year."

Rest of the girls in grades 10-12 reporting for the start of practice Nov. 15 include junior Katy Olson; sophomores Brenda Kopari, Brooke Brekke, Amy Dunarski, Sara Niemela, Jenny Blazejewski, and Amber Gerardy.

Loe's coaching staff includes Amy Roche, varsity assistant; Paula Praska, junior varsity; and Jeff Mumm, freshmen.

Thief River Falls will open the year on the road with a Tuesday, Nov. 30, game against Warren-Alvarado-Oslo. But the Prowlers' next eight games, including three in the Northland Community and Technical College Invitational, will be played in Thief River Falls.

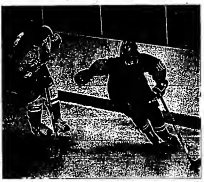
Moose season in northeast zone rated success by DNR

Minnesota moose hunters had a very successful season in 1999, according to the Department of Natural Resources. A total of 136 moose were taken by 189 parties in northeastern Minnesota. The success rate of 72 percent was slightly higher than the 1998 success rate of 69 percent. Approximately 74 percent of the moose taken were antlered bulls.

In 1999, more than 10,000 individuals applied in 3,919 parties for the 189 permits that were available. Last winter's moose population in the northeast was estimated at 4,200 moose. The moose season was closed in northwestern zones due to continuing concerns with declining moose populations in that part of the state.

Moose hunts were held in odd-numbered years from 1971 to 1993. Since 1993, moose hunts have been held annually. Due to staff cuts and funding shortages in the DNR Wildlife Section, the moose hunt will be shifting back to an every-other-year schedule. No hunt will be held in 2000.

The once-in-a-lifetime licenses are issued to parties of two to four hunters, and are available only to residents.



Jenny Rude of Thief River Falls followed Heidi Hendrickson of International Falls behind the Broncos' net in the first period of Friday's high school hockey game played at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center. The Prowlers won 6-1.

The Lincoln High School concert choir has been selected to perform a solo concert on Palm Sunday April 16, 2000 at Carnegie Hall. The LHS concert choir will perform under the direction of Darcy Reese for exactly 25 minutes and will then take part in a U.S. premiere of Goosen's reorchestration of Handel's Messiah under the direction of Jonathan Griffith. The concert choir also will be performing a 50 minute concert during the Minnesota Music Educators Convention in Minneapolis on February 18, 2000 at 1 p.m. at the Minneapolis Convention Center. This is a huge honor and accomplishment for the choir.

LHS concert choir to perform at Carnegie Hall

The Lincoln High School concert choir and director Darcy Reese have received word from MidAmerica Productions in New York City that they have been selected to perform a solo concert on Palm Sunday April 16, 2000 at Carnegie Hall.

The LHS concert choir will perform under the direction of Darcy Reese for exactly 25 minutes and will then take part in a U.S. premiere of Goosen's reorchestration of Handel's Messiah under the direction of Jonathan Griffith.

The prelude selections must be submitted to New York by December 15.

The journey of desiring the prelude position started back in 1996 when Reese saw a university choir from Canada perform prelude at Carnegie. She remembers telling Jeff Mumm, LHS football coach, who was chaperoning the trip that she believed her choir could do that one day. Mumm agreed and the goal was set. Planning started at that point and the desire and dream to be a solo choir on that stage never left Reese's mind.

In 1997 the concert choir made an audition tape for MidAmerica Production and Peter Tiboris. Tiboris is the general director and music director for Mid America. He conducts major symphony orchestras in New York and abroad. The tape was rejected that year, but not the desire.

The choir went on tour in May of 1998 and performed Motzart's mass In C minor but did not have the rare opportunity to sing prelude. The students got up in the dream and were bound and determined to make the prelude concert a reality for the NYC performance tour of 2000.

An audition tape was made May 1999 at St. Bernard's Church and sent to Tiboris with many hopes, wishes and dreams attached to it. The dream become reality on November 12, 1999.

When Reese sent in last May's audition tape to NYC she also sent it to the MMEA State Music Board. The audition was for the opportunity to perform at the Minnesota Music Educators Convention in Minneapolis on February 18, 2000. The audition was successful and all 86 students from the concert choir will be performing a 50 minute concert at the Minneapolis Convention Center at 1 p.m. This is a huge honor and accomplishment for the choir. If there was a state competition for choir this would be it, explained Reese.

Needless to say the choir students at Lincoln are very excited about this year's performances and are working very hard to live up to the high standards needed to make each of these performances successful. The whole performance tour plan involves the students not only having rare and wonderful performance opportunities, but it also teaches them how to set goals and watch their goals become reality with a lot of hard work, heart and soul and dedication. Finance skills, work ethics, rehearsal skills and group participation skills are also weaved into the whole plan not to mention experiencing one of the biggest cities in the world and becoming a part of that city for six exciting days.

"Thank you Thief River Falls for helping each and every student make their goals become realities. Without your support none of the above could take place. A big thank you to Fr. Dennis at St. Bernard's for letting us make our audition tapes in the sanctuary at St. Bernard's — how could we go wrong with a start like that. Thank you Thief River and surrounding areas for supporting us at our concerts, our rummage sales and our Evening of Enchantment shows. Thank you for supporting us on our Big Apple raffles, our survival kit sales, our poinsettias sales and by buying our CD's," said Reese. "CD's from tour 1998 can still be purchased by calling me at 681-8979. And thank you for hiring us under our Hire the Choir program. The workers have had great working experiences and greatly appreciate the support. The Hire the Choir program will continue through march. We still have a lot of work to do for this tour, and we can't wait to represent the community of Thief River Falls in Minneapolis and New York City."

The choir's first concert, "Spirit of the Season," in Thief River Falls will be Monday, December 6 at 7:30 p.m. at the LHS auditorium. The concert is free and everyone is invited to attend. The choir will also be performing in Greenbush Sunday, December 12 at 7 p.m. at Blessed Sacrament Church and will be taping a Christmas show December 15 in Grand Forks to be aired at a later date on WDAZ channel 8.

addressed much earlier.

Barron said he thought Borsheim was taking it a little too personally. He asked, what if another city employee runs for elected office? Borsheim said Barron doesn't take it as a personal attack, because it isn't directed at him. Borsheim also wondered that by setting out these guidelines isn't the council trying to determine or limit who can run for office?

The matter has been forwarded to the Administrative Services committee.

The following is the list of questions submitted to the public utilities committee:

1) Is the elected employee allowed to do elected official work while being paid by the city?

2) Is the elected employee to use the city phone system for calls to or from constituents?

3) Is the elected employee to be paid for visiting with other city employees concerning elected official work?

4) Is the elected employee to receive mail and other written information at the employees department and read the material while being paid? Should the elected employee go to city hall to pick up all mail and written material as the other elected officials do?

5) Is the elected employee allowed to use city vehicles to visit with constituents or go to city functions?

6) Should the city pay travel expenses for the employee to visit other political figures while on city business related to his job?

7) Should the elected employee be required to set up a time to be at city hall to do work related to the elected position?

8) Should the elected employee use a time sheet attached to this paper to record the time worked?

9) Should the elected employee abstain from discussion of city council actions for which the elected employee will abstain from voting? Being involved in the discussions is a means of influencing the vote of the council.

10) Will the city council as a whole review any deviations to the rules for the elected employees or a sub-committee of the council?

11) How will deviations from the rules be reported to the council?

12) Will there be a regular review of the roles by the council and the elected employee?

13) Will the rules be given to the other employees?

14) How will the other employees be checked on and reported for not following the rules?

15) Should an elected employee direct other employees who are not a part of the elected employees normal duties?

LHS students participate in stock game

Thief River Falls Lincoln High School and Business Economics Education Foundation (BEEF) have joined forces to enhance the economic education of local students through participation in the SMG Worldwide, formerly known as The Stock Market Game. The program is an interactive educational tool that is used in grades 4-12 to teach about a variety of subjects including math, social studies, language arts and business. SMG Worldwide also fulfills a Minnesota Graduation Standards package.

Lynn Dyer, Lincoln High Schoolteacher, is working with a carefully designed curriculum for student teams that compete in grade divisions 4-8 or 9-12. In the portfolio equity competition, teams invest hypothetical $100,000 in common stocks over a 10-week period. Each team receives a weekly update including current holdings, brokerage fees, margin interest and team rankings. The top three teams in both divisions will be recognized at a ceremony in their honor at The Games's conclusion.

This fall, Thief River Falls high school joins more than 150 Minnesota schools participating in The Stock Market Game. The national program is administered locally by Business Economics Education Foundation. SMG Worldwide is supported at the state level by more than 100 individuals, businesses and financial institutions.

with a summary of the findings of a study on block scheduling in Bemidji. The study was conducted by Bemidji State University. For the most part, findings were positive, he said, although not conclusive as one visitor noted.

Larry Senger, counselor at Bemidji high school, said five years ago when Bemidji went to a four-period block schedule, they were a pioneer in the state. They had to go to Colorado to find a comparable school.

Mike Monson, advanced placement instructor at Bemidji high school, said they went into block scheduling with a lot of trepidation. The experience has been positive, and Monson said the students appear less frantic, and it has affected the pace of the day positively.

Of the 50 or so at the hearing Monday night, some of those in attendance spoke in favor of block scheduling. Some asked difficult questions of the visitors and scheduling committee. A number of visitors asked educators from Marshall County Central and Bemidji how block scheduling affected music programs.

At Lincoln High School students can participate in more than one music program, such as band and choir, as an example, but to some of those in attendance they couldn't see how that could be possible under block scheduling.

Bill Stock, Lincoln High School counselor and member of the scheduling committee, said the music department has had some concerns about block scheduling, and the committee has been working with them. From what Stock said, it sounded like the music department will be allowed to work out scheduling issues so that students can still participate in one or more programs.

Sami Haj, parent of a Lincoln High School student, asked whether academic performance improved at Bemidji following the introduction of block scheduling.

Moriss said that the summary of the study conducted by BSU showed generally positive changes. (Principal Tom Hunt has a copy of that study.)

Another parent was concerned that it sounded like a liberal arts education was being dropped in favor of condensing or specializing.

Bill Stock and some of the visitors explained that block scheduling would allow students to explore more programs. Under block scheduling students will have the option to specialize if they so desire, but they also will have an opportunity to take more courses.

It was clear from reports given by representatives of Bemidji high school and Marshall County Central, that staff training was critical. A number of parents and visitors at the meeting were also interested in knowing whether there would be time for staff training.

Hunt said he felt he had the support of the district and school board for training.

Hunt said the next step would be for the committee to review input from the public and make a presentation to the school board probably around December 13.

Four women were injured and one woman died as a result of a one-car accident that occurred south of Alvarado Saturday, November 20 at approximately 3 p.m.

Linda Kujava, 49, Warren, was driving a 1994 Oldsmobile Cutlass on Highway 220 about five miles south of Alvarado when, according to the Minnesota State Highway Patrole, the vehicle went off the road on the left side, vaulted over a county ditch and hit the ditch embankment on the opposite side.

Kujava and all four passengers, Venette Leahy, 39, Mary St. Germain, 33, Jeannie Bieneck, 41, and Karen Erickson, 40, all of Argyle, were transported by ambulance to Altru Hospital.

Police chief warns for phone scam

Thief River Falls Police Chief Ken Froschheiser is reminding area residents not to give their credit card number over the telephone.

On Friday, November 19, an area resident reported to the police that the night before someone called his home claiming to be from Publisher's Clearing House. The caller claimed the resident would win several prizes if he gave the caller his credit card number.

When the resident called Publisher's Clearing House, he was told the company does not operate in that manner.

Froschheiser stated that no one should give out their credit card number to phone solicitors. Instead, people should call the company to confirm what they are told or ask for something in writing.

Feasibility study on juvenile hold cells to be conducted

Pennington County Sheriff Mike Hruby is investigating the possibility of converting existing jail cells into juvenile hold cells.

A feasibility study on the possibility of converting the cells will be conducted later this month.

Hroby estimates that the county could save between $30,000 and $50,000 a year in per diem cost for housing juveniles if the county had its own 24-hour hold facility.

The county has no facility for holding juveniles overnight, so juveniles in law enforcement custody must be transported to Crookston. The county pays $130 to $160 per bed per day. Transporting juveniles not only costs extra money, it leaves the county short of personnel while the juvenile is in transit. If a juvenile has a court appearance the next day, someone from law enforcement must drive to Crookston and pick up the juvenile and bring him back to Thief River Falls.

Hroby has checked with state officials and learned that Pennington County could add two or three cells without adding any staff. He anticipates the cost of the conversion will be around $50,000 or less, but will not know for certain until the feasibility study is complete.

One injured in Red Lake Co. accident

On Friday, November 19, at 6:18 p.m., the Red Lake County Sheriff's Office received a report of a two-vehicle accident on County Road 1, approximately three miles east of Red Lake Falls.

Oscar Erick Wickstrom, Red Lake Falls, was traveling west on County Road 1 in his 1988 Chevy Caprice when he rear-ended a manure spreader being pulled westbound by a 190 XT Allis Chalmers tractor. The tractor was driven by Eugene Boyle of Red Lake Falls. The tractor and spreader are owned by Larry Schafer. Wickstrom sustained unknown injuries and was transported by Red Lake Falls ambulance to Riverview Hospital in Crookston. He was treated and released.

Two pronounced dead at the scene of accident

Two people were pronounced dead at the scene of an accident that occurred Sunday, November 21 on the Red Lake-Pennington County line northeast of Oklee.

At approximately 3:27 p.m. Sunday a motor vehicle accident was reported to the Red Lake County Sheriff's Office. The accident happened at the intersection of Red Lake County 10 and Pennington County 1.

A 1986 Ford F-150 driven by Roy Edmon Gordon, 76, Oklee, was westbound on Pennington County 1. Gordon's truck proceeded through the intersection and struck a 1988 Chevrolet S-10 driven by Robert Duane Peterson, 65, St. Hilaire. The Peterson vehicle rolled into the ditch on the west side of the road.

Robert and Maxine Peterson, 59, St. Hilaire, were pronounced dead at the scene.

A passenger, Olive Lunke, 81, Thief River Falls, was injured and transported to Northwest Medical Center by the Oklee ambulance. She is listed in stable condition.

State Patrol looking for hit and run vehicle

The Minnesota State Patrol and the Bureau of Criminal Apprehension are seeking assistance from the public in identifying the driver and vehicle involved in a fatal hit and run accident on U.S. Highway 2 several miles east of Bemidji. The accident occurred shortly before 6 p.m. Thursday, November 18, in the westbound lane of the highway.

According to witnesses, the victim left her car parked in the crossover driveway between the east and west bound traffic lanes. According to witnesses she was walking toward another vehicle occupied by witnesses, which was parked on the right shoulder of the westbound traffic lane. As the victim walked across the traffic lane, she was struck by a dark-colored pickup truck that continued without stopping.

addressed much earlier.

Barton said he thought Borsheim was taking it a little too personally. He asked, what if another city employee runs for elected office? Borsheim said Barton doesn't take it as a personal attack, because it isn't directed at him. Borsheim also wondered that by setting out these guidelines isn't the council trying to determine or limit who can run for office?

The matter has been forwarded to the Administrative Services committee.

The following is the list of questions submitted to the public utilities committee:

1) Is the elected employee allowed to do elected official work while being paid by the city?

2) Is the elected employee to use the city phone system for calls to or from constituents?

3) Is the elected employee to be paid for visiting with other city employees concerning elected official work?

4) Is the elected employee to receive mail and other written information at the employees department and read the material while being paid? Should the elected employee go to city hall to pick up all mail and written material as the other elected officials do?

5) Is the elected employee allowed to use city vehicles to visit with constituents or go to city functions?

6) Should the city pay travel expenses for the employee to visit other political figures while on city business related to his job?

7) Should the elected employee be required to set up a time to be at city hall to do work related to the elected position?

8) Should the elected employee use a time sheet attached to this paper to record the time worked?

9) Should the elected employee abstain from discussion of city council actions for which the elected employee will abstain from voting? Being involved in the discussions is a means of influencing the vote of the council.

10) Will the city council as a whole review any deviations to the rules for the elected employees or a sub-committee of the council?

11) How will deviations from the rules be reported to the council?

12) Will there be a regular review of the rules by the council and the elected employee?

13) Will the rules be given to the other employees?

14) How will the other employees be checked on and reported for not following the rules?

15) Should an elected employee direct other employees who are not a part of the elected employees normal duties?

Feasibility study on juvenile hold cells to be conducted

Pennington County Sheriff Mike Hruby is investigating the possibility of converting existing jail cells into juvenile hold cells.

A feasibility study on the possibility of converting the cells will be conducted later this month.

Hruby estimates that the county could save between $30,000 and $50,000 a year in per diem cost for housing juveniles if the county had its own 24-hour hold facility.

The county has no facility for holding juveniles overnight, so juveniles in law enforcement custody must be transported to Crookston. The county pays $130 to $160 per bed per day. Transporting juveniles not only costs extra money, it leaves the county short of personnel while the juvenile is in transit. If a juvenile has a court appearance the next day, someone from law enforcement must drive to Crookston and pick up the juvenile and bring him back to Thief River Falls.

Hruby has checked with state officials and learned that Pennington County could add two or three cells without adding any staff. He anticipates the cost of the conversion will be around $50,000 or less, but will not know for certain until the feasibility study is complete.

Democrats plan push for privacy protection

Attorney General Mike Hatch, House and Senate leaders say Minnesotans deserve more privacy protection than Congress is expected to provide.

With Minnesotans still at risk of having personal information sold for use in aggressive marketing campaigns, Hatch and Democratic legislative leaders today said the State of Minnesota must give its citizens thorough and complete protection for their privacy.

Senate Majority Leader Roger Moe (DFL-Erskine) said that the State Senate's Data Privacy Subcommittee is holding a series of hearings that started Thursday, November 4, to examine privacy issues and develop legislation for the 2000 session.

"We want to hear from the people of Minnesota about how the loss of privacy has affected them, and we want to hear some ideas on how to offer them protection," Moe said. "We want to hit the ground running with a package on the first day of session."

Sen. Don Betzold (DFL-Fridley), chairman of the Senate Subcommittee that will work on the issue, said the burden of keeping data private should belong to the corporations, not the consumer.

Extension service offers Thanksgiving turkey tips

Whether you're preparing and serving turkey and all the trimmings, bringing a specialty dish to the family gathering or planning a buffet holiday meal, keep the party happy and safe with correct food handling practices.

The following suggestions will answer common food questions and concerns centered around holiday entertaining:

How much turkey do I need?

Figure on one pound of turkey per person to provide generous servings and enough leftovers for second day dishes.

What is the best way to thaw a turkey?

Refrigerator thawing is recommended as the safest with the least attention needed. Thaw breast-side up in its unopened wrapper on a tray in the refrigerator.

Allow one day of thawing for every five pounds. For faster thawing, use the cold water method. Place the bird in its unopened wrapper in cold water to cover. Change the water every 30 minutes to keep meat cold enough for safety. Allow 30 minutes per pound to thaw completely. A thawed turkey can be kept in the refrigerator up to three days before roasting.

What's the best way to roast a turkey?

Place thawed turkey, breast up, on a flat rack in a shallow pan, two to two and one-half inches deep to catch the juices. Brush skin with oil to prevent drying and to get a nice golden color. To ensure that the turkey is done, insert an oven-safe meat thermometer into the thickest part of the thigh of an unstuffed bird or into the stuffed cavity of a stuffed one.

In a 325 degree oven, recommended times for an unstuffed bird are: 10-18 pounds - 3-3-1/2 hours; 18-22 pounds - 3-1/2-4 hours; 22-24 pounds — 4-4-1/2 hours, 24-30 pounds - 4-1/2-5 hours. For stuffed birds, add one hour to roasting times listed above.

Placing a tent of creased aluminum foil over the top of the bird during the last third of the baking time will help keep it moist.

How do I know when it is done?

If you use a meat thermometer, it should read at least 180 degrees if inserted in the thigh or 160 degrees in the center of the stuffing. Another way to check is to deeply pierce the thigh. Juices should be clear, not reddish pink. Let the turkey stand 15 minutes before removing stuffing and carving to allow juices to set and make carving easier.

What about stuffing?

There are many types of stuffing you can use. Pick your favorite. Do not put the stuffing in the bird until just before it goes into the oven. The warm temperature of stuffing is prime for bacteria growth, and stuffing the night before will give bacteria several hours to grow dangerously before getting cooled down, even in the refrigerator. Baking the stuffing inside the bird will result in moister, heavier dressing and a longer total roasting time.

Stuffing can also be baked in a separate greased, covered casserole; just put it into the oven during the last hour of turkey roasting.

What other safety measures should I take when handling poultry?

In addition to thawing and cooking properly, keeping hands and surfaces clean is very important. Always wash your hands with warm, soapy water before and after handling raw meat. Prevent uncooked juices from dripping onto other foods in the refrigerator or on a counter by keeping the packaged turkey on a tray.

If you use your sink to hold the turkey during the preparation process, be sure the sink has been well-cleaned with a disinfectant soap or a little bleach-water solution.

Wooden cutting boards are porous and a good breeding ground for bacteria. Wash thoroughly in hot, soapy water before and after each use, and air dry. Better yet, use non-porous boards such as those of hard plastic. Also, reserve one cutting board only for raw meats and a second one for other uses to prevent cross-contamination.

How long can food be kept out at room temperature?

Some foods, such as raw vegetables, breads, and pickles are safe for many hours. However, most food items should only be left out for a maximum of 2 hours. This includes turkey and other meats, dressing, gravies, any product with mayonnaise, eggs or dairy ingredients (i.e. scalloped vegetables, sauces, dips, some salads, eggnog, pumpkin and custard-type pies, etc.)

To allow foods to chill quickly, avoid large storage containers; rather, put into smaller, shallow containers. If saving the carcass to make soup, put it in the refrigerator or other cold area (i.e. porch or garage under 40 degrees) to keep cool and safe until used.

If you serve an open house-type buffet, use heated serving appliances/trays to keep hot food hot and ice-lined bowls to keep cold foods cold. Serve buffet foods in smaller-sized bowls and platters, replacing with fresh, filled dishes as needed. Adding fresh food to existing buffet serving dishes can cause cross-contamination from the room-temperature cold food. Serve eggnog from pitchers rather than a punch bowl to keep it cold and safe.

What about transporting food?

If your travel time is less than two hours, the food is safe. But upon arrival, get it immediately into the oven or refrigerator until serving time. With longer travel time, consider bringing the food uncooked/unbaked in a cooler and baking it at the place of the dinner.

Items like cream/custard pies, dips, salads could be transported in a cooler with ice. Follow similar precautions in taking left-overs home with you.

Enjoy a safe and tasty holiday meal!

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q: I get retirement and also work part-time. How much can I earn in the year 2000 before my checks are lowered?

A. The Social Security annual earnings (work) test concerns how much a person receiving SSA benefits can earn before check amounts are affected. Every person receiving a Social Security check, except those receiving because of their own disability, can potentially be involved with the annual earnings test if employed. Those receiving because of their own disability should notify SSA of any work activity. As in past years, there is a different annual earnings test for those who are just starting to receive SSA benefits during the current year as opposed to those who have been receiving benefits for a longer time. The information here is only for those who have started receiving benefits prior to 2000. Individuals under age 65 can earn combined gross wages or net self-employment of $10,080 during 2000 before benefits are affected. Earnings over this amount will lower SSA benefits paid during the year by having one dollar withheld for every two dollars earned above the limit. In other words, if you are younger than age 65 and earn less than $10,080 in 2000, your existing SSA benefit will not be lowered due to your work. Individuals age 65 through 69, including those attaining age 65 in 2000, can earn combined gross wages or net self-employment of $17,000 during the year before benefits are affected. For this age range, earning over this amount will lower SSA benefits paid during the year by having one dollar withheld for every three earned above the limit. Once past age 70 there is no longer an annual earnings test. Again, the earnings test only involves earnings. Your pension, investment income and other items are not involved: Since people retire or otherwise begin to receive SSA benefits during all months of a year, the agency uses a monthly method of considering earnings for those just starting to receive benefits so that earnings before retirement do not prevent the payment of benefits. Call the SSA national toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213, between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. for more information. The Social Security website at www.ssa.gov is also available for your use.

Unemployment below 3 percent

Minnesota Department of Economic Security Commissioner Earl Wilson announced recently that the state's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate for October was 2.2 percent, marking two full years that Minnesota has enjoyed unemployment rates at or below 3.0 percent. The Commissioner also noted that the October rate ties with March of this year for second-lowest in state history.

Non-farm employment grew by a seasonally adjusted 5,100 jobs in October to 2,623,000. Growth was almost entirely due to new jobs in service industries.

The state's unadjusted unemployment rate was 1.9 percent in October, down by seven-tenths percent from a month ago.

"Minnesotans can be proud that, for two full years, our state has seen unemployment of three percent or under — a remarkable record. What's more, the unemployment rate for October has almost returned to its all-time low," said Governor Jesse Ventura. "Now, let's keep it going!"

Landscape needs watering during dry weather

The dry fall weather in the Twin Cities metro area and some other parts of Minnesota means many trees and shrubs need watering. Some supplementary moisture is especially important for evergreens, says Deb Brown, horticulturist with the University of Minnesota Extension Service.

"Where the weather has been dry, landscape plants need some supplementary watering," says Brown. "It's most important for young evergreens, those planted in the last year or two. Evergreens should not go into winter under moisture stress, because they constantly lose moisture through their needles. If they go into winter hurting for moisture, they are likely to suffer browning and burning over winter."

Brown says it's also a good idea to water deciduous trees and shrubs planted within the last two years.

"It's certainly a good idea to water bulbs and perennial plant beds," adds Brown. "Give them a good soaking every week to 10 days until the ground freezes or rainfall resumes. And if you have time, it's even a good idea to get out and water the grass."

The University's Yard and Garden Clinic has experts to answer questions on horticulture, plant disease, and insect problems between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. weekdays.

Call 612-624-4771 in the metro area or 1-888-624-4771 from outside the metro area. There is a $5 fee, which can be billed to a major credit card.

The clinic is one of the services available through Yard and Garden Line. Also available are free recorded messages 24 hours a day from Info-U. And at no charge, callers can request a return call from a Master Gardener volunteer in their county or can speak to a wildlife or water quality expert.

Another gorgeous week in November!

Kim, Minette and Nicholas Carpenter of Fargo spent last weekend in Plummer visiting his mother, Jean Carpenter and other relatives.

Don and Nancy Skjervon of Anaheim, CA recently came to Thief River Falls for the funeral of her mother, Minnie Knight. Nancy left for their home on Wednesday after the funeral, but Don stayed on until Monday to visit his relatives and friends and perhaps got in a little hunting.

The following students attended an accelerated reader's party last Thursday afternoon: Danielle Olsen, Mallory Gerardy, Jacob Aakhus, Kayse Lee, Kailey Bakken, Ben Dahl, Jamie Lee, Brittany Waldal, and Brett Gerardy. Congratulations, students!

Veterans Day Program

Plummer American Legion Post #623 presented a Veterans Day program at the school on November 11. After the posting of the colors by the Legion and Auxiliary, Howard Greenwald, chaplain, offered a prayer. Supt. Rick Lorenson gave a welcome and announced the Veterans Day contest winners that included Jennifer McMullen, Kelsey Rewertz, and Kelly Zimpel. Merle Jesme, post commander, introduced the guest speaker, Al Sollom, who gave an inspiring message. Boys and Girls Staters, Wade Westlake and Tracy Roston spoke and the high school band played the national anthem. Taps were played by Emily Fisher and Alisha Larson. The colors were retired to close the program. Serving as program ushers were boys from scout group #160 of Plummer.

The Rachel Circle met at the church on Thursday afternoon with Bunny DuChamp leading the business meeting and Bible study. Lunch was served by Edna Hyde, Jean Carpenter and Bunny.

Richard Vigstol of Oak Grove and his son, Mike of Mora, and David Vigstol and his son Reid of Lakeville arrived on Friday night at the Byer home for the deer hunt. Saturday night hunter's supper/early Thanksgiving guests included the above hunters as well as Steve and Derek Vigstol of St. Francis, Dan Vigstol and son Tim of Cedar, Ray Vigstol and Travis Collins of Thief River Falls, John Landeen of Warroad, and Eldon and Karl Vigstol of Plummer. Other family members were Karl and Shirley Vigstol, Julie and McKayla Adolphson of Thief River Falls, and Caryl and Chelsey Collins and a friend Lindsey, all of Warroad. The group celebrated Steve's 43rd birthday and other up-coming November birthdays. Lots of good visiting and a successful deer hunt was reported.

Shannon Fisher, son of Al and Lorraine Fisher, who is a student at Brookings, SD college, came home for the deer hunt. He was accompanied by friends, Joe Chura of Los Angeles, Jeremy Hanks of Mankato, and Jim Klukas of Victoria, MN.

Hunters and some of their families who came for the second hunting season to the home of Joe and Helen Fisher were Ray-Marilyn, Emily, Erica and Ryan Fisher of Plummer, Kenny of Grand Forks, Harvey of Holt, Tom and Charles of Thief River Falls, and Linda Hemley.

Lloyd and Wavell Sorenson visited at the Rehab Center in Grand Forks last Thursday with Bob Pahlen who has been a patient there for some time.

Albert and Evelyn Torvo spent Sunday in New York Mills where they attended special services at their church.

Lawrence Waldal and friend Clara Hesse were Sunday afternoon coffee guests of Beatrice and Clayton Larson. The occasion was Lawrence's birthday. By the way, in last week's news I neglected to list Lawrence's name as a brother to Selma Waldal at Hillcrest.

Jolayne Simpson and Margaret Greenwald drove to Karlstad on Sunday afternoon and attended a party for Boron Juhl's fifth birthday. He is the son of Mindy and Larry Juhl of Lake Bronson and grandson and great-grandson of Jolayne and Margaret. The party was held at the Seventh Day Adventist Church at Karlstad.

Norm and Shirley Baune of Kramer, ND, spent from Friday until Monday at the home of their daughter, Sandy and Mike Greenwald. Saturday visitors included Bob Baune and Joyce Carlson of Thief River Falls, and Jan, Jim, Jenna, and Seth Baune of East Grand Forks.

AAL Meeting

Immanuel's Chapter #10105 of Aid Association for Lutheran's met on Sunday following church services. President Don Hagen and Carole Wright, secretary were in charge. Coming events are the "Pine Tree Farm Walk" on December 4 and 5 with several volunteers to help, and also National volunteers Day on November 20. A video entitled "Spice Up Your Life" was shown to the group which explained the many opportunities in service and recreation that membership in AAL would provide. A resume of 1999's benefits from the organization to our community was given and totaled $3,893. New associate members Karen Vigstol and Norm Brenna were welcomed. More members bring more benefits and we encourage others to join. The next meeting will be on November 28 following the monthly potluck dinner at church.

Sunday dinner guests of Carol and Jerry Gerardy were Ronnie and Celeste Gerardy, Tammie and Josh Gerardy, Kevin Gerardy, Kyle, Jeremy and Lisa, and Charles Gerardy all of Thief River Falls, and Tony, Sheila, Mallory, Brett and Abby Gerardy of Plummer.

Kathleen and Darol Brasgalla of Bismarck and Iver Sandvoit of Williston visited briefly at the Carl and Eunice Koskela home when they came for the funeral for Darol's brother-in-law, Ralph Ness of Baudette. The funeral was held at Wabanica Lutheran Church in Baudette.

California Trip

Ray Nenonen returned on Monday night from a month's stay in California at the home of his daughter, Kim Bass of Danville, in the San Francisco area. He also enjoyed a week at Los Angeles with old friends. Glad you're safely back, Ray, from the state of concrete and cars, as you so aptly put it!

Peggy Hesse had the misfortune of cracking a bone in her ankle this week, and deserves prayers and good wishes for a speedy recovery.

Jean Carpenter spent Monday and Tuesday with her cousin Mardelle Worden at Grand Forks.

Community Club Meets

Plummer Community Club met on Monday evening at the Town Hall with President Don Fox presiding. In old business, the Halloween Patrol reported a quiet evening. Under new business, the cans for the turkey drawings are in place in the various businesses and names will be drawn on November 20. Watch for the list of winners which will be posted. Lorraine Lorenson reported for the nominating committee, the following slate: Fern Whitney, president; Rick Lorenson, vice-president; and Lucille Kvasager, secretary-treasurer. They were elected by a unanimous vote and will take over at the January meeting. There was discussion on the Christmas lighting contest and it will be held for all Plummer people who get their mail from Plummer. If you wish to enter, you must register at the Plummer bank by December 15. Judges Ray Nenonen, Goodwin Kvasager, Eddy Eskeli, and Goodwin Kvasager will be viewing the homes on December 18. Door prizes of $10 and $5 went to Lorraine Lorenson and Bea Larson. The next meeting will be on January 17, 2000, with Lorraine Lorenson and Ruth Wilkens serving lunch. Ideas for entertainment, whether it be musical, educational or humorous are requested. The meeting adjourned and refreshments were served by Lucille Kvasager and Bea Larson.

The weather in northwest Minnesota isn't hard to take these days, up in the 60 and 70 degrees. It is now 4 o'clock and the sun is almost down on the horizon. It no sooner goes down than so do all four of Roy's trusty thermometers, down to frosting, but the ground isn't frozen at all.

Hazel planted her tulips and other spring flowers about two weeks ago and they are already up. Morris covered them with straw and the wind not only blew the straw away last week, but also a bundle of shingles off the barn roof. There is a strange phenomenon of life in seeds and bulbs which can cause them to sprout if the temperature and soil is right and her straw bales can't stop them from growing right through them. Because they are perennials, they may come up in the spring again, or at least the next year. Maybe Hazel has discovered a new kind of tulips and daffodils??

I've been wishing for this kind of weather all fall, for the time when I have to spend a couple of days in Fargo to catch up on the income taxes. If it could be earlier in the year, it would be great, but they keep changing the rules even after the first of the year, and sometimes after April 15. There is nothing as good as dry roads as we venture away out on the prairie and if the fellows reading these new-fangled weather informers are correct, we won't have bad roads until Thursday, the day of our first snowfall???

The clock changing back to normal and my mind clock in sync with saving daylight, instead of awakening at 5 a.m. or so, it is now at 7 a.m. or so. Already in the morning I'm an hour behind time and regardless how I hurry, the day isn't long enough to catch up again. I think the people in Arizona have a good idea and stay normal all the time but being so far south their daylight hours don't change as much as ours.

The Strandquist Seniors met last Thursday and finished tying the last quilt for this year and also got other things ready for next week when they plan to close for the winter. They will go to Irene's Cafe for dinner and then go to the Center, cook coffee and serve cookies etc. to the public, who are all invited to come to their sale. I hope to see you there.

Food for Thought . . .

In this time of relative peace and prosperity, we have much to be thankful for this Thanksgiving. Yet living in the "breadbasket" of the nation, it is sometimes very difficult for farmers and related agriculture businesses to be thankful. It's difficult to be thankful when prices are low, bills are due, and creditors are calling. Most frustrating of all is the fact that while the price for food at the counter, while low, is climbing but price paid for the raw product is declining.

Relatively current information indicates that consumers pay about $1.30 for a one and one-half pound loaf of bread at the store, but the farmer's share is about 10 cents. Taken one step further, one bushel of wheat, for which the farmer receives about $3 per bushel, will make about 42 pounds of flour or 42 loaves of bread, according to the Minnesota Extension Service in Pennington county.

Why is there such a spread between the raw product and food prices paid at the store? According to the U.S. Agriculture Fact Book 98, food prices include payments for both the raw farm product and marketing services. In 1997, the farm value, or payment for the raw product, averaged 23 percent of the retail cost of a market basket of U.S. farm foods sold in foodstores. The other 77 percent, the farm-retail price spread, consisted of all processing, transportation, wholesaling, and retailing charges incurred after farm products leave the farm.

Farm-retail spreads have increased every year for the past 30 years, largely reflecting rising costs of labor, packaging, and other processing and marketing inputs. In 1997, farm-to-retail spreads rose an average of 4.7 percent and farmers received 4.4 percent less for the food they produced. The farm value as a percentage of retail prices was slightly lower in 1997 than in 1996. Meanwhile, retail food prices rose 2.4 percent. Widening farm-retail spreads continued to push up food costs in 1997.

After looking at the variability in processing costs between animal products and crop-based foods, the fact book states, "The additional manufacturing processes required for cereal and bakery products lower the farm value relative to the retail cost. Other factors that influence the farm value percentage include transportation cost, product perishability, and retailing cost."

I think what they're stating is that processing methods and the process of bringing the finished product to store shelves have become much more involved, while farmers have become much more efficient at producing the raw product. That doesn't make it any easier to swallow. Too bad farmers are held hostage by artificially low, and internationally driven market prices and aren't able to charge what it costs them to produce the raw product. Perhaps that's why Cecil Anderson of Thief River Falls demands in his 1999 Agriculture Position Paper that, "All farmers should be paid full cost of production on a base amount of production of any commodity plus a five percent return on investment."

Anderson justifies his demand that farmers be "paid" because the government demands under the Fair Labor Standards Act that the American worker be paid a minimum wage. Anderson wonders why not the farmer? "Why shouldn't an individual who produces the food and fiber that feeds the individual worker have the same benefit under the same law?"

There are a lot of factors contributing to the current farm crisis. I don't have the answers. I just know that changes need to be made that will allow farmers to receive a fair price for their product. As we give thanks this Thanksgiving, let's give some thought to where that food came from and the future of agriculture.

Thank you readers and advertisers

Thanksgiving is one time of the year that we offer thanks for life's many blessings. As the nation gives thanks this week, it dawned on me that it was about high time we, at The Times, gave thanks to you...

for supporting us by buying our newspaper or putting an advertisement in the newspaper; for sending us many ideas of great stories; for taking pictures for us when we were unable to because we were busy covering other events; for sharing your opinions with us in your many letters to the editor and telephone calls for being understanding when things don't go well and we make a mistake or lose a load of newspapers from the back of a pickup; for supporting and volunteering your time for your fellow residents; for being a terrific community to live in.

Thank you.

FROM THE PAST ECHOES

FROM THE PAGES OF THE TIMES

50 YEARS AGO • NOVEMBER 24, 1949

West Side Park Viewed As Site For Court House

"The city council at an adjourned session Monday evening received a request from Lars Hylden, chairman of the county board, for an expression of the council's attitude on the matter of giving up one-half of the west side park as a site for the proposed new court house. The council indicated they wanted more time to consider the matter before reaching a decision.

"Mr. Hylden stated that, while some members of the board object to the high price placed by the school board on the Central school property, the board nevertheless would start shortly to negotiate for the purchase of that site if the west side park is not available."

Legion To Dedicate New Home Saturday

"Saturday, November 26, will be a momentous occasion in the 30-year history of Eklund-Holmstrom post of the American Legion, for that evening that post will formally dedicate its recently purchased home, the former Hanson Motor company building on Main avenue south. Opening with a half-hour concert by the Ninth District Legion German band, starting at 6 o'clock, the evening's events will include a banquet at 6:30 for Legion and auxiliary members and their guests, followed by a program and dance."

Girl Scout Troop 13 Offers Baby-Sitting Service To Shoppers

"Choosing baby-sitting as one of its projects for the current year, Girl Scout Troop 13 announced today that, starting Saturday, November 26, local or out-of-town mothers who wish to go shopping may bring their small children of ages up to six to the Trinity Lutheran church basement, where members of Troop 13 and a troop mother will entertain and care for the little folks between the hours of 1 and 5:30 p.m. A fee of 15 cents an hour will be charged, it was announced."

Fire Department Gets Good Response To Request For Used Toys

"Fire Chief Roy Langevin reported today that the fire department received a hearty response from local residents to its appeal, published in the last issue of the Times, for toys to be renovated by the firemen previous to distribution to needy children of the community at Christmas time. Fully two hundred toys of all kinds were brought in, many of them being in new condition and in no need of repair. Langevin indicated that the firemen now have sufficient toys on hand to keep them busy repairing them until the holidays arrive."

Girl Scout Tea

"The Oriental Tea given by the Girl Scouts at the Legion club rooms last Saturday from 3 to 7:30 o'clock was an even greater success than the girls had expected. The room had been decorated in oriental fashion with Japanese lanterns and a dainty lunch was served at individual tables with center bouquets of artificial chrysanthemums.

"November 11 to December 11 has been set aside for a drive to secure funds to build a new Girl Scout headquarters in New York City and each town and city in the country having a Scout organization has been allotted a certain quota to donate as its share in the building. Owing to the success of their tea, the Girl Scouts in this city have secured their full quota already and after the erection of the new headquarters, the name of Thief River Falls and its two patrols will appear on the huge tablet containing the list of subscribers."

FROM THE UPPER FALLS

THE NEWS, JOHN W. EASTMAN, PUBLISHER NOVEMBER 23, 1899
THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA

WATER ROUTE
From Grand Forks, N. D. to Lake Superior.

"It is given out from Grand Forks that the first step in one of the greatest enterprises that has ever been conceived for the advancement of this great northwest has been consummated. This is nothing less than the construction of a channel from Grand Forks to Duluth. It has been known that the project was under consideration, but it was not thought that it was so far advanced as is now found to be the case.

"A syndicate of eastern capitalists has engaged Lolure Guthrie, of that city to go to New York and there make arrangements for this deal. All preparations are made and the route is decided upon. The preliminary survey of the country to be traversed by the channel will begin within the next two weeks, the work continuing all through the winter months. The plan is to use to advantage the Red Lake river to Red lake, through that lake, thence southeast through many of the other smaller streams and lakes that frequent that locality into the Mississippi, and to a point due west of Duluth. From that point the actual canal work will be begun, there being no natural bodies of water to aid in the work. They now figure that there will not be over 150 to 200 miles of actual canal work to be accomplished and figure that the entire canal can be ready for use inside of two years if not less.

"The company has received its charter and will be known as the Great Northern Canal and Transportation company. There is no connection with the Great Northern railroad.

"The president of the company is G. McGowan, examiner, of Trenton, New Jersey, and now head of the big rubber trust. The local attorney, Guthrie, states that many Grand Forks and Duluth men are in the deal, but would not divulge their names. The capitalization of the company is $1 million and more will be provided as necessary." - [Copied from the] CROOKSTON TIMES.

Denny Christensen of Franklin Middle School concentrates on a math problem. Christensen was one of several students participating in Math League, a competitive program that tests students' math skills. There were students from five schools participating in the event, which was held at Franklin Middle School Monday.

The Multi-purpose room at Franklin Middle School was filled with students from five schools Monday. The students were participating in Math League, a competitive program that tests students' math skills. Above, Paul Sjoberg of Franklin Middle School, concentrates on a math program.

FMS participates in Math League program

Franklin Middle School is participating in Math League, a competitive program that tests students' math skills. Last Monday, the school hosted a five-school Math League meet.

Students in grades 6 through 8 from Bagley, Bemidji Middle School, St. Phillips of Bemidji, Kelliher, and Thief River Falls were tested in a number of math disciplines, such as algebra, geometry, probability and statistics, and logic.

Franklin Middle School Math League Advisor Brenda Leier, explained that there are 11 students participating in the program at Franklin Middle School, and six students on the team. (Alternates can also compete for individual awards.) The team will compete with other schools in its league, both as a team and individuals. At the end of the five-meet season, awards will be given to the students.

Leier explained that each student takes two individual timed tests and then works as a team to complete the last test. Topics on the test reach beyond a typical middle school curriculum and include algebra, geometry, probability and statistics. The scores are all added together for the team's ranking.

Currently, the Franklin Middle School team holds second place in the Northern division.

Team members include eighth graders Danny Christianson, Ben Clark, Tami Dowers, Kyle Genereux and Chrissy Stumpf. Seventh graders on the team include Sam Berreson, Jillien Larson, Laura Paulsen and Paul Sjoberg. Sixth graders have recently been invited to check out the league and participate in the home meet.

Roy just returned from Robert Helberg's home with four five-gallon buckets of good rain water for our flowers. We haven't had any rain for awhile and he doesn't really like the idea of melting snow for them so he stores rain water. When Robert Helberg called it took no coaxing for him to take off for it. Roy is a farmer at heart and the flowers show it. Thanks!

Ed and Dorothy Gilbert donated $1,500 to the Heritage Community Center Senior Nutrition Program, represented by Leone Muzzy. Muzzy is a member of the eight-member senior nutrition board that supervises the program. The Thief River Falls program has been experiencing financial difficulties. Shannon Olson of Heritage Community Center explained that the cost of the meals provided to seniors is based on the individual's ability to pay. The meal may cost $2.50 or whatever the individual can afford to pay, but it actually costs much more. The program receives some funding from federal and state governmental agencies, but the rest of the program cost is picked up locally through donations, and fund-raising efforts that include bake sales and pancake breakfasts and other activities. Last year, the program experienced an $8,000 deficit. Because food costs are expected to increase this year, organizers expect the deficit to grow this year.

IMPORTANT HOMESTEAD PROPERTY TAX NOTICE

"If the property you now own and live in was not being used by you - or by a "qualifying relative" - or by the previous owner - as a homestead on January 2, 1999, you can reduce the amount of property tax you will pay on your home in 2000 by applying to have the property classified as a homestead.

If you wish to claim homestead on a property that was not receiving the homestead classification in the past, you must contact the county assessor's office and make application on or before December 15, 1999.

You–or a "qualifying relative"–must have moved into the home you now own and live in it as a principal residence, on or before December 1, 1999, to apply to have the property classified as a homestead.

A "qualifying relative" is defined as a parent, step-parent, child, stepchild, grandparent, grandchild, brother, sister, uncle, or aunt, niece or nephew. The relationship may be by blood or by marriage.

If you should sell, move or for any reason no longer qualify for the homestead classification, you are required to notify the county assessor's office within 30 days of the change in homestead status.

To find out how to apply for the homestead classification and receive the proper application form contact the Marshall County Assessor at 208 E Colvin Ave., Warren, MN 56762 or call (218) 745-5331.

Application deadline for payable 2000 taxes: December 15, 1999.

CHANGES TO AGRICULTURAL HOMESTEAD LAW

Article 5, section 13 of the 1999 Omnibus Tax Bill allows agricultural homestead classification for farms of at least 40 acres where the farm owner does not live on the farm, but lives within four cities or townships from the farm, if the owner actively farms the land, is a MN resident, and neither the owner(s) nor the spouse claim another agricultural homestead in MN.

This section replaces the old, "Agricultural homestead; special provisions" statue, which remains in law but qualification is limited only to those who qualified and received this "special provision" for previous assessments. Any property in the county receiving this classification should continue to receive it as long as they continue to qualify. However, it is no longer available to other property owners beginning with the 1999 assessment.

The new legislation provides for homestead for noncontiguous farmland under the following conditions:

Agricultural property consisting of at least 40 acres shall be classified homestead to the same extent as other agricultural homestead property, if all of the following criteria are met:

(1) the owner is actively farming the agricultural property;
(2) the owner of the agricultural property is a MN resident;
(3) neither the owner nor their spouse may claim another agricultural homestead in MN; and
(4) the owner does not live farther than four townships or cities, or a combination of four townships or cities, from the agricultural property.

This new legislation is effective beginning with the 1999 assessment, taxes payable in 2000 and thereafter.

The following definition constitutes "actively farming:"

Persons engaged in actively farming must participate in the day to day labor, administration and management of the farm. They must assume all or a portion of the financial risks and they must participate in any profits or losses.

Additionally:

- The applicant must own the farmland in question;
- The farmland must be a minimum of 40 acres in size and;
- The farmland must meet the definition of agricultural property contained in MN Statutes 273.124, Subd. 14(b)

This legislation provides another important departure from the past homestead requirements. Namely, the applicant can live in their own home but they can still qualify even if they live in an apartment, a rental home, a manufactured home park, a condominium or a cooperative.

Homestead application: This special homestead provision is only available to qualified individuals that make application by the filing deadline of December 15, 1999. Because the property owner must attest to certain facts that the assessor cannot possibly know, the classification cannot be given without a completed application. In order to monitor this homestead provision, the owner will be required to make annual application. This special homestead provision requires much more compliance on the part of the applicant than an ordinary homestead, particularly in the area of actively farming.

For applications you should contact the Marshall County Assessor at 208 E Colvin Ave., Warren, MN 56762 or call (218) 745-5331.

Application deadline for payable 2000 taxes: December 15, 1999.

Minnesota Farm Bureau 81st Annual Meeting to be held Nov 28-30

The Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation (MFBF) will bring together nearly 450 members from across the state during its 81st annual meeting to be held November 28-30 at the Radisson Hotel South in Bloomington. Highlighting the event will be policy development, featured speakers, Young Farmers & Ranchers (YF&R) and Promotion & Education (P&E) activities and contests, and county awards.

"It was the founders' vision for change back in 1918 that compelled them to form a unique, progressive organization where they could discuss issues affecting agriculture, develop policy by voting on resolutions, then effectively implement that policy," said MFBF President Al Christopherson. "Our many accomplishments in policy and leadership development are carried out the same way that the organization was founded over 80 years ago, by farmers coming together to make Minnesota a better place to grow crops and livestock. Many things in Farm Bureau and agriculture have changed over the years but one thing will never change; the fact that the contributions of individual county members are what make this organization great."

Among the main business items during the meeting will be the election of Board of Directors members. Board members Doug Frazeur, District III; Paul Stark, District IV; and Bennett Osmonson, District VII are up for re-election. Christopherson will be seeking another two-year term as president. Elections will take place on Tuesday, November 30 during the voting delegate session.

The annual meeting begins on Sunday, November 28 at 1 p.m. with YF&R Achievement Award and Discussion Meet contests. At 3:15 p.m. a special interest conference will feature John Phipps, an Illinois farmer who is also a chemical engineer, a Methodist lay speaker and a writer for Farm Journal. After an outstanding presentation on time management at last year's meeting, Phipps is back this year to share insight and humor on learning how to cope with fear. Phipps will offer suggestions on ways to improve coping skills as well as make rewarding decisions based on goals and dreams.

The day will wrap up with a recognition dinner beginning at 6:30 p.m. which includes the final round of the YF&R Discussion Meet contest. FFA and 4-H recognition, scholarship awards and commodity contest winners will also be announced. A President's Reception for Christopherson will follow the dinner.

Kicking off Monday, November 29 will be the district caucuses and meetings at 8 a.m. followed by the all-convention business session at 9 a.m. Gary Stern, President of the Federal Reserve Bank in Minneapolis, will be a keynote speaker. He is a highly respected economist who will give insight into economic trends and current figures that may be beneficial as producers plan their farm business strategy.

Christopherson will review Farm Bureau accomplishments of the past year, outline future challenges and unveil the new MFBF slogan during the President's Address at 10:30 a.m.

The afternoon session will begin at 1:30 p.m. with a special interest conference featuring motivational speaker Jane Jenkins Herlong. Jenkins Herlong will focus on "The Magic of Being Yourself."

At 2:45 p.m. and repeated at 4 p.m., two special interest conferences will be held. One features American Farm Bureau Federation Trade Specialist John Skorburg. Skorburg will provide an update on trade discussions at the World Trade Organization ministerial meetings to begin in Seattle this year. The second will be a discussion on "2000 Minnesota Legislative Issues: Unicameral Legislature?" Along with speakers presenting both sides of the issue, there will be time allowed for audience discussion.

The year-end awards banquet will begin at 6:30 p.m. The banquet spotlights county recognition for outstanding programs and leadership. Awards will also be given for Honorary Life, Distinguished Service to Agriculture and Ag Communicator, FFA Advisor and Extension Educator of the Year.

The MFB Foundation auction following the banquet will raise funds for ag promotion and education throughout Minnesota.

Beginning Tuesday, November 30 at 8 a.m., delegates from 78 Minnesota counties will decide on policy for the organization during the voting delegate session.

"More than 1,000 resolutions come from the county policy development process," said Christopherson. "Delegates at the annual meeting will vote on these resolutions, and others that may be brought to the floor, in order to set Minnesota Farm Bureau policy for the coming year. We're proud to be the largest general farm organization in the state founded on a process where every member's voice counts."

The MFBP annual meeting will also host a "showcase" of agriculture featuring its programs and activities along with other organizations and businesses. The showcase is free and open to the public on Sunday, November 28 from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Monday, November 29 from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Registration information and materials are currently available at county Farm Bureau offices.

Mayor Borsheim resigns from job with city

The Thief River Falls city council has accepted Mark Borsheim's resignation from his position as a CAD Operator for the city electric department. Borsheim, who also serves as mayor, gave his letter of resignation at the council's Tuesday, November 23 meeting.

"It is with deep regret that I have come to this decision," Borsheim stated in his letter of resignation. "However with the unfounded pressures brought upon me by my Department head, I am given no choice but to choose between my employment with the city and being the Mayor of Thief River Falls."

In last week's Times it was reported that, the Public Utilities Committee discussed a list by Superintendent Arlo Rude that questions the roll of a city employee serving on the city council. Borsheim believed the questions raised were a direct attack on him because of an earlier dispute between himself and Rude. Rude denied the list had anything to do with the recent disputes.

The motion to accept Borsheim's resignation was accepted without discussion. His resignation is effective December 8, 1999.

Julie Aanenson of Tri-Valley Opportunity Council appeared before the council to provide an operational report on the Heartland Express Transportation Program.

She told the council that Tri-Valley is looking at expanding the transportation program. She also noted that the Chamber of Commerce will sponsor additional bus service for shoppers this holiday season.

The bus service would be better utilized if people were willing to give up the independence of driving themselves. "Part of the problem in rural Minnesota is getting people used to riding buses," said Aanenson.

In other business the council:

Agreed to volunteer time as bell ringer for the Salvation Army.

Approved the release and termination of the medical office facility lease with Northwest Medical Center along with a bill of sale and quit claim deed.

Approved the recommendation to hire Ryan Skibicki as a government buildings custodian.

Tabled a resolution to accept a quote for the Airport Fuel Tank repair.

Accepted the resignation of Clayton Restad as Secretary/Treasurer of the Greenwood Cemetary Commission effective December 31, 1999.

Appointed Edward Gus Holmes as the new Secretary/Treasurer of the cemetary commission effective January 1, 2000 at an annual salary of $4,500 per year.

The council will meet Tuesday, December 7, at 5 p.m. for a Truth in Taxation Hearing

LHS bands to present concert

The Lincoln High School bands will present their first concert of the year at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, December 9. The concert will be held at the LHS auditorium. There will be no admission charged.

The concert will include performances by the Jazz Band, the Concert Band and the Wind Ensemble. All of the groups are under the direction of Dave Christianson.

The Jazz band will open the concert with three songs, "Mack the Knife," "One Moment in Time" and "Morocco." Featured soloists during the Jazz Band portion of the concert will be Sam Kezar on trumpet, Marissa Hanson and Amber Morkid on saxophone and Robbie Omdahl on trombone.

The Concert Band will start their portion of the program with "Overture to a New Millennium" by Ed Huckeby. This piece was commissioned by the Texas Band Association for the 1999 Texas All-State Band and is a fitting piece for the band's final concert of this millennium. "Where the Blackhawk Soars" by Robert Smith opens with a majestic fanfare which quickly gives way to a brisk yet flowing melodic statement. Jim Swearingens' "Celebration for Winds and Percussion" is next on the program and features contrasting sections of flowing melodic lines accentuated by emphatic rhythmic figures. The Concert Band's final number will be "Jump Swing Fever," a medley of two old swing standards, "Jump, Jive, "N Wail" and "It Don't Mean a Thing (If It ain't got that Swing)," and an original from the Brian Setzer Orchestra, "Zoot Suit Riot." It features Josh Stenseth on the drum set.

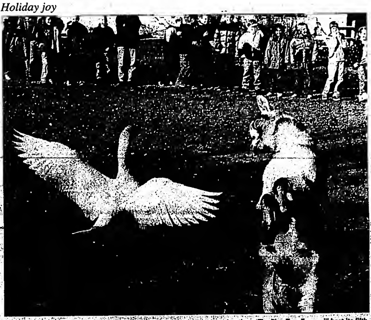
Holiday joy



After decorating their tree at Bitzegalo's Pine Tree Farm, students from St. Bernard's met some of the pets at the Bitzegalo's farm. The Pine Tree Farm will host its fifth annual Tree Walk for Hospice Saturday, December 4, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sunday, December 5, from noon to 5 p.m.

Singing Duo presents TRF concert Dec. 7

Neal and Leandra, a folk singing duo, will perform a Christmas program featuring a wide variety of Yuletide songs, American, International, and original, at a concert in Thief River Falls at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, December 7, at the Lincoln High School Auditorium. The concert is part of the Thief River Falls Entertainment Series. Season membership tickets will be available at the door.

Neal and Leandra have delighted community concert audiences nationwide for [illegible] with their harmonies, rich vocals and beautiful ballads of life and love. Their intimate rapport with the audience is immediate and makes concert-goers feel as if they are sitting around the fire laughing, singing and telling stories.

Using song and story, the concert is woven with five strands that give an audience an evening to remember. The first strand is "The Immigrant's Gift". America as the great melting pot offers us traditions from all over the world. The immigrants brought not only their dreams, but their songs. From the English ballad "What Child Is This", to the Swedish tradition of Santa Lucia, to the Jewish festival of Hanukkah.

"Old Standards" is a familiar strand in an age of constant change. The standards have earned a place in our hearts. It seems they have always been with us from our earliest memory. Who, but Ebenezer Scrooge, is not moved when they hear the beautiful music of Irving Berlin's "White Christmas"? Who, but the Grinch, cannot picture a main street full of life and laughter when they sing "Silver Bells"?

"New Classics. The standards did not come out of thin air. Somebody had to write them, somebody had to sing them, and somebody had to be the first to hear them before they could ever become standards". Neal and Leandra pick some of their new holiday favorites that may some day be your children's or grandchildren's holiday standards.

"Songs for a winter night" is a collection of songs celebrating winter, family, and hospitality that can carry through to all seasons. Neal and Leandra's songwriting is showcased here with songs like "Old Love" (a song about enduring love," one to warm the winter days"); "Snowflight" (about a son returning home for the holidays with children of his own); or "Hearts and Hammers" (about building a home where friends can sit by the stove in the cold, cold winter drinking hot, black coffee all night long").

The fifth and final strand is Hope Borne out of Struggle. Oftentimes the most powerful and joyful songs come out of the deepest understanding of sorrow. Hope is a strand in homage to the tradition of Negro spirituals. From "Go tell it On the Mountain" to "Children, Go Where I Send Thee", to "Mary Had A Baby", the richness of one people's tradition is a treasure to all.

Neal and Leandra, a folk singing duo, will perform a Christmas program for the 1999-2000 Thief River Falls Entertainment Series 7:30 p.m. December 7 in the Lincoln High School Auditorium.

The event, now in its second year, is co-sponsored by the Bemidji State University Women's Center and the Northwest Minnesota Women's Fund, a component fund of the Northwest Minnesota Foundation.

A selection board will review the nominees based on the person's significant contribution to art, athletics, business, government, philanthropy, humanities, science or education. Nominees, who may be living or deceased, must demonstrate a connection to the area of northwest Minnesota that includes the counties of Beltrami, Cass, Clearwater, Hubbard, Kittson, Koochiching, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau.

In addition to the individual's name and contributions, the nomination should include the person's accomplishments, biographical data, educational background and awards.

Those selected will be inducted into the Hall of Fame February 26 at an Opening Celebration of Women's History Month on the BSU campus. The Hall of Fame display is located in the A.C. Clark Library. Last year's inductees were: Coya Knutson, Helen Gill, and Hazel Wahlberg.

Individuals or groups wishing to recommend outstanding women for this award may request a nomination form by contacting the Northwest Minnesota Foundation at 218-759-2057 or 1-800-659-7859. Completed forms and supporting material can be mailed or transmitted by facsimile to the attention of Rebecca Weir, Northwest Minnesota Foundation, 4225 Technology Drive NW, Bemidji, MN 56601 (Fax: 218-759-2328).

47 give blood for Goodridge blood drive

Goodridge has once again demonstrated that it is a town with a heart. At the November 18 blood drive, 55 people volunteered to donate blood and 47 were actually able to give. Eighteen of the donors were first timers.

Rhonda Ellefson, community relations representative of United Blood Services said, "This is a clear example of concerned people in this area responding unselfishly to a great need — the need for blood. You can all feel proud that these volunteer donors are your friends and neighbors."

The Goodridge blood drive was sponsored by the Goodridge Lion Tamers. Cindi Kotrba coordinated the drive. Others who assisted with the drive were: Frances Aandal, Barb Lorentzen, Dorothy Wayne, Donna Horacheck, Marlys Drangstveit, Ruth Sanders, Deb Swanson, Duane Kjono, and Audrey Rogalla. Space to hold the drive was provided at St. Anne's Catholic Church.

United Blood Services is this area's non-profit blood service provider. More than 700 units of blood are needed by patients in area hospitals every week.

Friends of Lake Bronson Park raising funds

Friends of Lake Bronson State Park are conducting a fund-raising campaign to raise funds to complete a visitor's center.

A new visitor's center is being built at Lake Bronson State Park. The sheetrocking is complete, and the indoor window painting is progressing. The building should be finished by the Christmas Holidays, but some of the outside work is being left until spring.

Kitchen area equipment was not included in the construction costs, so the Friends of Lake Bronson State Park, are raising funds to equip the break-room with a refrigerator, freezer, warming units, microwave, and other kitchen items. Excess funds, if any, will be added to the park campground/playground equipment account.

To make a donation for kitchen equipment at the park contact: Kim Johnson of Kennedy, or Judy Davis of Lake Bronson, or send your donation to Friends of The Park, Route 2, Box 57, Lake Bronson, MN 56734.

The Friends of Lake Bronson State Park organization has set up the following donation levels: $50, $100, $250, $500, and $1,000. A plaque with a group or personal donor name on it will be placed in the new visitor's center.

Inter-County Nursing Service notes 30-year anniversary

Agency provides services to all residents of Pennington and Red Lake counties

by Kathi Carlson
Times Reporter

One hundred and fifty years ago, a young British woman defied the wishes of her wealthy family and devoted her life to the service of others. Florence Nightingale was the founder of nursing as we know it today and is hailed as the world's first public health nurse.

Thirty years ago, nurses Bonnie Syverson and LaVonne Mogen, and several home health aides, including Kathleen Keefe, Ragna Gunderson and Dorothy Quam, began delivering health services to residents of Pennington, Red Lake and Clearwater counties.

Inter-County Nursing Service (ICNS) was founded in 1969 as the direct result of the 1965 Social Security Act that established Medicare. While Clearwater county separated from the agency in 1977, ICNS has continued to operate under a joint powers agreement between Pennington and Red Lake counties with its main office located at 318 Knight Avenue North in Thief River Falls and a satellite office located in the courthouse in Red Lake Falls.

A Variety of Services for Everyone

Inter-County Nursing Service provides a variety of services to all persons living in Pennington and Red Lake counties in the areas of home health care, health promotion, family health and disease prevention and control. Also, ICNS works with and refers clients to other agencies that provide home health services.

What is Home Health Care?

Home health care is provided to those in need by registered nurses and home health aides.

A registered nurse works with the client and his or her physician to develop the best possible plan for care at home. Depending on circumstances, the nurse will do such things as administer some treatments or change dressings. He or she will help the patient communicate with the doctor about concerns and problems. The public health nurse will also assess the client's progress and report to the physician.

The role of the public health nurse continues to include educating the client and his or her family about special needs, offering guidance and support, and referring the client to additional community resources if needed.

Together, the client, public health nurse and doctor decide if the services of a home health aid would be beneficial. These services include personal care services such as bathing and are provided by the hour, usually for one to two hours at a time, one or two days a week.

Paying for Home Health Care

Regardless of who pays, Inter-County Nursing Service will provide service to everyone.

Currently four requirements must be met before one can receive Medicare coverage for home health services. First, Medicare requires that the client is homebound, needing the assistance of another person or assistive device such as a wheel chair to travel to necessary appointments.

Second, Medicare requires a doctor's order stating the reason for care and a plan developed by the physician for the nurse or therapist to follow in the client's care.

Other requirements include the need for a registered nurse, physical therapist and/or speech therapist on a part-time or intermittent basis only. Also, the home health care provider must be Medicare certified.

Medicare usually defines part-time as care provided for two hours or less twice a week, and to meet Medicare's requirements, patients normally need to be recently diagnosed and/or discharged from the hospital or require major changes in care such as medication changes or wound treatment.

Medicare will not pay for 24-hour care in the home by nurses or therapists or long-term chronic conditions with no recent complications.

Other payment options for home health care include the following.

Medicare Assistance will pay for home health care, sometimes with differed requirements than those of Medicare.

Some private insurance policies will provide for home health care, usually by a registered nurse.

For those meeting income guidelines, Minnesota's Alternative Care program will provide certain home health care services as an alternative to nursing home care. Individuals who do not meet the income guidelines may pay privately for this extended service.

To ensure that there is always a way for those in need to have home health care, ICNS uses a sliding fee schedule for those who have no other pay source. It also cooperates with other agencies that have home services available, providing each client with the best possible plan for services.

Additional Services

Home health care is only one of the many services offered by Inter-County Nursing Service.

Health promotion activities include the agency's ongoing blood sugar screenings and foot care clinics.

Blood sugar screenings are offered in the Thief River Falls office every Wednesday from 10 to 11 a.m. and at the Heritage Community Center on the first and third Thursdays of each month at 10:45 a.m.

Foot care clinics are offered monthly at several locations in the two counties. Foot care is also available at home.

Blood pressure screenings are offered daily between 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. at the Thief River Falls office and at foot care clinics and blood sugar screenings.

To promote health in the communities it serves, ICNS also offers health information to any who asks for it.

In the area of family health, Inter-County Nursing Service sponsors school health screenings, health presentations at community events such as the Teddy Bear Clinic and Community Baby Shower at Challenger Elementary and Preschool and activities coordinated with the Red Lake County Health Promotion Coalition, services to children with special needs and prenatal education classes.

To prevent and control diseases, the agency emphasizes school health and immunizations. Clinics offering immunizations are held on Saturdays in Pennington county, accommodating people who work during the day throughout the week.

Communities Caring for Children

Inter-County Nursing Service is one of 11 agencies which sponsors Communities Caring for Children, a public health program to improve the health of families in northwestern Minnesota.

The program, which offers services in 13 counties, encourages women to get early prenatal care and helps families with infants and young children get well-child examinations and immunizations.

Communities Caring for Children was originally started with a federal grant for the following reasons: Twenty-five percent of pregnant women in northwestern Minnesota do not obtain prenatal care in the first trimester. Only 61 percent of rural Minnesota two-year-olds are fully immunized, and only 17 percent of Minnesota children between the ages of birth and five years old receive well-child exams.

The program, which is free to all pregnant women and families with young children, offers a number of program activities to promote early prenatal care, timely immunizations and health check-ups for preschool age children.

Numbers Tell a Story

The 1998 annual report of Inter-County Nursing Service provides the following statistics with regard to services were perfomed by its staff.

On the average, there were 202 nurse visits, two therapist visits and 1,051 home health aide visits conducted each month. In 1998, these averages totaled 15,051 home care visits to 323 individuals.

In 1998, 4,328 health promotion and disease prevention contacts and 2,479 school screenings and health education contacts were made.

Flu shots were given to 2,187 persons at work site and community clinics.

Blood pressure screenings are one of the many services offered by Inter-County Nursing Service. Pictured is LuAnn Lusignan, RN, checking the blood pressure of a drop-in client. Inter-County Nursing Service employs about 30 nurses, home health aides and others in Pennington and Red Lake counties.

ICNS staff visited 174 homes for pregnancy, parenting and child growth and development services, and made 6,324 outreach contacts through its Communities Caring for Children and Child and Teen Check-ups programs.

Other services offered during 1998 included 855 service setting assessments and case management visits, 371 foot care contacts and 295 correctional health services contacts.

Celebrating Its History

Throughout the month of November during National Home Care Month, Inter-County Nursing Service celebrated its 30th anniversary.

A reception at the Red Lake Falls office celebrated the agency's anniversary and honored Karen Schimek, a registered nurse who noted 25 years of serving people in Red Lake county.

Other ICNS employees who have been with the agency for more than 20 years include LaRue Johnson, RN, and Sue Olson, public health nurse and ICNS director.

The service that began with a handful of nurses and home health aides in 1969 has grown to include about 30 employees.

Nurses, in addition to Schimek, Johnson and Olson, include registered nurses Anita Cardinal, Laurie Seng, LuAnn Lusignan, Tawna McGregor and Margo Peterson, and licensed practical nurses Sheila Dahlen and Laura McGregor.

Northland Community and Technical College currently provides courses to train home health aides whose training is similar to that of a nursing assistant.

Home health aides currently employed by Inter-County Nursing Service include Bev Gustafson, Fran Kennedy, Krystal May, Twila Henrickson, Dorothy Rood, Ione Olson, Kathy Moose Bylander, Cathy Zimpel, Linda Arveson, Marilyn Huderle, Taro Nesland, Kristi Nelson, Mary Morken, Joann Munter, Geri Tougas, Wendy Dahl and Val Engelman.

Other ICNS employees include Sharon Larson, secretary and aide; Beckie Wavra, secretary; and Cyndi Onkka, business manager.

A Bright Future

While changing regulations and legislation provide ongoing challenges for home health care organizations, they are the nation's fastest growing portion of health care fields.

Currently, over 20,000 home care providers deliver home care services to an estimated 8 million people across the country.

Home health care is a cost effective way of offering services to individuals recovering from hospital stays as well as those who are unable to care for themselves due to disabilities. It also assists families who are providing care for loved ones.

The oldest form of health care, founded by Florence Nightingale 150 years ago, continues with caring individuals providing special services with patience, empathy and heart.

For more information about the services of Inter-County Nursing Service, call the Thief River Falls office at 681-5950 or the Red Lake Falls office at 253-4378.

Snowmobilers asked to avoid construction zones

Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) is asking all snowmobile operators for their cooperation to steer clear of any construction zones that are shut down for the winter and posted as off limits. Legally, snowmobiling is allowed on the back slope of the right-of-way but operators must stay off roadways and out of the medians. In areas where construction has been suspended for the winter, hay bales and silt fences are often in place until the final turf establishment is complete.

In northern Minnesota, the east bound lanes of T.H. 2 between Bagley and Solway are closed in preparation of continued construction next year. Mn/DOT in cooperation with the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, is installing signing that will remind snowmobilers that the road bed is closed to snowmobiling. Mn/DOT warns that anyone who ventures into these areas may find themselves running into hay bales, fencing, construction materials or equipment. Snowmobile operators are cautioned that several hundred hay bales with wood stakes are in various locations along the T.H. 2 project site.

Information from the Insurance Federation of Minnesota indicates that operator error is the key cause of snowmobile crashes. Contributing factors include excessive speed, over-driving headlights at night, unfamiliar terrain, and alcohol consumption. Mn/DOT would like to thank the public for their patience this past construction season and encourages snowmobile operators to drive safely and responsibly.

Beijing delegation visits UMC

Delegates from Beijing visited the University of Minnesota, Crookston (UMC) campus this week to meet with faculty from the Precision Agriculture program. Aziz Rahman, assistant professor, coordinated the visit.

This is the second group from Beijing that has visited UMC. An earlier group came this summer. The delegation continues to look at ways to improve their program with technology.

"We show how technology enhanced agriculture is playing a role in improving agriculture and how UMC delivers the science of agriculture using modern tools," Rahman said. "We learn from each other."

Delegates from Beijing were from the State Development Planning Commission; High Tech Industries; General Corporation of Agriculture, Industry and Commerce; Beijing Municipal Development Planning; Beijing Nanjio Farm; Commission for Integrated Survey of Natural Resources, Chinese Academy of Sciences; and China Agricultural University.

The visit was a collaborative effort between UMC and the International Agricultural Programs of the College of Agricultural, Food and Environmental Sciences on the St. Paul Campus. Rahman worked closely with John Vreyens, training coordinator on the St. Paul campus.

The Crookston area visit included a stop at the Wagner Farm, lunch on the Crookston campus and a tour of the Precision Agriculture facility. The group also visited the St. Paul campus for a workshop.

The Precision Agriculture emphasis focuses on information gathering, management planning, and field operations that improve the understanding and management of soil and landscape resources. Optimized management allows more efficient utilization and cost control of agricultural inputs such as fertilizers, chemicals, seed, water, and tillage practices, among others.

Currently, major agricultural machinery manufacturers like Case-IH and Deere are aligning themselves with companies that deal with precision agricultural applications.

A delegation from Beijing visited the University of Minnesota, Crookston's Precision Agriculture program. Paul Aakre, assistant professor, and UMC student Kip Koverik, agriculture industries and sales management major from Adams, ND demonstrate technology enhanced agriculture.

Question of the Month

Why isn't the library open more hours [suggestions including mornings from 7 a.m., Sundays, every evening until midnight, holidays]?

Comparing itself to libraries of similar and slightly larger size, the Thief River Falls Public Library is open the second most hours in the state. The library open the most is open one more hour per week than the TRF Public Library. This library also has a great number more full time equivalent staffing (FTEs) and FTEs/hour open than the TRF Public Library. The issue always comes down to money. We have a limited amount of money and we have to try to determine how we can be fiscally responsible and provide service during the hours the most people will benefit. We do surveys periodically and have even tried different hours during the year with money invested into advertising those hours in order to determine if those are better hours for library service. The determination is always dependent upon circulation, walk-in counts and reference questions. If we had unlimited money, it would be wonderful if we could be open all the hours everyone would like us to be open. Unfortunately we are not in that situation at present.

The Glass Door

Weather wise, Halloween night this year was a taste of Indian summer, warm, and dry, with balmy air. It was ideal for testing the ventilation abilities of our brand new glass storm door; which, coincidentally, has the screen at the bottom of the door instead of at the top.

The glass storm door leads out of our kitchen onto a small open porch. Missing a well-worn path or sidewalk, it's only intended to be a private side yard, so to speak. At one time in the past, it was enclosed by a high, full fence. Yet to some degree, the intended intimacy remains due to the presence of two very large evergreens that enclose the yard close to the street where the fence ends.

Only one solitary boy tapped politely on the upper glass of the storm door for the trick-or-treat ritual on Halloween night. Inquiring if he was alone (we weren't a bit surprised), he said yes, received his treats, and pramptly moved on to the next trailer.

The screen at the bottom of the glass storm door was fully open, allowing the balmy night air in mixed with sounds of traffic, and the light patter of occasional trick-or-treaters passing down the drive beyond the evergreen trees.

Incidentally, we have three old tomcats, neutered, declawed, and prabably arthritic, who sat wistfully looking through the bottom screen of the glass door before 11 p.m. The toms began to howl thraaty wails loud enough to wake the dead. Our cats were doing this unnecessarily, as it is said that on Hallow's Eve the dead are already roaming the earth.

Looking out the glass storm door, we saw a cat sitting quietly on the porch. Then suddenly another appeared on the porch to join it. There is not much light on this porch, but after awhile we figured they weren't going to leave. We set out two bowls of cat food. They ate it, washed themselves in a cat's fashion, and remained on the porch not leaving until a gusty wind came up well after midnight. The wind scattered dry leaves with bits of litter across the drive of the trailer court. The dull glow of the street light illuminated both of the stray's hastened departure down the drive.

Well, our family made a playful joke about the cats that came to our house trick-or-treating. "Ha, ha," we said, "you know the cats assumed the kids out trick-or-treating had a good thing going on and decided to get in on the act too!"

None of us joked on Saturday, November 6, when the same two cats showed up. The screen on the bottom of the glass door was only partially open; one of our old tomcats snarled—to let us know they were on the porch again. We set out two bowls of cat food as we had on Halloween night; they didn't eat in a leisurely cat fashion at all. It sounded as if they were inhaling the food. The bowls were empty in less than one minute.

As it was a very cold night, they both scurried off into the dark immediately after eating. Strangely on the following Sunday, only one cat showed up. She ate, staying on the porch al night, oblivious to us, as we had closed our doors and gone to bed. She was meowing weakly on the morning of the eighth on our porch quite early, so we let the cat in, bathed her directly in our bathtub with medicated shampoo, cleaned her dusty ears, and pramptly called the Humane Society. We even pondered the whereabouts of the other stray cat. The Humane Society at this time did return our calls, and KTRF pronounced this stray cat, her location, and our phone number. No one claimed her; not one person called.

Believe it or not on Saturday, November 13, a bitterly cold night at that, we heard a cat's frantic meowing outside our trailer. Looking through the very same glass storm door, was the missing stray cat! This certainly was uncanny, bewildering, and an almost telepathic situation. How could the missing one possibly have known the other was safe inside our trailer?

Encouraged or rather enticed by a bowl of food to enter into our trailer, the strays gently touched noses together. They appeared to show a great sense of relief upon seeing each other again. She got the same shampoo treatment as the other female stray had.

My whole family sensed that these cats were soul mates. It was interesting to observe them greet as well as groom each other. They seemed to function better as a pair than as individuals.

On November 14, we took them to the police station for impoundment. It remains a curiosity that they appeared on our porch during the nights of weekends. Where they regrouped during the week also remains a mystery. It is prabably a sure bet that spying our old tomcats through the glass storm door on Halloween night led them to believe they could take a chance on getting a praper meal. Hopefully, all is not lost and they will be returned to their praper owners. If they have, ta a small degree, the supernatural gifts they seem to possess, It shouldn't be too much longer. Feline gypsies are rare in Northern Minnesota. Maybe if you keep your door open long enough, you'll catch a glimpse of one gingerly walking by.

PARENTING TIPS

Stay-Healthy Tips for Toddlers

Can you teach toddlers healthy habits like blowing their noses, covering their mouths when they sneeze and washing their hands after sneezing? The answer is yes. In many ways, there's no better time to begin teaching health habits than now. Not only is this the age at which "I do it myself!" becomes the battle cry, but it's also a time when rituals hold a real attraction for children. And as we all know, toddlers happen to be the world's greatest imitators.

Another factor that works to your advantage is that generally they haven't yet reached the "why?" stage. This means that you can teach them good habits without having to get into complicated discussions about germs and illness! All you need to do is cheerfully tell your child, "This is how grawn-ups and big kids wash hands."

Washing hands is probably the single most important habit you can teach your child when it comes to healthy habits (and the prevention of illness). This act is prabably best taught by ritual. You could make up a special song to accompany the ritual. As you demonstrate the exact sequence try narrating the details as a sports announcer would. Exaggerate and have fun!

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

It is usually simpler and more effective to tell them what to do rather than telling them what not to do.

Candlelight vigil planned for Dec. 12

Compassionate Friends Inc. (TCF) announces the Third Annual "that their light may always shine" remembrance event. TCF is asking people around the world to light a candle at 7 p.m. in their time zone in memory of all children. As the candles burn down in each time zone, new candles are lit in the next. The result is a wave of light circling the globe in a 24-hour period.

We encourage people throughout the area to light their candles at 7 p.m. on December 12 and let them shine for the full hour."

December 12 is also National Children's Memorial Day in the United States.

Down On The Farm

Eric Bergeson

Thanksgiving means turkey and dressing to many people, but for me, at least, it means straggling to get a little bit of sleep in a relative's basement somewhere in the Cities.

I don't care which relative it is, I usually end up on the hide-a-bed in the basement. That is fine, but hide-a-beds aren't meant for human use. They are meant to injure people's backs so permanently that they never come for another visit.

But before even trying to get comfortable in the hide-a-bed, I have to deal with all of the clocks. Most of my aunts collect clocks. It seems like they wind them all up right before company comes.

I do what I must to sleep. I stick toothpicks in the mechanisms of wind-up clocks to silence their ticking. I have pulled out clock batteries. I have tied knots in the weights of a cuckoo clock to shut it up until morning.

Over the years, I have been kept awake by the clocks, by pipes squeaking, sinks dripping, mice chewing, fridges making ice, uncles snoring upstairs and water softeners regenerating, but this Thanksgiving threw me a new curve.

Once again, I was trying to sleep in a basement somewhere in the Cities. For once, the bed wasn't so bad, and the pipes had calmed down. Once I figured out how to disconnect the rattling dehumidifier, I was ready to sleep.

But then I heard a beep. And another beep. For about an hour, I tried to get to sleep between the beeps, only to have the next beep wake me up right as I was drifting into dreamland.

I decided to attack the problem scientifically. I stood in the middle of the room facing one direction and waited for the beep. It seemed to be behind me, so I stood in the middle of that part of the room and waited for the next beep. With each beep, I got a little closer to whatever it was that was beeping.

I ended up with my nose in the laundry basket. I debated--would it be right dig through the dirty laundry of my gracious hosts?

I went ahead and dumped out the laundry. I picked off one piece of dirty laundry after another until, behold! There was a little cell phone. Who knows how the phone found its way into the laundry, but the laundry basket was "out of range," and the phone was beeping to make sure this prablem didn't go unnoticed.

I shut the phone off and threw it back into the laundry basket. It was 3:30 am. It would only be four hours until my uncle would get up to listen to Paul Harvey at full volume.

DNR issues corrections, reminder for 2000 spring wild turkey applicants

Several printing errors occurred in the Minnesota Year 2000 Spring Wild Turkey Application Booklet. Hunters applying for these Wildlife Turkey Permit Areas (WTPA) need to be aware of these errors.

On page 3 (in the table), the WTPA listed as 224/410 (northwest portion) is a printing error. It should be WTPA 244/410 (northwest portion) as indicated correctly on the map on page 5.

On page 5 (map), the shading for WTPA 410 (northwest portion) may not be clear. Only that portion south and west of Detroit Lakes (between State Highway 34 and County State Aid Highways 9 and 5), combined with WTPA 244, will be open to wild turkey hunting for spring 2000.

Permit Area 224 is the Sherburne National Wildlife Refuge, and it is not open for wild turkey hunting. No wild turkey hunting permits will be validated for 224, Sherburne National Wildlife Refuge.

An omission on the map and table should have included a portion of WTPA 454 east of County State Aid Highway 7 in Cottonwood County and east of County State Aid Highway 5 in Redwood County, which will be open for the 2000 spring wild turkey hunt. This portion of 454, which is open, is combined with 455/456/458.

Kevin Lines, farmland wildlife program leader, reminds all wild turkey hunters that anyone born after Jan. 1, 1980, must have a firearms safety certificate (or equivalent), a previous hunting license, or other evidence of successfully completing a hunter safety course, in order to obtain a license to hunt or trap in Minnesota. Landowners eligible for the wild turkey landowner preference drawing must live on 40 acres of agricultural land in the portion of the WTPA open for hunting.

The last day to apply for the spring 2000 wild turkey hunt is Friday, Dec. 3, 1999. Applications must be postmarked by Friday, Dec. 3, or delivered no later than 4:30 p.m. that day to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources License Bureau, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4026. LHS bands present first concert of the year December 9

The Wind Ensemble will open with the classic of the repertoire, "Emperata Overture" by Claude T. Smith. "Chorale and Shaker Dance" by John Zdechlik is another band classic and is based on the Shaker melody "'Tis a Gift to Be Simple." "Waterdance" is a piece that evokes images of summer — a lake before sunrise, slowly coming to life, the activity of the heat of the day, and finally returning to the tranquility as evening begins. The concert will close with the band's exciting and often surprising rendition of Leroy Anderson's "A Christmas Festival."

St. John's annual Christmas Fair Saturday, Dec. 4

St. John's 31st annual Christmas Fair will be held on Saturday, December 4 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the church.

Snowmobile safety on trails promoted

December 1 marks the arrival of another telltale sign of the beginning of winter — the opening of Minnesota's 18,000 miles of snowmobile trails. In preparation for winter, the Minnesota United Snowmobilers Association (MnUSA), the state's largest snowmobiling organization, reminds operators of the nearly 281,000 licensed snowmobiles in Minnesota to keep safety top-of-mind to ensure that last two season's decline of snowmobile accidents and fatalities continues.

"We're very pleased to see that Minnesota snowmobilers continued to make safety a priority on the trails last season," said Greg Sorenson, MnUSA's 1998-99 president. "With nearly 40,000 new snowmobiles registered in the state this season, we expect snowmobilers to be out on the trails in record numbers. We'll need every snowmobilers cooperation to maintain this positive safety record."

During the 1998-99 season, 17 individuals died as a result of snowmobile accidents, down from 19 the previous year. Of those deaths:

- 35 percent were ice/water related (6)
- at least 24 percent involved alcohol consumption over the legal limit (4)
- 35 percent resulted from hitting a fixed object — tree, rock or fence (6)
- 71 percent of the individuals did not have their safety certification (12)

"It's a serious concern that 60 percent of those injured or killed last year did not have their safety certification," said Sorenson. "Regardless of your age or experience level, taking the safety certification course is the best defense in preventing snowmobile accidents." Eighty-one percent of the operators involved in accidents last year were between the ages of 10 and 30, with 57 percent being under 20.

As of October 1, 1998 Minnesota law requires anyone born after December 31, 1979 (anyone under the age of 20), to be safety certified in order to legally drive a snowmobile. MnUSA members receive instructor training from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR), and then offer classes throughout the state. Youth age 12-16 are required to take the 10-hour Youth Snowmobile Safety Certification course, whereas those 16 and older can take the new four-hour Young Adult/Adult class. For more information about classes, contact the DNR at 1-888-MINNDNR or MnUSA at 612-577-0185.

Memorial service at Elks Sunday

A memorial service honoring departed Elks members will be held at 12:30 p.m. on Sunday, December 5 at the Elks in Thief River Falls.

Tae Kwon Do classes planned

Tae Kwon Do classes will be offered Mondays and Wednesdays at the Thief River Falls National Guard Armory. Classes are free for the first week. Upon enrolling, participants can either pay on a monthly basis or pay for the first two months in advance and receive a free uniform. There is no need to pre-register.

For children ages 7-14, classes will be held from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays. For adults, ages 15 and older, classes will be held from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. The cost is $30 per month for a single participant. Rates are lower when more than one family member enrolls.

Two new programs available are self-defense for men and women (ages 15 and older), and Kick for Kids, which is a program for children ages 4-7. These classes are offered on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 6:30 to 7 p.m. There is no need to pay for day care while a parent is attending self-defense classes because their children can be benefiting from the Kicks for Kids class at the same time. Kicks for Kids is an excellent first course for children who have expressed an interest in martial arts.

DNR issues corrections, reminder for 2000 spring wild turkey applicants

Several printing errors occurred in the Minnesota Year 2000 Spring Wild Turkey Application Booklet. Hunters applying for these Wildlife Turkey Permit Areas (WTPA) need to be aware of these errors.

[illegible] on the table, the WTPA listed as 224 [illegible] is a printing error. It should [illegible] WTPA 211 [illegible] northwest portion [illegible] on the [illegible].

Permit Area 223 is the Sherburne National Wildlife Refuge, and it is not open for wild turkey hunting. No wild turkey hunting permits will be validated for 223, Sherburne National Wildlife Refuge.

An omission on the map and table should have included a portion of WTPA 151 east of County State Aid Highway 7 in Cottonwood County and east of County State Aid Highway 5 in Redwood County which will be open for the 2000 spring wild turkey hunt. This portion of 151, which is open, is combined with 155/456/158.

Kevin Lines, farmland wildlife program leader, reminds all wild turkey hunters that anyone born after Jan. 1, 1980, must have a firearms safety certificate (or equivalent), a previous hunting license, or other evidence of successfully completing a hunter safety course in order to obtain a license to hunt or trap in Minnesota. Landowners eligible for the wild turkey landowner preference drawing must live on 40 acres of agricultural land in the portion of the WTPA open for hunting.

The last day to apply for the spring 2000 wild turkey hunt is Friday, Dec. 3, 1999. Applications must be postmarked by Friday, Dec. 3, or delivered no later than 4:30 p.m. that day to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources License Bureau, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4026. Snowmobile safety on trails promoted

December 1 marks the arrival of another telltale sign of the beginning of winter — the opening of Minnesota's 18,000 miles of snowmobile trails. In preparation for winter, the Minnesota United Snowmobilers Association (MnUSA), the state's largest snowmobiling organization, reminds operators of the nearly 281,000 licensed snowmobiles in Minnesota to keep safety top of mind to ensure that last two season's decline of snowmobile accidents and fatalities continues.

"We're very pleased to see that Minnesota snowmobilers continued to make safety a priority on the trails last season," said Greg Sorenson, MnUSA's 1998-99 president. "With nearly 40,000 new snowmobiles registered in the state this season, we expect snowmobilers to be out on the trails in record numbers. We'll need every snowmobilers cooperation to maintain this positive safety record."

During the 1998-99 season, 17 individuals died as a result of snowmobile accidents, down from 19 the previous year. Of those deaths:

- 35 percent were ice/water related (6)
- at least 24 percent involved alcohol consumption over the legal limit (4)
- 35 percent resulted from hitting a fixed object — tree, rock or fence (6)
- 71 percent of the individuals did not have their safety certification (12)

"It's a serious concern that 60 percent of those injured or killed last year did not have their safety certification," said Sorenson. "Regardless of your age or experience level, taking the safety certification course is the best defense in preventing snowmobile accidents." Eighty-one percent of the operators involved in accidents last year were between the ages of 10 and 30, with 57 percent being under 20.

As of October 1, 1998 Minnesota law requires anyone born after December 31, 1979 (anyone under the age of 20), to be safety certified in order to legally drive a snowmobile. MnUSA members receive instructor training from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR), and then offer classes throughout the state. Youth age 12-16 are required to take the 10-hour Youth Snowmobile Safety Certification course, whereas those 16 and older can take the new four-hour Young Adult/Adult class. For more information about classes, contact the DNR at 1-888-MINNDNR or MnUSA at 612-577-0185.

A memorial service honoring departed Elks members will be held at 12:30 p.m. on Sunday, December 5 at the Elks in Thief River Falls.

Tae Kwon Do classes planned

Tae Kwon Do classes will be offered Mondays and Wednesdays at the Thief River Falls National Guard Armory. Classes are free for the first week. Upon enrolling, participants can either pay on a monthly basis or pay for the first two months in advance and receive a free uniform. There is no need to pre-register.

For children ages 7-14, classes will be held from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays. For adults, ages 15 and older, classes will be held from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. The cost is $30 per month for a single participant. Rates are lower when more than one family member enrolls.

Two new programs available are self-defense for men and women (ages 15 and older), and Kick for Kids, which is a program for children ages 4-7. These classes are offered on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 6:30 to 7 p.m. There is no need to pay for day care while a parent is attending self defense classes because their children can be benefiting from the Kicks for Kids class at the same time. Kicks for Kids is an excellent first course for children who have expressed an interest in martial arts.

Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

Erasing a memory with bicycles

by David Hill
Editor

Pastor George Bunnell of New Life Assembly in Thief River Falls has no memory of riding a bike, least of all receiving a shiny new bike as a Christmas gift. There were eight children in his family and they couldn't afford bikes for the children.

The memory of never having a bike was suppressed until he attended a workshop at Phoenix First Assembly in Arizona. Something phenomenal was happening there. Bunnell said Pastor Tommy Barnett had organized a volunteer effort to give away bikes. They've been doing that for years and they now give away thousands of bikes annually.

It was an idea that touched him It reminded him of a promise never fulfilled — a promise that he would get a bike when he was in second grade. He never had a bike of his own until he was 14. At age 14 he bought his first bike; — a used bike he purchased for $10.

Those memories don't matter now, not for Pastor Bunnell. It's all in the past. All he's focused on now is helping parents in the area provide bikes for children who might not otherwise ever have a bike of their own.

He set a goal of obtaining 25 new bikes. His congregation, Kmart and Pamida, quickly helped him reach that goal. As the effort was gathering steam, he thought, the word got out. Super 8 of Thief River Falls donated 38 bikes.

Can you imagine?

- He came home one night to find two brand new bikes in his garage that had been donated anonymously.
- Three teenagers came up to him and asked to donate a bike.

The number of brand new bikes at New Life Assembly jumped from 25 to 50 almost overnight. Pastor Bunnell said the support is greatly appreciated, but he asks that individuals interested in donating a bike hold off until he has more names of children who need bikes.

Pastor Bunnell is excited about the project. He never had a bike as a child, and now he has the thrill of giving away so many. Everyone seems to be excited about the project too.

Pastor Bunnell is now soliciting help. Volunteers are needed to help assemble the bikes, and he needs names of children who need bikes. Bikes will be given away to children living outside of Pennington county. No questions regarding the family's financial situation will be asked. The bikes will fit children age 3 and up.

The bikes will be given away to children on December 19 following a musical at the church called "Birthday of the King."

Individuals who know of a child who would like to receive a new bike for Christmas should call Pastor Bunnell at 681-4716 or 686-6986. The bikes will be given away on a first come, first serve basis; so it's important to call soon.

Vintage snowmobile destroyed in fire

On November 29 at 7:18 p.m. the Thief River Falls Fire Department was called to the scene of a small storage shed on fire at 207 east 13th Street. The department was on the scene for approximately 40 minutes. There was no damage estimate given, but a 1973 Arctic Cat snowmobile which was in the shed was destroyed.

The cause of the fire remains unknown.

About 50 bikes have been collected and will be given away by the New Life Assembly church in Thief River Falls. Pictured above is Pastor George Bunnell with some of the bikes that have been collected.

Thief River Falls football banquet...

Drees named Prowlers MVP

Nick Drees was named recipient of the Ole Olson Most Valuable Player Award as Thief River Falls wrapped up the 1999 high school football season with a Sunday awards banquet.

Other special honors went to Drees and Brian Loe, most valuable offensive back; Ryan Ostby, most valuable offensive lineman; Josh Jensen and Tim Hruby, most valuable defensive lineman; Josh Gryskiewicz and Zach Olson, most valuable defensive back; Ben Myers, most valuable linebacker; Peter Radniecki and Brad Bulger, Coaches Award.

Bulger, Adam Haviland and Brett Johnson were recognized as the Prowlers' 1999 captains.

Athletic letters went to seniors John Cox, Mike Dowers, Josh Gallagher, George Haj, Luke Miller, Nic Miller, Brent Nelson, Kyle Newton, Bailey Nordin, Jonathan Pream, Matt Tronvet, Derek Walseth, Bulger, Drees, Haviland, Hruby, Jensen, Johnson, Olson, Radniecki; juniors Michael Bauer, Nathan Carlson, Trovis Dahlen, Adam Dallmann, Luke Erickson, Justin Folkedahl, Brent Grahn, Josh Hom, Mike Langland, Paul Leister, Jeremy Lian, John Marben, Case McIntyre, Dean Mehrkens, Ben Owen, John Sjoberg, Justin Skjerven, Jayson Sletten, Nate Sorvig, Kyle Swanson, John Sylvester, Steve Wiseth, Dewey Worker, Gryskiewski, Loe, Myers, Ostby; sophomore Trent Christensen; video camera operator Stacy Kleinvachter; and student managers Carissa Ptacek and Kelly Poissant.

Guest speaker was University of North Dakota head football coach Dale Lennon.

Thief River Falls finished the year 5-4 overall. The Prowlers were 5-3 during the regular season when they beat Spring Lake Park 13-7 and Hibbing 34-21; lost to Crookston 12-0; bounced back to defeat Virginia 34-14 and Bemidji 13-10; fell to Detroit Lakes 26-6 and Fergus Falls 27-14; then finished with a 35-12 victory over East Grand Forks.

Eventual champion Sartell beat Thief River Falls 35-21 in the opening round Section 8AAAA playoff quarterfinals.

"I was very happy with our season," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "If you take a look at the four teams that beat us – Crookston, Detroit Lakes, Fergus Falls, and Sartell – they're all quality programs. They were all ranked in the top ten in the state at the end of the year in their respective classes. And we beat some quality teams, too."

A victory over a favored Spring Lake Park team on the road to open the season jump-started the Prowlers' winning campaign. They were 4-1 before running into the Lakers, Otters and Sabres at season's end.

"The kids came ready to practice and ready to play every day," noted Mumm. "It was a wonderful group of players and parents to work with. When you have the opportunity to work with a group like that, it makes it special."

Mumm also acknowledged the strong fan support the Prowlers enjoyed this fall. He bid farewell to Prowler Field, and looked forward to starting the 2000 season at the new Multi-Events Center. "I'll miss the old field," he said. "You have special feelings for it after coaching there for 15 years. But we're excited about playing on the new field. We'll have to start some new traditions."

Northland is 1-1 at Hibbing

Playing two weekend games on the road is standard fare for Minnesota Community College Conference men's basketball teams when Northern Division play gets under way. Northland Community and Technical College is trying to prepare for that challenge, but an early-season appearance at the Hibbing Classic proved the Pioneers still have a ways to go.

Northland beat Rainy River 76-58 Saturday to start the four-team, round-robin affair, but lost a 101-77 Sunday decision to the host Cardinals.

"We played well against Rainy River," reported Northland coach Rick Nikunen, "but against Hibbing on the second day, our legs gave out. We were very sluggish."

Northland built a 44-34 halftime lead against Rainy River and never looked back. Matt Moen scored 26 points, Jason Pinkney had an 18-point, 11-rebound game and Kelly Cota contributed 16 points.

The Pioneers were 34-for-62 from the field (55 percent) and 4-for-7 at the free throw line. The Voyageurs went 20-for-66 from the floor (30 percent) and were a busy 17-for-30 at the line. Rainy River finished with a 41-32 rebound edge. Turnovers were even at 10-apiece.

Moen came back with a 24-point effort against Hibbing, while Cota netted 18 and Pinkney had 17, but it wasn't enough for the Pioneers, who trailed 51-40 at halftime.

Northland shot 39 percent against Hibbing (30/77) and made 13 of 15 free throw attempts. The Cardinals shot 47 percent from the field (34/73) and cashed in on 19 of 23 free throw tries. Northland won the rebound battle 44-42. Both sides had 17 turnovers.

The split put the Pioneers at 2-3 for the year.

"I'm seeing some good things," said Nikunen. "Moen is averaging 24 points per game; Pinkney is scoring 13; and Cota has played very well the last couple of games. I'm optimistic."

Haviland champion - again

Chelsea Haviland blew the competition out of the water while winning a second straight diving title in the Class A portion of the 1999 Minnesota state high school girls swimming and diving championships Nov. 22-24 at the University of Minnesota.

A Thief River Falls sophomore, Haviland shattered the Class A meet record she set a year ago by 78 points. The 500.85 points she scored on her eight dives was only seven points shy of the all-time state meet record set by Jamie Sanger of Wayzata in 1997. Lisa Barthel of Sartell-St. Stephen was a distant second on the 1999 Class A leader board with 378 points.

This is the third year of two-class state meet competition for girls and Haviland has been a fixture on the medal stand at each one. The three-time Section 8A champion was the Class A state runner-up as an eighth grader in 1997, and now has back-to-back state titles under her belt. She also competed in the single-class 1996 state meet as a seventh grader.

Sanger is the only girl history to win four state diving titles, a reign that lasted from 1995-98.

Haviland's 1999 total also bettered the 462.75 points collected by Class AA champion Shannon Jackson of Anoka.

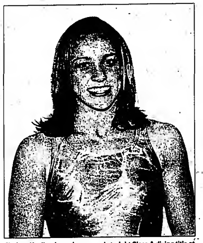
The Class A competition at the Aquatic Center in Minneapolis began with five dives Monday. Class AA girls were in the pool Tuesday. Qualifiers returned for the Wednesday finals in both classes.

"Chelsea had a very, very solid performance," said Thief River Falls coach Mary Helen Houlihan. "You could see she was a little nervous the first day. She came in as the defending state champion, and that adds a lot of pressure."

But as the meet wore on, Haviland became more comfortable, explained Houlihan, who said, "Wednesday, I knew Chelsea would do well right away. She looked good in her practice dives, and it carried through. She's done a lot of diving in that pool, and she's very familiar with the boards. That helped a lot."

Haviland was also a state meet place finisher in the 200-yard individual medley with a 2:18.13 that put her 12th in the consolation finals. It was her best time of the year in the event – a race she won at the Section 8A meet in 2:19.85.

Teammate Naomi Olson joined Haviland as a state meet diver. The senior, who dove for the Prowlers in the past, did not decide until four weeks into the 1999 season to rejoin the program. However, she made up lost time in a hurry to earn a state meet trip and a 31st place showing in a large field. "Naomi did well," said Houlihan.



Chelsea Haviland won her second straight Class A diving title at the 1999 Minnesota state high school girls swimming and diving championships Nov. 22-24 at the Aquatic Center on the University of Minnesota campus in Minneapolis. The Thief River Falls sophomore broke a meet record she set a year ago.

TRF strength is on defense

■ Thief River Falls boys high school hockey

Low scoring games could be the norm for the 1999-2000 Thief River Falls boys high school hockey team. The Prowlers don't expect to give up a lot of goals; they have veterans returning on defense and in goal. But they may not be scoring many, either, since graduation took most of last year's forwards.

"We're pretty solid from the blue line back," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland, "but we're awfully inexperienced up front."

Senior Mike Dowers, who has played virtually every minute in the Thief River Falls nets the past two years, is back in goal. He was named All-Section 8A and All-Mariucci Conference last winter when he had a 3.20 goals against average and an .895 save percentage.

Top returning defenseman is senior Brett Johnson, an All-Section 8A pick a year ago.

Three others who played regularly on defense in 1998-99 are senior Casey Enge, junior Dewey Worker and sophomore Justin Barron. With 5 goals, 14 assists and 19 points, Enge is the Prowlers' top returning scorer.

Senior Brady Anderson is the only forward on hand who skated regularly on one of the team's top three lines last year. Anderson was teamed with senior Bennett Pagnac and freshman Dane Kjono for Tuesday's season opener against Roseau.

A second unit had senior Matt Tronvet skating with junior Steve Wiseth and sophomore Danny Almquist, one of several players battling illness and injuries in pre-season practice.

Junior Josh Gryskiewicz and freshman Travis Collins were set on a third line, with senior Bailey Nordin and juniors John Marben and Steve Wiseth rotating through the other spot.

Two other goalies on the roster are juniors Ben Owen and John Sylvester.

Other defensemen on hand include senior Steve Wigand; juniors Dane Jensen, Nathan Koland and Brent Grahn; along with sophomores Brian Quinn, Chris Swanson and Trevor Swanson.

Rest of the forwards are senior Tyler Stinson; juniors Paul Leister and Derek Dustafson; plus sophomores Robby Anderson, Cliff Juhl, Brian Newton, Mike Kimball, Brent Fulton, and Chad Olson.

Last winter, Thief River Falls was 5-11-3 at the start of February before a late-season charge put the Prowlers in the Section 8A finals, where they lost to eventual Class A state runner-up East Grand Forks 2-1. Bergland is looking for another strong finishing kick this time around. "By the end of the year, I think we'll be as good, if not better, than we were last year."

NCTC women going for third win tonight

Wins over Providence (Manitoba) College and the Concordia College junior varsity put the Northland Community and Technical College women's basketball team at 2-0 for the first time since the 1989-90 season. The Pioneers will be going for win No. 3 tonight (Wednesday) when they host North Dakota rival Bottineau in a 5:30 p.m. start to a doubleheader that will include a Northland-Bottineau men's game at 7:30.

"It's nice to be 2-0," said Northland coach Mike Zachow after watching his team beat Providence 66-44 in a Friday (Nov. 19) game on the road and Concordia 51-47 in a Monday (Nov. 22) game at home. "Against Providence, we showed it was our first game of the year," said Zachow. "But actually, for the most part, we played pretty well. Against Concordia, we did a good job defensively at the end for the win."

Shanna Keskitalo (16 points, 18 rebounds), Beth Burger (15 points, 9 rebounds) and Jessica Johnson (12 points, 13 rebounds) led the Pioneers past Providence – Northland's first season-opening win since 1995-96.

The Pioneers shot 32 percent from the field (28/89) and went 6-for-9 at the free throw line against Providence, a team that shot 26 percent from the floor (19/74) and went 2-for-8 at the line. Northland had a hefty 70-41 rebound advantage, but also wound up with more turnovers, 14-12.

Keskitalo had another double-double against Concordia with 11 points and 10 rebounds. Andrea Remick led the winners that night with 16 points. Johnson contributed 10 points and 8 rebounds.

"Shanna played real well both games," noted Zachow. "She did a nice job scoring and rebounding."

Northland shot only 29 percent from the floor against Concordia (19/65) while going 10-for-17 at the line. The Cobbers, who were up 47-36 with 9 1/2 minutes left and failed to score another point, wound up with a nearly-identical 29 percent 19-for-66 showing from the floor. They were 5-for-10 at the line.

A 46-34 Concordia advantage on the boards was negated by 23 turnovers. The Pioneers lost the ball 16 times.

"We haven't shot real well, but we've played good defense," said Zachow. "We know there's going to be tougher competition to come."

Northland men's basketball...

Pioneers split pair of games against four-year schools

A pair of four-year schools were the most recent foes for the 1999-2000 Northland Community and Technical College men's basketball team. But while Providence College of Manitoba played seniors against the Pioneers in a Friday (Nov. 19) match-up north of the border, Concordia College of Moorhead brought its junior varsity to Thief River Falls Monday (Nov. 22). End result was a split for the Pioneers, who dropped the first one 77-63 but won the second game 71-57.

Coupled with an earlier 87-70 loss to Lake Region at Devils Lake, ND, the split put the Pioneers at 1-2 as they take on Bottineau, another North Dakota school, tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. in Thief River Falls.

The victory over the Cobbers was the first win as the Northland men's coach for Rick Nikunen, who went through a winless 1998-99 campaign last winter when he gave up a job as the women's basketball coach at the school to coach the men.

Matt Moen had a 23-point game against Providence and a 21-point night against Concordia to lead the Northland offense. Jeremy Vacura added 10 points to the Pioneers' Friday effort, while Kelly Cota netted 20 and Jason Pinkney tacked on 12 Monday.

Northland led Providence 37-30 at halftime, but was out-scored 47-26 in the second half.

A 29-25 Northland halftime lead against Concordia stood up.

"Providence had a couple of seniors who were pretty tough," noted Nikunen. "I thought we played very well against Concordia."

December's Canada goose season to be expanded for 1999

Canada goose hunters will have the opportunity to take up to five Canada geese a day throughout much of Minnesota during the December 11-20 season this year, according to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

The December Canada goose season has been expanded this year to include all of Minnesota except the West Central and Lac Qui Parle goose zones. This expansion is part of a continuing effort to harvest more local Minnesota breeding Canada geese.

Hunters are required to have a $3 Special Canada Goose Permit to participate in the season. This is the same permit that was required for the September Canada goose season, so many Canada goose hunters should already have the permit affixed to their hunting license. Those without permits can obtain them from license vendors throughout Minnesota.

"Goose hunting opportunity will be determined by weather conditions prior to and during the December season," said Tim Bremicker, DNR Wildlife Section chief. "In most years, areas with Canada geese will be limited in December due to snow and ice cover. But in milder winters, geese can be distributed in many areas of the state."

Bag limits for the December Canada goose season are five per day, except in a new Southeast Goose Zone, where the bag limit will be two. The Southeast Goose Zone includes an area south of the Twin Cities along the Mississippi River extending westward to the Rochester area. A map of the new zone is in the waterfowl regulations supplement.

"December season goose hunters have not been required to have a special goose permit in recent years," Bremicker said. "However, it is important to have a good measure of hunting activity and harvest with this expanded season."

The Lac Qui Parle and West Central goose zones will remain closed for this special season because there are significant numbers of migrant Canada geese from northern Manitoba remaining in this area in December. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has criteria that limit the take of migrant geese during this season. The DNR will be monitoring hunter activity and harvest for the next three years to evaluate the season.

Goose hunters should consult the 1999 Hunting Handbook and Waterfowl Hunting Supplement for details about the December Canada goose season.

"Let it Snow"

Snowmobilers invited to join Sno-Drifters club

■ Club members support trail system, family activities, organize races, and sponsor safety courses

"While visions of Sugar Plums" dance in the heads of children, the local snowmobilers are wishing for snow. It's December already and barely a trace of snow shows on the ground.

Members of the local Sno-Drifters snowmobile club know that joining their club won't make it snow. They would, however, like to invite snowmobilers to join a club which has much to offer. A membership meeting of the club will be held at 7 p.m. on Monday, December 6, at the Elks Club. They will be having a dinner, and a White Elephant Auction, which is one of the ways the club raises money for its many projects.

What is a Sno-Drifter? It is a person who loves to snowmobile as a family. He or she is a good sportsman. Club members recognize that others will judge all snowmobile owners by their actions. Club members respect other people's property, and that is why club members take their trail system so seriously.

Sno-Drifters maintain and sign the area trail systems used by everyone. The club works with other clubs to link those trails with their trail systems so that together, snowmobilers can travel for many miles on exciting rides.

Work begins on the trails in the fall. Trails are checked and cleared of debris, construction sites, if any, clearly marked, and new signs put up. This year, club members worked with other clubs to create new detailed maps that will be posted at local establishments.

In order to improve area trails, and provide snowmobile enthusiasts safe and fun riding, the Sno-Drifters purchased a new groomer this year.

Sno-Drifters also like to work for the community. For the last two years, club members have worked with Northwest Medical Center on the Weather Emergency Plan. Club members volunteer to ride snowmobiles into areas that cannot be reached by four-wheel drive vehicles. Club members also have worked with Eagle Scouts. In 1998, the club sponsored Richard Jahlin Jr. Jahlin built a warming house with donations from the club. The warming house will be used by snowmobilers traveling on the river.

In 1999, the club donated a two-place trailer to the Pennington County Law Enforcement Center. In the same year, the club lost an important member of the club, Mitch Swanson. Club members are close and deeply felt the loss of Swanson. As a result, the club hosted the Mitch Swanson Memorial Ride to help out his family.

The club also sponsors the Snowmobile Safety Certification program in the community. Club members believe it is one way of teaching youth the proper, and safe way to operate snowmobiles.

The club's biggest, and most well-known activity, of course, is the Ironman 250. The event, which is held in January, is a two-day event that brings racers from throughout the United States and several foreign countries to the area where fans can observe exciting snowmobile racing. It is an event, however, that draws upon the knowledge and skill of local snowmobile club members. Club members participate in the creation and supervision of the cross-country race, and exciting sno-cross event at the fairgrounds. Race event activities also include the KC-PRO Kitty Cat Races, which are always popular, and the Make-A-Wish Auction and celebrity Challenge. Many celebrities help with the auction and race, but a club favorite is Scott LeDoux, a famous boxer. As a result of efforts of the celebrities, and club members, the Sno-Drifters have been able to donate over $60,000 to local charities, making it the second largest donor in Minnesota. Another event of the Ironman 250 is the Dean Dokkin Ice Sculpting event. Many groups with impressive imaginations have participated in this event.

Members of the club also have fun by doing other activities such as family rides, night rides, summer picnics, and a weekend snowmobiling trip. As a group, club members get together and discuss issues that affect snowmobiling in Minnesota and outside Minnesota. Membership dues are only $30 per year. Half of the club dues go to MnUSA. MnUSA gives snowmobilers a voice in government issues.

The Sno-Drifters was incorporated in October of 1968. The club was revived in September 1976 by 40 snowmobile enthusiasts. At that time, the club had been inactive for about two years. Larry Quillin was the temporary chairman. Other committee members were Stan Gibson, Dale Miller, Gary Paulson, Bob Mattson, Hannah Hetteen, Robert Lasha and Arnie Fjelland. During the years the Sno-Drifters have helped sponsored the I-500, Poker Runs, Feeding the Deer Herds, Snodeo, volleyball teams and scholarships.

Current board members include: Kevin Johnson, president, Dale Johnson, vice president, Tom Wang, Ironman race president, Sherri Christianson, secretary/treasurer, and board members Ron Anderson, Dave Bach, Delroy Christianson, Kermit Genereux, Terry Wang, and Tom Woods.

The Thief River Falls Sno-Drifters is an affiliate of the Minnesota United Snowmobilers Association (MnUSA). MnUSA was formed in 1978 as an alliance of two former state snowmobiling groups that joined forces to create a stronger and more unified statewide snowmobiling body. The mission of MnUSA is to encourage and promote recreational snowmobiling in Minnesota; serve the interests of snowmobile owners; and promote favorable snowmobile legislation and regulations for the sport in Minnesota.

Today, MnUSA has a membership of over 20,000 snowmobiling families and about 280 snowmobile clubs throughout the state. Member clubs are involved in maintaining their local snowmobile trails through the Minnesota DNR Grant-In-Aid trail program; sponsoring local snowmobile safety training classes; running snowmobile races and related events, and raising funds for local and national charities.

MnUSA retains a paid lobbyist, who represents the organization at the Minnesota legislature to help further the interests of snowmobilers in the state. MnUSA was instrumental in sponsoring legislation in the early 1970's to establish the Grant-In-Aid trail program, which dedicated snowmobile license fees to build and maintain Minnesota's vast system of groomed snowmobile trails. Minnesota was one of the first states with such a program.

MnUSA took the leadership role during the 1999 legislative session in repealing the ban on metal traction products on snowmobiles operated in Minnesota. The legislation was re-written to allow snowmobilers to use studs on Grant-In-Aid snowmobile trails in Minnesota except on paved asphalt trails. MnUSA continues to work closely with legislative representatives throughout Minnesota to maintain funding of trails and to support efforts to promote safe snowmobiling legislation.

Thief River Falls Sno-Drifters have purchased a new trail groomer. The trail groomer will be used to maintain area snowmobile trails. This is just one of the activities sponsored by the local club. The club will be holding a club meeting at 7 p.m. on Monday, December 6, at the Elks club in Thief River Falls. Anyone interested in joining the club is welcome to attend.

The weather in northwest Minnesota finally brought the first snowfall on Thanksgiving Day evening. Prior to that date in the month of November, each morning about 6:00 a.m., I would turn on the porch light and check the weather out there. Most days it was barely frosting and felt more like April than November. The temperature this morning was 10 degrees above zero and with less than an inch of snow on the ground, it feels like winter is here. Roy thinks this snow may melt and this will be a record November.

I was going to find time to study ladybugs as there was reference of two kinds in the encyclopedia, good and bad, but an entomologist wrote an article in the paper about them, saving me the time. I think the kind he wrote about must have been the bad ones. Unlike these that have only six black spots on their beautiful red outer shells, he described them with 19 black spots on a multi-colored and very annoying, evidently those are better behaved. They came in when we brought the dahlias in to put in vases and there is only a half a dozen that are left to use the long leaves of the amaryllis for a slide. Roy may have put a few outdoors to test the weather, he says they belong out in the flower garden. He also says dogs belong out in the country.

I was talking to Elphia Adils this morning and she had been celebrating in style for Thanksgiving. George and Joyce Wikstrom brought the turkey and trimmings, and Cory and Lori Wikstrom and family brought pies. Mike and Betty Johnson of Warroad, Richard Johnson of Albertville, Alan and Kelly Rogalla and family of Thief River Falls, and Linda Adils were all home for the day. When I said the time seemed to go so fast, she thought it may seem that way, but perhaps we are getting slower. She could be right!

Walter Thompson and Elsie Lefrooth spent Thanksgiving Day at the home of Donald and Marlys Lefrooth and enjoyed a delicious Thanksgiving dinner.

Those who enjoyed Thanksgiving dinner with Peter and Pearl Thompson were Sherry and Stefanie Stewart of Bloomington, David, Phaeta and Koren Thompson, Brent Thompson and a friend from Grafton, and Danny and Becky Johnson, Jeremy, Michelle and Jake.

Those who visited and enjoyed Judy Kleinvachter's coffee this week were Pat Larson, Lindsey Berggren, June Kasprowicz, Phillis Lorson, and Rebecca and Brian Nelson, Marcus and Matthew.

Robert, Cathy, Andrew and Lisa Thompson, Richard and Carol Thompson, and Kirk and Nicole Sampson spent the Thanksgiving holidays in Charles City, MO, with Tom and Barbara Woodruff. Robert's and Richard's families returned home on Sunday and Kirk and Nicole flew back to the Twin Cities Monday morning. Barb sent greetings to all those who have sent her cards and letters. She is still holding her own. She was happy that her two big brothers had put up her Christmas tree and you can be sure it was nicely decorated when those ladies were done with it.

Judy, Lois and Kristin Kleinvachter were dinner guests at the home of Bud and Marie Stoffen at Argyle on Thursday. They were joined by the Bob Berggren family of Mason City, IA.

Wendell and Sandy Hagenbeck and two friends from Sturgeon Lake, and Judith Hagenbeck of Newfolden visited Peter and Pearl Thompson on Saturday, after they had visited with Alfred Hagenbeck of Karlstad.

Judy and Lois Kleinvachter visited at the Wayne Lorson home on Thursday.

Douglas and Karleen Helmstrom and Parker of Farmington spent the weekend visiting with Dean and JoAnne Helmstrom. On Friday they were joined for a belated Thanksgiving dinner by Dave and Elaine Gravum of Thief River Falls, and Grandma Elsie Lefrooth.

On Saturday, Roy and I invited the Thompson clan and their spouses over and had dinner and a good time visiting together. Morris and Hazel Anderson were in Montana and aren't home yet. They were at Buz and Dorothy Challoo's home in Wibioux for the holidays. I'll catch them when they get back.

Seniors Should Not Be Penalized For Health Care

by Sen. Roger Moe

The fact that Minnesota seniors are forced to pay a bigger share of their medical costs than seniors in other parts of the country clearly is not fair. Not only is the Medicare funding formula unfair, a case can be made that it is illegal.

That's the case Attorney General Mike Hatch and the Minnesota Senior Federation hope to make in the lawsuit they jointly filed November 17 against the federal Medicare program. The lawsuit claims the federal system is unconstitutional because of the wide disparities in Medicare payments, which penalizes or rewards seniors based on where they live. Seniors in Minnesota are penalized and forced to pay more, yet often get less health care benefits than seniors in other states.

Based on county-by-county calculations, the federal government pays hundreds of dollars less in monthly Medicare reimbursements to providers in one area compared to those located in another area. For instance, the monthly HMO reimbursement provided in the Miami area is the highest in the nation at $778. The Twin Cities average payment is only $393 a month.

This huge disparity is passed on to the seniors who use the Medicare system. In states with high reimbursement rates, HMOs and other health care providers can afford to offer additional services at no cost to seniors. The federal reimbursement is so lucrative in Florida that seniors there don't pay a monthly premium, yet they are offered full coverage with low-cost co-payments for prescription drug coverage.

In fact, 64 percent of the 6.3 million Americans enrolled in Medicare HMOs don't pay a monthly premium. By contrast, Twin Cities-area seniors who carry Medicare HMO gap insurance to fully cover their needs typically end up paying more than seniors in any other metropolitan area in the country. The average monthly premium in the Twin Cities area is $85, 73 percent higher than the next-highest average premium reported ($49 monthly in Indianapolis).

Although no data is available to indicate the impact beyond the metropolitan area, its clear that seniors throughout Minnesota pay a greater share of the cost for their supplemental health care coverage than is typical across the country.

In the recently filed suit, the Attorney General and the Senior Federation claim that the Medicare reimbursement formula used by the Health Care Finance Administration (HCFA) is a violation of the equal protection clause of the Constitution, discriminating against some citizens while rewarding others.

Not only is the current system discriminatory, it rewards inefficiency in the delivery of Medicare services. Ironically, the reason Minnesota receives such low reimbursements from the federal government is that our entire health care system has an excellent overall history of keeping costs lower than the national average.

Our state was a leader in establishing successful health maintenance organizations at a time when costs in the traditional fee-for-service system were skyrocketing. More recently, the creation of MinnesotaCare has moved our state forward once again by broadening health care coverage and helping keep costs in line.

Minnesotans should not be penalized by the federal government for its cost-effective efforts and leadership in reforming its health-care delivery system. Conversely, states that have been slow to respond to their high health-care costs should not continue to be rewarded.

Unfortunately, the fairness argument over the past several years didn't prod Congress to take action to reform the Medicare reimbursement system. The current formula favors large-population states represented by the majority of members of Congress.

Using the court system to correct the inequities is the necessary next step. Attorney General Hatch and the Minnesota Senior Federation are seeking a U.S. District Court injunction against the federal government. If the lawsuit succeeds, the current discriminatory system will come to an end.

A fairer system will result in saving hundreds of dollars each year, more comprehensive Medicare coverage, and fewer obstacles to receiving health care benefits for Minnesotans on Medicare. For the sake of equity and fairness, we should all hope the legal action initiated this month is successful.

Buy firewood by cubic foot, meter or cord

A wood fire in the stove or fireplace is a popular source of heat during a Minnesota winter. Whether the wood is bought as a supplemental or principal heating fuel, consumers want to be confident that they receive the full amount for which they have paid. Wood, the same as any other measured product sold in Minnesota, is subject to weights and measures standards enforced by the Minnesota Weights and Measures Division.

"Your safest bet, as in any transaction, is to deal with a reputable business," said Mike Blacik, director of Weights and Measures. "Before you purchase any wood, ask for the seller's name, business address, and phone number. Be sure to request a receipt that lists the price, amount, and agreed upon type of wood. Without this information, it is difficult to settle a dispute should one arise."

Firewood may be measured by the cubic foot, the cubic meter, or the cord. Sometimes other terms are used, such as truckload, face cord, rick, fireplace cord, or pile. These have no legal definition, however, and Blacik says that the Department cannot help a consumer in a dispute unless the wood is sold by the cubic foot, cubic meter or cord.

How is firewood measured? If measured by the foot or meter, wood is first stacked with all pieces placed parallel to each other. The wood is then said to be ranked. Wood must be ranked if it is to be measured accurately, since ranking minimizes the space between the sticks, or pieces, of wood. Wood that is cross stacked exaggerates the amount delivered.

A cord of wood has a specific legal definition in Minnesota: One cord is 128 cubic feet in four-foot lengths; if the wood is sawed, a cord is 110 cubic feet when ranked, or 160 cubic feet when thrown loosely into a track; If the wood is sawed and split, a cord is 120 cubic feet when ranked, and 175 cubic feet when thrown loosely into a track.

More Information? If you need to report a dispute over a firewood sale, you may contact the DPS Weights and Measures Division at 651-639-4010. For a free guide on buying firewood, call the Department of Commerce Energy Information Center at 651-296-5175 in the Twin Cities, or 1-800-657-3710 from elsewhere in Minnesota. The center also has a Home Energy guide on heating with wood that advises on purchasing and installing a wood stove, with special emphasis on safety. Both the brochure on buying firewood and the guide on home heating are also available on the Internet at http://www.dpsv.state.mn.us

Nominees sought for Minnesota Physician of Year

The Minnesota Academy of Family Physicians (MAFP) has announced that it is seeking nominations from the public for the 2000 Minnesota Family Physician of the Year.

The award is presented annually to a family physician who represents the highest ideals of the specialty of family medicine, including caring, comprehensive medical service, community involvement and service as a role model.

"There are many ways to help build healthier communities, inside the doctor's office and out, so family physicians really value community involvement. Many people might know of a family physician who is deserving of this award, even if that person is not their doctor," said Patricia Lindholm, M.D., president of the MAFP.

Nominations will be accepted in writing through January 5, 2000. Nominations should describe the candidate's outstanding personal and professional qualities and community involvement. Letters should be sent to the Minnesota Academy of Family Physicians, 600 South Highway 169 #1680, St. Louis Park, MN, 55426 or e-mail to office@mafp.org.

The Minnesota Academy of Family Physicians is a professional association of approximately 2,600 family physicians, family practice residents and medical students intended to assist family physicians in providing quality medical care in Minnesota.

Congress passes bill protecting bank customers

by Sen. Rod Grams

On November 4 of this year, Congress passed historic legislation ensuring that our nation's financial institutions will remain globally competitive, while also providing consumers with sweeping privacy and other consumer protections.

This legislation, which the Clinton Administration estimates will save consumers over $15 billion annually, has been under consideration in one form or another for more than two decades, and boasts a broad, bipartisan coalition of supporters, including President Clinton, Congressman Bruce Vento, Reverend Jesse Jackson, 90 percent of the United States Senate, and over 360 members of the United States House of Representatives. Rarely does a piece of legislation this important enjoy such overwhelming support.

To ensure the continued global competitiveness of our nation's financial system, this bill establishes a regulatory framework to allow one-stop shopping for consumers — and with it, expanded choices — when it comes to banking, securities, and insurance products. Also, by recognizing that recent advances in technology will enable these institutions to maintain extensive databases on their customers and market new products directly to them, we included the most sweeping privacy and consumer protections ever enacted through the establishment of a national "floor" on privacy and new disclosure protections.

The first major protection we included in the bill was an amendment I offered to ensure that consumers are better informed about their financial institution's privacy policies. We achieve this by requiring the institution to disclose to the customer its policies on information sharing at the time the institution establishes a relationship with them, as well as each and every year. This disclosure will include how the institution shares information within the company as well as with outside parties. Not only will customers know what the institution is doing with their information now, but also what they can expect once they're no longer a customer.

Second, we give customers the ability to take their name off the list, or "opt out," if they don't want personal information shared with a third party. In addition, we included a ban on sharing account numbers or other access numbers with third parties for telemarketing, direct mail marketing, or other marketing through electronic means.

Third, we addressed a glaring omission in current law by criminalizing, subject to up to five years in prison, the actions of those who use false pretense — or in other words, lie — to obtain a customer's personal financial information.

Fourth, we preserve all existing and future state privacy protections above and beyond the national privacy "floor" established in this bill. There's a lot of talk about privacy in the State of Minnesota and our bill will in no way narrow any provisions the legislature has enacted or will enact in the future.

Fifth, the bill directs the U.S. Treasury Department to conduct a comprehensive study of why information sharing, and what additional protections will be needed to protect the consumer.

Finally, we included provisions designed to help the consumer understand exactly what products they're being offered. This is achieved by requiring a securities or insurance firm to disclose that its products are "not FDIC-insured," are "not guaranteed by the bank," "may go down in value," or are "not insured by any government agency."

I recognize that these protections won't end the privacy debate, and Congress will need additional time to better consider the intricate issue of privacy. One thing is certain, however: once this historic bill is signed by the President, consumers will be better protected than they are today.

Goals established for NW MN Health Care Purchasing Alliance

Thirty citizens from northwest Minnesota gathered in Thief River Falls recently to begin organizing a new model for providing health care coverage. Small business, industry, farmers, health care providers, and government were represented.

The meeting was convened by University of Minnesota, Crookston Civic Health Initiative Coordinator Barbara J Muesing, and Executive Vice President of Advocates for Marketplace Options on Mainstreet Liz Quam Beme.

The Minnesota legislature passed legislation to support this initiative in response to a growing concern about health insurance cost and availability in northwest Minnesota. Citizens in northwest Minnesota share this concern, and the situation is getting worse as the farm economy continues to decline.

Organizing a purchasing alliance will provide a way for members of the alliance to shape their own plan with a goal of providing affordable coverage. A similar effort is underway in southwest Minnesota.

The goal for the alliance that was agreed to at the recent meeting is to offer businesses and farm families a new option for health coverage designed to provide affordable accessible, quality health care to members. This will help maintain the economic strength of the local communities and improve the overall health and well being of the region.

Guiding principles were also agreed to at the meeting. Accountability was a key message as citizens discussed the need for a user-friendly health delivery system with incentives for maintaining health lifestyles. Long term commitment of providers and purchasers was another accountability issue up for discussion.

The citizen leaders also deliberated the geographic boundaries for the purchasing alliance and decided to include the seven counties of Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Polk, Red Lake, and Roseau.

Next steps will be to organize a structure and board to develop the alliance membership criteria and benefit package. Citizen leaders will continue to advance this agenda using a civic approach to the work. Muesing describes this as "collecting up the wisdom of those who assemble to do the task."

"This is different than calling in the expert with all the answers. The reality is that there is no expert with a solution to this complex problem. The legislature has decided that citizens have the best shot at figuring this out, and that's what we are trying to do: one step at a time," says Muesing.

The steering committee will meet again in mid-December. For more information about the initiative, call 218-281-8680.

Grain producers have new process to lock in prices

There's a new process that grain producers need to follow to "lock-in" the Posted County Price, or PCP, for grain under CCC loan.

"To gain a few extra cents per bushel, you need a new marketing strategy when the PCP is lower than the CCC loan rates," says Kent Thiesse, educator with the University of Minnesota Extension Service. A new form, number CCC 697, "Request to Lock-In a Marketing Loan Repayment Rate," has been established.

You must complete the form in person at the county Farm Service Agency (FSA) office, Thiesse says. Telephone and fax requests will not be accepted. The completed form locks in the PCP for 60 days, but will expire 14 days before the loan maturity date.

"Read the information from your county FSA office very closely," Thiesse says. "If you have questions, ask your local FSA professionals. They are very knowledgeable and willing to help producers."

You can only use the lock-in strategy once on a given quantity of grain, so timing is very important. For more information, or to receive a copy of the information sheet titled "Locking in Posted County Prices," contact your local County Extension Office. Or, contact Kent Thiesse at 651-224-3344, kthiesse@mncounties.org.

How we use our computers determines to an extent what other people know about us.

Shortly after we published my last editorial on privacy, I received some information, which proved to be even more valuable in explaining why we are being forced to look more closely at privacy issues.

Evidence of how important privacy issues are becoming and some of the attitudes being expressed can be found in a 1994 Harris Survey of attitudes about privacy and emerging interactive technologies. According to the survey, 82 percent of the respondents stated that they are concerned about threats to their personal privacy. According to the same survey 78 percent of respondents believe that consumers have lost all control over how businesses circulate and use personal information. A total of 76 percent believe that businesses ask consumers for too much personal information, and 70 percent have refused to give information to a business they felt it was either unnecessary or too personal. (The Lion November 1999)

I don't believe businesses are necessarily at fault. How we use our computers in surfing the World Wide Web, determines what other people know about us, as well. Each time a person "browses" on the World Wide Web they leave an electronic marker at each site they visit. Look at "History" on your own computer, and it will give you an idea of what other computers see when you visit their site. Lately, I've noticed that one site I visit fairly regularly, Amazon.com, recognizes my computer and fills in a greeting space on its page with my name. That information gathering capability is obviously built into their system. I'm no expert, but I'm told this is accomplished when the host site leaves a message, a "cookie", on your computer. The message allows the host computer to recognize your computer everytime you visit. You can tell your computer not to accept "cookies". The command is generally found under "Preferences".

In my last editorial on privacy and the internet, I pointed out that when you purchase an item on the internet you also provide a great deal of information to a business, and that information can and has been exchanged between businesses. I also pointed out that you can tell a business not to share that information with other businesses. If you're curious as to how privacy issues are addressed by the company you're visiting on the internet, many companies provide information about how they handle privacy issues on their site. All you have to do is explore.

As you might have surmised, a debate is brewing over the issues of whether the government should intervene, or whether self-policing is more desirable. To a great extent, you will help decide how the privacy issue will be resolved.

When snowmobilers hit the trails, think safety

From inside these four walls and my cubicle, I imagine that I can hear the high-pitched whine of snowmobiles. Even as I look out of my window at the skimpy layer of snow on the ground, I know that someone, somewhere is fine-tuning their snowmobile in preparation for the season and wondering whether there's enough snow on the ground or enough ice on the river to support a snowmobile. December 1 marks the arrival of another telltale sign of the beginning of winter — the opening of Minnesota's 18,000 miles of snowmobile trails.

Officials are expecting higher than normal use of snowmobile trails this year because nearly 40,000 new snowmobiles have been registered in the state this season. Soon many snowmobilers will be on the trails, but I hope that before they hit the trails, they review some safety rules. During the 1998-99 season, 17 individuals died as a result of snowmobile accidents, down from 19 the previous year, according to Minnesota United Snowmobilers Association (MnUSA). Hopefully, the declining numbers are the start of a trend.

It's important for all snowmobilers to exercise common sense and observe the safety rules. Bad publicity has a tendency to elicit a strong, negative response. The death of a teenager walking along a road, or damaged property due to snowmobilers are examples of what can elicit a strong response and result in limitations on what snowmobilers refer to as their "freedoms." Least we forget, limitations can also affect business and jobs.

Snowmobiling is now as much a part of the history of Thief River Falls as railroading. It's a winter sport many enjoy and make a living from. But if snowmobilers want to continue to enjoy the freedom and exhilaration of riding across fields and rivers of snow and ice, they have to continue to police themselves and observe safety rules.

Hello! And here I am doing the Plummer News. I hope you had a 'Happy Thanksgiving!' I'd appreciate any news you can give me. Thanks!

Mike and Sandy Greenwald are very happy to announce the birth of their first grandchild, a five-pound eleven-ounce girl, born on November 22 to Cheryl and Jeramy Schlick of Jamestown, ND. They have chosen Hannah Jo for her name. Patti Greenwald, who also resides in Jamestown says "Hannah" is so cute! Great-grandparents are Howard and Margaret Greenwald and Norman and Shirley Bauna.

Word has been received over the weekend here in Plummer of the death of Robert Marty, 81, of Dickenson, ND. Bob and Gert and family were residents of our community for a number of years. Sympathy goes out to Gert and her family.

Ruth Wilkens and Idella Rewertz attended the baptismal services for their great-granddaughter on Sunday at Redeemer Lutheran Church at Thief River Falls for Kylea Christina Praska, daughter of Jan and Paula Praska. Sponsors for little Miss Praska were Sheila and Greg Hall of Thief River Falls, Jeff and Amy Wilkens of Rollis Acres and Joel Praska of Warren. Later they were all dinner guests along with John and Carky Praska of Warren, Dennis and Sherry Wilkens of St. Hilaire, and other relatives and friends.

The Community Club of Plummer again sponsored a turkey drawing by placing containers at various business places here in town. Winners included Bank - Beverly Aakhus; Culligan - Lowell Petersen, Plummer Agency - Alma Hanson, Bob & Jan's Grocery - Art Froiland, Karen's Kitchen - Einer Kvasager, Pit Stop - Tony Toulausa, Jimmy's Cut Above The Rest - Janice Turner; East Side Service - Eddie Eskeli, Red River Grain - Perry Morinville; and the Creamery - Melvin Eskeli. Congratulations to you all!

The youth group from Immanuel Lutheran Church will be serving a dinner for the senior citizens of the community on December 12 at the Plummer Hall. If you plan to attend, please sign up for this delicious meal. Rides if needed and meals delivered are offered.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter in order to extend a sincere thank you to the school districts of Goodridge, Thief River Falls and Newfolden. The congregations of the Goodridge parish and the Holt and Silver Creek churches very much appreciate that the school districts do not schedule activities on Wednesday nights. This allows the churches to schedule their activities on this night and know that there will not be any conflicts for their members. Communities remain strong because of the willingness of all parties to work with each other.

Thank you again from the parish board of the Goodridge parish, Eklund, Faith, and Bethany churches and the Holt and Silver Creek churches.

Sincerely,
Rhonda Downs
Parish chairman
Goodridge Lutheran parish.

To the Editor:

It puzzles me, the logic of those who aim to take guns away from ordinary law-abiding American citizens, thereby making this country a safe place to live.

In 1945 friends and relatives from Norway visited us and told how they had been duped by letting a law be enacted that required that bolts and mechanisms of their guns be left at the police stations at all times, except when the owner was hunting. It was a felony if not returned right away, and the gun confiscated.

In 1931, Videum Quisling formed his own political party, the National Union Party. In 1940 he helped Aldolph Hitler came and take over Norway.

For five years those indomitable Norwegians suffered and many died. When the war was over in 1945, Quisling was tried and shot. Norwegians know how important for safety and freedom guns are. Quisling brought a new word into our dictionary meaning traitor, that is "quisling".

England, Australia and Canada are already feeling the horrors of gun laws, which make criminals out of anyone who keeps guns. Let's not let it happen in America. Do all you can to help save our Constitution. Only crooks are safe when these gun laws are enacted.

Sincerely,
F. Myne Vogle
Karlstad

To the editor:

I don't approve of what I have been hearing about the city council. I see no conflict of interest as long as the mayor has nothing to say of a subject that includes his performance or duty. I met Mr. Borsheim once and he impressed me very much as a young mayor with his feet on the ground. If his work is a conflict of interest then the employees of the city should resign if they do not live within the confines of the city.

Take back your resignation Mark you deserve better treatment than you are getting. To keep the score even if you resign, Mr. Rude should also resign. I can't believe the small potatoes in this community. I think we need a few more level heads on the council.

Sincerely,
Unhappy taxpayer Jock Boyer

To the Editor:

I would like to speak out about a problem I used to be afraid of; although, when it happened at my house I didn't want it to control me, my family or friends.

I believe it is a sickness or an addiction. People live with it for years. I have witnessed it, as this disaster happens every winter to a majority of homes of the Great White North. It's noticeable from the outside. Driving by you can see a multitude of them and I really feel sorry for them, young and old. After all there's no support groups like Mad Mothers Against Sewer Suckers, or Gasaholics Anonymous, and not many states sue the makers of our sewer gas and raise the rates of food and water.

I am talking about the sewer vent pipe that is on every house, store or public building with modern plumbing. You can have this lethal gas year around if you want to just put a ball in your vent or take your traps out. That monkey on your back will be so proud.

I didn't let it control me, but for years I did have a ladder leaning on my house and made a lot of trips up there with hot water until last year when I made a copy of a great Minnesota inventor's product. I have to thank him for his idea. He saved me so much time. I had it to waste. So I went to the depot and asked a clerk to reprint the city's warning about plugged sewer vents in their next news letter. I was promptly told to get out because they had so much work to do already without me telling them what to do. So I didn't tell them that our million dollar remodeling job stinks because their vent was plugged with ice. It goes to show, that if the experts live with the smell of waste refuse of thousands of people that travel in and out of town, you need to decide for yourself how to treat your own health.

We all know enough not to disturb people with a foot of snow on their sewer vent because, they are so arrogant and intolerant of giving up their addiction. It is best to leave them alone.

Sincerely,
Michael Holten

Woman's Club Meets

"A good attendance was present at the regular meeting of the Woman's club held Monday afternoon in the Commercial club rooms. Mrs. Daniel Shaw, who presided over the meeting, read an excellent paper on 'The Immigration Law and Making Americans' and Mrs. Charles Gerlinger gave a delightful reading of a story along the same line of thought. A piano solo, 'Rigoletto,' by H. O. Chommie was enjoyed immensely, and as an encore a waltz was played. The community singing was in charge of Mrs. O. F. Mellby. The quartet from the Women's club chorus, which had been scheduled to appear, was unable to take part because of the illness of one of its members. Social welfare hostesses at the meeting were Mesdames O. L. Cranstrom, A. E. Olson and J. H. Fulton. Today fifteen members of the club met and tied comforters and contributed clothing for a needy family in the community."

"The annual bazaar of the ladies of the Augustana church will be held Friday afternoon in the church basement. Many articles that would make lovely Christmas gifts will be sold and at 5 o'clock a luncheon will be served. Following is the menu:

Sustads on "Dream Trip"

On November 1, LeRoy and Ruth Sustad left on their "dream trip" and boarded a plane at 6:10 a.m. from Fargo, ND, and headed for Denver, CO. It was still very dark except for the stars and a slice of a moon still shining, but a bit of wind really gained velocity during the daytime across the Dakotas and Minnesota, but their trip was very smooth.

Our family, Peggy Ann, Dan and Cory Hogberg who live in Thornton, CO, met us. The day was spent sightseeing and the main attraction was the Colorado Railroad Museum. It was very interesting because LeRoy was an employee for many years with the Soo Line Railroad, based in Viking and Rosewood area, and eventually headquarted in Thief River Falls. In fact, we bought a book, "Soo Line" in color, which includes a picture of the depot and train at Thief River Falls. More points of interest was a tour of the New Covenant Church at Westminster, where brother Orville and Marion are members and staff workers. Of course, eating in different restaurants is fun, and different foods included "black eyed peas".

We continued with a drive through Inglewood and Columbine, and through farming country to Brighton, where the Hogbergs attend the Free Church. On Tuesday, evening we boarded a United shuttle plane for Phoenix, AZ, where we were guests of brother Orville and Marion, at their "vacation home" in Peoria, a suburb of Phoenix, which they share with Bill and Jan Hector. We didn't realize Arizona is the sixth largest state in the U.S. The weather there was perfect; no wind, rain, humidity or snow. On Wednesday, Orville, Marion, Ruth and LeRoy called on Ken Wakershauser, and also a friend, Helen Rud, in Sun City.

The Sustads continued sight-seeing, passing many cotton fields which were not harvested. The Thunderbird Park was very attractive with a variety of birds and small animals looking for a handout.

Another interesting place was sun City and also Glendale where they toured the "Carritas" chocolate candy factory, where we all got plenty of treats ready for packaging. Their slogan is "If your sweet tooth says candy, your wisdom tooth says "Cerritas."

Thursday evening we all went to the Sun Dome for the concert presented by the Oak Ridge Boys, who received a standing ovation after they sang "Life's Railroad to Heaven", "I'll Fly Away", and "Thank God for Kids."

It was then time for evening treats so we went to the Cold Stone Creamery where you had a choice of ice cream and topping which was mixed on the cold stone surface and then served in a cup. On Friday, the Sustads called on Ruth's cousin, Belva Van Orvum at Sun City. Then they went to a Safe-Way store where Ken Wakershauser was doing demonstrations of samples of various dressings and toppings for salads. On Friday afternoon, they drove to the Scottsdale area and a tour of the botanical gardens. We never knew there were so many kinds of cacti and other desert plants.

The evening was spent at the retirement resort called Casa del Sal where Orville and Marion reside and share their home with friends, Bill and Jan Hector, also from Colorado. Potluck supper was also served at the "club house" with about 80 people attending. A wonderful evening of fellowship. We met several people from Minnesota.

Saturday was another time of sightseeing and going to the flea market in Scottsdale. We had lunch at "Cocos." We also crossed Jack Rabbit Street, but didn't see an animal. We headed for Paradise Valley which is really a desert area, crossed a project canal on our way to the new Mayo Clinic Hospital, where ground breaking was done in April, 1996. Touring the facility was very interesting. On Sunday, we drove through Cedar Valley Village to Glendale, AZ, where we attended morning worship at New Hope Covenant Church, after which we went to Luby's Cafeteria for dinner. The first thing the waitress asked was, "Do you have a church bulletin?" We said, "Yes", and then she said "you are entitled to a 10% discount on your meal." Another big surprise there was meeting friends from Newfolden, Albin and Ivia Foldon, who now reside in Arizona. On Sunday evening we attended services with the Foldens at Grace Bible Church in Sun City that had a very large attendance of only "seniors."

On Monday, November 8, it was time to pack up and say goodbye to Orville and Marion, and Arizona, and head back on a shuttle to Colorado, where we were again guests of the Hogbergs at Thornton. Grandson Corey, who works at the "Big O" tire shop spends his leisure time with a friend building a race car, so we had a chance to see this project. On Friday, November 12, Corey begins training at the Denver International Airport.

On Wednesday, the Hogbergs took us to the Denver Airport where we boarded our flight back to Fargo where Lowell Hogberg met us for our trip back to Viking. What a wonderful time with family and friends. We haven't seen all of Colorado or Arizona, but we can say "we've been there!"

Children from St. Bernard's school in Thief River Falls gather around a Christmas tree at Bitzegaio's Pine Tree Farm to place decorations on the tree. The tree will be one of many on display December 4 and 5 at the Pine Tree Farm. The trees will be on display for visitors to review Saturday December 4, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sunday, December 5, from noon to 5 p.m. The event is a fund-raiser for organizations participating in the Christmas Tree Walk. Dakota Clinic employees vote down union

On Tuesday, November 23, Dakota Clinic employees voted down a proposal to join a labor union. Of the 85 employees eligible to vote, 54 voted against union representation and 27 for labor union representation.

"The Clinic takes the responsibility of responding to employee concerns seriously and intends to move forward with its employees to meet the challenges and opportunities that face the Clinic," said Jan Nyflot, division manager.

Terry BlackLance, husband of a Dakota Clinic employee, acted as a facilitator for the employees. BlackLance said the decision to seek union representation was not taken lightly. It was the result of a lot of pent up frustration at seeing work load increases, fewer benefits, a lack of response to requests by employees, (relatively) low wages, and a lot of stress.

The process began in October, when at the urging of Dakota Clinic employees, the Office of Professional Employees International Union, Local 12, filed a petition with the National Labor Relations Board, a federal agency, seeking to represent all of Dakota Clinic's Thief River Falls full-time and regular part-time employees. After filing its petition, the union later disclaimed interest in representing certain professional employees of the Clinic, resulting in an eligible voting pool of 85 employees.

Over several weeks, Clinic representatives and union organizers held a series of meetings with employees to provide information about the potential benefits and liabilities of union representation and collective bargaining.

BlackLance said he worked with Larry Rohlf, who acted as an organizer for the four to six employees who began the process. He said they held several meetings with employees. He noted that the hospital hired a consultant and there was the "usual union bashing," and then they played to the heart strings of the employees, BlackLance said. "They made a lot of promises," he said, "but now that the vote is over it's back to the same old thing."

Nyflot said that "during the campaign period, the Clinic maintained its respect for the right of its employees to make their own decision regarding whether union representation would best serve their individual and collective needs. The Clinic has always valued its employees and has taken seriously its position as a significant employer in the Thief River Falls area. Throughout the entire campaign, the Clinic sought to provide employees with accurate information about the NLRB process and about the choices they faced, while continuing to provide top quality health care to its patients."

Nyflot said that the Clinic hired the Minneapolis law firm of Dorsey and Whitney to assist them during the process.

The vote was taken on November 23,

Multi-Events Center project progresses toward completion

Fund-raising to complete Phase I close to being completed

Joint powers board of the Multi-Events Center in Thief River Falls learned Wednesday that the fencing, the press box, the frontage road, and dormant grass seeding have been completed. With about $24,000 left to raise for the $4.2 million project, joint powers board members are now beginning to look at long-range operational plans for the facility.

The board met Wednesday at the Best Western in Thief River Falls to hear a construction update, review fundraising and financial reports, and set the stage for the future at the complex.

Construction has halted at the complex for the season. The remaining contract at the facility involves the polyeurethane track coating, which won't be placed on the track until settling cracks in the track have been repaired, and the cause of the settling solved.

Bruce Ugelstad of Triebwasser, Helenske Architects reported that the fencing at the facility had been completed. Ugelstad also reported that the press box, dormant seeding, and frontage road and second entrance/exit onto the highway had been completed.

A number of the board members commented on how nice the fence appears, but that they had received a number of calls about the football field lighting remaining on for a number of days. (The lights were being "burned in", which was necessary.)

Darla Twomey reported that at the last meeting of the board she had $36,000 left to raise to complete Phase I of the project. Twomey, a former board member, was asked to stay on the board as a fund-raiser for the organization. She reported Wednesday that now she has about $24,000 left to raise, and had sent out several letters to potential donors. She hopes that she can secure the final funding for the final elements of the project before the new year.

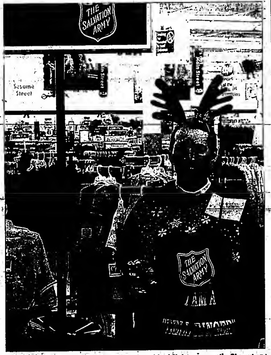
Elements left remaining to be funded by the current fund-raising effort include fencing of the softball/baseball complex, football field maintenance items, parking lot lighting, landscaping, and a concessions/football field storage facility.

Although the construction at the facility is done for the season, plans are being developed for landscaping, completion of a parking lot and parking lot lighting, as well as a number of other items. John Johnson, City of Thief River Falls forester, is expected to present a plan for landscaping at the board's next meeting. The next meeting of the board has been tentatively scheduled for Wednesday, January 26.

Plans for tours of the facility this fall and winter have been set aside for the time being. Board members would prefer to wait until spring or summer.

A facility operations and management committee will begin looking at future plans for the facility. It was mentioned that the college and high school both have football games scheduled on Labor Day and that would give the public a good opportunity to see the facility. Other opportunities for the public to see the facility might occur prior to that, however. The facility operations and management committee will also be looking at the operations agreement drafted early in the process. The operations agreement spells out the responsibilities of each of the governmental entities (city, county and school district) involved in the facility.

Ringing in the Season



Mary Johnson of Thief River Falls got into the spirit of Christmas recently. She put on her antlers and Christmas sweater and started ringing bells at the local Kmart store. She is one of many volunteer bell ringers for the local service unit of the Salvation Army. She was stationed at Kmart last Thursday. Bell ringers will be at Kmart and Pamida in Thief River Falls this holiday season.

Christmas for Pennington Co. off to a good start

Christmas is soon here and Christmas for Pennington County wants to help each family have a Merry Christmas. Christmas for Pennington County wants to see that each child has a gift for Christmas.

This project is being organized and administered through a community effort of several citizens and groups in Pennington County. One organizer said they have received many impressive donations from local businesses and organizations. Because of the efforts of these businesses and organizations, over 300 children were given a Merry Christmas last year. The donations they've already received have the organization well on its way to being able to help as many or more children this year.

Because it is a community event names are being collected from a number of sources, including human service organizations and local churches. Names can be submitted independently, however. Forms are available at Pennington County Social Services, Violence Intervention Project, or the Pennington County Law Enforcement Center. Organizers ask that names be turned in as soon as possible, because the effort to provide a Merry Christmas for so many takes a great deal of planning. Names will be kept confidential. Christmas gifts will be distributed in the lobby of the Pennington County Law Enforcement Center on Tuesday, December 21 between 4 and 7 p.m. Santa Claus will be present to meet with children.

How can individuals help? Angel trees will be set up at Arctic Cat, Pamida and Lori's Hallmark. Individuals wishing to help can do so by taking an angel from the trees and purchasing an item from the suggestions listed on the decoration. The unwrapped gifts need to be turned in as soon as possible. Each gift is earmarked for a child and needs to be wrapped. The organization also accepts donations. Individuals may also help the effort by volunteering to wrap presents. Organizers generally prefer groups to volunteer.

Gifts take many forms - beds, clothing, personal items, toys and much more - but volunteers and donors receive the personal satisfaction of knowing that their gift will provide a child with a Merry Christmas.

Orchestras to present "A Nutcracker Christmas"

Franklin Middle School and Lincoln High School orchestras will present their annual Christmas Concert at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, December 13, in the Lincoln High School auditorium. The concert is free and the public is invited to attend.

The concert will future many of the familiar sounds of Christmas, headlined by Peter I. Tchiakovsky's famous "Nutcracker Ballet". The "Nutcracker Ballet" is based on a fairy tale in which a little girl dreams on Christmas night that her dolls and toys come to life and take part in joyous revelry. They are led by the Nutcracker who is really a prince. The "Nutcracker Balle" represents Tchiakovsky in his most lighthearted mood.

The Lincoln High School orchestrat and band, will be playing three of the more famous dances of the ballet: "March of the Nutcracker", "Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy," and "Waltz of the Flowers." The march opens with a miniature fanfare featuring the trupets. It is a cheerful, jaunty little march for toys, rather than for soldiers. The "Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy" is notable for its delicacy and transparency. The solo part, often played on the piano, was the first song ever written for the celesta, a keyboard with bells. The "Waltz of the Flowers," the most popular of all the dances in the ballet, contains exquisite melodies, luxurious harmonies, and colorful instrumentation. The featured piano soloist on the "Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy" will be Brittany Larson, a sophomore violinist in the Lincoln high School orchestra and piano student of Marcia Knuttila. Brittany and Karee Christensen, another piano student of Miss Knuttila's, will also play "Hoedown" by Aaron Copland as a piano duet during the concert.

The Franklin Middle School Sixth grade orchestra will open the concert with "Carols for Strings," a medley of the Christmas carols "O' Christmas Tree," "O' Come Little Children," "Joy to the World," and "Jolly Old Saint Nicholas." next is the beautiful harmonies of "In the Bleak Midwinter," a carol by Gustaf Holst, the famous English composer. The sixth grade orchestra will conclude with "Star Dancer" by Mark Williams, a fast-paced modern work in a modal style.

The Franklin Middle School Seventh grade orchestra will feature the viola section with the selection "Santa Plays the Viola," a medley of Christmas carols cleverly arranged by Mark Williams. Violists Danielle Martin, Stacy Rasmussen, and Gena Jorgensen get the melody for most of the song. Usually, the viola section is relegated to play the middle harmonies in the orchestra, and its warm, mellow tone is often overlooked.

The Franklin Middle School Eighth grade orchestra will play a jazzy arrangement of "Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas." This version features many jazz harmonies and rhythms not usually found in the orchestra. The Franklin Middle School Seventh and Eighth grade orchestras will combine to play "Themes From Vivaldi's 'Gloria'," an arrangement of Antonin Vivaldi's famous choral work often heard around the holidays. The original "Gloria" features a full orchestra with chorus, but this arrangement sounds impressive with strings playing the vocal parts.

The Lincoln High School Orchestra will open their half of the concert with George F. Handel's "Overture to the Messiah," the orchestral work which opens the famous oratorio. The violins will be featured in Johann Pachelbel's famous "Canon," so called because each of the three violin sections play the same exact part, but the second part starts two measures after the first, and third part two measures after the second, and they follow each other to the conclusion. The cello section has an eight note ostinato which they play over the entire piece. The Lincoln High School Orchestra will close their half of the program by playing an arrangement of "Greensleeves" by Marcus D. Dowty. The beautiful harmonies are reminiscent of the group Manheim Steamroller.

Nathan Browning and Chris Kramer were among students rehearsing early this week for the orchestra concert on December 13. The event, entitled "A Nutcracker Christmas" will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium, and will include performances from the Franklin Middle School and Lincoln High School Orchestras.

The man in red himself enjoyed a stroll down the Walk for Hospice at Pine Tree Farm. Groups, businesses and families from the area decorated trees donated by the Jim Bitzagelo family. Visitors to the farm voted for their favorite tree by putting money in donation buckets. After the contest, the trees are donated to needy families in the area, and the money is donated to Hospice.

SWCD plans tree order day on December 13

The Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District (SWCD) will be holding a "Tree Order Day" on Monday, December 13, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the district office in Grygla. This will provide an opportunity for you to get tree orders early. The earlier that trees are ordered the better chance there is of getting exactly the size and variety that you want.

Trees can provide shelter from winter winds resulting in lower heating costs, create shade in the summer lowering cooling expenses, and provide wildlife habitat.

District staff will be on hand to assist with the designing of tree plantings, selecting proper species for your site, and answer any questions about planning, planting and maintenance. The district still has assistance available for anyone interested in creating or upgrading an existing shelterbelt.

Mark your calendar, coffee and refreshments will be served, and anyone placing an order will be eligible for door prizes.

Web Browser Catalog Introduced at the Public Library

Time is a valuable commodity these days. Whether you're at work or home or volunteering in the community, there never seems to be enough of it. That's why services that make our lives easier are so welcome. That's why services that make our lives easier are necessary for today's society. That is also why your local library's catalog is now available to you through your home computer!

The Thief River Falls Public Library, a member of the Northwest Regional Library system and a part of the Northern Lights Cooperative Automation Project, invites the public to surf the Web from their homes into the new Web browser library catalog. Previously the library's catalog had been accessible from home if you installed telnet software, but the installation took time and also space on people's hard disk drives. It also was not accessible via Mac computers. That's all changed. Now you'll be able to surf into the library's catalog as easily as you surf into any other site and use the point and click method you use with all Web sites.

The new library Web catalog, called the Aurora Library Catalog, contains information about the library collections of 17 counties of public libraries plus some school libraries and some special libraries. In addition, this catalog links the public to library catalogs across Minnesota and to online resources from across the world. Currently this catalog is being offered to home users and will eventually also be utilized within the library itself.

According to Northwest Regional Library director Barbara Jauquet-Kalinoski, the Web browser catalog offers many benefits to home users of the library. "The new Aurora library catalog offers a 24 hour library service to people in a format which they are accustomed to," she says. "Also, they are able to access the catalog whenever it is convenient for their schedules and do not have to worry about library hours. This is particularly helpful to our students who are in many athletics and other activities. It also helps others whose non-scheduled time is limited and valuable."

Thief River Falls Public Library manager Heidi Hoks also notes that this catalog will allow the user to place a request for a book online and then designate where they will pick up that book. The home user simply goes to the following URL: http://catalog.nlln.org/Welcome2.html and then selects the library at which they would like to pick up their materials that they order online from the catalog. Users may also surf in from their place of business, school or from any other remote PC which has Internet access. Stars will appear before any item that is owned by the library selected. However the person at their personal PC can order from any library on the catalog -- not just their own library. All that person needs to place a request from their home PC or other PC is a library card with a barcode number and a PIN number. Those who do not have a PIN number can obtain one by calling their local library. "It's like having a huge library all in your home," notes Mrs. Hoks. Once the material comes into the library, the staff will contact you to let you know the material is in for you to pick up. Any material is held in reserve for you at the library for a week. A week after the recontact, the library must send the material back to allow others to enjoy it. For those who wish them, instructions for the new Web browser catalog are available at your library.

How does this impact the people of Pennington County? It allows those with limited time to use their library when they previously were unable to do so. Take Sean and Stacy Myhrer of St. Hilaire as an example. Stacy works at the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, is mother of two year old Michaela, and she plays on the Tuesday night volleyball league. Sean is the father of Michaela, is self-employed as a carpet installer and bowls on the TGIF league. Together, they coordinate the St. Hilaire Area Recreational Program (SHARP), a children's after-school activity program. Neither she nor her husband has a great amount of spare time between their child, jobs, and community involvement. The online catalog enables them to "go to the library" online and seek out books, videos and audios they might enjoy or use. "A Web catalog means I don't have to worry about bundling up my child or trying to find a parking place near the library or finding a time when I'm not supposed to be somewhere else in 5 minutes," says Stacy. "I can go on the Internet when Michaela is asleep and find what I want and put in my order. Then when I get a call that it's in, I can drop by the library on a break or during my lunch hour." The Aurora Library catalog also has the advantage of containing Web sites that reference librarians across the 17 counties have deemed valuable in research, a listing of activities happening at the library, library hours, services and much more.

For more information about the new Aurora Library Catalog, contact the Thief River Falls Public Library at 101 East First Street (681-4325) or just surf in and browse the catalog itself at http://catalog.nlln.org/Welcome2.htm.

You may also wish to check out the library's new Web page for more information about the library including a listing of activities, library hours and more. Check us out at http://nlln.org/aurora/nwrl/trf.htm.

For even more books and other materials, check out the new Minnesota Library Information Network - MnLINK - at http://www.mnlink.org. Search libraries all across the state of Minnesota and see what they have available. Because the Thief River Falls Public Library is a member of the Northwest Regional Library system, you will be able to request anything you see in these libraries. For more information on this new website, call the Thief River Falls Public Library (681-4325) or the Northwest Regional Library business office (681-1066) or pick up a brochure on MnLINK at the Thief River Falls Public Library.

Stacy and Micheele Myhrar of St. Hilaire search the new online Web based library catalog from their home for books, videos, CDs, and books on tape that they might enjoy. They can place requests online and these materials will be sent to their Thief River Falls Public Library for pick up. The catalog is located at http://catalog.nlln.org/Welcome2.htm. For more information, contact the Thief River Falls Public Library (681-4325) at 101 East First Street.

Goodridge historical society preserves the past for the future

By Elizabeth Ott
Times Reporter

As we race toward the end of the month, the year, the millennium, there is a small, but dedicated group in Goodridge determined to preserve the past.

The Goodridge Area Historical Society keeps history alive through restoration and preservation of buildings, plays and festivals. This week the society will host an open house at its newest acquisition, the Dr. David M. Brown house.

The late Dr. Brown himself was a charter member of the historical society. His former home was one of the first houses built in Goodridge in 1914.

Historical Society's history

The Goodridge Area Historical Society was formed in 1977 by a group of local people interested in the community's rich history. According to a Times article dated 1977, original officers were Jesse Anderson, president; Mrs. Vernon Iverson, vice president; Mrs. Bennie Svanjorde, secretary, and Dr. Brown, treasurer. Charter board members were Mrs. Norma Hanson, Mrs. Elva Fielder, Mrs. Lois Swanson, Mrs. Diane Wilson, Mrs. Robert Parnow and Mrs. Rosella Schloter. The organization later incorporated and has been going strong ever since.

In the past 22 years, the organization has produced several plays, some written by local people, others well-known classics. It has also hosted many celebrations, festivals and pageants including Frontier Days. The society even sponsored an all-school reunion.

Every year the society sponsors the Christmas lighting event and honors two people for their contributions to the history of the community. It also holds an annual meeting.

The plays sometimes serve as fund-raisers for the organization. The group has also received some grants from the Minnesota Historical Society and the Northwest Regional Development Center.

One of the biggest events the society sponsored was the Fourth of July celebration in 1979. Over 1,000 people attended the event. A play called "Weathered Years" was performed outdoors.

The group started with just one building, the old country school house. Now the historical society owns seven buildings including the train depot, the Carl Christianson general store, the old Garden Valley Telephone Company, a house, a log house and log barn.

The school house, which was purchased from the school district for one dollar, was moved to its present location a year ago. The train depot had to be moved from Grygla back to Goodridge. The Christianson store was purchased for $1,000. The log house, log barn and the telephone company building were donated.

Tvedt Park, started in 1914 by A.C. Tvedt, is also maintained by the historical society.

Brown House

With a history that dated back to 1914, the Brown house has been home to many people. The house was built by Peter Olaf "P.C." Halvorson. His son Earl says, P.C. Halvorson owned the Halvorson General Merchandise store on Main Street.

According to the historical society, many names appear on the abstract. After an addition was built to the house in the 1930's, the home served as a duplex.

The Browns bought the home in 1960. Dr. Brown was superintendent of the Goodridge school for 25 years. He and his wife, Helen Fisher Brown, were very active in the community. The Brown children are David L. Brown, Goodridge; Helen Eve Brown Faes, Woodstock, IL; Tamera Brown Rude, Tofte. The family donated the house to the historical society on October 30, 1998.

A small grant from the Minnesota Historical Society has helped with the cost of restoring the house. The windows, doors and closets were repaired and the house was painted inside and out.

The furnishings in the house were donated by community members.

Open House

The home will be decked for the holidays for an open house this week. Members of the historical society have been sprucing up and decorating the house. Connie Moe's third grade class also got in on the act. The children made old-fashioned ornaments and popcorn strings to decorate a tree which was donated by the Goodridge Lions Club.

A second tree will be decorated in Victorian style with lace and crocheted ornaments. The crocheted ornaments were made by charter member Mrs. Bennie (Dorothy) Svanjorde, who now resides in Texas.

The house will be open Thursday, December 9 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. for children and faculty from Goodridge School. It will be open to the general public Friday, December 10 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and on Saturday, December 11 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

...Time to Celebrate? You Bet - You Can Find It Too!

There is just not enough time to celebrate Christmas properly. Every year I seem to spend my time doing things instead of taking the time to do less or let things go and just enjoy the season. There are so many things to enjoy during Christmas. Think of them...

Instead of scurrying around decorating the house with entirely too much stuff that will simply have to be taken down again in January, I could be out looking at the decorations on other people's houses. I could walk around the neighborhood and enjoy the nice weather and lack of snow. I could walk down the street and smile at people instead of frowning while I think of all I have to do yet before the holidays.

Instead of buying too many of the same old, same old gifts for friends and family, I could be visiting various churches to see what the real gift of Christmas is like. I could sit and watch the Sunday school programs that the children put on in the many churches in our city, and remember that Jesus is the best gift of all. And there is nothing like the sight of all those little people in their holiday finery to bring back the wonderful memories of Christmases past.

Instead of racing through the stores to buy all those unnecessary gifts, I could stroll slowly through the stores, enjoying the Christmas music that is playing and seeing all of the wonderful holiday things that are there to see. And I should remember again to smile – especially at the other shoppers, because they always smile back, don't you know. Sometimes a simply smile can make the whole day better.

Instead of using hours of my pre-holiday time baking too many cookies and candies for any family to eat, I could bake less and visit more, taking some of those cookies and candies to those who don't have the ability to bake and cook for the holiday season. While I am visiting, I could smile and learn something about the holiday spirit from the people I visit.

Instead of cleaning the house so much before Christmas, I could let the dust alone and sit with my feet up and watch some of the holiday shows on television with my grandchildren. Watching an old favorite holiday show, like "Frosty the Snowman" or "A Christmas Story," can make me feel like a child again. Hanging out with children has the same effect, so, at my age, I should do that really often.

Instead of spending all of my Christmas Eve cooking a holiday feast, I could take part in the Christmas Eve community dinner and help to serve or cook for those who might not have any Christmas without it.

Instead of spending hours fussing with picking out and writing my name on fancy Christmas cards, I could write a nice letter to each of the people on my list, and maybe I would even get a nice letter back instead of another signed card so I would know how everyone was doing this year.

Instead of worrying over the news and weather forecasts or watching depressing documentaries on television, I could take the time to listen to some of the Christmas music that is being played on the radio, or watch the Christmas concerts on television. There is nothing better than music to give one the Christmas spirit.

Yes, if I stop doing some unnecessary things and change my priorities, I think I can find time to enjoy Christmas this year. Wouldn't that be wonderful?

ON THE OTHER HAND

Lisa McKercher, Lincoln High School

It was late on Friday night just over a month ago when it dawned on me that I was scheduled to retake my ACT test the next morning. I sat a bit stunned for a few moments trying to figure out how I could have let this date slip from my memory, even though it had been written on my calendar for more than a month. The lame excuse I finally gave myself was that it wasn't a huge deal. I was just retaking it trying to boost my score a little–although a lot would be much better. Despite my lack of sleep, the test went just fine, except for that whole sine, cosine, tangent thing.

For me, this situation was nothing more than a slip up on my part. I try not to let myself worry about things that I know will eventually work out in the end. I see a lot of people my age that stress themselves to what I consider an unnatural point. Maybe it's just me, but basing the quality of my day on whether or not I understand how the cortex affects long-term memory seems a bit sad to me. It's not just schoolwork. For some it's their performance in a game, while for others it's what their bathroom scale reads today compared to yesterday.

When I notice things like these, I can't help but wonder if I should consider letting myself fall into stress mode more often. Maybe one of these days I should force myself to finally decide where to go to college next year instead of just expecting it to come to me. Or maybe I should try to do something more productive than sitting around with my friends all weekend, having the same conversation we had the weekend before. But then I remember that I am 18 years old. Having good conversations with my friends while laughing until I'm literally on the floor actually is my favorite thing to do right now and means the most to me. I don't want to act older than I am because it's the cool, mature thing to do. I like being 18, and I'll act 25 when I am 25 years old.

I like the phrase "You only live once." It reminds me that stressing out and worrying about small situations that I'll forget about the next week don't actually matter. I don't want to look back in 20 years and see that I made high school into a four-year-long drama. I want to look back and remember the friends that I made and the funny times we had.

TIMES FOR TODDLERS

ACTIVITIES

Stand-Up Reindeer

Make a whole herd of adorable reindeer from toilet tissue rolls! Follow these steps for each one. Cut away 4 narrow sections (about 1/2" x 1 1/2") in equal distance apart in from the base of a toilet tissue roll. After you cut these pieces out, the remaining cardboard areas, which are still attached to the roll, will be the reindeer's legs. Use a crayon or marker to color the tip of each leg to create a hoof. With a hole punch, make two holes on opposite sides of the top of the roll. Thread a brown pipe cleaner through the holes and bend the ends up to form antlers. Cut a second pipe cleaner in half. Twist each half onto one of the antlers. Glue on two wiggle eyes and a pom-pom nose. Tie a red ribbon under the reindeer's face or add a strip of construction paper for a collar.

PARENTING TIPS

Hassle-Free Holidays

The Holiday Season is here! Often the holidays become filled with STRESS for a variety of reasons. Do your best to plan ahead and eliminate as much stress as possible. Following are some suggestions to help you through this holiday season:

- Shop early so that much of December can be focused on family activities, fellowship with friends, attending holiday concerts, reading, writing on cards and relaxing!
- Concentrate on the spirit of giving and fellowship vs. having everything (dinner, home, tree, gifts) perfect. Keep your expectations in perspective.
- Delegate whatever chores you can: tree trimming, grocery shopping, dinner preparation and clean-up, party favors, etc.
- Keep holiday gift-giving in perspective. Purchase gifts within your budget. The reality of the post-holiday bills can bring unwanted stress after the holiday season.
- Wrap things as soon as you buy them. Take gifts to the store's gift wrapping department, wrapping fundraiser or wrap them when you get home.
- Choose to laugh. Humor reduces stress. Laughter acts as a pressure release valve.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk with family members about the true meaning of the holidays. Ask family members what is most important to them. Help young children see beyond the "I want" part of the holidays.

SPEAKING OF EDUCATION

Jerry Robicheau, Superintendent
School District 564

Dear Citizens of Independent School District #564:

We are one month away from the new millennium. It's an exciting time! This is an historical event that none of us who are reading this column will ever experience again. We are, in fact, looking at history in the making.

Along with that I would like to identify a couple of historical events that have happened in Independent School District #564. First, on Tuesday, November 16th, we experienced an opportunity for young women in our school system that had never happened before. This is, the first varsity girls hockey game was held at the Huck Olson Arena. It was historical in that we expanded program opportunities for all students.

The second historical event is that we had active student participation in the selection of the high school principal. We are attempting to engage students more actively in the decision-making that takes place in our schools. We're excited about the prospect and look forward to more extensive involvement from students. We have quality students who are very intelligent young adults and we need to engage them in the process even more.

With historical events comes change. Change, as defined by Webster, is "to undergo a loss or modification; to pass form one phase to another; to undergo a transformation." This definition implies that anytime there is change or a change is proposed, we automatically look to ourselves and say, "How is this going to affect me personally."

Over the last year-and-a-half, a committee at Lincoln High School has been considering a possible change from a six-period day to a four-period day. This has been thoroughly investigated and studied by teachers, parents, students, administrators and a school board representative looking at what the ramifications might be in making this change.

After this study, a recommendation from the committee will be forthcoming to the School Board on December 13th. The recommendation will state whether or not a four-period day should be considered for the 2000-2001 school year. This recommendation comes after extensive and careful consideration and study by this committee.

The individuals who have been involved in this alternative scheduling committee are to be commended for their diligent work in developing a recommendation they feel is in the best interest of all students at Lincoln High School.

No change is easy. It is very traumatic for many people. Because with change we don't know what the end result may bring about. All we can do is formulate a recommendation with the best possible information we have available through research. The community has been given the opportunity to provide input. Students have been given the opportunity to provide input as have staff and other individuals who have a stake in the proposed change at Lincoln High School.

I attended the most recent open forum at Lincoln regarding this possible change. I'd like to take just a couple of minutes to respond to some of the concerns that were raised at that open forum. First of all, any recommendation is grounded in what is in the best interests of students at Lincoln High School. It is not brought forth to benefit one program over another. All programs will be significantly impacted by this change. It will result in a different delivery system for students and teachers will need to change their instructional delivery.

Another participant of the forum asked if the district will offer opportunities for teachers to change their method of instruction. It is a commitment of the school district that should a recommendation be forwarded and the School Board approve a change to a block schedule in the 2000-2001 school year, that every teacher at Lincoln High School will be afforded the opportunity for inservice and training on how to teach in a block schedule. That inservice and training will take place from the time a recommendation is approved and over the course of the summer. The actual content of that inservice and training will be developed with heavy input from staff at Lincoln High School. They will be given every opportunity to realize that teaching methods will need to be changed in order to teach in the block schedule. All of the staff at Lincoln High School are fully aware of this. They are knowledgeable about good teaching and what constitutes good teaching.

Another question that was asked was what about teaching the content. Teaching in a block of 85 minutes will afford a teacher the opportunity to teach more indepth concepts that are presented and checking for understanding to make sure that students grasp a concept before moving on to the next topic.

Let me just summarize by saying. I have the fullest of confidence in the staff at Lincoln High School, (100 per cent of the staff), that every effort will be made to assure that the quality educational program that is currently available is not undermined and is not lost. There is anxiety on the part of some of the staff and parents. As I indicated earlier, change does bring about the question of how does it affect me personally. But the attitude and collegial environment that's evident and has been evident at Lincoln High School will assure that all programs are enhanced and that quality instruction and programs will continue to be provided at Lincoln High School. They also know that ways to improve will be continually looked at to improve the delivery system.

The community needs to know that the fundamental reason why this change is being proposed and why it has been studied is first and foremost to provide greater opportunity for all students at Lincoln High School, to afford students the opportunity to have more electives, and to learn subjects more indepth. That is the fundamental reason why this change is being studied and a recommendation being brought to the School Board.

One last thing I'd like to ask of you the community – would you please respond two questions:

1. What one thing in this district should we celebrate?

2. If you had a magic wand and you could wave it over this district, what is the one thing you would propose we do differently?

I'm seriously asking you for your input. I would like for you to either write your responses down, and you can do it anonymously, and submit it to my office; or you could submit them through my e-mail address which is <jrobicheau@trf.112.mn.us>; or if you want to call me and give me your response, my phone number is 681-8711, extension 226. I look forward to hearing from you. Again, if there are any concerns or issues you want to address with me, please do not hesitate to contact me.

... What Kind of Fool Is He?

In the early morning hours this past weekend, I was on my way to begin my Christmas shopping, hoping to beat the rush by being like the little pig in the nursery rhyme who went to the fair early to be there and back before the wolf.

I figured it was time to start shopping a little. I'd been watching the flyers since long before Thanksgiving (didn't they start at Halloween time?) and decided I should at least try to get toys for some of my grandchildren before they got all picked over. I felt I was doing my shopping in a timely fashion – certainly not too late, but early enough to have a bit of Christmas spirit.

I've never been able to shop throughout the year, like some people, picking up Christmas gifts at Crazy Days or other special sales. I don't want to stock up on gifts ahead of time. What fun is that? Anyway, I would probably forget where I hid them and come across them years later in some dusty corner of the house. In order to buy Christmas gifts, I need to have the Christmas spirit, and that only comes at Christmas time when I hear Christmas music and see a little sparkly snow and the house is trimmed in red and green for the season.

So, that morning last weekend I listened to Christmas music, looked around at my red and green house and peeked outside to see a bit of snow. Then I dressed up in my comfy shopping clothes, put on my running shoes, made sure I had my shopping list and wallet in my purse, and took off out the door. I hopped into the car and happily started down the empty road on the way to the store, listening to the radio as I drove. Then I heard something very disturbing from the radio announcer on one of the Thief River Falls stations.

"Have you finished your Christmas shopping?" he asked.

"What?" asked I, aloud there alone in the car. "What did you say, you fool?"

"Heh, heh," he chortled. "Yes, time is moving right along and it is time to get that Christmas shopping done. You don't want to wait until the last minute. Time is passing."

"What? Time is passing – it's not even December yet," I shrieked. "It's still November! I don't have to be finished with my Christmas shopping! There is plenty of time. What kind of fool are you?"

"Yes, it's true, heh, heh," he chortled again. "If you haven't finished your shopping you should at least be half through by now. Things are getting picked over and you need to get busy. Christmas is right around the corner."

I wanted to choke him with my bare hands. What was he talking about? Why do we have to have our shopping finished in November? What a foolish thing for the man to say.

Did he think we would immediately rush to the store in November because he advised us that time was passing and Christmas was right around the corner? What was wrong with him? Christmas was a month away. There was plenty of time to shop. There were many days left of December.

Then I realized that the man must be demented and have his months mixed up. No one in his or her right mind would think that the last week of November was a late time to be Christmas shopping. He was overly tired and wasn't thinking right, was he? It isn't too late to be shopping now, is it? If you hear that fool on the radio talking about how late it is to be Christmas shopping, do me a favor, will you? Call him up and tell him he has no sense of time whatsoever. And I bet he isn't finished with his shopping yet, either.

By the way, playing the little pig worked – I had a very nice time shopping with the other early birds and I did get a couple of gifts. And there is still plenty of time to shop before Christmas!

Genealogical Group Meeting Set for Dec. 7

"Who am I?" is a question often asked by people trying to determine where they want to go in life. It is also a question voiced by those who want to know where they have been and also who has come before them: their ancestors. Searching for your family roots is the mission of the people involved in the area's genealogical society. The group met on Tuesday, December 7 at 7 p.m. at the Thief River Falls Public Library. Those who want more information or who wish to be put on the mailing list for future meetings should contact Jim Dalager at 681-8850.

Genealogy is defined as an account or history of the descent of a person, family or group from ancestors. For those doing this type of research, it also becomes a passion. Notes Ella Derasier of Red Lake Falls, "One particular fact leads to another and another. It becomes more exciting the more you learn about your ancestors."

Barb Hauger, a former professor at Northland Community and Technical College, has done presentations on how to start researching your family tree and in those sessions warns that the research can become overwhelming if you don't define your search and determine your ultimate goal in the research. Such research can result in different products or processes dependent on what you really want. Some people make family trees, some people create family newsletters, some people create scrapbooks, others write books and so on.

Jan Strandlie of St. Hilaire had decided to do a family anecdotal history and so, compiled a book in a binder format to allow for additions later on. "I was most interested in the stories about my family, so I concentrated on that," she says. Her book was distributed to family members and recently Jan has sent additional pages of family stories to those with books. She had interviewed numerous people, spending an incredible amount of time in the interview process alone. However, when the book was done, she was well-satisfied – and her appetite for discovering her ancestral roots was whetted. "Genealogy is a personally rewarding hobby and a never-ending one," she states, "And there are so many resources available to you right here in the community to get started."

Both Northland Community and Technical College and the Thief River Falls Public Library have numerous materials for researching the past as well as the Pennington County Historical Society.

A lot of additional genealogical resources are available on the Internet, also. New genealogical listings on-the-Web have enabled many people to get to resources that were not previously available to them unless they travelled a great distance. Yet with all the wealth of material available for research and on how to begin, it is human contact that provides the cornerstone for genealogical research. "That's one of the reasons our local genealogy group has formed," notes Jim Dalager. "We want to encourage everyone with a desire to explore their ancestry. Our meetings are informal so that we can devote time to sharing ideas and encouraging on another."

For more information, contact Jim Dalager at 681-8850 or attend the next local genealogical society meeting on December 7 at 7 p.m. at the TRF Public Library.

Down On The Farm

Eric Bergeson

Schoolchildren now learn "keyboarding" as early as elementary school. Keyboarding is a term for what they used to call typing.

In today's computer-dominated world, it is only right that children become acquainted with computers. It is a basic skill. However, one hopes that the emphasis on computers doesn't cause handwriting to be neglected.

It seems that the study of handwriting is condemned to join Latin on the educational dust heap. What do we write out by hand any more? Grocery lists. Little notes at the bottom of greeting cards. Checks. No reason to develop an elaborate cursive style for such simple tasks.

Handwriting has been going downhill for years, probably because it is used less often with every passing generation. The telegraph and telephone dealt the first blows to the importance of handwriting, and the typewriter didn't help either.

My grandmother, a teacher in the old one-room schools, wrote beautifully. Her handwriting was an expression of her personality: Careful, dignified, deliberate, without frills.

During grandma's generation, handwriting was still vital to everything from business to courtship. One's handwriting needed to legible, of course, but more than that, people hoped to present themselves well by making their handwriting handsome, even artistic.

By the time I went through school, handwriting had lost much of its importance, and the styles of handwriting no longer looked so dignified. Bubbly, round, cutesy handwriting became trendy, particularly amongst females. Most males were content to scratch the page like chickens might scratch the dirt.

Now, with e-mail and computers, handwriting is almost unnecessary. One can know a person for several months, even years, before actually catching a glimpse of their handwriting. Sometimes it is a shock to see the sloppy scratching of a person who seemed so conscientious.

Is handwriting a window to the soul? My grandfather thought so. During the long winter evenings, he read up on graphology, the art of handwriting analysis. Graphology may be on the order of fortune telling and horoscopes, but some of it made sense.

For example, Grandpa said that people who write very small are meticulous in all things. People whose signature features unusually large capital letters are vain. People who write way above the line are off in dreamland. People who use a circle to dot their i's–well, that was such a bad sign that Grandpa wouldn't tell me what it meant.

Whether or not it is possible to use handwriting to decipher the personality of another, we miss out on something when we communicate with computerized beeps and blips.

I received a letter from my great aunt Olive the other day. It was handwritten, of course. Sending it cost 33 cents and required a trip to the mailbox. Unlike any e-mail, it was a keepsake as soon as it arrived.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Q: I plan to file for retirement soon. How do I go about it? What documents do I need?

A: Filing for Social Security retirement is usually a fairly simple process and can be done by telephone. First, about two months or so before you want to start benefits, call the SSA national toll-free line at 1-800-772-1213 and make an appointment. This appointment will be received in a local office such as Grand Forks. On the appointment date, the SSA representative will call you, or see you in the office, and go through the benefit application with you. During the approximately 45 minute interview you will be asked information to help us properly compute your benefits, determine if you are eligible on the record of someone else, such as a spouse, or to see if someone else is eligible on your record, help you chose the best month to start your benefits based on your actual retirement plans, and overall explain Social Security requirements. Documents needed vary with individual circumstances but routinely needed will be your birth certificate (not a photocopy), your most recent W-2 form or tax return if self-employed, and bank information for direct deposit of your check electronically. This bank information consists of the bank routing number plus your account number and is found on your personal check but not on the checking account deposit slip. Expect to be asked for marriage information to include the name, birth date, marriage date, and social security number of your husband or wife. If you had multiple marriages, expect to be asked about them. You will be asked about children only if they are under age 19 or disabled. You will be asked about military service and sometimes we ask to see your DD-214 military record. You should definitely know what your retirement plans are including when you intend to retire and how much you anticipate earning during the calendar year from work before you retire and whatever part-time work you anticipate doing. Of course, the interview is not a one-way street. You should ask whatever questions you have. Those doing the interview by telephone have the application mailed to them for signature and return it with the needed documents. In all cases, documents are returned to you.

Q: I get SSDI disability but a friend of mine said that it is not really part of Social Security. Is it? I'm confused.

A: It's not really your friend's business but you could tell him or her that SSDI just stands for Social Security Disability Insurance. You do receive Social Security. Many people seem to have the idea that disability and retirement are totally separate programs but in fact, they, along with survivor benefits, are just three components of one national Social Security program. Whether one is discussing retirement, survivor, or disability benefits, each is based on the work record of someone and all are Social Security. If the overall Social Security program was a pair of pants then the three components of retirement, survivor, and disability benefits would be different pockets on those pants. Having said this, it is true that Social Security offices also work with other programs besides Social Security but that's a different question.

Q: I have been getting Social Security disability for many years and I'm nearly 69 years old. Would I get more money by switching to retirement benefits?

A: There is no need for you to do this especially because the switch to retirement benefits took place automatically when you reached age 65. A person who is found eligible for Social Security disability is paid as if he or she were receiving full retirement benefits. For people born before 1938, this means that the disability benefit was computed as if the person were getting retirement at age 65 at the time that their disability began, no matter what their age really was. Eventually, when the person actually attains age 65, the agency does a simple record transfer from disability to retirement. This change is transparent to the client and has no effect on benefits received. In short, "switching" to retirement would gain you nothing.

Crookston holds off TRF 43-42

Crookston went scoreless the final three minutes, but a five-point lead stood up down the stretch as the Pirates held off Thief River Falls 43-42 Thursday in girls high school basketball.

Trailing at each of the quarter stops 12-8, 21-21 and 35-28, Thief River Falls twice pulled within one point at the start of the fourth quarter, 35-35-34 and 37-36. A Tiffany Hasbrouck basket with three minutes to play provided the Pirates with a 41-36 cushion – just enough of margin to hold off the Prowlers.

Chelsea Haviland chopped the difference to 43-42 with 7.7 seconds on the clock, but the Prowlers never got another chance to score.

Hasbrouck was the game's only double figure scorer, finishing with 17 points. The Prowlers' balanced offense featured four players with 7 or 8 points.

Neither team shot well – both checking in at 27 percent from the field for the night. The Prowlers were 16-for-59, the Pirates went 17-for-64. Thief River Falls was 10-for-19 at the free throw line, where Crookston went 8-for-13. The Pirates had a 41-39 rebound edge. The turnovers were even at 23-apiece.

Sara Jensen grabbed 13 points and blocked six shots for the Prowlers, while Haviland came up with five steals.

Pioneers lose pair of games

Rochester and Anoka-Ramsey handed the Northland Community and Technical College men's basketball team back-to-back losses over the weekend – the Yellowjackets winning 79-63 Friday night and the Rams winning 80-61 Saturday afternoon.

"They're both good teams, but we played very poorly all weekend," said Northland coach Rick Nikunen. "We had no fire. It was a lifeless performance on our part both days. We just couldn't get it going, especially on defense. We gave them too many easy shots."

Seth Nell scored 18 points, Jeff Schulz 16 and Nick Freitag 15 to pace a Rochester team that lead Northland 42-32 at halftime. The Pioneers' only double figure production came from Matt Moen with 12 points.

Northland was 22-for-63 from the field (35 percent) and 13-for-20 at the free throw line. Rochester made 34 of 73 field goal attempts (47 percent) and sank 7 of 16 free throw tries. The Yellowjackets outrebounded the Pioneers 44-39. Turnovers were even at 16-apiece.

It was more of the the same the next afternoon when unbeaten Anoka-Ramsey built a 40-29 halftime lead and slowly pulled away in the second half.

Four Rams reached double figures, led by Russ Olson with 15 points. The Pioneers' offense featured Kelly Cota with 15 points, Matt Moen 14 and Charlie Nyumah with 10.

Northland shot only 39 percent from the field (22/57) and went 12-for-19 at the free throw line. Anoka-Ramsey shot 45 percent from the floor (30/67) and was 14-for-18 at the line. The Rams had a 42-40 rebound edge. The Pioneers wound up with more turnovers, 22-16.

The 2-6 Pioneers will host Minneapolis Community and Technical College Saturday at 2 p.m. in the second half of a doubleheader that starts with a women's game at 12-noon.

Yellowjackets, Rams sweep NCTC women

A weekend road trip ended with a pair of losses for the Northland Community and Technical College women's basketball team. The Pioneers lost at Rochester 73-42 Friday night and fell at Anoka-Ramsey in similar 63-47 fashion Saturday afternoon.

The losses dropped Northland to 2-3. They face another Minnesota Community College Conference Southern Division team Saturday when they host Minneapolis Community and Technical College in a 12-noon game.

Rochester blitzed Northland 50-14 in the first half. The Yellowjackets were led by Holly Graner with 16 points and Kim Lambrecht with 11 rebounds. The Pioneers did not have a double figure scorer, but Shanna Keskitalo did hit double digits on the boards with 14 rebounds.

"It was a long trip down there, and we came out a little flat," said Northland coach Mike Zachow, whose team had 19 turnovers and shot 17 percent from the field in the first 20 minutes. "We played better in the second half."

Northland shot 26 percent from the field (14/54) for the game and was 13-for-19 at the free throw line. Rochester shot 39 percent from the floor (30/78) and made 10 of 14 free throws. The Pioneers finished with a 46-41 rebound edge, but also topped the turnover charts 29-9.

Second portion of the road trip had a different twist on it for the Pioneers, who led Anoka-Ramsey 32-31 at halftime, but were outscored 32-15 in the second half. The unbeaten Rams are the No. 1-ranked team in National Junior College Athletic Association Division III women's basketball.

"We came out and played some real good basketball against Anoka-Ramsey," explained Zachow. "We shot well, and we played good defense."

The Pioneers still had a lead at the midway point of the second half before the Rams' defense forced a tiring Northland team into a batch of late-game mistakes.

"We turned the ball over a lot down the stretch," noted Zachow. "They wore us down. It was our third game in four days. That's a lot of minutes for eight players."

Northland enjoyed a 63 percent 22-for-35 shooting performance, but had 36 of the game's 44 turnovers. The Pioneers were 3-for-6 at the free throw line. Anoka-Ramsey shot 32 percent from the floor (26/82) and made 5 of 13 free throws. Northland out-rebounded Anoka-Ramsey 39-37.

B/G-MR girls open basketball season with win over MCC

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River used its pressure defense to shut down the Marshall County Central offense Thursday as the Gators beat the rival Nordics 54-39 in a girls high school basketball game played at Greenbush.

The winners led at the quarter stops 10-4, 21-18 and 41-26. It was the 1999-200 season opener for the Gators. The Nordics started the year earlier in the week with a 66-36 win over Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke.

Sharing game-high scoring honors with 12 points each were Larissa Holm of the Gators, along with Kristi Kilen and Tara Davidson of the Gators.

"We weren't ready to handle the pressure," reported Marshall County Central coach Alice Dahl. "As a team, we need to step up and take control of the game. Our shooting percentage was good, but we needed more possession to score."

Marshall County Central shot 55 percent from the field, but because of turnovers, the Nordics got off just 29 shots, hitting 16 of them.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River had a 38 percent 21-for-54 first-game shooting performance. The Gators were 11-for-21 at the free throw line, where the Nordics went 3-for-5.

"We got exceptional defensive play from Larissa Holm and Tabetha Blazek," explained Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neibauer, who said Holm (8) and Blazek (7) combined for 15 of the Gators' 20 steals. "Our press was pretty effective," he added. "Our half-court defense wasn't too bad, either."

Bemidji State transfer to enroll at Northland

Joe Sahlberg of Hawley has decided to transfer from Bemidji State University to Northland Community and Technical College, where he will be a member of the men's basketball team in 2000-2001, it was reported by Pioneers coach Rick Nikunen.

Sahlberg is a 6-2 guard who averaged 20 points, 5 rebound and 4 assists per game as a high school senior when he was named All-Heart-O-Lakes Conference.

He elected to leave Bemidji State before playing for the Beavers. National Junior College Athletic Association rules will not allow Sahlberg to compete for the Pioneers this season, but he can practice with the team beginning Jan. 10 when he officially enrolls for the spring semester. He retains four years of college athletic eligibility.

"I am very excited about having Joe join our program," said Nikunen. "Last spring we felt he was one of the best point guards in the state of Minnesota, and we look for him to be a big part of Northland basketball during his two seasons here."

TRF girls collect 8-1 win over Alexandria

Emily Tweet, Jenni Gonsorowski and Steph Hoard scored two goals each Saturday afternoon as Thief River Falls beat Alexandria 8-1 in girls high school hockey.

It was the first road trip for the first-year Thief River Falls program following a three-game home stand. It was also the Prowlers' third straight win after a season-opening loss to Warroad.

Danelle Thompson scored just 38 seconds into the game for Alexandria, but that was the only goal for the Cardinals, who found themselves trailing 3-1 at the end of the first period. It was 5-1 after 30 minutes.

Lindsay Ehrenstrom and Meagan Lunke also scored for the Prowlers.

"It was a little bit of a slow start," reported Thief River Falls co-head coach Troy Hanestad, "but the last two periods we played really well. We're getting better every game. They're getting a pretty good understanding of what we're trying to accomplish."

MSU-Bottineau hands NCTC women's squad its first loss of season

Thirty turnovers and 29 percent 19-for-66 shooting spelled defeat for the Northland Community and Technical College women's basketball team in a Wednesday home court match-up with Minot State-University-Bottineau.

The North Dakota squad led 30-22 at halftime and finished with a 61-44 victory.

Summer Finke scored 17 points and grabbed 11 rebounds for the winners. Northland was led by Beth Burger with 11 points.

Bottineau was 26-for-67 from the field (39 percent) and 7-for-9 at the free throw line, where Northland had a quiet 3-for-5 night.

Northland, with Jessica Johnson pulling down 13 rebounds and Nicole Nordin grabbing 10, beat Bottineau on the board 51-34. But the visitors had half as many turnovers (15) as the Pioneers.

It was the first loss in three season-opening starts for the Pioneers.

"We just didn't play real well," offered Northland coach Mike Zachow. "We turned it over, and we didn't shoot very well. I don't like to make excuses, but we had taken some time off for Thanksgiving, and it showed on the court."

Prowlers stop Gators 44-35

A fast start carried Thief River Falls past Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 44-35 Saturday in girls high school basketball.

The host Prowlers jumped out to a 16-3 first quarter lead, had a 25-13 halftime advantage and began the fourth quarter up 37-20.

"They (Prowlers) came out real aggressive," explained Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neibauer. "You could see what team worked harder in the off-season. They were a lot more aggressive than we were. We were tentative. We had trouble staying with their guards, and it's been a long time since we've been beat like that on the boards."

It didn't help, acknowledged Neibauer, that Tabetha Blazek, part of the Gators' starting backcourt, was slowed by a leg injury suffered in a season-opening win over Marshall County Central the previous Thursday.

Thief River Falls' attack featured Ayla Donlin with 17 points and Sara Jensen with 12. Jensen also pulled down 11 rebounds. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River did not have a double figure scorer.

The Gators were 14-for-42 from the field (33 percent) and 7-for-11 at the free throw line. They were outrebounded 32-20.

Thief River Falls was 21-for-51 from the floor (41 percent). The Prowlers did not go to the free throw line. They topped the turnover chart 16-15.

Despite the loss, Neibauer went out of his way to praise the officiating by Myron Jesme and Greg Pribula. "It was one of the best-officiated games we've been a part of in a long time," he said. "If we had any problems, it was our own doing and not because of the officials."

Results put the Prowlers at 2-1 and the Gators at 1-1.

A Thief River Falls connection to the Class AA girls state consolation champion Bemidji High School tennis team included head coach Scott Engalstad and Erin Sullivan. Scott, son of Don and Joan Engalstad of Thief River Falls, is a 1974 Lincoln High School graduate. He has coached the Lumberjacks the past seven years. Erin is the daughter of Pete and Nancy Sullivan and the granddaughter of Mary Schauneman of Bemidji and Al Scheuneman of Ashville, NC (all formerly of Thief River Falls), and Vi Sullivan of Thief River Falls. The Section 8AA champion Lumberjacks finished the 1999 season 15-2. They lost to Mounds View 5-2 in the Class AA state tournament team quarterfinals, but came back to beat Litchfield and Minneapolis South in consolation play by identical 4-3 scores.

Rams beat Nordics in girls basketball 69-49

Kristi Glassmann scored 27 points Monday to lead Roseau past Marshall County Central 69-49 in girls high school basketball.

The host Rams, ahead 21-14 at the end of the first quarter, broke it open with a fast break offense that led to a 40-23 halftime cushion. It was 56-34 after three quarters.

"We did an excellent job on offense – on our shot selection," said Marshall County Central coach Alice Dahl. "They (Rams) had a lot of fast break lay-ups that counted up fast."

Tera Davidson scored 13 points and Kristi Kilen had a strong 12-point, 12-rebound game for the Nordics, but Dahl is looking for contributions from other sources, too. "I need a few more ladies in double figures to round out our team," she said.

Roseau's fast break lay-ups led to a 61 percent 31-for-51 shooting night. The Rams were 6-for-11 at the free throw line.

Marshall County Central shot 42 percent from the field on a 20-for-48 showing, and made 6 of 9 free throw attempts.

The Nordics turned the ball over 25 times while falling to 1-2 for the year.

Bottineau shooters top Northland men by 20 points, 97-77

Minot State University-Bottineau scored 26 points on three-point shots Wednesday in a 97-77 win over the Northland Community and Technical College men's basketball team.

The visiting Lumberjacks led just 39-37 at halftime, but they pulled away over the final 20 minutes when they hit 10 of their 13 treys.

"We had a good first half," reported Northland coach Rick Nikunen, "but they have a real good shooting team and they just kept knocking down the three-point shots in the second half."

and the results were certified by the NLRB on Wednesday, December 1.

In a letter to the editor of The Times/Northern Watch, which was printed December 4, BlackLance thanked the employees of Dakota Clinic for attending so many meetings and taking the time to become informed about the issues involved in this matter. "Today it is even more clear to me that there are some very dedicated and caring people working behind the scenes in the facility who often go unheard from." BlackLance also urged administration to not forget what happened and not punish employees for voicing their opinion.

According to a representative of the Office of Professional Employees, once the employees vote on whether to accept union representation, by law they cannot do so again for another year. The Office of Professional Employees International Union represents employees of banks, school districts, clinics, and other professional employees.

According to a letter from Nyflot, "Dr. Chuck Winjum, medical director of the clinic, expressed the gratitude of management, and of the employees, describing the outcome of the election as a strong message by the employees of the Clinic that they trust the administration to lead the Clinic into the new millennium fairly and responsibly."

The THE TIMES SECOND FRONT

Volume 88, Number 49 Wednesday, December 8, 1999

When the weather is like this you don't need to go to Arizona. Spirits were high on the golf course Wednesday, December 1. This not so-typical weather allowed these avid golfers in Thief River Falls, to get some golfing in at the Thief River Golf Club. Pictured from left are Bruce Seustad, Dwight Tenquist, Jim Rogelle, Dick Anderson, Bob Carlson, and Darrel Bakke.

Good economy triggers new surplus projection

by Sen. Roger Moe

The overall strong economy in Minnesota is good news once again for the state's bottom line. While the surplus reflects the strength of our state's economy, we need to take a balanced approach to the surplus, recognizing that not every person or all regions have benefited from the sustained economic growth.

It is amazing that the economy has been growing more quickly than projections for seven straight years. Early next year, Minnesota is likely to set an all-time record for sustained economic growth. The November 1999 budget forecast indicates that the state's General Fund surplus is projected to reach $1.58 billion by the end of the current budget cycle in mid-2001.

Although the February forecast indicated that the state economy would continue growing steadily, the latest projection indicates even stronger sustained expansion than economic experts thought was possible. Rather than moderate growth of less than 3 percent a year, the latest projection indicates robust growth of nearly 4 percent over the next 18 months.

We are defying all of the past predictions about how long our state economy can grow, and our ability to continually outperform the national economy. When the economy performs much stronger than expected, a projected surplus naturally will follow.

In my opinion, we should take a fiscally prudent approach to the surplus that balances tax relief with investments designed to keep Minnesota's economy strong in the future. In particular, we should focus attention on the people who have not shared in the prosperity and rural communities that have enormous economic potential.

When it comes to continued tax relief, all taxes are on the table for discussion when the Legislature reconvenes in February. A leading candidate is the proposal to reduce annual motor vehicle tab fees. In 1999, DFLers in the Senate proposed reducing the high cost of motor vehicle license fees. We hope that Republicans in the House won't stand in the way of efforts to significantly lower the tab fees in the 2000 Legislative Session.

Among the investment needs likely to be on the agenda are a greater commitment to public education, funding for transportation, workforce development and access to affordable health care.

The surplus gives us an opportunity to make the investments necessary that will keep Minnesota the economic leader of the Midwest, and deal with the fact that many rural communities around the state are not reaching their economic potential. Without making the necessary investments in education, workforce training, the transportation system and adequate health care, it won't take long before we lose our current competitive advantage.

We plan to take a fiscally cautious approach that recognizes a portion of the surplus is one-time money not available to spend on recurring expenses that would trigger a structural deficit down the road. As I have indicated in the past, we should explore using surplus dollars to invest in infrastructure, and not rely entirely on borrowing to meet the state's capital needs.

As the 2000 Legislative Session approaches, we will continue to develop budget surplus proposals and provide the details of our strategy for investing in Minnesota's future success.

139 people in TRF donate blood for holiday blood drive

A total of 154 people volunteered to donate blood and 139 were able to give during Thief River Falls' blood drive on November 23 and 24. Ten of the donors gave blood for the first time. Donations are especially precious near the Thanksgiving holiday when usage is traditionally high, yet donors are so busy with travel and holiday activities that they often forget that the need for blood never takes a holiday.

Marilyn Winters coordinated the drive and was sponsored by Redeemer Lutheran church which assisted with recruiting donors, publicity and registering donors. Aid Association for Lutherans provided and served refreshments. Others who assisted were Evelyn Berg, LaVay Hickerson, Judy Reger, Linda Johnson, Luella Oien, Pauline Aubol, Ardis Botner, Ken and Donna Poole, Irvin and Pearle Johnson, Annabelle Cuppett, Evelyn Peterson, Barb Thompson, Jane Reuter, Arlene Folger, and Kathi Jenkens. Pastors Galen and Marcia Sylvester along with their congregation provided space to hold the drive at Redeemer Lutheran church.

Donations will help meet the blood needs of many patients in 43 area hospitals served by United Blood Services.

OCALA, FL — An ingredient derived from hot peppers that decreases inflamation in racehorses' legs, is now recognized as safe and effective for human use. The ingredient has been formulated into a product called ARTH-Rx® and comes in a strength designed for humans. Researchers are excited and say the formula can relieve arthritis pain for millions.

Developed by the Phillips Gulf Corporation, ARTH-Rx is a breakthrough in the treatment of painful disorders ranging from minor aches and pains to more serious conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, tendonitis, backache and more.

Although the mechanism by which ARTH-Rx works to relieve pain is not totally clear, scientists suggest that pain is relieved because ARTH-Rx intercepts the messenger substance that sends pain signals to the brain.

ARTH-Rx is available in a convenient roll-on applicator without a prescription. According to a spokesperson for the company, due to the overwhelming demand for ARTH-Rx, supplies are sometimes limited. ARTH-Rx can also be ordered by calling 1-800-729-8446. ©1999PGC

The weather in northwest Minnesota has been so nice in this community that it is not uncommon to see folks without jackets outdoors. That could be the reason that the flu bug is rampant and the nursing home is not encouraging visitations this week. This morning it was 20 degrees but when the sun came up it looked like a beautiful spring day. You have to look in some shaded place to find a trace of the skiff of snow we got the other day.

It is difficult to write today as Roy is minus his checkbook and we can't figure out why anyone would pick up something like that, which would be difficult to gain by it. We were shopping and he wanted to pay for it. His legs were bothering him, so he laid it on the counter next to where I was checking out and had gone back to the car. I thought he had taken it with him and I wrote it out on the book that I have on the same account. So he thought I had it in my purse and I thought he had taken it with him. On Sunday morning when it was time to write checks he couldn't locate his book so wrote them in mine. When we came home we realized it had gotten lost and was still located in some other place. This morning I called the store and inquired about it with no luck and Roy went to the bank and they told them they would keep an eye out for him. Here's hoping it gets straightened out as the Christmas checks need to get in the mail. All the people under 80 years of age seem to like them better than the practical gifts the over 80s are sure to buy for them. Even the little ones, who always have more than they know what to do with, are always proud of their checks. I guess that's because their name is on it.

Advent season is here and will be celebrated by Pastor Heskin each Wednesday beginning with Salem Lutheran on December 1 and Bethesda Lutheran Church on December 5 and so on for the whole month. There are programs to attend around here most every day of this month, so come and enjoy it.

The 106th Congress and small business

by Jack Faris
president of the National Federation of Independent Business

I know it may seem like all anyone ever does in Washington is disagree, debate and point fingers. . . but I am pleased to say that there are a few things most of the politicians can agree on. One of those things: doing the right thing for small business. Looking out for the family farm, ranch or Main Street shop is something that is hard to disagree with.

Operating a small business is the embodiment of the American dream — that is an undisputed fact. This would be reason enough to watch out for small-business owners as a group, but there's more to it than that. Small business is a literal powerhouse of job creation and contribution to the nation's economy. They represent over 99 percent of all employers in America and create 80 percent of all new jobs. Small businesses are responsible for over 50 percent of the American private-sector output. These are some impressive numbers, indeed.

Those are just a few of the reasons why Congress passed legislation this year that would help small business better prepare for the millennium-computer problem, Y2K. The bill, which was signed into law by the President, will encourage mitigation, not litigation, if Y2K problems hit small businesses. It will protect the smallest of businesses from frivolous lawsuits, because no family should lose their business because of the new year.

The importance of America's smallest firms was also a major factor in Congress' decision to pass a tax cut plan that addressed the key tax problems, plaguing taxpayers in general, and small businesses in particular. It was a package that would have let all Americans keep more of their hard-earned money. Entrepreneurs could have used the tax savings to start new companies. Employers could have used it to improve worker pay and benefits and to add more jobs. Consumers would have been able to buy more goods and grow the economy. In sum, these tax cuts would have let us hang on to more of what we earn, and spend it as we see fit. Unfortunately, President Clinton vetoed the cuts.

These actions meant a lot to American small-business owners, but there is much more to be done. Small businesses still need those tax cuts, and Congress must try again to get some of them passed and signed into law. Small businesses are also in dire need of more affordable health insurance — the cost of premiums for them is so great that many go without it. Three out of five of America's 44 million uninsured individuals are from a family headed by someone who works for a small business or is self-employed. That's why the House of Representatives passed a bill that would allow small firms to band together to purchase insurance, making it much more affordable. Small business needs that bill to move forward to final passage, and for the President to sign it.

Congress should also move to get small business out of the legal quagmire we call "Superfund." Small businesses should not be dragged into litigation when they are truly not at fault for a toxic waste site.

Another problem for the "little guys" who are producing so many jobs is the fear of civil lawsuits. It is a fear that is literally choking small firms when it comes to innovation and growth, and Congress should pass legislation that reins in frivolous lawsuits.

Yes, there is much more to be done to make sure that small firms are free to do what they do best: grow the economy and create jobs. Without small business, America would not be nearly as special, so let's all encourage our members of Congress to continue next year doing all they can do to protect and promote this vital part of our nation's economy and our American way of life.

—Holiday message holds truth for all to see

I had to agree with comments made by Ron Winters, Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce president, during the Community Christmas Tree Lighting ceremony. It wasn't just emotion spilling over from the Christmas tree lighting ceremony. In a few words he said what many have forgotten in the past years, especially regarding patronizing local merchants.

So what did Ron say that impressed me? The following is a transcript of the simple message:

"Oh, what a beautiful and joyous season that is coming upon us. May the blessings and spirit of the start of the holiday season be rewarding to everyone.

"Take a few moments of your time each day to give holiday greetings to all. Show the inspiration that our warm, friendly community so overwhelmingly displays: patronize our business merchants. It is you who helps them continue to make our community a successful place to do business, to reside, and raise our families.

"We at the Chamber of Commerce wish everyone a joyous, healthy, and spiritual holiday season. Happy Thanksgiving, Merry Christmas, and a Happy New Year."

What I agree with wholeheartedly is that patronizing business merchants in our community supports our community. The merchants provide valuable goods and services, employ local citizens, who pay taxes and purchase other goods and services. Merchants also pay taxes, and not surprisingly, support many volunteer and non-charitable events — high school and community plays, sports, fund-raising activities, cancer societies, United Way — the list is endless. If you think it's annoying to have an occasional fund-raiser call on you, try walking in the shoes of a merchant who hears those pleas on a daily basis.

By purchasing goods and services from our area merchants, no matter what community you live in, you're making our community of Northwest Minnesota a successful, and a better place to live.

It is also a joyous season, so take some time each day to demonstrate the inspiration that our warm, friendly communities display.

Salvation Army To Set Up Christmas Kettle On LaBree

"Local officers of the Salvation Army announced today that the traditional Christmas Kettle will be set up Friday at the corner of LaBree avenue and Third street and will continue in operation until Christmas Eve. The kettle will receive contributions to aid in supplying dinners to needy families of this community on Christmas Day, as well as holiday cheer to boys and girls taking part in the Salvation Army Christmas program. Officers of the local unit express the hope that contributors would keep the pot boiling."

Mercury Drops To Four Below Early Today

"The mercury dropped to 4 below zero this morning, according to the KTRF thermometer, this being one of only two or three days during the current winter when subzero readings have been recorded. Mild weather prevailed last weekend, the mercury mounting to 37 above zero Saturday and 38 on Sunday. No snowfall of any consequence occurred during the past week."

Practical Nursing Course Now Near Required Enrollment

"C. W. Pope, director of the area vocational school recently opened in Thief River Falls, announced today that to date seven young women have enrolled for the course in practical nursing, to be conducted in cooperation with the local hospitals. He added that the course will get under way as soon as ten or more enrollments are received, and that young women throughout this section of the state are eligible to take the course."

1,500 Children Have Visit Saturday With Jolly Santa Claus

"Arriving promptly on schedule Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, Santa Claus stepped off a special Soo Line train at the local station to be almost mobbed by an enthusiastic horde of little folks and their parents assembled to welcome St. Nick on his pre-holiday visit.

"As quickly as a passageway could be cleared, the white-bearded gentleman, impersonated by Joe Zavoral, mounted a jeep and was escorted at a slow pace through the crowded streets to the auditorium.

"There, with the assistance of the merchants' committee of the Civic and Commerce association headed by Chairman G. A. Frahm, Santa distributed no less than 1,450 bags of candy, nuts and apples, even that number being not quite sufficient to supply all the eager children. Assisting in maintaining order was a safety committee headed by Mel Peterson.

"The train crew that handled the Santa Claus special on its way down from the North Pole included Helmer Halland, engineer; James Zavoral, fireman; and L. A. Scullhorp and L. C. Knutson, trainmen."

WILL IMPROVE
The O. K. Mill To Be Remodeled and Enlarged.

"The O. K. Mill will close down shortly before Christmas and some extensive improvements will be made. Considerable new machinery will be placed therein and the mill will be enlarged to accommodate its rapidly increasing business. O. S. Thompson, an experienced miller and millwright, will have charge of the improvements and he will probably remain here in the future in charge of the mill. Although the improvements contemplated will necessitate the closing up of the mill for a period of about a month, all of the patrons will be accommodated and a large stock of flour etc. will be kept on hand.

"Under the management of Messrs. Hanson & Barzen the O. K. Mill has built up an enviable reputation and their brands of flour are unexcelled by any company doing business in this section of the state. It is a home institution and should receive the support of all citizens of Thief River Falls."

INDEPENDENT ORDER OF ODD FELLOWS DANCE
Tomorrow Promises To Be A Grand Success.

"The dance to be given by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows in their new hall tomorrow evening promises to be one of the most successful social functions ever attempted in Thief River Falls. A large number from Crookston, Red Lake Falls, St. Hilaire and other towns in this vicinity are expected to be present, and a majority of the citizens of this place expect to attend. Tickets, including supper, will be $2, and very one should turn out and give the Odd Fellows a helping hand."

Morgan, Vincent win at Black Magic race

There was probably only one piece of raceable snow on the North American continent last weekend, and it was created through the sweat and determination of the Spirit Mountain Ski Resort staff in Duluth. As a result, the season opener of the World Snowmobile Association's Snocross Worldwide Championship ran in its entirety, and Blair Morgan, Chris Vincent and Dennis Eckstrom were the big winners.

Team Arctic's Morgan, last season's triple champion, continued where he left off in the Fox Racing Shox Pro 440 final. The only pilot to go undefeated in qualifying, Morgan nailed the holeshot and eased away to a dominant win. The Flying Finn Toni Haikonen, who made the move to Arctic Cat as well this season, showed resurgent form and stayed close for a while, eventually taking second. Vincent, riding for the new Formula-XPS Ski-Doo Millennium Superteam, was able to close on Haikonen only to lose ground in traffic, close the gap again, with the pattern repeating itself to a third place finish. Kent Ipsen (Ski-Doo) and Dennis Eckstrom (AMSOIL Ski-Doo) rounded out the top five.

Morgan and Haikonen didn't make the final in the Featherlite Trailers Pro Open final, but Vincent was on a mission, nailing the holeshot and this time getting some breaks in traffic on his way to the win. Hometown favorite Eckstrom, ran close to Vincent in his debut with the AMSOIL/Schuering Speed Sport team, but just couldn't get close enough to take a run and had to settle for second. Canada's Earl Reimer lived up to his nick name, "Scrap Iron", on his Team Arctic Cat, fighting through the pack from the back row in a never-say-die effort to claim an impressive third place. Greg Hyde (Team Polaris) finished fourth the Justin Tate (AMSOIL Ski-Doo) fifth.

Eckstrom's shining moment came Saturday night when he won the ESPN Winter X Games qualifier and earned a spot at the Games February in Vermont. Norwegian snocross champion Chris Hugo Vangen finished second on his Yamaha of Norway/FXR Yamaha, while Noel Kohanski piloted his factory Polaris to third. Joining them in a trip to the X Games were the amazing 15-year-old semi-pro Tucker Hibbert (Pro Concepts Cat) and Dave Wickles (Stud Boy/Spectro Oils Ski-Doo).

Nicole Nicholas (Jay Bros/RU Outside Ski-Doo) claimed the PowerMadd Pro Women's victory, and Kirk Hibbert (Team Arctic) took the top of the podium in the Energy Release Pro Vets class.

Arctic Cat's Gary Gengel won the Dayco Belts Semi-Pro Fan class, while Tucker Hibbert won the Snow Week Magazine Semi-Pro Stock class and Ski-Doo's Brad Pillick claimed the AMSOIL Pro Open win, with Ski-Doo's Johnny Mold second in both finals.

The next round of the WSA Snocross Worldwide Championship is the Castle Sales/HJC Helmets Michigan Challenge December 18-19 at the Otsego County Fairgrounds in Gaylord, MI.

FOR ITS PATIENTS OR ITS SHAREHOLDERS?

A health care system has to make a profit to stay in business. It's that simple.

So the issue is this: Can hospitals and clinics afford to do all they can for their patients, regardless of their ability to pay?

Is their first concern the welfare of their patients? Or their financial performance?

Please understand that Altru is not-for-profit and community owned, so we have no shareholders. That means the money we make is reinvested into the area.

Last year, for example, over $5 million was provided to fund health care for those who couldn't afford to pay. An additional $5 million was used to fund hospice care for terminally ill patients, ambulance services, and renal dialysis for persons whose kidneys no longer function, to name a few.

School board considers block scheduling

At its meeting on Monday evening, School District 564's board of directors heard a presentation regarding the proposed scheduling changes at Lincoln High School for the 2000-2001 school year.

Tom Hunt and Bill Stock, representing the LHS Alternative Scheduling Committee, made the presentation, affording board members the opportunity to ask questions regarding the proposal. Hunt and Stock were accompanied by Lisa Semanko and Darcy Reese, representing the school's English and music departments, who offered insight as to what the proposed changes would mean to their respective departments.

After careful consideration and having received input from students, parents and the community, the Alternative Scheduling Committee recommends that a four-period schedule with some alternating classes to meet the needs of students and staff members be approved and implemented for the 2000-2001 school year.

During a session that lasted longer than the proposed 85-minute periods proposed for students, Hunt and Stock fielded numerous questions from the board members who will take the committee's recommendation under consideration and take final action on the proposal at a January meeting.

In other business the school board heard reports from its members regarding its various committees, including negotiations, student achievement, social promotion/ retention, Multi-Events Cultural Center, Northwest Service Coop and staff development, as well as the reports of Superintendent Jerry Robicheau and Business Manager Harry Nelson. Also, February 3 was selected as a possible date for an in-service regarding the board of education's role in raising student achievement.

• The board of education recognized the following: Chelsea Haviland for repeating as the girls state diving champion and for her 12th place finish in the 200 individual medley in state competition; Krystal Dawn May who recently completed her high school requirements through the Area Learning Center; Domino's Pizza who donated $125 to the district's Drug Education program from its Halloween promotion; and Communication Workers of America who donated $250 to the Family Advocacy program.

• The school board heard a presentation by the Lincoln High School Alternate Scheduling Committee. Tom Hunt and Bill Stock presented the committee's recommendation regarding a schedule for LHS for the 2000-2001 school year, giving board members the opportunity to ask questions before taking final action on the recommendation in January.

• The board of education approved the following personnel items from the Consent Agenda: the resignation of Donald Molskness as kindergarten route bus driver effective November 30, 1999 (Donald will continue as a regular route bus driver four hours per day); the resignation of Lynette Hasby as cleaner at Challenger effective December 31, 1999; the resignation of Santos Rodriguez as cleaner at Lincoln effective December 1, 1999; the resignation of Kimberlee Noreikis as pupil program support assistant at Challenger effective December 7, 1999; the resignation of Colette Hulst as kitchen helper at Lincoln effective December 15, 1999; the resignation of Ashley Andrews as Learning Readiness education assistant effective November 9, 1999; a leave of absence

Fishermen go ice fishing, but DNR concerned about safety

Ice fishermen could wait no longer. A few ice fishermen began showing up on the Red Lake river last week and by Sunday, December 12, there were several on the river. They appeared to be having some luck as several Northerns were on ice. The fishermen said the ice was between four and five inches thick.

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources reports that last winter, 10 people died when they fell through ice they thought was safe. Over the last 10 years, 64 people have broken through thin ice and drowned. Several children die almost every year in ice-related accidents. Sixty-five percent of all ice drownings are vehicle related.

The Minnesota Department of Natural Resources recommends to never walk on ice less than four inches thick. Don't snowmobile on less than five inches or drive your car on less than eight inches of new clear ice; and, warn children to stay away from ice-covered ponds and streams.

Fishermen were catching a number of Northerns on the Red Lake river last weekend. They reported that the ice was four to five inches thick

NCTC presents discussion on "Date Rape"

Katie Koestner, an outspoken date-rape survivor and sexual assault prevention advocate, will present a powerful presentation on January 18 about her experience with date rape entitled, "He said — She said." The presentation will take place from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on January 18, 2000, in the theater of Northland Community and Technical College.

The "He said — She said" program will be co-facilitated by Brett A. Sokolow, J.D., a specialist on sexual assault policy and law. Koestner will tell her story and Sokolow will provide interactive scenarios on sexual assault, while the audience acts as a jury.

"It is so important to build community-wide awareness on this issue," said Kelsy Blowers, director of the New Venture Center at NCTC, which is sponsoring the presentation. "Community-based understanding and knowledge is the first step to long-term behavioral change."

According to statistics, a sexual assault occurs on a college campus every 21 hours, on average. Rape is also the most seriously under-reported crime. It is estimated that as many as 10 rapes occur for every one reported to police or the hospital.

Koestner is known for breaking through the date rape myths with her compelling, funny and heartwrenching story. Koestner is a Virginia State-trained peer educator and sexual assault counselor who went public with her story of date rape in 1990. Outraged by the inadequate response from the College of William and Mary to her victimization, she took her case to the media. On June 3, 1991 she appeared on the cover of TIME magazine and has received national attention for speaking out against a crime of silence. In 1993, Koestner completed a project with HBO, the Lifestories Docudrama entitled, "No Visible Bruises: the Katie Koestner Story." Koestner graduated in 1994, Magna Cum Laude and Phi Beta Kappa from the College of William and Mary in Virginia.

Her activities as an advocate extend to working for passage of federal sexual assault legislation, and as a consultant to schools in the revision of their policies with regard to sexual assault on college campuses.

Sokolow is the president and

Warroad student dies of bacterial meningitis

A Warroad student died Friday, December 10 from meningococcal disease, commonly know as, bacterial meningitis.

Jayme Spenst, 7, is the daughter of Darin and Dawn. She was a second grade student at Warroad Elementary School.

Roseau Area Hospital and the Minnesota Department of Health provided information to school officials and parents.

According to the MDH, it is caused by a bacteria that can be found in the nose and throats of healthy people. It takes one to 10 days from the time a person is exposed to the bacteria until symptoms occur. Infected people are contagious until 24 hours after antibiotic treatment.

Symptoms vary and may include fever, vomiting, headache, stiff neck, extreme sleepiness, confusion, rash or seizure.

The agents that cause the disease are found in the nose and throat. The bacteria can be spread directly from person to person in small droplets of saliva or nasal secretions.

Transfer of the disease requires close personal contact — involving things like kissing, sharing a water bottle or sharing living quarters. The bacteria generally does not survive very long outside the body and cannot infect buildings or contaminate objects.

The community in general is not at risk of an outbreak. While outbreaks can occur, they are rare. The last outbreak reported by the MDH was in Mankato in 1995.

Sporadic cases are not uncommon. Forty cases were reported statewide in 1996 and another 40 were reported in 1997. None of these cases were related to each other.

For more information, contact the Minnesota Department of Health at (612) 676-5414.

Mn/DOT warns of motorists of winter driving conditions

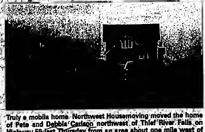
Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) is warning drivers to be alert for frost conditions, especially in low lying areas and on bridge decks, overpasses and ramps. Even though highways may appear to be clear and relatively safe, frost can cause areas of slipperiness, particularly in the early morning and late evening hours.

With the absence of snow, many driver's feel it is safe to drive at the regular posted speed, but Mn/DOT advises driver's to slow down and carefully test the road surface during winter frost conditions.

When the snow comes and Mn/DOT plows are out clearing the highways, please keep your distance and give them plenty of room to work.

Mn/DOT suggests that motorists never drive into a snow cloud. Be patient. Follow eight second behind snowplows. The average snowplow weighs 17 times more than a car. If you are in a collision, you will lose.

See orange. Snowplow operators are working to make roads as safe as possible for you. Mn/DOT workers and motorists must work together to reduce snow removal crashes this winter.



Truly a mobile home. Northwest Housemoving moved the home of Pete and Debbie Carlson northwest of Thief River Falls on Highway 59 last Thursday from an area about one mile west of the Family Bowl to a location near Viking. The house is approximately 100 years old. Moving the house required the assistance of utility companies, the Minnesota State Patrol and several others.

CORRECTION:

A story on Dakota Clinic employees turning down union representation inadvertently included a reference to the "hospital" hiring a consultant. Some might be laboring under the mistaken assumption that the hospital was involved when it was not. The story should have stated that the "clinic" hired a consultant.

AMPI pays $11 million members

Members of Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI) will receive earnings and equity payments totalling $11 million in 1999.

The payments, distributed in September, November and December, are a combination of '98 earnings and prior years' equity revolvement.

In September, members received $2 million, the cash portion of '98 earnings. Following in November was the revolvement of $5.7 million, representing members' '94 capital retain investment. In December, the equity distribution was completed with the payment of $3 million in previously allocated earnings.

"Our record of timely equity revolvement is among the best in the industry," said AMPI General Manager Mark Furth. "The capital retain investment has kept the ownership of AMPI in the hands of current members." Furth adds, the average age of the cooperative's member equity is about eight years.

Members who are retired from dairy farming and at least 65 years of age had the option of applying for the early equity revolvement program. Those revolvements, accelerated to a five-year distribution, are part of this year's member payment.

Nursing home employs positive attitude in face of challenges

by Kathi Carlson
Times Reporter

When staff, management and administration of Oakland Park Nursing Home gathered for its first-ever-Christmas party recently, there was much to celebrate. Pins were presented to a number of employees for milestone years of service, and the winner of the Spirit Award for December was announced.

The home was also celebrating its recent perfect survey by the Minnesota Department of Health. Judged on everything from resident care to the temperature of the milk served with meals, Oakland Park was found to be in total compliance for the third time in four years.

However, while there are some very positive things occurring at the county-owned facility, there are problems also. "We have not had an easy time of it (this past year)," says Charles Naplin, chairman of Oakland Park's board of directors.

At the end of its 1999 fiscal year Oakland Park Nursing Home was in the red — for the first time in its 44-year history.

A National Crisis

The problems currently being faced by Oakland Park are not unique to the home but are being experienced by skilled nursing facilities across the nation.

Only a few years ago, nursing homes were full and waiting lists were long, proof of the demand for skilled nursing care. Times have changed. Occupancy rates have dropped and waiting lists are almost non-existent. Many nursing homes are losing money, and some have gone out of business.

Naplin says that five to ten years ago 22 nursing homes were owned by Minnesota counties. Today, only eight of those facilities are still county owned with the remainder having been sold to private health-care organizations.

A Variety of Causes

The Balanced Budget Act of 1997 mandated the implementation of a per diem prospective payment system for skilled nursing facilities covering all costs related to the services furnished to beneficiaries under Part A of the Medicare program. This has resulted in lower reimbursement rates and has caused some skilled nursing care facilities to have to close their doors.

The managed care system has also raised havoc with nursing homes. Cost containment is the primary goal of many of these organizations, resulting in shorter stays in skilled nursing facilities.

The country's current low employment rate has also contributed to the nursing home crisis with some areas experiencing staff shortages, especially in the area of nursing assistants and food service workers, forcing some facilities to have to suspend admissions due to resident/staff ratios.

Finally, several states, including Minnesota, operate programs which fund home- and community-based services for people 65 and over who require the level of medical care provided in a nursing but who choose to reside in the community.

Home health care care programs have expanded, and assisted living facilities, known as the boom industry of the 1990s, have broadened admissions criteria to accommodate residents with such conditions as Alzheimer's disease and related dementias and incontinence.

In short, home heath care services and assisted living facilities are taking the patients who traditionally would have been served by skilled nursing facilities.

Positives Outweigh Negatives at Oakland Park Nursing Home

Oakland Park Nursing Home was founded in 1955 for the purpose of providing a skilled nursing facility for the county's aging citizens. The facility was housed at the former Oakland Park Sanatorium from 1955 until 1974 when bonds were sold to build the current facility. The bonds were paid off in 1995.

Nestled on the edge of town, Oakland Park's location is one of its key strengths. The picturesque area is quiet with the only outside noise often coming from the birds which enjoy feeders outside every resident's room.

Oakland Park Nursing Home has obviously been maintained with pride with the condition of neither its exterior or interior indicating that the facility is already 25 years old.

The residents' comfortable quarters are cheerfully painted and often filled with personal possessions and family photographs. Bright gathering areas at the end of each wing provide places for socialization with family and friends, and a centralized activity room accommodates the daily planned activities. A physical therapy area adjoins the activity room.

Both the ambiance and coffee are warm in the cafeteria, providing another comfortable area for residents and guests to gather.

The facility's staff is another one of its strengths with employees at all levels showing a high level of commitment to the residents and the facility.

Administrator Angela Malone says she had "big shoes to fill" last year when she assumed her duties following the retirement of long-time administrator Sharon Hoglo.

Twenty years younger than the average nursing home administrator, 30-year-old Angela has made an energetic effort to become familiar with all of her staff and residents and enjoys participating in the daily life of the facility outside of her office.

These policies were developed several years ago when, while working as a nursing assistant, she had been on the job several months before she even recognized or knew who the facility's administrator was. At that time the young woman told herself, "When I'm an administrator, things will be different."

Angela's attitude, shared by management employees, has contributed to the improved morale among all of Oakland Park's employees.

Oakland Park's board of directors as well as the Pennington County Board of Commissions are also dedicated to the future of the facility.

The strengths of the facility as a whole will be important factors as it attempts to meet the challenges of the future.

Tackling Challenges

The census at Oakland Park Nursing Home has dropped from an average of 93.55 percent in 1997 to 92.15 percent in 1998 to a level of 86.7 percent at the end of the 1999 fiscal year on September 31.

Recently, the facility has experienced a bit of a boom. With capacity for 75 residents, Oakland Park was up to 69 residents as of Sunday.

While the local facility has not yet been affected by the staff shortages encountered by other skilled nursing facilities, it has been affected by the expanding programs which provide for at-home services for individuals who would traditionally be served by nursing homes.

It is also experiencing a higher resident turnover rate with the average length of stay considerably shortened. Many of the facility's residents are recovering from an illness, surgery or injury and then return to their homes, necessitating more admissions to maintain occupancy levels.

In September the board of directors of Oakland Park Nursing Home utilized the services of Pathway Health Services with representatives conducting on-site visits for the purpose of compiling a facility financial assessment.

The purpose of the assessment was to identify the underlying causes of Oakland Park's financial situation and to make general recommendations as to what could be done to improve the facility's financial performance.

The professionals who conducted the assessment discovered and noted the strengths already mentioned in this article. They also made recommendations, suggesting that Oakland Park adjust its operating expenses to the lower census, make a plan for funding the cash needs for the next six months or until the facility is operating at a break-even point and set clear operational goals.

Board Chairman Charles Naplin says that short-term borrowing will take care of the facility's immediate cash needs as the administrator and management work together to re-budget the facility and develop an aggressive marketing plan to attract residents.

Naplin and Administrator Angela Malone also stressed the importance of keeping the facility's employees as well as the residents, families and general public informed about what is happening at Oakland Park Nursing Home.

Changes are currently taking place at Oakland Park for the purpose of not only remedying the facility's immediate problems but to insure the future and longevity of Oakland Park Nursing Home.

The December Spirit award was presented to Margie Rutz, a 25-year employee of Oakland Park Nursing Home.

Physical limitations have recently prevented Margie from being able to carry out the responsibilities of her position as a certified nursing assistant. However, because of her value to Oakland Park her job description was altered to accommodate her limitations. She now accompanies residents on visits to the clinic.

It was a clinic employee who saw Margie with the residents that took the time to call Oakland Park management, commending the facility on its employee and revealing that she would not hesitate to recommend the skilled nursing facility if all of the employees were as caring and conscientious as Margie.

The commitment of all of Oakland Park's employees — from administration to housekeeping — was evident at the facility's holiday gathering, and a positive attitude will prevail as everyone works together towards the future of Oakland Park Nursing Home.

Oakland Park Nursing Home Administrator Angela Malone and Charles Naplin, chairman of the skilled nursing facility's board of directors, study the recent facility financial assessment. The assessment was compiled for the purpose of identifying the underlying causes for the home's current financial situation and to make recommendations as to what can be done to improve the facility's financial performance.

Oakland Park Nursing Home employees receiving pins for years of service at the facility's recent Christmas party included (from left) Teresa Jansen, five years, dietary dapt.; Lynnae Helvorson, 25 years, business office; Margie Rutz, 25 years, certified nursing assistant; Wandy Wagner, RN, five years; registered nurse; Lucilia Kjos, LPN, 25 years; and LeAnn Olson, 10 years, housekeeping dapt. Others receiving pins but unable to attend the party were: Mariyce Grebanski, 15 years, dietary dapt.; Audray Korpi, 10 years, dietary dapt.; Tammy Pandaiton, five years, housekeeping; and Carissa McDougall, five years, nurse's aid.

Zion Christmas choir concert

The choirs of Zion Lutheran Church will present their annual Christmas concert on Sunday, December 19 at 4 p.m.

"And They Followed the Star," under the direction of Naomi Raymond, calls attention to our tendency to put our trust in modern technology. As the wise men followed the star so long ago, we are encouraged to follow the star to find our own way to the manger where we find that God has already called us His own.

Heidi Hoks will tell the story of a boy named Amahl, taken from "Amahl and the Night Visitors," the opera by Gian-Carlo Menotti, originally written for television and presented on NBC for a number of years.

Participating in the concert will be Kids' Praise directed by Diane Johnson, the Handbell Choir, Resonance and the Senior Choir directed by Naomi Raymond. An exciting duet accompaniment for two choir anthems will be provided by Phyllis Dalager and Ida Nordvall. Other accompaniment will be provided by Coreen Erickson, piano; Brittany and Jillian Larson, violin; Anthony Wold, string bass; and Heidi Young, flute.

The choirs invite Zion's congregation along with the community to the concert which will be followed by a silver tea served by Zion youth. There is no charge for the concert.

Grants class in TRF Jan. 13

A course designed to help non-profit managers and staff prepare successful grants will be held at the Best Western Inn, Thief River Falls on January 13. Sponsored by the Northwest Minnesota Foundation (NWMF), the day begins with registration at 8 a.m., continuing until 4:30 p.m. The cost is $70, including lunch, $150 for those outside the 12-county area. The deadline for registration is January 7.

This useful, understandable class will help with proposal planning and seeking the most appropriate funding sources. Materials will be provided in a well-organized three-ring binder to take with you.

Instructors Karen Berthold, PhD., and Lynette Krenelka, from the University of North Dakota, will guide you through proposal development, providing a model to use in writing proposals. The follow-up activity phase will cover what happens after you submit the proposal. Finally, you'll wrap up with a question and answer session and evaluate what you've learned.

Karen and Lynette have received a combined total of more than $3 million in grants through a variety of funding sources. The presentations are structured so that people from any organization, for multiple purposes, can be shown a systematic approach to seeking grant funds.

To register or for more information call Rebecca Weir or Jennifer Lufkin at the NWMF office in Bemidji at 218-759-2057 or 1-800-659-2057.

The NWMF is a charitable foundation committed to improving the quality of life for residents of northwest Minnesota. To achieve this mission, the Foundation focuses its financial resources and activities toward two principal goals: increasing economic growth and business development and increasing the capacity of individuals and organizations to shape the region's future.

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q: I have an appointment to file for retirement very soon and was told to bring evidence of my 1999 wages so that they could be used in figuring out my retirement benefit. My problem is that my appointment will be before I get my W-2 form. What should I do?

A: This is not a major problem. If your employer uses a computerized payroll system we can probably use your most recent pay stub. Information on the pay stub should show your name and Social Security Number; the employer's name, tax employer ID number (EIN) or other specific identifier; and the total, cumulative, amount of wages you earned for the year with the amount of Social Security tax withheld to date. A letter from your employer, on company letterhead, with the same information will also serve this purpose if your pay stub does not provide this information.

Q: I just got a letter from the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) saying that my name is wrong on their records and that I should contact the Social Security Administration (SSA) to fix it. I was married a few years ago but not employed then. Can I correct my name by mail? How? Is there a cost?

A: Yes, you can correct your name with SSA by mail. There is not charge. All you need to do is complete an application for a Social Security card (form SS-5) and mail it to your local Social Security office with evidence of your name change. Your marriage certificate would be sufficient evidence but if you were married several years ago we might also ask to see current identification. We cannot use a photocopied document so send the original or state certified one. It will be returned. A new Social Security card with the correct name and same Social Security Number (SSN) will be mailed to you from a national distribution point approximately two weeks after local computer input is done. The form SS-5 is multi-purpose and used for requesting original, replacement, and name change SSN's. The form is available from the SSA website of www.ssa.gov as well as from any SSA office. It is a good idea to also update your SSN record whenever you legally change your name. Note that having the wrong name on your Social Security card can delay receipt of your IRS income tax refund.

SPEAKING OF . . .

Sherry LaCoursiere

...The Spirit of Christmas

The Spirit of Christmas is giving, right? Never mind that, everybody jumps into that pile of Christmas gifts and starts ripping off the paper so they can see what other people bought for them. The real Spirit of Christmas is finding the perfect gift for those we love, wrapping it with care, placing it under the tree, and then watching them grab the gift, rip off the paper, and exclaim – loudly - how much they love the gift.

We may think that we have the Spirit of Christmas down pat and are the best gift givers in the whole world. We pry and poke at our loved ones throughout the entire year, trying to learn what it is that would make the best gift in the world for each of them. Then we search through the stores and catalogs to find those perfect gifts, choose just the right kinds of gift paper and the most beautiful ribbons, and present the gifts to them with a flourish on Christmas Day.

But somebody has us beat this year. Somebody found the Spirit of Christmas and came up with gifts for a whole lot of youngsters who really need some Christmas Spirit this year. And these aren't little, piddly gifts either – these are big gifts - bigger than B-B guns, bigger than sleds, bigger than the biggest baby dolls. These gifts are bicycles!

Yes, bicycles for kids for Christmas! Pastor George of New Life Assembly of God Church found his Christmas Spirit a while ago when he decided he wanted to do something special for some kids at Christmas. He came up with the idea of gifts of bicycles because he remembers wanting one when he was a child and not getting one. Didn't many of us have a bicycle written on our Christmas lists? And how many of us got those bicycles? I remember asking for a bicycle for many years too. I would have been so surprised to find one under the Christmas tree.

After a year of work, Pastor George has bicycles. Pastor George got help from many good people and businesses and now has enough bicycles for Christmas giving. In fact, I heard him promise that every little kid who needs one will get a bicycle, even if he has to buy it himself, and I think he meant it. Now, isn't that the Christmas Spirit?

Well, I think Pastor George and his Christmas Spirit has all of us beat this year. So, what can we do? Ha, we can do plenty.

First of all, the main thing that we can do is, if we know of a youngster who would like a gift of a bicycle and probably would not be able to get one without help, we can call Pastor George at 686-6986 or 681-4716. He will be glad to speak to us about the child and what type of bicycle he or she would like.

Secondly, how about offering to help Pastor George and his parish with those bicycles. If we have any extra money floating around, I'm sure Pastor George would be able to put it to some pretty good use. Or, if we don't have any extra money, maybe we could help Pastor George distribute the bicycles. Wouldn't it be great to see that boy or girl get the bicycle they want so badly this Christmas?

The last, but not least, thing we can do to help Pastor George is to help celebrate the second annual "Birthday Party for Jesus" on Sunday, December 19. The party will start at 6:45 P.M. and everyone is welcome to join in the short celebration. After the service, bicycles will be distributed to the children, and who would want to miss something like that? The party will be at the New Life Assembly of God Church, located at 256 Kendall Avenue North (previous location of the Evangelical Free Church – located on the first right off the divided highway).

Now, isn't that the real Spirit of Christmas?

Connie Hemmesch represented First National Bank at a recent 55 Alive refresher course at the Heritage Community Center. Ken Murphy is the course instructor. This was the first time a business or organization besides the Heritage Community Center had sponsored the course. Noting the worthwhile nature of the defensive driving course and its value to seniors in reducing their insurance premiums, Hemmesch stated that First National Bank is looking into also offering the course in Middle River.

A 55-Alive refresher course was recently held at Heritage Community Center and sponsored by First National Bank with Instructor Ken Murphy once again offering information to a capacity class.

Christmas trees. Almost everyone has one, and they're a tradition in most American homes. If you ask most families they would say decorating it or sitting around it are among their most cherished Christmas traditions. But, if you ask my family, they would tell you cutting it is right up there as one of their most special Christmas events.

Every year we have a different story about braving the deep snow (or lack thereof), and dragging the seven-foot tall tree that will grace our living room, out of the woods.

About 10 years ago, when we lived in rural North Dakota, we would drive the short distance of 50 miles to a tree farm near Wahalla. First, we would drive up to an old house that seemed consumed by hay bale insulation, and announce to the tree farmer that we were there to buy a tree. He would then make sure we had a saw and remind us to close the gate behind us, so that the cows wouldn't get out. So, as adventurous as we thought we were, my mom, dad and I set out into an eight foot forest of green to find the perfect tree. Now, every year we set out with dreams of the perfect tree dancing in our heads like sugar plums, but every year are met with something quite different. I think it was the cold that always got to us. In any event, we always left with a tree that was drastically less than perfect after an hour of searching. That some cold tended to make us much more creative too. If a tree had a big hole, we'd just tell ourselves that we'd put that side to the wall; or, if it was sparse, we'd rationalize that all our decorations would fill it out. Whatever we decided to believe, we were happy just the same. The last step was for my dad to strap it on the roof of the van with a masterful touch. It was so well tied down, that had we collided head on with a semi, that tree would not have budged. In the process of paying the man for the tree, he would ask us to wait a second, and soon return with a bottle of homemade wine. It was either juneberry or chokecherry, he couldn't remember, because the label had fallen off.

Only a few years ago, our yearly tradition was graced by a new face — our foreign exchange student Roma, who eagerly came with us. As is our tradition, we found a tree that wasn't quite what we had hoped for. This particular tree, or the part we wanted, started about four feet from the ground. As Roma held the tree steady, I began to saw. While I was doing this, it became apparent that Roma wasn't going to be able to hold this tree after I had separated it from the trunk. Before I could warn him, however, the tree fell on him. He wasn't hurt, he just didn't know what to do. He just stood there, hunched over with a tree gracing his back. We quickly removed it, but it did make for a good laugh.

Down On The Farm

Eric Bergeson

Tis the season to buy mounds of expensive junk nobody will ever use. Christmas brings out the big spender in everybody, and New Year's resolutions make the spending spree worse.

Kitchen gadgets are a big item. Most of them are worthless. What percentage of fondue pots ever get used? Most of them sit in the cupboard and collect dust. Maybe one in twenty of those homemade noodle machines ever sees any action.

I once requested a yogurt maker for Christmas. I never even opened the box. The popsicle molds were a waste, and the little plastic thing used to reseal open pop bottles wasn't worth the trouble.

Bread machines are more likely to see some use, but ice cream makers seldom see the light of day once they get stashed under the basement stairs. Research would likely prove that over 95 percent of the food machines given as Christmas gifts are used no more than one time.

The Pentagon used to pay $700 per screwdriver, but at least they used the screwdrivers. The same can't be said for most exercise machines people buy for about the same amount of money.

"If I invest a lot of money in the machine, I will be more inclined to use it," people tell themselves. Although they seldom go for a walk outside even when the weather is beautiful, people somehow get the idea that they will spend hours on a treadmill in their basement when it is forty below.

The Christmas and New Year's holidays are times when people assess their lives. Many decide they need to change for the better. But instead of changing their habits, most people buy gadgets which promise to change their lives for them.

Burn fat away without exercise! Lose weight without trying! Cook gourmet meals in five minutes flat! Have a flat stomach in 30 days! Grow hair on your shiny bald head! Just take this pill or buy this gadget and love and happiness will be yours.

For every deficiency people see in themselves, there is a product which promises to cure it. The human desire to accomplish great things without putting forth any effort makes these gadgets an easy sell.

Nobody seems to notice that these gadgets don't work. Exercise contraptions clog attics and storage units. Kitchen junk sells for pennies at rummage sales. Bottles of antioxidants and garlic pills stack up in the medicine drawer.

But people don't learn from experience. They keep on buying. If the last gadget didn't solve their problems, they seem to think, maybe the next one will.

This hunger for new cure-all devices keeps our economy humming--and our dumpsters full.

PARENTING TIPS
Last Minute Gift Ideas

In need of some last minute gifts for children? Remember gifts do not need to be expensive or purchased at a store to be valuable for children. Think about what the child is doing at his/her age when selecting toys and always think of safety. It has been said that no toy is completely safe. Maybe all playthings need adult supervision.

Infants

. . . need playthings to hold, look at and listen to. Always remember to check them for safety. The playthings must be too big to swallow and not have sharp edges or other dangerous parts. They may include:

- safe things to chew on
- toys to hold and squeeze
- toys for in the bathtub.

One-Year-Olds

. . . need toys to take apart and put together, parts to screw and unscrew, put on and take off, throw and drop, stack and unstack. They are curious and want to know "why." Good choices are:

- a soft safe ball, pop beads
- small soft dolls and stuffed animals
- small lightweight blocks
- water toys.

Two-Year-Olds

. . . need toys to build their muscles. They need toys that help them learn "in, out, over, under, up and down." Two-year-olds have gone from simple imagination to actual make believe. Try choosing:

- simple puzzles
- riding toys
- a small table and chair set.

Three- Four- and Five-Year-Olds

. . . can have increasingly more difficult toys to play with, toys that encourage them to think and figure things out. Some examples are:

- blocks
- construction toys
- crayons, paper, markers
- playdough
- board games
- puppets.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

As your child plays, talk to him/her about what he/she is doing. Notice how your child uses the toy.

Three vehicles damaged, no one injured in four-vehicle accident

No injuries were reported, but several thousand dollars worth of damage was caused by an accident involving four vehicles.

The vehicle was making a right turn from the center lane. At about the same time, Bobbi Jo Rose, Thief River Falls, driving a 1986 GMC Jimmy attempted to pass the semi on the right.

Rose drove into the parking lot to avoid colliding with the semi. Her vehicle struck a 1990 Oldsmobile Sedan which was driven by Betty Jean Olson, Newfolden which was stopped facing east. The force of the collision pushed Olson's car into a parked 1985 Honda Accord owned by Everett Ben Christensen, Dilworth. There was no damage to the semi. Police estimate damage to the other three vehicles at $5,200.

Summoned: Cory James Nelson, 20, Thief River Falls, has been summoned to appear in court on the charge of furnishing alcohol to an underage person.

Controlled substance: On October 11 at 1 p.m. police received a complaint of someone selling marijuana from a residence. Gregory Dean Dahl, 42, Thief River Falls, is charged with controlled substance crime in the fifth degree.

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

Give a gift of international understanding

As the holidays approach, we have the opportunity to fully appreciate the freedom and rich culture we enjoy in the United States. In the spirit of giving and sharing, there is a unique gift you and your family can enjoy for a lifetime — the gift of sharing your lives with an international exchange student.

During the holiday season we speak of peace and harmony. That peace begins with friendship and understanding, one family at a time. By inviting an international student into your home, you will be bringing knowledge, new attitudes and changed perspective to your family, schools and community.

Imagine learning to use chopsticks or trading your favorite recipe for a new international recipe. Improve your foreign language skills and absorb a new culture. Watch your children describe the finer points of American football, while learning some new moves in soccer. . . the possibilities are endless and the joy of sharing them limitless.

As a CETUSA host family said about their exchange experience, "Our family will never be the same again, since we hosted Susanna. We now have a daughter in Spain and the bonds will last a lifetime."

If you would like further information on how you can give your family the gift of international understanding, please call your local coordinator Donna Nelson at 218-459-3329 or toll free at 1-888-CETUSA8.

Rydell Refuge Christmas Bird Count Set for Saturday, Dec. 18

This year marks the 99th anniversary of the Christmas Bird Count in the United States.

On Christmas Day in 1900, 27 conservationists decided to protest the traditional holiday "side hunt" in which teams competed to see who could shoot the most birds and animals in one day. Instead of shooting birds, the conservationists counted them on Christmas Day.

Today, volunteers around the world count birds during the Christmas holiday season. Recording changes in the number and variety of birds from year to year can provide valuable information about changes in our environment.

Roger Tory Peterson noted that "birds are indicators of the environment, a sort of ecological litmus paper. Because of their furious pace of living and high metabolism, they reflect subtle changes in the environment rather quickly; they warn us of things out of balance."

Officially, a Christmas Bird Count is to be done in a designated circle 15 miles in diameter where as many birds as possible are counted in a single 24 hour day during the designated count period, approximately a two week period around Christmas. Officially, each participant is also supposed to pay $5 to be included in the count.

In the interest of prompting more people to participate in this fun activity, the Friends of the Rydell Refuge will be hosting an "unofficial" Christmas Bird Count on Saturday, December 18. There will be no participation fee — everyone is welcome to count during the 24 hour period of December 18. There will also be no official count circle, so anyone in Fosston or Fertile or other spots around the area is welcome to count and report the results to the Refuge.

Past Christmas Bird Counts have yielded about 20-25 different species. This compares to approximately 125 species spotted during the Migratory Bird Count held in May. It will be interesting to see how the mild winter will affect this year's species diversity.

Interested parties should dust off their binoculars and get ready for a fun day of winter birding. Everyone is welcome to participate. Just record the number of birds of each species seen on December 18.

Some of the best places to look include areas around open water, along edges of woods and fields where there is brush and weed seeds, roadside shoulders, shelter belts, large evergreens and fruiting shrubs. People can count by driving around, walking through natural areas or by watching backyard feeders.

Participants can count all or any part of the day. Count headquarters will be at the Rydell National Wildlife Refuge Visitors Center which will be open throughout the afternoon on December 18.

The public is invited to come out during the afternoon to watch birds at the Visitor Center feeders, cross-country ski, snowshoe, or hike the Refuge trails (depends on snow conditions) or come to see what the final tally is at the end of the day.

Refreshments will be on hand throughout the afternoon and at the tally rally finale.

A tally rally will begin about 4:30 p.m. where participants can bring their results in or call them in to the Visitors Center at 218-687-2223 for inclusion in the tally for the day. To send in results or for more information, contact Wayne Goeken, RR 3, Box 75A, Erskine, MN 56535; e-mail to wrg@maplebay.means.net or call (218) 574-2622.

To get to the Rydell Refuge go 3 miles east of Mentor or 3 miles west of Erskine on U.S. Highway 2 and turn south on Polk County 210. Follow 210 about 2.5 miles south and turn right at the large Refuge sign into the main entrance of the Refuge. If arriving from the south, turn north off of Polk County 41 onto Polk County 210 and go about 3.5 miles north and turn left at the Refuge entrance sign.

It is not too late to get a flu shot

(This article was submitted by Mag Melgard, RN, who is a student in the physician assistant program at the University of North Dakota.)

As the new year approaches, so does "flu season." The peak months of influenza activity are usually January through March. It is not too late to get immunized.

Every year the vaccine is modified because the influenza viruses change, so a new shot is needed each year.

Symptoms of influenza usually develop one to five days after a person is infected with the virus and may include fever (usually high), muscle pain, sore throat, nonproductive cough, chest discomfort and headache. These symptoms will lessen in approximately two to five days, but it may take at least one to two weeks before the person feels well again.

In healthy persons, complications are infrequent and full recovery is the rule. Unfortunately, there are those who may be susceptible to complications which may be life threatening.

The most common complication is bacterial pneumonia. Rarer complications are caused by other infections occurring while a person has influenza and can be highly fatal. Those most at risk are people of any age that have underlying medical conditions and the elderly, which include more than 50 million Americans. Tens of thousands of deaths occur in the United States annually due to complications related to influenza.

The flu shot is recommended for adults who are 65 years of age or older and all persons ages six months to 65 years with medical problems such as heart, lung, kidney or blood diseases, or diabetes. It is also recommended for people with immunosuppression or living in chronic care facilities. People older than six months who live with at risk people, all health care workers and people who provide key community services should also be immunized. Additionally, pregnant women past their first trimester, travelers to areas where influenza activities exists and anyone who would like to reduce the likelihood of becoming ill should be vaccinated.

Quiz tests knowledge of flu

Many people do not get vaccinated for influenza because they have been told things about flu shot and influenza that are not true.

Take the following "True or False" quiz and find out the truth.

1. The flu is like a bad cold. People usually get over it in a week or so and don't have any problems.

FALSE. Lots of things people call the flu are not really influenza. Influenza is a major illness. Every year many older people and people with other health problems simply do not recover from the flu. Influenza is the fourth leading killer of older persons in the U.S.

2. The flu is not very contagious. If you stay at home when you have it, you probably won't give it to anyone.

FALSE. Influenza is highly contagious. What's more, you are most likely to give it to others before you know you are sick.

3. The flu shot doesn't work so there is no reason to get one.

FALSE. The flu shot is very effective. It does not protect you from regular colds, but it does protect you from influenza.

4. You can get a bad reaction or get the flu from a flu shot.

FALSE. Today's vaccine is pure and safe and has been given to thousands of people without problems. It is impossible to get influenza from the flu shot. Some people get a sore arm or mild fever a day or so after the shot, but this is not influenza.

5. The flu shot does not mix well with other medicines or may make other illnesses worse.

FALSE. The flu shot does not make your other medicines stop working nor does it make your current illness worse.

6. Your health care provider wants you to get a flu shot.

TRUE. If you are 65 years old or older or if you have other medical conditions, such as heart disease, lung disease or diabetes), your health care provider and the U.S. Public Health Service strongly recommend that you get a flu shot every fall.

Relocated Minnesota regional opener sees huge entries

With no raceable snow elsewhere, WSA officials decided to accept an offer from Spirit Mountain Ski Resort to host the Duluth Lawn and Sport/Floe Trailers Minnesota Regional Snocross Championship opener if necessary. The result was a superb weekend of racing on a very good track with over 650 entries, and every racer hitting the course at least twice.

Saturday featured the Pro 600 final, still a regional class, and Todd Wolff, Ski-Doo, had a huge holeshot to an early lead. Top qualifier Todd Tupper, Ski-Doo, stayed close but eventually a fast closing Justin Tate, Ski-Doo, worked into second. He finally caught Wolff and executed a great pass to take the lead. He drew away to a highly popular win for the locally based AMSOIL/Scheuring SpeedSport team. Tupper held on for third with Kent Ipsen, Ski-Doo, a solid fourth, and Kurt Crapo's factory Polaris fifth.

Tupper repeated his top qualifying performance in the Pro 440, and Nitro Fish Apparel teammate Dave Brown claimed the second qualifying spot for the sweep. Tupper promptly launched into a lead he would hold for virtually the entire race. Proving the new Nitro Fish Ski-Doo team will be a major force in the sport, Brown fought to second early, and looked set to complete the team sweep behind Tupper. Then halfway through the final lap Tupper had a very brief get-off, and Brown swept by for the win while Tupper recovered to preserve the team's rare double-double. Behind that action Ipsen helped make it a 1-2-3 Ski-Doo sweep, with a resurgent Ray Schlegal flying to fourth on his SpeedWerx/Economy Muffler Cat and Jesse Strege claiming fifth on his factory PSI/Stud Boy Polaris.

Another great story unfolded in the Pro Open category as Team Arctic's Earl Reimer fully lived up to his nickname "Scrap Iron". He withdrew from most of Saturday's action following the onset of a nasty case of flu. Nevertheless, he came back on Sunday to make the final in Pro Open, and after Noel Kohanski grabbed the point early in the final, Reimer worked his way to second. A torrid battle ensued and eventually he took the lead. Team Polaris' Trevor John settled into third early, moving to second when Kohanski pulled off with problems, and when first and second qualifiers, rookie Nick Hutchinson, and Schlegel had an incident, John's teammate, Crapo moved up to third. Team Arctic claimed fourth and fifth as well thanks to Aaron Scheele, and Carl Kuster.

Amanda Johnson, Polaris, simply checked out to win Pro Womens, while Team Arctic's Kirk Hibbert again claimed Pro Vets. Hibbert's son, Tucker Hibbert, doubled to win Semi-Pro 440, and 600, with Brad Pitlick, Ski-Doo, second in both. Pitlick then proceeded to nab the Semi-Pro Open win.

For more information on the Minnesota Regional Snocross Championship, please check the WSA web site at www.wsasnocross.com.

Rural poverty remains persistent in Great Plains

Despite a booming national economy, rural midwesterners are being left behind, according to the Center for Rural Affairs who today releases "Trampled Dreams: The Neglected Economy of the Rural Great Plains, a study of the economic status of rural counties in Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.

The study, co-authored by Dr. Patricia Funk and Jon Bailey, analyzes county level economic data for the period from 1988 to 1997 for each of the 503 counties of the six state region. The study finds that despite a national economy of historic prosperity, agriculturally based counties of the region are experiencing significantly higher rates of poverty and significantly lower incomes than urban counties of the region. It is important to note that the data used in the study predates the current farm crisis.

The study also updates a 1990 study by the Center that makes similar findings for the period from 1970 to 1988. The trends of high rural poverty and low rural incomes, therefore, are persistent and exist despite periodic farm crises, according to the study.

"This report confirms what people in the rural areas of this region have known for a long time; there is a two-tiered economy in this region, and rural people and rural communities are being left behind," said Jon Bailey, Farm and Community Policy Project Leader at the Center for Rural Affairs.

The study looked at 503 counties and identified 261 which had total county incomes of 20 percent or more from agriculture. Of these, 185 were classified as "rural farm" counties containing no population center of 2,500 or more. Another 76 counties were labeled as "urban farm" counties that had at least one community of 2,500-19,999 people.

Together, the study reports that these agriculturally based counties make up 52 percent of the six-state study region and contains 14 percent of the area's population.

Bailey noted that the study outlined findings in five key areas: poverty, population, income, earnings, and entrepreneurial character. Among the highlights are:

Poverty:

- In rural farm and urban farm counties, over one-third of households have annual incomes less than $15,000. Only one in five households in metro areas have such low incomes.
- In rural farm counties poverty is 60 percent greater than in metro areas.
- Child poverty in those rural farm counties is 50 percent greater than in metro areas.

Population:

- The region as a whole gained six percent in population; nearly all of the gain occurred in the 50 metropolitan counties of the region.
- Rural farm and urban farm classified counties lost six percent of their population.
- In rural farm and urban farm counties, over one-third of households have annual incomes less than $15,000. Only one in five households in metro areas have such low incomes.
- In rural farm counties poverty is 60 percent greater than in metro areas.
- Child poverty in those rural farm counties is 50 percent greater than in metro areas.

Grams calls attention to study that reports problems in rural America

A new report published by the Center for Rural Affairs is urging U.S. Senator Rod Grams (R-MN) to renew his call to pass legislation to help rural America. The study cited a number of problems that rural America is facing, including poverty, low incomes, a reduction in the number of operating farms and slow growth. In a letter to Minnesota Governor Jesse Ventura, Grams asked for a renewed effort to consider the Revitalization of Rural America Tax Relief Package, and a federal/state partnership to help rural America.

"The vitality of our state depends on our ability to work together to end the hardships in rural areas and to make the American Dream achievable no matter where you live," wrote Grams. Grams went on to explain that there were a number of steps that needed to be taken to help rural America, including good, strong leadership at the local level. Another component of helping rural America is contained in legislation Grams offered at the end of the last session of Congress designed to encourage business investment in high poverty rural areas, create federal rural revitalization tax credits and offer tax relief to family farmers.

Grams' legislation, the Revitalization of Rural America Tax Relief Package, seeks to address the hardships farmers have faced over the course of the last several years, including disease, bad weather and low commodity prices. The package is a combination of tax relief targeted to the agriculture industry and amendments to current law to emphasize certain goals in existing farm programs. Coupled with reducing regulatory burdens, pursuing a pro-agriculture agenda at the World Trade Organization negotiations, striking unfair sanctions and embargoes, providing for adequate crop insurance and extending loan rate periods, the Revitalization of Rural America Tax Relief package is an essential component of creating an environment where farmers and rural America can thrive.

"This plan is just one idea to help the economically distressed rural communities. The revitalization of our rural communities depends on strong local leadership. The effort must also include state activism to help rural communities. However, I believe if we work together, we can find ways to create more economic opportunities in our rural communities to preserve and improve the excellent quality of life in these areas," Grams wrote.

Several carolers sang for shoppers Friday evening in downtown Thief River Falls. This group, members of the Redeemer Lutheran Choir, was among several that performed during a special promotion.

Y2K council develops book to help Americans

Americans wondering how they can prepare for the Year 2000 date change now have more information at their disposal thanks to a new booklet on Y2K issue from the President's Council on Year 2000 Conversion.

"Y2K and You" is a free, 31-page informational booklet that discusses the Y2K issue and its potential impact on utilities, health care, financial and government services, travel, and consumer products. The booklet also features a "Y2K Preparedness Checklist" that offers common-sense tips on personal readiness for the date change.

Individuals can obtain copies of the booklet, which was prepared by the Y2K Council in cooperation with the Federal Emergency Management Agency and the Federal Trade Commission, through the council's web site — www.y2k.gov — or by calling the Federal Government's toll-free Y2K information line 1-888-USA-4-Y2K (1-888-872-4925).

Viking Community News

Elizabeth Swenson • 681-3852

On Tuesday morning, Leroy and Ruth Sustad were breakfast guests at the Lowell Hogberg home at Newfolden and also enjoyed fellowship with son-in-law Dan Hogberg of Thornton, CO.

The Town and Country Garden Club of Viking met for their Christmas party at the Varnette Stokke home. There was a 2 p.m. business meeting and a potluck supper. Those who attended were Bert and Joyce Kron, Elmer and Clarice Rooker, Nina Halvorson, Alvin and Bernyce Grandstrand, Earl and Joyce Erickson, and hostess Varnette. Elmer Rooker brought wood vegetable crafts for each member and Varnette had various plants to share; it was all very interesting and a lot of fun.

Liz Swenson was an afternoon and supper guest at the Art and Kay Olson home on Friday. The lighted Christmas village was outstanding with many new additions and trees.

On Tuesday afternoon, LeRoy and Ruth Sustad called on several in Thief River Falls, including Dagny Irvin at Valley Home, Emma Kalbakdalen and Leonard Gonsorowski who are residents at Oakland Park Nursing Home, and also had a brief visit with Clifford Sustad and June Hjelle, patients at Northwest Medical Center.

The weather in northwest Minnesota is so nice it's almost impossible to think that in less than two weeks Christmas will be here. The sun was so warm coming through the west window tonight just before setting that I had to move the Christmas cactus, which doesn't tolerate direct heat.

The amaryllis that Isaac and Betsy gave us at Thanksgiving time has gotten the flower bud through the bulb and today alone it grew over an inch. From now on it will grow so fast that by Christmas it will be over two feet high and in full bloom. It is hard to believe that they can grow so fast.

I received a letter from St. Anthony with the box #Ladybug! and believe it or not it found its way to Box 258. I'm happy to see that folks all over seem to enjoy reading about the weather up here and once in awhile they locate a relative or friend by reading it. They often wonder why so many call me "Granny" since I had only three natural grandchildren. Living in a strategic place where there was racing, swimming, berry picking, trap shooting, skiing etc. there was never a shortage of company and most of them called me Granny.

Roy has been under the weather all last week and hasn't been out of the house since. It must be the flu bug that got him. He's been running a temperature and I've been running his errands. I didn't realize how many runs there are each day especially when it comes to delivering over 20 meals on wheels. I heard a story the other evening about some mice who were admitted into heaven and because it was such a large place, persuaded the authorities to equip them with roller skates. They had been church mice while on earth. One day a scrawny tom cat who claimed a right of admittance, moved in up there. Soon he came around in a shiny coat, fat and sassy, proclaiming his happiness to the fine hospitality he had received, especially the "Meals on Wheels!!!"

Bethesda Church is a place of activity this month. Next Sunday, December 19, they plan to have their fellowship dinner following the Christmas pageant. On Christmas Day the early morning service is at 9:00 a.m.

Salem Lutheran Church will present their annual Christmas pageant on Sunday, December 19 at 2:00 p.m. All are invited to celebrate. Salem and Bethesda churches are served by Pastor Eric Heskin and as you can see, he is a very busy man.

On Thursday evening Betsy Thompson took Pearl Thompson, Elsie Lefrooth and me to the home of Marie Johnson where we were joined by Lois Freeman, Coleen Pendleton, Tanya Dambiczak, Betty Wagner, Cathy Thompson, and Karen Zimmerman for the annual Women's Missionary Christmas party. It was co-hosted by Marie Johnson and Denise Aakre in a beautiful setting and delicious dinner. A wonderful time was had by all, playing games and exchanging gifts.

Pearl Thompson and Coleen Pendleton visited Elsie Lefrooth on Sunday afternoon and later they attended the program at the Baptist church.

For visiting and dinner, Morris and Hazel Anderson had as guests on Sunday, Keith, Kathy, Jared, and Allison Britten, and Kristopher and Kenny Anderson. After dinner, Jared went back to UND in Grand Forks. Kenny took Kristopher to Grand Forks to catch the train to Rochester for a check up at the Mayo Clinic, and then Kenny went back to Crookston where he is attending the university there.

Friday afternoon Rick and BeBe Svendahl and Christy returned from Canada and stopped at Isaac and Betsy Thompson's home to get the trailer they had parked there while they were in Canada. It was just enough time for Betsy to get out her big kettle and build a batch of Kumpas (potato dumplings in the American language). She called me and I hurried down there for a treat and it was. They (Rick and Bebe) went back to Cloquet that evening and I brought some home to Roy.

Time to get with the program at the Center. Have a good Christmas everyone from this house to your house!!!

- The annual per capita income in rural farm counties is 83 percent of that in metro areas.
- Annual per capita earnings in rural farm counties is about two-thirds of earnings in metropolitan counties. The gap is greater when only earned income is considered.
- In every year from 1988 to 1997, per capita earnings in agriculturally based counties were significantly lower than in other counties.

Persistent Low Earnings:

- Irregardless of the farm economy, rural farm and urban farm counties had persistently low earned income. Importantly, this data was collected between the farm crisis of the 1980s and the current crisis. Therefore, it is clear that when the nation began to prosper, rural areas in this region did not.

Entrepreneurial Character:

- In rural farm counties 43 percent of the jobs are proprietorships (33 percent in urban farm and 20 percent in metro counties).
- Non farm proprietors outnumber agricultural proprietorships in both rural and urban farm counties.

"In this time of unprecedented wealth and economic prosperity it is morally indefensible to have public policy that creates a chronic two-tiered economy," Bailey said.

Policy Recommendations:

- States should develop a comprehensive development policy for rural and agriculturally based communities.
- Establishment of federal and state Family Farm and Ranch Retooling Initiatives to increase the farmer and rancher share of the food system profit.
- Increased support, particularly by states of "New Generation Agriculture," a series of strategies focused on cooperatives, community-based value-added activities, and direct marketing.
- Cultivation of a new generation of farmers and ranchers through federal and state initiatives.
- Better targeting of federal agricultural programs to small and moderate farmers and ranchers.
- Increased support, particularly by states, of programs that provide lending capital and technical assistance to microenterprises and small businesses.
- Integration of conservation programs and community development.
- Provide incentives for private investment in rural county and urban county communities.
- Improve the development capacity of communities through inter-local cooperation.
- Federal rural development policy should be regionally based.

This study is based on United States Census data and annual data from the United States Bureau of Economic Analysis, Regional Economic Information System.

Established in 1973, the Center for Rural Affairs is private, non-profit organization working to strengthen small businesses, family farms and ranches, and rural communities through action oriented programs addressing the social, economic and environmental issues that confront them.

MHFA awards multi-family funding to projects

Board of Directors for the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency (MHFA) and its funding partners have approved funding for 35 multi-family developments. The developments will provide a total of 1,000 units throughout Minnesota for a total of $13.7 million, which includes $9.7 million from MHFA.

The MHFA joined with other funding agencies several years ago to offer a single concept-based Request for Proposal which allows organizations to request funds for a specific development concept rather than from a number or variety of housing programs. Funding agencies involved in this process with MHFA include the Family Housing Fund, the Metropolitan Council, the Greater Minnesota Housing Fund and the Minneapolis Public Housing Authority.

In Northwest Minnesota, Violence Intervention Project in Thief River Falls has been selected by the funding agencies to receive $200,000. The funding comes from MHFA's Housing Trust Fund Transitional Program. The proposal involves completing the necessary funding to construct new emergency and transitional housing for homeless women and their children. The development will consist of four transitional and emergency units.

Other funding agencies of the Violence Intervention Project, which serves a seven-county area in Northwest Minnesota, include the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, the Minnesota Department of Children, Families and Learning, area corporations, a number of foundations, and private gifts.

Violence has placed WTO in limelight

As abhorrent as violence is, the recent violent demonstrations in Seattle, WA, during the World Trade Organization (WTO) negotiations, did focus our attention on the trade talks. The WTO and events in Seattle were on so many television channels, and led on so many of our nation's newspapers, that we had to ask — so what's this all about? How does it affect us in Northwestern Minnesota?

The WTO is all about trade. The WTO was established in 1995. It is the only international organization dealing with the global rules of trade between nations. Its main function is to ensure that trade flows smoothly, predictably and freely as possible (www.wto.org).

As good, and as altruistic as this sounds, State Representative Ted Winter painted out that U.S. negotiators were offering to give away virtually all of our farm programs - AMTA payments, loan deficiency payments, export enhancement programs - in exchange for more overseas sales. While the U.S. could sell more farm products overseas, U.S. farmers would be stuck with one low world market price for their crops and livestock.

This would be acceptable of course, if other countries did the same, and production costs were similar. The problem is, European countries are unwilling to eliminate the subsidies that support their farmers.

Lori Bergland Olson of Thief River Falls was one of the few who grasped the importance of the WTO negotiations early on. She was also one of the few fram Minnesata to attend the event. "They talk about leveling the playing field by eliminating all subsidies," said Olson, "but why does the United States have to be first?" That's a good question, but on which will probably go unanswered.

To many, it appears that a tug of war exists between large corporations and farmers. Really, all these large corporations want is access to as many markets as possible so that they can obtain the lowest price for the raw product as possible. They can then offer consumers the products they demand at low prices.

Obviously, we all benefit when we can obtain products at lower prices, but at what cost say the ethicists. Yes, there's a cost — lost jobs in "industrialized nations", a "plundered environment" and "labor abuses" in third world countries — and there's the rub. That's why there were protesters on the streets.

Much more has to be done before we have a truly global market place. Level playing field? I think they're trying to compare apples to oranges. This WTO experiment should continue because it could yield some benefits, but much more has to be done to level the rules under which we trade. In addition, as a citizen of a democracy, I find it repugnant that people who are not elected representatives, are making decisions and policies that effect us so deeply.

So, I condemn the violence that took place in Seattle, but also thank the protesters. Because of their demonstrations, many more citizens are now aware of the WTO's impact on their lives.

Did you ever wonder why roads are as wide as they are?

Here's something you probably never wondered about and maybe should have. It's an interesting bit of trivia in any event.

The U.S. standards railroad gauge (distance between the rails) is exactly 4-feet, 8.5 inches. That's an exceedingly odd number. Why was that gauge used? Because that's the way they built them in England, and the U.S. railroads were built by English expatriates.

Why did the English people build them like that? Because the first rail lines were built by the same people who built the pre-railroad tramways, and that's the gauge they used.

Why did "they" use that gauge then? Because the people who built the tramways used the same jigs and tools that they used for building wagons, which used that wheel spacing.

Okay! Why did the wagon use that odd wheel spacing? Well, if they tried to use any other spacing, the wagons would break on some of the old, long distance roads, because that's the spacing of the old wheel ruts.

So who built these old rutted roads? The first long distance roads in Europe were built by Imperial Rome for the benefit of their Legions. The roads have been used ever since.

And the ruts? The initial ruts, which everyone else had to match for fear of destroying their wagons, were first made by Roman war chariots. Since the chariots were made for or by Imperial Rome, they were all alike in the manner of wheel spacing. Thus, we have the answer in the original question. The United States standard railroad gauge of 4-feet, 8.5 inches derives from the original specification for an Imperial Roman army war chariot.

Specs and bureaucracies live forever. So, the next time you are handed a specification and wonder what horse's rear end came up with it, you may be exactly right, because the Imperial Roman chariots were made to be just wide enough to accommodate the back ends of two war horses.

Now the twist to the story. There's an interesting extension of the story about railroad gauge and horses' behinds. When we see a space shuttle sitting on the launch pad, there are two big booster rockets attached to the sides of the main fuel tank. These are the solid rocket boosters, or SRBs. The SRBs are made by Thiokol at a factory in Utah. The engineers who designed the SRBs might have preferred to make them a bit fatter, but the SRBs had to be shipped by train from the factory to the launch site. The railroad line to the factory runs through a tunnel in the mountains. The SRBs had to fit through the tunnel. The tunnel is slightly wider than a railroad track, and the railroad track is about as wide as — two horses' behinds. So, a major design feature of what is arguably the world's most advanced transportation system (the space shuttle) was determined by the width of a horse's rear end.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

It seems the Thief River Falls Police department is more concerned about calendar parking than driving while intoxicated, domestic violence, drug use, or real crimes like assault.

Writing out parking tickets when there is now snow is not serving the people of Thief River. The job of our police department is to protect and to serve the people, not penalize them.

The city council or the chief of police could have extended calendar parking until the first snow. Our police department employees are not just meter maids. There is real crime out there.

Why doesn't the police department have DWI spot checks on Fridays and Saturdays on Highway 32 south, Highway 59 south, and Highway 32 north?

I believe the city council should make a policy of drug and alcohol testing for our police department to follow. Maybe then, there would be more arrests far drunk driving and drug use.

Calendar parking is a city ordinance that can be changed. I hope our city police realize they are accountable to the citizens of Thief River Falls, who should fear reprisal far expressions of free speech. Our world is getting more dangerous every day, and I would hope our police know this and protect us from this.

Sincerely,
Jerry Unruh

(Editor's note: It is the policy of The Times/Northern Watch to share critical letters with the subject of the letter so that a response can be made in the same issue of the newspaper. The following letter is in response to a letter from Jerry Unruh, which is in this edition of The Times.)

To the Editor:

Thank you for sharing Mr. Unruh's concerns with me. I am responding only to clarify some of Mr. Unruh's points.

1) Enforcement of an ordinance such as calendar parking is not a penalty. Although it may seem like it to some, it is a means of education. The whole purpose of calendar parking is to keep vehicles off of certain streets or avenues. If we knew for sure that when we receive snow for the first time that everyone would park accordingly, we would suspend the enforcement. I have been doing calendar parking since 1974, and I can assure you that no prior education through enforcement means our city plows working around vehicles all day.

2) I shall not respond to Mr. Unruh's request for O.W.I. spot checks" because we all know that they are illegal.

If the city council wishes to discontinue calendar parking enforcement they can do that. Until that time, the police department will carry out enforcement of the ordinance for educational purposes. We also are well aware of how fast our weather can change.

Sincerely,
Kenneth A. Froschheiser
Chief of Police

EXPENSIVE!
It Cost Sheldon Hartenberg $16.29 Just To ATTEND A DANCE.
Others Paid Only $2.

"It cost Sheldon Hartenberg just $16.29 to spend a few hours, dancing at the Odd Fellows ball last Friday evening, while other participants paid but $2. Some time ago three dance tickets were stolen from Robert Sotheran's room in the Hotel Ogahmah, and the fact was made known to the committee in charge of the dance. A list of the tickets sold to the different people was made out, and, as it did not appear that anyone had sold a ticket to Hartenberg, who presented one at the door, the conclusion that he had the stolen tickets was quickly surmised. He was arrested Saturday and taken before Judge Johnson, where he pleaded not guilty. Mr. Johnson, however, did not believe him, for he imposed a fine of $5 and costs and ordered him to pay $6 to the lodge for the tickets he had stolen, making his total fine $16.29.

"Hartenberg had presented two of his friends with tickets, but, as they were innocent of the manner in which he obtained them, they were not called upon to settle."

Warmer winter puts trees at risk

The unseasonably warm weather may be nice for holiday shopping, but it can be deadly for some trees.

State tree inspector Karen Biever warns that the warm weather has created a border-line crisis for evergreen trees.

Trees that lose their leaves in the fall lose moisture at a relatively slow rate. However, moisture loss does not slow in the trees we call evergreens. Since there has been little precipitation in the past few months, the trees are at risk of dying over the winter, an effect known as "winter kill."

The trees continue to lose moisture over the winter, but there is not enough water for the shallow roots to absorb, and the trees slowly dehydrate.

Biever says the solution to this problem is to water the soil around the trees. Not all trees need to be water, just spruce, fir, yew, cedar (Arbor Vitae) and juniper trees. Any newly planted trees and shrubs should also be watered.

It is important to water the soil and not the foliage to at least one foot beyond the drip line of the tree. Soil should be watered enough to saturate at least two feet deep without run-off, which equals about 15 to 20 minutes. To avoid run-off, it may be best to water the area, allow a few minutes for the water to soak in, then water again.

The trees will need to be watered periodically until freeze.

Trees may look fine now says Biever, but they can be dead or dehydrating a long time before it shows. She used an analogy of a Christmas wreath. The wreath looks green and healthy throughout the holiday season, but when it is taken down at the end of the season, the needles quickly fall from the branches.

The same thing holds true for evergreen trees. They may look fine now, but when spring comes and the sun starts shining brightly, the foliage will quickly turn brown.

With a little work now, there can still be a green spring, even if there is no white Christmas.

The unseasonably warm weather may be nice for holiday shopping, but it can be deadly for some trees. State tree inspector Karen Biever warns that the warm weather has created a border-line crisis for evergreen trees.

DEATH Knows No Holiday

Just a small amount of alcohol could impair your driving ability. If you're in a party mood this time of year, consider having a designated driver or taking a cab.

If you're hosting a party, be aware of your guests' drinking, and call a cab for someone who's had one too many. Or let them stay overnight. It's the safe thing to do.

Don't let alcohol dampen your holiday mood—play it safe for everyone's sake.

New Grandparents

Floyd and Fern Hesse are proud grandparents again! Ross and Vickie (Hesse) Olson of Moorhead are the proud parents of a baby girl born November 15, 1999. Cierra Janelle weighed in at 9 lbs. 1-1/2 oz. and measured 21-1/2 inches long. Cierra came with dark hair and dark eyes like her mother. Chelsey and Brandon welcomed their new sister with open arms.

On Wednesday, Wavell Sorenson visited her sister, Delaine and Maren Hammer at Thief River Falls. Thursday guests at the Sorenson home were Alice Okstad, and sons Jason, Daniel and Devin Weber of Gonvick.

I received a letter from Effie Byer who recently left with her husband, Burnell Byer to enjoy the balmy Texas weather for the winter months. Here's what Effie has to say...

"The Byers arrived at Llana Grande Park at Mercedes on Saturday afternoon. They had first visited brother Willie and Mabel Byers at Norwood on Tuesday, going on to spend Thanksgiving at Coon Rapids, IA, with daughter Elaine and Arnold Palmer, and also other friends in the area, before driving on to Omaha on Friday morning. Then son, Neil Vigstol took the wheel and we were free to enjoy the green wheat fields of the Plains States, the cattle and horses in the countryside, the wooded areas along the many rivers we crossed, and the usual scenery. We arrived in Harlingen where we visited at the Russell Vigstol home before coming to our home here in Mercedes. Neil remained in Harlingen and he and Russ visited us on Sunday and took us out to sea. The weather here is delightful and gets up around 80°. In spite of the drought the trees and flowers are green or blooming. Many friends welcomed us and we are fine."

Glad you had a good trip down!

Frances Schiefert visited on Sunday with her daughter, Connie and Joe Duka and sons, at St. Hilaire.

The 5th grade class honored their teacher, Dawn Helvorson, and her new daughter, Josie, when they came to visit them and their substitute teacher, Diane Gagner on Tuesday. Congratulations Dawn, Gary and Katie on that special little bundle.

Eleanore Hodgson and her daughter, JoAnn Winger of Cambridge were Tuesday luncheon guests of Edna Hyde. JoAnne came up to visit her sister, Beverly Audette of Viking, who has been hospitalized at Altru Hospital in Grand Forks. Best wishes Bev on a speedy recovery. Eleanor has spent many days at the hospital too and with Bev at her home at Viking.

On Sunday, Lloyd and Wavell Sorenson were dinner guests of cousins, Trudy and Larry Nelson, as were Cheryl Hongen, Chloe and Chandler, Debbie Kramer, Howard and Kay Siebert, Billy, Ron, David, Kimberly and Lisa, Valerie and Leroy Phillips, Joyce Crapp, and Lois Pullar.

Fern and Floyd Hesse spent Wednesday and Thursday in Moorhead getting acquainted with their new granddaughter Cierra Olson, and her family.

The two afternoon circles of Immanuel had their joint Bible studies at the church basement on Thursday afternoon with Rev. Johnson in charge of the lesson. Following adjournment, they enjoyed a potluck luncheon and then met to plan their activities for the year 2000.

Sympathy goes out to the family of Danny Keefe whose funeral was December 9 at St. Bernard's Church in Thief River Falls. Danny and his wife owned and operated the local butcher shop here in our town for a number of years.

Eddie Eskell visited Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Tom Houtari, a resident at Pioneer Care Center at Erskine, and also with other friends who are there at the Care Center.

TRF woman wins $5,000 Gopher 5 lottery prize

Annette Swanson of Thief River Falls won $5,000 playing the Minnesota State Lottery's Gopher 5 game. Swanson claimed her prize October 22. She purchased the winning ticket at Pennington Square in Thief River Falls.

Gopher 5 offers players six ways to win. Players can pick five of their own numbers from 1 to 42 or take a quick-pick. Matching four of five numbers plus the Bonus Ball pays out $5,000. To win the jackpot, which starts at $100,000 and grows until someone wins it, players must match the first five numbers drawn.

Elks Exalted Ruler Steve Stone recently presented Wendy Mattson of Christmas in Pennington County with a check in the amount of $435.20, the proceeds from a spaghetti supper held on December 2. The event also netted approximately 100 pounds of canned goods for the Thief River Falls Area Food Shelf.

LHS May be New School on the Block in 2000

By Crystal McKee

Lincoln High School is seriously considering changing from a six period school day to a four period day next year. This four period day format is often called a block schedule. The block schedule is comprised of four 85 minute classes instead of six 55 minute classes each day. Students on the block schedule would have 10 minutes in between classes and 30-35 minute lunch periods. Classes that used to be offered all year will now be offered for one semester. Classes that would be one semester will now be one quarter.

Block scheduling has many positive factors. Students will be able to take 32 credits in their four years of high school as compared to 24 credits presently. New courses will be added to our curriculum. Examples of potential new courses being considered include Advanced Placement (A.P.) American History, A.P. Calculus, A.P. Biology, Microbiology, Human Anatomy, German for Travelers and Spain: Fact and Fiction, Composition 10, and Tech Art. Students will be taking four to five classes at one time instead of six or seven. Other positive factors include improvements in school climate, more one-on-one student/teacher contact, and additional uninterrupted time to work on hands-on activities, research projects and experiments.

A block schedule will present challenges that need to be addressed. The most obvious change for teachers and students is adjusting to longer classes. Teachers will need to adjust their teaching style to include a variety of activities in each class period. For ex-

Girls' Hockey Ushers in a New Tradition

By Amber Gilbertson

The '99-00 girls' hockey season is underway. This season brings new competition and new milestones. There will be many new teams for the Prowlers to face off against this year. It also brings a new sense of pride to Lincoln High School. Now it has joined the many other schools jumping on the bandwagon for girls' hockey. The team is filled with many talented athletes ready to compete.

Mr. Hunt is New Principal at LHS

Mr. Hunt with his secretary, Nancy Harbott.

Mr. Hunt, former Dean of Students, has been named the new principal at Lincoln. Mr. Hunt replaced Mr. Soine when he retired last year. Mr. Hunt was named acting principal and then named permanent principal in November.

Mr. Hunt has been at Lincoln for 19 years. He taught Sales and Marketing for 11 years and served as Dean of Students for eight years. He earned his business degree from Gonzaga University. He then received his teaching degree from Montana State University.

One of Mr. Hunt's main goals as principal is to provide as safe environment for the students and staff. He also wants Lincoln to run smoothly and effectively.

"I don't mind being principal," Mr. Hunt said, "as long as I am still involved with the students."

$Merry Christmas$

By Krystol Wheeler

Have you ever asked a child what Christmas was? Most likely their response will include something along the lines of Santa and presents.

The fact is Christmas is too commercialized. the idea of running out and expressing our greed, both as children and as parents, is despicable. The image of families gathering for the holidays is quickly deminishing into the routine package in the mail. However, when these same relatives visit, the appreciation of them being there depends on the size and value of the gift.

When points like this are brought up to people, they will immeditaly place blame on parents, or they will point fingers at the industries that make most of their money off of Christmas merchendice. When, infact, the blame falls on society. Yes, you, me, the retail store that proudly claims some here-to-get toy is sold there. The parents that spoil their kids by purchasing more and more for them each year. We all contribute in one way or another. Could this be why the saying 'Tis the season to be jolly doesn't hold as much meaning as it used to.

In truth there is no way to solve this problem. There will always be someone trying to make money. There will always be kids who want something they saw in a shop window, or parents, who will always try to out-do last years gift. The only real way to try to win this battle is to start off small. Be thankful for what you have, not what you want, and for who you have in your life. After all Christmas only comes but once a year.

From The Principal's Desk

By Mr. Hunt

As I approach a new beginning as Principal at Lincoln High School, I would like to take this opportunity to thank you. To all, it constitutes a pledge of continued efforts to provide the best possible education for our students.

Over the years, the spirit and tradition that is our school, has played a key role in shaping the educational experience. Each class profits from the example of those who have gone before them. Ours has been a tradition of students committed to the belief of doing their best. These are important years, and it is reassuring to work with young people who see a challenge in their potential.

If there is anything I can do to help you, please do not hesitate to ask me.

Be Good- Be Happy-

Sincerely,

Mr. Hunt

Off The Wall

By Matt Lotovsky

By now, all of us know about the pending Y2K problem. Well, maybe not Amish people, but everyone else knows. We all know what could happen, but we still do not know for sure what will happen. So, what will actually happen? I mean, come on. Someone has to know, right? I asked many people around Lincoln High School what they thought would happen, figuring someone had to know. That was my first mistake. There were a lot of wild theories, many involving penguins and radishes (I don't see the connection either), and even more non-wild theories. The majority believed that people were blowing this way out of proportion and that it won't be as bad as people think; however, some muy take advantage of the situation (short blackouts, etc.) and go on a looting spree. Blackout or not, you have to figure there's going to be looting either way on New Year's Eve, so what's all the fuss about? Sure, computer systems may shut down for awhile, but they can't be out that long. A bunch of computer programmers will just have to quit playing checkers over the internet for awhile and get things going again. In the meantime, we won't have to go to work or school. If you ask me, this whole Y2K shenanigans is a blessing... unless bad things happen, in which case it's not a blessing.

Mrs. Grovum is new Dean of Students at LHS

By Leslie Kraft

Mrs. Grovum has been named the new Dean of Students at Lincoln. She has replaced Mr. Hunt, who was recently named principal. As the new Dean of Students, Mrs. Grovum has many responsibilities. She keeps track of attendance, monitors the lunch room and hallways, evaluates teachers, and works with the staff.

She has many goals for the school year. One of her most important goals is to help students improve their attendance and decrease their tardies. In order to achieve this, she plans to talk with parents and students and to communicate with teachers. It seems to be working. So far Lincoln High students' attendance rate is at 95 percent.

Mrs. Grovum is well educated and traveled. She worked in Missouri for two years and in Goodridge, MN, for six years. She spent three years at the former Knox Elementary School as well. She has worked here at Lincoln as a special education instructor since 1987. Mrs. Grovum earned her bachelors degree in Elementary Education at Evangel Univeristy in Springfield, Missouri. She then earned her Masters degree at Moorhead State University.

Things have changed greatly since Mrs. Grovum was a student. "Students are under more pressure since I was in school," she said. "There are more classes offered, more freedom, and not enough respect shown in the hallways."

Boys' Basketball Team Aims to Improve

By Lisa McKercher

The '99-00 Prowler boys' basketball team will be fun to watch this year. They will employ a running transitioa style this season. The Prolwers will be led by returning lettermen Ben Myers, Brian Loe, Justia Skjerven, and Josh Gallagher. "We have a good group of seniors this year, and we have a good youager group to build upon," said Coach Johnsoa. He believes that, overall, they have a chance to be over .500 if all goes well for them.

Coach Troy Hanestad said, "Thief River Falls has a great hockey tradition, and with the girls this year we have the opportunity to write a page in history of TRF hockey. Work hard and enjoy being a part of the coolest game on ice." There are 22 games of the season. The first game was held on November 16. The girls played the Warroad Warriors and were defeated 6-1. Jennifer Rude scored the first goal of the season for the Prowlers. On November 19th, they played the International Falls Ponies and won 7-1. Steph Hoard, who is a freshman at Lincoln High School, got her first hat-trick of the season. Then on November 23, the Prowlers went head-to-head with Pequot Lakes and starting goalie for the Prowlers, Melissa Clark, who is a Junior at Lincoln, got her first shut out this season. The next game for the Prowlers were on fire as they burned the Cardinals 8-1. The Prowlers are led by Jennifer Gonsorowski and Lindsay Ehrenstrom, both seniors at Lincoln High School.

Prowler Boys' Hockey Team Seeks to Take One Step Further in '99-00

By John Sylvester

The Prowler boys' hockey team is looking good this year. They will be led by senior captains Brett Johnson, Brady Anderson, Casey Enge, and Mike Dowers. The Prowlers lost their top three lines last year to graduation, but the new forwards are fitting in nicely. The Prowlers also have back their defense and goal teading. They opened the season oa November 30, with a 7-1 loss to the always tough Roseau Rams. Then they face Warroad and St. Paul Johnson on the road before returning home to play Brainerd and Bemidji.

Choir director Darcy Reese prepares the choir for their Christmas concert.

Choir Headed to New York Again

By Jessica Knutson

Mrs. Reese, the choir director, will be taking 68 concert choir students on tour this April to New York City.

This will be the fourth time Mrs. Reese has been on tour in NY. "It takes a lot of time and effort to do what these kids are going to accomplish," states Reese. The students will be leaving early in the morning on the 13th of April and will return late on the 18th. They will be taking part in the U.S. Premier at Carnegie Hall. This group will also perform 25 minutes as prelude choir, a great honor. The students will also have time to do a little shopping and rehearse, rehearse, rehearse. This trip will cost about $1,900, plus whatever spending money students wish to bring. The students are required to fund raise $600 towards their trip/ They will be selling candy and gift wrap early on in the year, selling raffle tickets, and providing products in the two rummage sales that takes place at the Armory. The day the rules are broken is the day Reese tries to get them a flight back home. This flight is covered by a $800 check that each student submitted to Reese before leaving. If the checks aren't needed they are given back after the trip.

What these students will be expereineing will stay with them for the rest of their lives. It will be an opportunity of a lifetime to go to New York with some of their closest friends and sing in Carnegie Hall.

ample if a teacher is primarily a lecturer, they will not be able to lecture for 85 minutes. Likewise, students will find themselves to be attentive and need to work for 35 additional minutes in each class period. The specific curriculum in class will need to be adjusted to fit within the 85 minute block. The school day will be extended 15 minutes. If students are absent for a day, they will miss more class time. Graduation credits would increase to 29 credits from 22 credits and with the increase phased over a four year period.

While all programs at Lincoln will be affected, specific concerns in the changes in the language and music programs have been raised by students and parents. Some courses in these two areas will continue to be offered every day and others will meet every other day all year. An example of an alternating schedule involving both areas would involve a student taking choir, Monday, Wednesday, Friday, and Spanish Tuesday and Thursday, one week Spanish Monday, Wednesday, and Friday and choir Tuesday and Thursday the following week. This weekly alternating schedule would continue all year long. Students who take music or language classes on an alternating day bases will have other electives or required classes offered on the alternating days so they have a full schedule.

Lincoln's alternate schedule committee will present it's recommendation to the school board on December 13, 1999. This meeting will be held at 5 P.M., at the District Service Center. The public is invited to attend.

A Christmas Memory

By Beth Carpenter

It was a wonderful night that Christmas of 1989. I got everything I wanted. I ate so many ribs, I was stuffed. I couldn't get to sleep that night. All I wanted were the presents from Santa Claus. It was every kids' fantasy to see him "in the act", putting presents under the tree. So, I figured that since I was in such anticipation of waiting for Santa, that I might as well stay up and actually see Santa. That would be something awesome to tell my friends and actually not by lying.

So as the night went on I waited patiently in the dark and in silence, until the moment I heard Santa down by the tree. "Cling,cling,cling," I heard down stairs. Finally the moment of truth had arrived. It was time to see Santa in the flesh. I crept out my door, quietly down my squeaky stairs, and I stopped. Then I wondered, 'where is the red suit and hat? Where is the white beard on his face? Where are the black boots and the red nose?' Nowhere. All I saw was a big puffball of brown hair that was attached to my mother's skull. The skull that I wanted to beat in repeatedly for taking away my childhood dream of Santa Clause.

So I crept back upstairs to lie in bed and soak in all that had just happened. I was remembering all my other Christmas mornings and how special they were. Then I remembered they were all lies. There was no Santa Claus, just more "Christmas Eve leftover presents" from my parents. What a conspiracy.

To this day I still think of that Christmas of 1989. It was the day that changed me from a dumb kid to a non-gullible kid. I think that I grew up a little bit(between the tears and sobs) that night. And to this day I wish I hadn't.

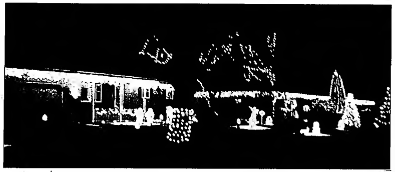
Christmas Lights are Shining



If Santa doesn't stop at homes on the 1300 block of North Arnold it won't be because he can't see them. Many residents put up elaborate Christmas lights this holiday season, but residents along this block really got into the holiday spirit.

◀ The home of Orville Schey at 723 North State, like many homes in Thief River Falls is brightly decorated. The long, warm fall made it possible for many residents to get outside and put up Christmas decorations. Schey has lived in Thief River Falls for six months. He moved to Thief River Falls from St. Paul.

Lights brighten the holidays

by Kathi Carlson
Times Reporter

If Santa doesn't stop at homes on the 1300 block of North Arnold it he won't because he can't see them. With bright lights and an assortment of other decorations, most of the houses in the neighborhood are festively decorated for the holiday season.

The home of Floyd and Arlene Erickson is no exception. Trendy and beautiful icicle lights line the rooftop. More lights accent trees and shrubs. Bright candles line the driveway, and other carefully placed yard ornaments include Santa and his reindeer, a snowman, an angel, Disney characters and more — so many that it's almost impossible to see everything in one pass.

As one would expect from viewing the outside of the house, the home's interior glows with holiday spirit also. A beautiful tree occupies their living room, and Santas from Arlene's vast collection are everywhere. Pine roping entwined with colored lights is wrapped around the railing leading to the home's lower level, highlighting the lighted creche that occupies a special place at the base of the stairway.

On Sunday evening baking smells complemented the sights found outside and inside the Erickson home. While Arlene thought that her holiday baking was complete, she'd run across "one more recipe" on Sunday afternoon and decided that she had to make it.

Many who have attended elementary school in Thief River Falls know Floyd, a 31-year employee of Thief River Falls School District 564. He was the long-time custodian at Washington Elementary School who now works at Challenger school. He's also a long-time member of the Pennington County fair board and gaming manager at the Elks. Prior her employment at Digi-Key five years ago, Arlene was the 14-year manager of Bergan Travel. Both are active league bowlers.

The Erickson built their comfortable home on what has remained a dead-end street in about 1972, and while it isn't large, it was big enough to raise their daughter and son, and it's just right for the two of them now.

Floyd says that there has been quite a bit of traffic in their neighborhood during the season as those out viewing the holiday light displays have discovered their street, and he delights in the fact that others are enjoying the results of his labor.

What casual passersby do not realize, however, is the driving force behind Floyd's outdoor decorating endeavors.

Seven years ago, Floyd and Arlene experienced every parent's worst nightmare when their 21-year-old son, Jason, was killed in an automobile accident.

Devastated by his loss, Floyd says that he didn't care much about anything for two or three years until one day when he made the conscious decision to channel his grief constructively.

He found comfort in his yard, creating beautiful flower beds during the growing season and the display of lights for the holidays. Clear white lights on a tree in the front yard were strung and are lit in Jason's memory.

Make reservations for Christmas dinner

Community Christmas Eve dinner will be served at the Evergreen Eating Emporium in Thief River Falls. Reservations are still being accepted.

Turkey, mashed potatoes and gravy, stuffing and all the fixings will be served at 5 p.m. at the Evergreen Eating Emporium on Christmas Eve, December 24. Reservations should be made in advance with the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce at 681-3720.

People who requested transportation to the Evergreen Eating Emporium will be picked up by a bus between 4 and 4:30 p.m.

You don't have to be from Thief River Falls to attend the Christmas Eve Dinner. The free meal is sponsored by many local merchants, but donations and a free-will offering will be accepted. At the conclusion of the event, any funds left beyond the cost of the meal and preparing the meal, are donated to charitable organizations and/or used for next year's meal. Donations can also be sent to the Community Christmas Eve Dinner, care of Thief River Falls City Hall, P.O. Box 528, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

The meal is also possible because of the contributions made by many people who volunteer their time. Each year, over 60 volunteers donate their time to do everything from prepare the meal to cleaning up afterwards.

Usually, about 122 meals are delivered to people who cannot get out to the meal site, and about 300 meals are prepared at the the Evergreen Eating Emporium. This year, organizers expect the number of meals served to be about the same.

To place a reservation contact the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce at 681-3720.

City property taxes explained at Truth in Taxation hearing in TRF

An explanation of property tax formulas was given when the Thief River Falls City Council held its Truth in Taxation hearing for the year 2000 Monday, December 6 .

There are six areas of change that will affect property taxes: property market value, state tax classification rates, city, county and/or school tax levy requests, a property tax classification, city overall market value or approval of an increased tax levy by referendum.

The city contracts with Pennington County for property assessment services. The assessor is responsible for establishing all property valuations, classifications, board of review hearing and assessment records.

Improvements to a home or business, assessor re-evaluations or state mandated market value adjustments are most likely to cause an increase in market value. State mandated adjustments may result when local sales ratios are substantially higher or lower than the assessor's current property valuation.

Tax classification rates are the percentages at which the tax capacity value is calculated. All Minnesota property tax calculations, except levy referendums, are based on tax capacity value, not market value. The Minnesota Property Tax System has a total of 33 different classification rates, but there are five basic types of property classifications: residential, seasonal cabins, residential non-homestead, commercial industrial and apartments.

Tax supported funds for the city include the general fund, debt service funds, capital project funds, special revenue funds.

City administrator Roger DeLap explained, a homeowner in Thief River Falls with a residence with a market value of $50,000 pays about $21.34 per month in property taxes. For this $21.34 residents receive police and fire protection, street maintenance and snow removal, arenas, parks, recreational programs, as well as other improvements and services.

"Which I believe is still a pretty good deal," said DeLap.

Border security tightened

U.S. Customs officials are stepping up inspections at U.S. borders. Because of the heightened alert, personnel have been added to border crossings in North Dakota and Minnesota.

According to Lowell Williams, area director for U.S. Customs in Northwest Minnesota and North Dakota, "Customs officials are always vigilant and during this period of heightened activity, officials are working at it harder than ever before." He added that they have added additional personnel.

Thief River Falls Police and Pennington County Sheriff's department officials have not been asked to take additional precautions.

There are 28 land ports of entry from the northeastern tip of Minnesota to Montana.

Because of tightened security, individuals who are planning to cross the border should plan additional time into their schedule.

Events leading to heightened security include the arrest of an Algerian national, who was allegedly trying to smuggle bomb-making materials into the U.S. U.S. embassies were already on high alert because of the possibility of terrorist attacks or Y2K glitches. In early December, the State Department issued a warning to citizens traveling abroad for the holidays. According to officials, they had credible information that terrorists are planning attacks specifically targeting American citizens during the period of time leading up to and through the beginning of the New Year and Ramadan events and celebrations.

Michael Rodahl's gingerbread house was one of many made from scratch at Lincoln High School last week in the Foods I class. More pictures of their projects are inside this edition.

COLORED INK

Lights brighten the holidays in TR Falls

Doors from the Erickson's dining area lead to an octagon-shaped deck that Floyd designed and had build with money he inherited following the death of his mother. Colored lights adorn backyard trees and the railing of the deck. Outside the door stands the four-foot tree that had belonged to his mother. Also decorated with colored lights, the tree's ornaments have been wired on so that the wind doesn't take them.

Appreciating the memorial lights and trees and understanding Floyd and Arlene's loss is the couple's daughter, Shari Holter, who lives with her husband, Darrin, and their children, almost nine-year-old Brittney and five-year-old Cole, in Thief River Falls. Arlene describes her daughter as her best friend, and she and Floyd both delight in their grandchildren.

Jason's Christmas stocking continues to hang among those of surviving family members, and pictures of the handsome young man are found beside those of his sister. His death left holes in the hearts of his mom, dad and sister that can never be filled, and the holiday season, Arlene says, is particularly difficult. A simple Christmas song, can evoke tears, and after she and Floyd enjoyed Brittney and Cole's Christmas program, Arlene says, " I would give anything if Jason could have seen those kids."

Had Floyd knew what was going to happen to his son on that fateful night, he told his wife, "I would have locked him in the closet." Of course, no one knew what was going to happen, and the Ericksons realize that the accident was just "one of those things" and that life, albeit forever changed, goes on.

Floyd comments that the long, extended fall made outdoor decorating more pleasant this year, and once the decorations were in place, he appreciated the timely snowfall that "dresses it up."

Gift buying for Floyd is easy these days as he plans to add to his outdoor display each year. The angel was a recent birthday gift, and he knows exactly what he wants in the future and where he's going to put it. Arlene says that while she would be hard pressed to find a single extension cord in the house, he probably has a hundred of them outside.

Young Cole, too, has ideas about what grandpa should add to his display next year. He recently spent the night at his grandparents' home and told Floyd that a Santa and his reindeer should be added to the top of the house. Of course, he's hoping that grandpa will need his help as the thought of working on a roof equals adventure for a five-year-old.

Theirs is only one of many homes on North Arnold that is all decked out for the holidays, and Floyd is quick to point out how much he appreciates the other homes and his neighbors who enjoy block parties and "look out for each other."

He tells of Kelly Krause, who along with friend Jim Van Schaick, hung lights in the middle of the night on the home of her grandparents, Ernest and Noella Delorme, to surprise them and add to the neighborhood display.

There's even a little good natured competition taking place on North Arnold. Greg and Susan Brekke live next door to the Ericksons and Floyd says that when he purchases something new to add to his yard, Greg does too, and that the two have fun bantering back and forth. Another neighbor lightheartedly expressed concern that there wouldn't be enough electricity left for him to run his appliances.

The warm feelings the Erickson have for their neighbors are obviously shared. Sue Brekke called The Times on Monday to say what great people they are and thank the newspaper in advance for featuring them.

As Santa makes his way around Thief River Falls this week he'll be sure to find the fine folks on North Arnold, guided by the lights that are symbolic of the star that led the shepherds to the stable in Bethlehem — lights that remind us of the promise and hope of Christmas.

Ben Schmitz, son of Gale and Carol Schmitz of Thief River Falls, was among the horticulture students at the University of Minnesota, Crookston (UMC) who prepared the poinsettia crop at the college this fall.

WSA reschedules postponed races

The World Snowmobile Association (WSA) has announced two early season races postponed due to weather, have been rescheduled and a third event has a tentative date.

The Castle Racing/HJC Michigan Challenge, originally scheduled as the second round of the Snocross Worldwide Championship, will now be the tour's seventh stop as it has been rescheduled for the March 4-5, 2000 weekend at the Otsego County Fairgrounds in Gaylord, WI.

Similarly, the Grand Casino International Race of Champions at the Crow Wing County Fairgrounds in Brainerd, scheduled as the second round of the Minnesota Regional Snocross Championship, will now be the series' third stop and will run the weekend of February 12-13, 2000.

Finally, the race originally set at the Minnesota Regional Snocross Championship opener, the Hilltop Sports/Polaris Classic at the exciting Cutsforth Moto Park near Ruttger's Sugar Lake Lodge in Grand Rapids, has been tentatively rescheduled as the series' fourth round on the weekend of February 19-20, 2000.

"Even though there weren't adequate conditions and we simply had to postpone those events, we were determined to find replacement dates from the outset," according to WSA Publicity Director Greg Creamer. "As we said before, we feel a tremendous responsibility to our fans, competitors and sponsors to run all the races we schedule. We are therefore very pleased to be able to announce these dates."

Local student helps produce poinsettia crop

Christmas began in September for Ben Schmitz of Thief River Falls, a horticulture student at the University of Minnesota, Crookston (UMC).

The commercial floriculture crops class began working with the poinsettia crop at the beginning of fall semester. Rooted cuttings from a specialized propagator arrived in early August and were potted the first week of class by the students.

In October the students started the process of getting the plants to bloom in time for Christmas. Students work in teams of two to cover the plants at 4 p.m. and uncover them at 8 a.m. each day, including weekends.

Poinsettias will form colored bracts only if the length of days and nights are just right, according to Roger Wagner, associate professor of horticulture in the agricultural management division and class instructor.

By mid-December the poinsettias are ready for sale.

"The poinsettia really doesn't have a bloom like a lily. Instead, the colorful red, pink or white petals are modified leaves known as bracts. The real blooms are those small yellowish clusters in the center," Wagner said.

UMC's horticulture program acquaints students with producing plants for a specific date, a very necessary skill for employment in a green house or garden center operation. Timing is very important.

As class members think about timing, they realize that is time to move on to the Easter season. While the poinsettia plants are still in the Green House, they begin the process of forcing Easter lilies. During the same time period, they grow pot mums, cineraria, calceolaria and a variety of cut flowers.

Although Wagner is the instructor, this class operates in the hands of the students. Suggestions are given on what to do, but doing it is the responsibility of the students. Wagner often lets problems develop to see how the students handle them. This class demands hard work and dedication from all class members working as a team seeking a common goal, growing the perfect poinsettia. Through this class, Wagner gets to know each student as an individual and can readily recommend graduates of his program to future employers.

For more information on UMC's horticulture program, contact the horticulture department at 218-281-8117 or check our UMC page at www.crk.umn.edu.

Little Brother/Little Sister program involves the gift of time

Long-time volunteer, Carol Johnson, was recently honored for her contributions to the program

By Kathi Carlson
Times Reporter

In this season of gift giving, it's important to remember that many of life's most precious gifts can't be purchased with money.

Children who participate in the Little Brother/Little Sister program are recipients of those gifts as adult volunteers serve as their mentors and role models, giving youth the gift of their time.

Friendships are formed as adults help young people increase their self-esteem, reach their highest potential and see themselves as having happy and successful futures.

For 13 years the Little Brother/Little Sister program in Pennington county has benefitted from the volunteer efforts of Carol Johnson, and recently her work paid an extra dividend in the form of a $1,000 contribution to the program.

Carol was one of 24 Norwest team managers in Minnesota recently honored by the Wells Fargo Volunteer Service Award program. In its 26th year, the program recognizes the volunteer work of team members like Carol who give an extraordinary amount of their time and talents in serving others in their communities. Norwest and Wells Fargo merged a year ago.

Each year Wells Fargo contributes $250,000 to organizations across the country in honor of 111 volunteer award winners. Selected from more than 900 team member nominations, there are 100 honorable mention winners, receiving $1,000 for each organization. 10 finalists winning $10,000 and one $50,000 grand prize winner.

"The nice part of the award is it gives public recognition to people who quietly do the work that gives our community its strength and character," says Lenae Iverson, president of Norwest Bank in Thief River Falls where Carol was employed as consumer banking manager.

Carol's involvement with the Little Brother/Little Sister program goes all the way back to the program's beginning in 1986.

She was instrumental in researching and developing the program and has since served on its advisory board and for several years as the advisory board's chairman.

The Little Brother/Little Sister Program in Pennington County is modeled after the Big Brother/Big Sister program, is a mentoring program which was established to connect disadvantaged youth with stable, caring, responsible and positive adult role models who are willing to spend time with the young people on a regular basis. The program was created to help prevent these disadvantaged youth from developing further "at-risk" behaviors.

Multiple statistics show that connectedness with a positive role model is a protective factor in shielding youth from emotional distress, suicidal thoughts and attempts, violence perpetration, cigarette, alcohol and marijuana use and early sexual involvement and pregnancy.

One such mentoring program, after participating in a study conducted by a national research firm, reported the following findings concerning the youth in their program when compared to their peers: The youth were 46 percent less likely to start using drugs and 27 percent less likely to start drinking; 52 percent less likely to skip a day of school and 37 percent less likely to skip a class. The youth not only skipped school less but also earned slightly higher grades and felt slightly better about how they were doing in school. They were one-third less likely to hit someone. They were also more trusting of their parents or guardians, less likely to lie to them and felt more supported and less criticized by their peers and friends.

During her 13-year involvement with the Little Brother/Little Sister program, Carol Johnson has been, in many ways, the foundation of the program, serving as a strong advisor and advocate and always a willing volunteer when needed for a special committee. Over the years, hundreds of children have been positively affected by Carol's contributions to the program.

Currently, one young woman benefits from the special benefits of her friendship and mentoring as Carol's Little Sister. The relationship began eight years ago, and Carol's Little Sister is now 13 years old.

With Carol, the youth has had the opportunity to enjoy simple activities like carving a Jack o' lantern or flying a kite as well as special activities such as weekend camping trips.

On the form nominating Carol for the Wells Fargo award, Norwest President Lenae Iverson wrote, "Carol has a very special quality I have never seen in an adult. She can get down on a child's level and forget all self needs at that point. She has a very special, loving relationship with her husband, which allows her to express herself when giving to others. . ."

It was when Carol and her husband, Curt, were raising their own children and were involved in their activities that she realized the impact their involvement had on the children. She also realized that not all children had the benefit of such involvement and that there was no program in the community that filled the need. It was then that she helped organize the Little Brother/Little Sister Program in Pennington county.

In the years since Carol became involved in the program, there have been many changes in her life. She and Curt's children, Mark, Jeff and Sheryl, have grown up. Mark and Jeff are married and have families, including four grandchildren for Carol and Curt to enjoy, and Sheryl lives in an apartment in Thief River Falls. After 40 years, Carol retired from Norwest Bank on August 15 and describes retirement as "wonderful."

Her Little Sister, she says, along with Curt's Little Brother, are like members of the family. She also notes that they are happy to have the young people's activities to be involved in and that it helped fill the void that was left when their own children grew up and left home.

Currently, about 50 children in Pennington county benefit from the program that Carol Johnson helped organize. More children are on a list, waiting for an adult like Carol to volunteer to be a Big Brother or Big Sister and experience the joy of giving the gift of his or her time.

For more information about the Little Brother/Little Sister Program in Pennington County, call Yvonne Ode, program coordinator, at 681-8740.

Becoming a Little Brother/ Little Sister Program Mentor

Six questions to ask yourself

1. Will I have enough time? When you become a Little Brother/Little Sister mentor, you're asked to make a one-year commitment to spend an average of three to four hours a week with your Little Brother or Little Sister. What would you normally be doing this week? Washing your car? Going to a ball game, a movie or the park? Baking a batch of cookies? Spending time outside or just puttering around the house? As the mentor of a little brother or little sister you could be doing these same things, only with a young boy or girl, making a positive difference in his or her life.
2. How will I know what to do? Since mentors are matched with Little Brothers or Sisters according to their common interests, being a mentor is doing what comes naturally. That's the whole idea — being a friend.
3. I've never worked with kids before. What do I have to offer? Yourself. We all have strengths and weaknesses, and matching process of the program is designed to match your strengths with the needs of a young boy or girl.
4. I'm interested, but isn't there some way I could find out more before I decide? Yes. Call Director Yvonne Ode in the Community Education Department at School District 564. She will happy to discuss the opportunities the program has to offer, answer any questions you have and give you more details about becoming a Little Brother/Little Sister mentor.
5. Will it really make a difference? Yes. For several years, mentors have helped countless young boys and girls choose positive, productive courses of action. Research shows that 97 percent of all youth served in one-on-one relationships have benefitted through such programs.
6. Am I really the kind of person you're looking for? Yes! To one of the kids on the Little Brother/Little Sister waiting list, you'd make a great mentor. Call today!

Carol Johnson (center) was recently recognized at a School District 564 board of education meeting for the award she received from Wells Fargo for her involvement in the Little Brother/Little Sister Program in Pennington County. In Johnson's honor, Wells Fargo donated $1,000 to the program. Lenae Iverson, president of Norwest Bank, (right) nominated Carol for the award, and Yvonne Ode, director of the Little Brother/Little Sister program, accepted the donation. Carol was one of the organizers of the program and has served as a mentor to a Little Sister for the past eight years. After 40 years, she retired from Norwest Bank on August 15.

Glaucoma's lack of symptoms presents challenge

With lost eyesight from glaucoma directly affecting the quality of life, health care providers are taking a more active role in encouraging their patients to get regular dilated eye exams.

Dilated eye exams should be made a routine part of health maintenance. Glaucoma has no early warning signs of possible vision loss. So by the time people realize they are losing vision, the vision they have already lost is gone forever. That is why those at risk need to get regular dilated eye examinations to help detect this blinding eye disease.

January is Glaucoma Awareness Month, and the Northwest Area Agency on Aging, along with the National Eye Institute (NEI) and 32 other organizations, are highlighting the importance of good vision and eye care.

A dilated eye exam, in which drops are placed in the eye to dilate the pupils, is the best way to detect glaucoma. It allows the eye care professional to obtain a better view of the eye's optic nerve to look for early signs of glaucoma. With treatment, glaucoma usually can be controlled and remaining vision can be protected.

A free brochure, "Don't Lose Sight of Glaucoma," is available by writing to Glaucoma, 2020 Vision Place, Bethesda, MD, 20892-3655.

For more information contact the Northwest Area Agency on Aging at 1-800-333-2433 Senior LinkAge Line.

...The True Meaning of Christmas

The week before Christmas I had a visitor. This is how it happened...

I had just finished the household chores for the night and was preparing to go to bed when I heard a noise in the front of the house. I opened the door to the front room, and, to my surprise, Santa himself stood there.

"What are you doing here?" I started to ask. But the words choked in my throat as I saw Santa had tears in his eyes. His usual smile was gone, and gone was the jolly, happy fellow we all know. His answer to me was a simple statement, "Teach the children." I was puzzled. What did he mean?

He anticipated my question. With one quick movement he brought forth a large bag he had hidden behind him. As I stood, bewildered, Santa said, "Teach the children. Teach them the old meaning of Christmas, the meaning that has been forgotten."

He reached into his bag and pulled out a stately fir tree and placed it in the corner by the fireplace. "Teach the children that the pure green branches of the fir tree remain colorful all year round, showing that the everlasting hope of mankind never fades, even in the cold desolation of winter. Teach them too that the needles of the fir tree all point heavenward, making it a symbol of man's thoughts turning toward heaven at the blessed time of Christmas."

He reached into his bag and pulled out a lighted candle, which he placed on a branch of the tree. "Teach the children that the light of the candle reminds us that Christ is the light of the world, and each time we see this light we are to be reminded of Him."

Again he reached into his bag. He removed a lovely green wreath decorated with red and gold ribbons. "Teach the children that the circle of the wreath symbolizes the real nature of love. Real love never ceases. Like the wreath, it is one continuous round of love we give to and receive from one another." He placed the wreath on the tree.

Then from his bag he drew forth a small ornament of himself, which he hung on the tree. "Teach the children that I, Santa Claus, am a symbol of the generosity and good will of Christmas. Teach them that I represent the magic and enchantment of Christmas, as well as its whimsy, light-heartedness and fancy."

Then he placed his hand into his bug and drew out a lovely green holly leaf with red berries. As he placed it in a special spot on the tree, he said, "Teach the children that the holly represents life everlasting. It is a symbol of the crown of thorns worn by the Savior at his crucifixion, and the red holly berries stand for the blood He shed for us."

He reached into his bag and drew out a simple candy cane and hung it on the tree. "Tell the children that this and all candy canes are symbols of the crooks carried by the shepherds who came to see the baby Jesus. The crook helps to herd the straying sheep back to the flock and it is a symbol that we are the shepherds of our brothers and sisters."

I heard a soft tinkling as Santa brought forth a little bell from the bag. "Teach the children that the bell is a symbol of guidance and return. As lost sheep are found by the sound of the bell, so should each ringing of the bell bring mankind to Jesus."

The bag was nearly empty now, but Santa reached in and plucked out a small angel ornament. "Teach the children that it was angels who first told the glorious news of Jesus' birth. The angels sang 'Glory to God in the highest, and peace and good will toward men,' so that everyone would know that the Savior was born." He hung the angel ornament near the top of the tree.

Then he reached into the bottom of the bag and pulled out a brilliant star and placed it at the very top of the tree. "Teach the children that the star was the heavenly sign of promises long ago. God promised a Savior for the world, and the star that shown in the sky the night that Jesus was born was the sign of fulfillment of that promise. Each time we see a star, we should remember that God keeps his promises."

I thought the bag was surely empty by now, but then Santa opened it a little wider and reached to the very bottom. He drew out a lovely wrapped Christmas gift, saying, "Teach the children that God loved us so much that he gave the world the best gift ever, His only begotten Son. Teach the children that even kings bowed before the baby Jesus and presented him with precious gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh. Teach them that at Christmas everyone should give gifts to one another just as the kings gave gifts to celebrate the birth of Jesus." He carefully laid the beautiful gift under the tree.

Then Santa stood back, placed his hands on his hips and gazed at the fir tree. He was pleased. I saw that the twinkle was back in his eyes.

Then he turned to me and said, "Remember, teach the children the true meaning of Christmas and do not make me the center of the holiday. I am but a humble servant of the One who is the true meaning of Christmas, and I bow down to worship Him."

Have a blessed and meaningful Christmas celebration.

This story originated as another one of those mysterious messages that appears on my computer now and then. I took the original message and made quite a few changes to it to come up with what you have just read. Of course the author of the original piece is unknown, as is often the case, so I can't thank him or her. However, I like to think that Santa himself may have had a hand in writing the story. What do you think? -SL

The glossy news magazines are busy handing out their awards for the century. Who were the most important people? Who did the most good? Who was the most evil?

When the pompously self-confident editors gravely declare their findings, they will likely announce that Stalin and Hitler were very bad and that Roosevelt and Churchill were very good.

Having thus given their benediction to the century, they will hustle back to the more profitable business of sensationalizing the latest school shooting.

Nobody is even trying to name a person of the millennium. That would require a knowledge of history, and the results would bore the average magazine buyer. Who might it be: Martin Luther? Thomas Jefferson? J. S. Bach? Jesse Ventura?

Let us open up a new and, I think, more interesting debate: What was the most significant invention of the last millennium? What new gadget did the most to change people's lives?

Many would nominate the printing press. Before printing, after all, documents had to be copied by hand by monks in monasteries. If "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" had been written in 1293, the monks would have refused to copy it.

Without the printing press, Luther might have been easily silenced, and without Lutheranism, the development of the hot dish would have been set back centuries.

Some say antibiotics and pharmaceuticals are the most important inventions. We no longer die of sore throats gone wild. Aspirin and its offshoots have dulled the headaches caused by other modern gadgets.

The gas engine changed things dramatically. Churchill figured it made the world 'uglier,' and he's right. But without the gas engine, the Schwan man would still be riding a horse. Going to town for milk would be such a problem that we'd probably just keep a cow.

But to me, you can split the last thousand years in two with the invention of one simple gadget: The telegraph. Before the telegraph, news big and small moved at a snail's pace. It took months for news from New York to get to Los Angeles. It took six weeks for news to travel across the Atlantic.

After the telegraph, news moved instantly. Never more would distant battles be fought weeks after the peace treaty was signed in Paris.

More ominous for us regular people, the telegraph started us down the road of instant and constant communication. In the old days, moving across the ocean meant getting away from home. In fact, going to town for a bag of flour meant getting away from home.

Today, we have email. We have cell phones. We have pagers. We have a pretty effective post office. If somebody wants to find you, they will.

And it all started with the telegraph, which sliced the time it took for news to travel from months to seconds. No invention changed lives and altered events so completely and so suddenly.

Deer Park Garden Club holds holiday party December 13

The Deer Park Garden Club Christmas party was held on December 13 at the Brown House in Goodridge.

The traditional sit-down noon luncheon was furnished by hostess Norma Hanson. Arlene Prestebak offered table grace, and members enjoyed exchanging handmade Christmas tree ornaments.

Members present were Ethel Wiseth, Ruth Liedberg, Deloris Bendickson, Helen Chervestad, Arlene Prestebak, Willa Prestegaard, Norma Hanson and Susie Gunderson. Robert Flaten and Cheyenne and Shelby Gunderson were guests.

A tour of the Brown House was enjoyed. The house, built in 1914-15, was donated to the Goodridge Area Historical Society by the Brown family. Dr. David M. Brown was the superintendent of the Goodridge school for 25 years. The tree on the main floor of the house was decorated in Victorian style, and an upstairs tree was decorated by Goodridge third graders. The two-story house is one of the few original homes left in Goodridge.

The Deer Park Garden Club will not meet in January or February and will resume its usual meetings in the spring.

ACTIVITIES
Songs and Such

What would Christmas lights say if they could talk? They'd sing this happy song.

We Are Christmas Lights
(Tune: Jingle Bells)

We are Christmas lights,
And you know it's true
We blink red and green
And sometimes white and blue!
We decorate your tree
To make your spirits bright.
Just look at all our colors when we Sparkle every night!
Chorus:
We blink red; we blink green;
We blink white and blue!
Yes, we blink at Christmastime;
We do it just for you!
Oh, we blink red; we blink green;
We blink white and blue!
Have a Merry Christmas and a
Happy New Year, too!

PARENTING TIPS
Happy New Year

The start of a new year often finds us taking stock of our lives, asking ourselves how things are going for us. This should lead us to try to improve on some of our weaknesses and to feel good about our strengths.

New Years resolutions can be a way of helping us keep on track. Here are some you may want to try:

- I will allow myself room for growth and change because every parent makes mistakes.
- I will try to establish firm and reasonable guidelines for my children.
- I will try to show my children that they are capable by not doing for them what they are capable of doing for themselves.
- I will try to "catch them doing something right" every day and tell them I appreciate what they are doing.
- I will provide myself with frequent outings and freedom from the responsibilities of parenting so as to "recharge my batteries."

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk with your child about what they have "done right." Let them know you appreciate their cooperation, pleasant attitude and help. Also let them know you love them just because they exist and not only for what they do.

ON THE OTHER HAND

Heidi Young, Lincoln High School

This past Sunday, I spent two hours ringing the bell for the Salvation Army at a retail store. As I shook my bell, numerous shoppers bustled by, glanced over in my direction, and scurried on without adding to the shiny red bin. Most people seemed too focused on their own shopping concerns to give to the needy organization. Many marched by, while others gave their spare quarters and dimes generously. Once or twice, a small child would come hobbling up to me and proudly drop the two pennies he or she had, into the red bin. The smile and unselfishness they had to offer truly made the spirit of the holiday season come alive. Watching those adorable kids and their innocent smiles made me look back on my childhood years, and that helped me develop the true meaning of Christmas.

Waking up, I excitedly lifted my small eight-year-old head off the pillow. Jumping out a bed, I ran anxiously downstairs and gawked at the beautifully wrapped presents that Santa had left for me under the Christmas tree. After investigating each package carefully and giving it the shake-and-smell test, I bounced up the stairs to my parents bedroom. Restlessly, I shook them until, moaning and groaning they chuckled at me and climbed, hesitantly, out of bed.

Christmas seemed to be the only morning of the year that I would get up early...and willingly at that...

After waking my parents, my next stop was my sister's room. I tickled her until she'd had enough and finally gave into my incessant pleas. Unfortunately for me, mom and dad wouldn't let me dig into my presents until the morning coffee was made...incidentally, this went by very slowly. After waiting, impatiently, the coffeepot was finally filled, and it was time to rip into my first present of the year.

More than anything, the excitement and anticipation of those few, precious moments, were more important to me than what would actually be inside the package. For 11 long months, I waited patiently for Santa to come with his long-overdue rewards. I behaved well for a whole year just so Santa and his little elves wouldn't put a lump of coal in my stocking. No matter what the package contained, I knew I would love the present I received. The contents didn't hold any significance to me...it was the beloved, long awaited moments before shredding the package open that held the significance...

With a sudden burst and a quick flick of my wrist, the wrapping paper flew off the package. I couldn't believe my eyes. The, one thing that I had wanted for the longest time, a Skipper doll. I held the little palm of my hands. After gazing at my brand new Skipper doll, I set her down and placed the green shiny ribbon on top of my head.

A year or so later, a new doll, Barbie, replaced Skipper. Barbie was even better than my other one had been. Naturally, the doll was replaced, but the memory of that joyful Christmas morning is a moment that will remain with me for the rest of my life.

Every year, there are thousands of children around the nation who don't receive any presents for Christmas because, for some reason or another, their parents don't have enough money. From donations to the Salvation Army, hundreds of children will have the same opportunities as the rest of us do for a happy, joyful holiday season. At times, I forget how important helping those in need is. It's the little things, like seeing small children donate the ever-so-precious quarter they have, that help warm my heart and aid me in remembering those in need. I realize that the holidays are an extremely busy time of year, and for many people finances get even tighter. However you don't have to look far to find someone in a worse situation. With this in mind, I encourage people to give their spare quarters and dimes to the smiling volunteers around Thief River Falls. Not only will they feel good about what they have done, but it will also make some child in our area have a brighter Christmas.

Great weekend of racing held in Baudette

F.A.N.S. (First American North Star Racing) and North Star Racing joined forces to throw together an Outlaw race this past weekend in Baudette. With the help of the Lake of the Woods Drifters Snowmobile club and Lake of the Woods Tourism, racers had a great weekend.

Over 60 racers took part in the last minute race. With all the cancellations due to the lack of snow, drivers were getting "desperate" for somewhere to test their sleds, and the Baudette community provided the place.

Paul English and Jerry Erickson would like to thank all of the volunteers and workers who helped make this weekend all come together. Without the willingness of our workers, this race would not have happened and the racers all greatly appreciate you.

Thief River Falls girls basketball team is 7-1...

Prowlers win title at NCTC

A six-game winning streak and a title at the fifth annual Northland Community and Technical College/KTRF/Pepsi Invitational highlighted the 1999 portion of the 1999-2000 season for the Thief River Falls girls high school basketball team.

The Prowlers head into a holiday break with a 7-1 record following wins over Tri-County, Stephen-Argyle and Badger/Greenbush-Middle River in the tournament at Northland that was completed Friday.

Sophomore Chelsea Haviland was named the tournament's most valuable player and was joined on the all-tournament team by Ayla Donlin as the Prowlers beat the Wildcats 49-38 in the Tuesday quarterfinals, handled the Storm 56-33 in the Thursday semifinals and rolled over the Gators 57-27 in the title game the next night.

"Tri-County came out with a 2-3 zone," explained Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe. "It's the first time we faced a zone this year, and we struggled with our half-court game. We finally got our transition game going in the third quarter to open up a lead."

Erika Hudson scored 15 points, Donlin 12 and Haviland 11 in the Thief River Falls win over Tri-County. The Wildcats stayed close – they played the Prowlers to a 10-10 first quarter tie and trailed just 19-16 and 31-27 at the next two stops – behind a 15-point game from Alton Hanson.

Hudson followed with a 14-point effort against Stephen-Argyle, while Donlin scored 11 and Sara Jensen had 10 for the Prowlers, who led at the quarter breaks 15-9, 30-18 and 45-24. Abbey Bergeron led the Storm with 12 points.

"We played very well against Stephen-Argyle," noted Loe. "I thought we put together a complete game. Offensively we moved the ball well and got some good looks. We really pushed the ball up the floor well. Our post people (Meghan Nelson, Jensen) did a nice job defensively."

Haviland clinched the MVP award with a 17-point game against the Gators as the Prowlers jumped out to a 16-6 first quarter lead, opened up a 30-13 halftime spread and had a 43-18 third quarter cushion. Donlin and Jensen joined Haviland in double figures with 14 and 10 points, respectively.

"I was pleasantly surprised," said Loe, who didn't expect a 30-point victory over a team the Prowlers beat 44-35 to begin their current win streak. "The girls worked extremely hard on," he explained. "Our guards put a lot of good pressure on their guards, and our post people did a fantastic job. We didn't give them many opportunities to get a good look at the basket."

The Prowlers turned in a 59 percent 27-for-46 shooting performance from the field in the title game. The Gators, meanwhile had a tough 36 percent 10-for-28 shooting night. All of the Thief River Falls offense came from the field since the winners were 0-for-1 at the free throw line. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River made 7 of 10 free throw attempts. The Prowlers outrebounded the Gators 22-17.

It was the second straight title for the Prowlers, who beat Stephen-Argyle 47-34 in the 1998 finals.

Larimore wrestlers register 52-28 dual win over Prowlers

First Thief River Falls dual of the 1999-2000 high school wrestling season didn't produce the results head coach Rick Yanke was anticipating – a 52-28 Thursday loss at Larimore, ND.

"I thought our team was ready to wrestle," said Yanke. "We had some excellent practices in the last two weeks, with guys working hard and using correct technique. Quite a few wrestlers were doing morning workouts, alternating between the wrestling room and the Franklin pool. But when we got on the mat, it was like everything we worked on got erased."

The Prowlers' best efforts, according to Yanke, came from Colt Bergeron at 103 pounds and Adam Lian, a seventh grader making his varsity debut at 135.

"Adam had to wrestle a tough junior," pointed out Yanke. "He refused to be pinned. That takes guts – some of our older guys should learn from it."

It was the second outing of the year for the Prowlers, who opened the schedule at the Dec. 4 Wadena-Deer Creek Invitational. A Tuesday (Dec. 21) dual against Warren-Alvarado-Oslo marked Thief River Falls' debut at home, where junior varsity matches start at 6 p.m. and varsity action begins at 7.

Thief River Falls girls face early deficit, but rally for win over RLF

Red Lake Falls enjoyed some early offensive success before Thief River Falls adjusted defensively and emerged with a 50-47 girls high basketball win in a Saturday, Dec. 11 match-up.

The Eagles started the game with an 11-2 run and held on to a 13-9 lead at the first quarter break. The host Prowlers went ahead 25-22 at halftime and maintained a 40-36 edge at the end of the third quarter.

"They're a good team," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe. "They came out and set some good picks on offense at the start and we had trouble getting to the shooter. But we made some adjustments and did a good job defensively after that. It was a good game."

Sara Jensen of the Prowlers and Jenny Weiss of the Eagles shared game-high scoring honors with 16 points each.

Both teams shot well, with Thief River Falls going 19-for-39 from the field (49 percent), while Red Lake Falls hit 20 of 39 (51 percent). The Prowlers were 12-for-17 at the free throw line, where the Eagles went 6-for-10. The winners finished with a 24-18 rebound edge, but also had more turnovers, 13-12.

Huskies out-defense Eagles

Defense has dominated two early-season boys high school basketball encounters between neighboring rivals Goodridge and Grygla-Gatzke. The Eagles won 39-38 when they met in the Friday semifinals of the Northland Community and Technical College/KTRF/Pepsi Invitational. The Huskies won the regularly scheduled rematch the following week, registering a 45-35 Saturday victory at Goodridge.

"It was a defensive battle," confirmed Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson after the second game involving schools that form cooperative teams in football and girls sports. "I thought we did a pretty good job hanging in there; we just couldn't get a lead."

Goodridge was ahead at the quarter stops 12-6, 18-15 and 26-22. The Huskies clinched it with nine fourth quarter free throws when Grygla-Gatzke found itself in a must-foul situation down the stretch.

A balanced Goodridge offense featured Chad Johnson with 10 points and Dustin Marquis with 9. Alex Holte of Grygla-Gatzke led all scorers with 16 points, while teammate Nathan Gast had 10.

Goodridge shot 47 percent from the field (17/36), while Grygla-Gatzke struggled through a 22 percent 11-for-50 shooting night. Both sides had trouble at the free throw line, where the Huskies were 10-for-21 and the Eagles went 10-for-17. Rebounds were even at 29-apiece. Goodridge topped the turnover charts 13-9.

The win put the Huskies at 2-3. The Eagles, who opened the Northland tournament with a win over East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 52-43 and lost to Climax/Fisher 57-50 in the finals, are 2-2.

"Overall, we're fairly pleased with what we've done so far," said Johnson. "We're playing a lot of young kids this year. Holte and (Gavin) Nordby played a lot for us last year, but everybody else is new."

As witnessed by the scores, the Eagles are not likely to ring up big numbers offensively this winter, admitted Johnson. "We're going to have to work hard to win some games," he explained. "We're not real tall, and we're not overly fast. We're going to have to concentrate on doing all the little things right."

A flu bug that has swept through the team hasn't helped the early season progress for his inexperienced squad, but Johnson emphasized he wasn't using that as an excuse for the losses.

Scoring

	1	2	3	4	T
Grygla-Gatzke	6	9	7	13	35
Goodridge	12	6	8	19	45

Climax/Fisher boys top Grygla-Gatze in finals at Northland

Climax/Fisher claimed first place in the Northland Community and Technical College Holiday Boys Basketball tournament played Dec. 7, 10 and 11.

Rick Nelson, activities director at NCTC said the tournament went well. "There was a lot of good basketball played during this, the 9th consecutive year the college has held the tournament."

Nelson said the tournament provided teams an opportunity to play on a bigger floor and showcase some of their talent. In addition, Nelson said, the college enjoys hosting the tournament and showing off some of its facilities, including the current building taking place at the college.

Named the tournament's most valuable player was Alex Holte of Grygla-Gatzke.

Attention of Thief River Falls goalie Mike Dowers was focused on the puck behind the net, where Brian Reese (13) and J.P. Platisha (19) of Brainerd were both in position to gain control during the boys high school hockey game played Friday at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center. Thief River Falls defenseman Justin Barron (22) kept an eye on things.

Defense is TRF hockey highlight

Despite giving up just ten goals in the past four games, the Thief River Falls boys high school hockey team came out of a pair of weekend doubleheaders without a win to show for its efforts.

Strong play by goalie Mike Dowers and his defensemen kept the Prowlers in every game. But inability to generate an offense prevented them from celebrating a victory during a Dec. 10-11 trip to the Twin Cities area to play Blake and St. Paul Johnson, then a set of Dec. 17-18 games at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center against Brainerd and Bemidji.

The Prowlers lost a 3-1 Friday decision to Blake and skated to a 3-3 overtime Saturday tie against St. Paul Johnson. At home, the Prowlers played Brainerd to a 2-2 overtime tie Friday and lost a 2-1 Saturday decision to Bemidji.

Results put Thief River Falls at 0-4-2 for the year.

""We're getting better," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland, whose team lost 7-1 and 3-0 games to Roseau and Warroad, respectively, to start the year. "We're close. We've been getting good goaltending, and our defensemen have played well."

It's on offense that the Prowlers have struggled. "Our forwards have to get better," acknowledged Bergland. "They are improving, but we're so inexperienced up front. We're not making good decisions at times when we're rushing the puck. Those are the young-type of mistakes."

A knee injury suffered by senior Bennett Pagnac, one of the few upperclassmen among the forwards, has also played a role in the Prowlers' slow-to-develop offense. Pagnac has missed 2 1/2 weeks since going down in Game 2 against Warroad. He may be back in the line-up next week, said Bergland.

Gators involved in close games

If the first three games are an indication of things to come, it should be an entertaining 1999-2000 season for followers of the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River boys high school basketball program. The Gators are off to a 1-2 start, with the three games decided by a total of 10 points. They opened with a 58-55 win over Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Dec. 10; lost a 69-67 decision to Stephen-Argyle Dec. 14; and Friday fell to Roseau 53-48 in their home debut at Greenbush.

"We'll be competitive," predicted Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Eldon Sparby. "We'll maybe knock off a few teams along the way."

T. J. Super, a 6-1 junior, and Josh Smith, a 5-10 junior, are the only players on hand with previous varsity experience.

"We're not a bad basketball team, but we have no dominant players," noted Sparby. "If we can learn to play together, we could be okay by tournament time."

The Gators played a strong second half to erase a 29-21 halftime deficit against the Ponies, clinching it when Curt Christianson drew a charging foul that he turned into a free throw with seven seconds left.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River fell behind Stephen-Argyle 48-30 at halftime before putting together another solid second half. However, this time the Gators' comeback fell short as the Storm put up a strong defense against a final shot.

A 28 percent 17-for-60 shooting performance cost the Gators against the Rams, who turned a 10-9 first quarter deficit into a 24-17 halftime lead. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River closed to within 38-36 in the third quarter and kept it close the rest of the way.

Nathan Olefson scored 18 points and Mike Sallberg had 17 for the Rams, who were 19-for-49 from the field (39 percent). Craig Christianson led the Gators with 14 points.

Roseau helped its cause with 10-for-15 free throw shooting. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was 5-for-11 at the line. The Gators finished with a 33-31 rebound edge, but they also had more turnovers, 21-17.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River will be idle until the Thief River Falls Russ Smith Northwest Holiday Classic Dec. 28-30.

Pioneers 3-8 at holiday break

■ Northland men lose to Lake Region 86-80

A strong second half wasn't enough to compensate for a slow start Saturday afternoon as the Northland Community and Technical College men's basketball team lost an 82-80 home court decision to Lake Region. It was the second setback at the hands of the North Dakota school for the Pioneers, who fell 87-70 to the Royals in their Nov. 16 season opener at Devils Lake.

"We were really sluggish in the first half," said Northland coach Rick Nikunen, whose team trailed 48-36 at intermission. "We played a good second half; we got after it."

Matt Moen had a 32-point, 8-rebound effort to lead the Pioneers. Kelly Cota contributed 15 points and Jason Pinkney came up with a team-high 9 rebounds. Seth Olson netted 19 points to lead a trio of Lake Region double figure scorers.

Northland was 31-for-71 from the field (44 percent) and 13-for-22 at the free throw line. Lake Region went 27-for-65 from the floor (42 percent) and 18-for-26 at the line. The Royals finished with a 37-36 rebound edge, but also had more turnovers, 22-12.

The Pioneers, who lost a 56-42 decision at home to Minneapolis and then won an 85-77 game at Minot State University-Bottineau before facing Lake Region, will take a 3-8 record into the holiday break. They will be idle until a Wednesday, Jan. 5, match-up in Thief River Falls against Providence College. The Canadian school won 77-63 in a Nov. 19 encounter across the border. That will be Northland's final nonconference outing prior to a string of 12 Minnesota Community College Conference games that complete the 1999-2000 regular season.

"I thought we might have a couple of more wins by now," acknowledged Nikunen, "but I'm pleased with our progress. Our non-conference schedule has been a lot tougher than I originally anticipated, but that's okay – it should help us down the road."

Moen, a 6-6 sophomore from Fosston, has been the Pioneers' floor leader to date. Solid performances have also been delivered by Pinkney, a 6-5 sophomore from Pompano Beach, FL; Cota, a 6-5 freshman from Thief River Falls; and Charlie Nyumah, a 6-1 freshman from Brooklyn Center. Nikunen also looks for continued improvement from Luke Stuckey, a 6-1 freshman from Martinton, IL; and Dan Leong, a 6-3 sophomore from Milwaukee, WI, who completed a season of college basketball three years ago at Waukesha Tech (WI) and became eligible to play for the Pioneers Saturday.

"Matt (Moen) has been playing outstanding," noted Nikunen, "but once everything is in place, I look for us to have a more balanced offense. Defensively, we're getting better; we've made some adjustments that have worked out well for us."

Vermilion is the favorite, but Nikunen says the Pioneers can compete with the rest of the field for one of the other three Northern Division spots at the 2000 MCCC state tournament. "It should be a real good battle for those positions," he said.

Valley Home residents share memories of Christmases past

Libby Jones is originally from Austin and is a retired school teacher. Her earliest memories of Christmas are of not celebrating the holiday openly. Through most of her childhood her father was a missionary, serving in India, and her family did not return to the United States during the holiday season until she was in her high school years. Her greatest memory upon returning is that of all the bright, colorful lights in Austin.

Helen Christensen of Valley Home has lived her entire life in Thief River Falls and taught school in the Thief River Falls area. She has 20 grandchildren and 39 great-grandchildren. Helen has many memories of Christmases past. Lutefisk and lefse along with apple salad were always included in traditional Christmas dinners. She recalls making paper chains and small gifts that could be used for school and using clip-on candle holders with candles to decorate the tree. Her family always attended the church Christmas program before opening presents, and popcorn cake was a family tradition. Helen's greatest memory is that of her baby sister, Katherine, being born on Christmas Eve 80 years ago.

Doris Allard is originally from Massachusetts and remembers her two sons sitting by the tree separating their Christmas gifts into individual piles and then, after opening them, playing with each other's presents.

Gust Homme remembers his family's traditions including lutefisk and lefse and opening gifts on Christmas morning. The one present that he says he will always remember is his first Teddy bear.

Lila Quam's fondest memories include the traditional lutefisk and lefse dinner, opening gifts on Christmas eve, and always receiving an orange and candy in her Christmas stocking.

Gurty Haugen recalls her grandma reading the Christmas story and that her family always enjoyed fried pork for dinner. She notes that her fondest gift was a doll she received when she was very young.

Anneus Nelson remembers the traditional lutefisk and lefse suppers.

Being of French decent, Nora DeLage notes that her family also celebrated the New Year over the Christmas holiday. Because her family raised turkeys, that become the meat of choice along with cabbage for their holiday dinner.

Oakland Park Nursing Home residents talk about Christmas

Vivian Rudd remembers how she and her brother would go with their mother to the school where she taught southeast of Strathcona because the district was so far from where the family lived. Because it cost so much to transport the children, the district paid her mother extra to bring them with her. At school, she recalls that her mother treated her and her brother just like the other children.

She remembers the wonderful Christmas programs her mother had at the school. "They'd last a couple of hours," Vivian says. A year that she particularly remembers is 1928 when her mother was sick the day of the program, and Vivian had to take over. "I was only 14 years old," she says, "but I managed real well, pulled the curtains and helped the kids with little parts if they didn't remember. Also, I was in a dialogue, playing the part of Mrs. Ruggle's Christmas party with nine rowdy kids, but everything went just fine. Everyone had a good time, and the program went on real well."

The Christmas memories of Lida Inman include all of the foods her Norsk family would prepare. The special foods included mashed potatoes, lutefisk, sweet breads, roasted meat, sweet soup, pickles, pies and rommegrot. She also recalls attending Christmas services at church and Sunday school programs. She and her two sisters lived in the Holt area all of their lives and shared their Christmas eve meal with guests. After supper they drove horses giving sleigh rides. Later, the horses were replaced with snowmobiles. "In our hearts we knew that we were celebrating the birth of Jesus," Lida says. "As a family we would sing Christmas songs, attend church, go to Sunday school programs and thank God that we were still together."

Berthe Jasnoch shares what Christmas means to her. "When I'm visualizing the Christ child in the manger," she says, "I think of Him as Jesus, saving His people from their sins. That brings joy to my life — at Christmas and every day."

Christmas Through The Eyes Of A Child

Christmas is fun because I like to guess what the gift is. I like to give everyone their gifts in a pile. Then we eat mom's cookies. We get to open a gift from the biggest to the smallest. Andy has to play the piano. I know what Christmas is all about. It is about giving.

Aaran Yaggie

Christmas is special to me because I can bake cookies. I like going to my Grandma's because I like her cats. I like helping my mom by wiping dishes and watching my brother.

Chantel Kuznia

I like Christmas because I like to go outside in the snow. I like to go to my Grandma's house. I like to go get the tree and bake Christmas cookies. We go to church to celebrate Jesus' birthday.

Anne Haok

I like Christmas because I like to watch the lights. I like to play football in the snow. I like to give things to the poor.

Ryan Hermonson

I like Christmas because that is the day Jesus was born. Christmas is about giving and love. I go visit my Grandma and my cousins at Christmas. I love Christmas.

Ryon Olson

Christmas is special because every Christmas my family plays Yahtzee with me. I am planning to give my mom a new ring for Christmas. We set up the Christmas tree and then we make cookies for St. Nick. We leave some cookies for him. Last Christmas I read a good story to my sister. I don't remember it all but I do remember Rudolph the red-nosed reindeer.

Austin Bauer

I like Christmas because it is fun. I get to play. I get to help mom cook. Christmas is Jesus' birthday.

Samontha Hutchinson

Christmas is about giving presents to others and giving to the poor. I like watching other people open presents. I like being with my family and going to church on the day Jesus is born. I like being kind to others.

Riley Simenson

Christmas is special because in my family there is so much happiness. I love going to church on Christmas Eve. We go to Grandma's house on Christmas day. There is so much to do on Christmas day and there is lots of love. I like being with my family and being together with friends.

Eva Bruggeman

Christmas is special because mom bakes cookies and we eat them. People visit us and eat with us. We like playing in the snow. We watch TV and we read books. We decorate the tree. We eat apple pie and play with toys. We play with games and we jump on the bed a lot.

Anish Patel

I think Christmas is fun because my family comes to see me. Mom bakes cookies. I get to play with my dog and cat and my cousins. Jesus loves me and is happy with me and you.

Danielle Simenson

Christmas is special because we celebrate Jesus' birthday. We show love for the poor and the sick. Giving of others gifts is fun. Our family is with us. I love Christmas.

Jacob Langevin

I like Christmas because we go to Grandma's house. I like to help my mom bake cookies. I like going to church to learn about Jesus. Christmas is his birthday.

Karissa Kaushagen

Christmas is beautiful because of the songs and lights. I like to decorate and bake for Christmas. My family likes to do it too. I like to be with my family. I like to give presents to others. The best is celebrating Jesus' birthday.

Sorah Matter

Christmas is special because I like to decorate my house. I like to play in the snow. Celebrating the day Jesus is born is about giving. It is fun.

Katie Rook

Christmas is fun because Christmas lights are fun to see. Christmas cookies are yummy. I like to play outside. Decorating the Christmas tree is fun. Singing Christmas songs is fun too. I like decorating for the day Jesus is born.

Rebecca Kruto

Christmas is special because I get to spend time with my family. I like to play in the snow on Christmas Eve. I like to spend time with friends. I like to spend time with Jesus on his birthday.

Matt Lindquist

Christmas is about a special birthday. It is Jesus' birthday. We decorate the tree. We bake cookies. We clean our house. We help those who are poor so they can have a nice Christmas.

Maddy Aandal

I like Christmas because I can bake cookies with my Aunt Lisa almost every year. Jesus is born on Christmas day. We give to the poor. We share love and peace with each other. Merry Christmas.

Rochel Benedict

Christmas is fun. I like waiting for Jesus to come for his birthday.

Anthony Drury

I like Christmas because my family gets together. We share love and peace. My mom and I bake cookies. Christmas is special because Jesus is born that day. My family goes to my Grandma's house.

Brittanie Marie Bleganek

Christmas is special because I like spending time with people. I like to talk and play with my cousins. We decorate the house and the tree. I like spending time with Jesus.

Allen Langlie

What most people don't think about at Christmas time is the fact that it's the day of Jesus' birth. Their focus on presents, Christmas decorations and Santa. Even if you look at the word Christmas, it has the word Christ in it. To me Christmas means a time to celebrate Jesus' birth.

Ericka Goethe

What Christmas means to me is not Santa Claus or presents. It is about Jesus' birthday. I don't think it is bad to give presents or receive them. I like to get some myself. But the real meaning of Christmas is Jesus' birthday.

Jonothan Larson

What Christmas means to me is that Jesus Christ was born. It's the season of giving because God gave us His son. Also there's Christmas Mass and I like going to Christmas Mass. Also, I like having turkey dinner with my family and aunt and uncle.

Ian Mercil

My most memorable Christmas is when my family went to church on Christmas Day at midnight. We were tired. We could barely keep our eyes open. We did not open our Christmas presents till about noon and we celebrated Jesus' birthday in the afternoon.

Amy Mercil

Christmas is a fun time when you feel so close to your family! To me Christmas isn't about getting, but it's about giving and loving! I think that Christmas should be a time of year when everyone is together, and when you really think about why you are celebrating. Is it because you want a gift, or is it because you want to celebrate Jesus's birth? What I think is so neat about Christmas is when my dad always reads the story of the three wise men and how God put a big shiny star in the direction of where the Son of God was to be born! Acts 20:35 says: Remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Shiane Dole

Christmas Through The Eyes Of A Child

A lot of kids like to think of Christmas as getting toys and Santa coming. The way I think of it is that Jesus is coming. He came once as a baby and he will come again to take us to heaven.

Heather Keogh
Grade Six

I think Christmas is a time to give and a time to be glad. We should celebrate Jesus' birth too. Christmas isn't all about presents and gifts. You can find the true meaning of Christmas in the Bible. Just look up Matthew and Luke in the New Testament.

Andrew Fortier

The reason why our family celebrates Christmas is because Jesus was born in Bethlehem. The reason why He came to earth was because He died on the cross at Calvery for us. So I think Christmas is the best time of the year.

Sorah Larson

For a week in January, my mom and I flew to Arizona to spend a late Christmas with my grandparents, aunt, uncle and three cousins. We had a very fun time. I thank God every day for family and for sending His son to earth so that we can be together for eternity.

Kirsten Melvie

What Christmas means to me. I like Christmas because you can see all your family and I like Christmas because it is fun to decorate your tree and listen to Christmas carols and best of all it is Jesus' birthday.

Doug Eaton

What Christmas means to me is not about getting presents. It's about getting together with family and celebrating Jesus' birthday.

Every year we have a BIG meal and I read from the Biblo and play Christmas songs on the piano.

Even though I like to get presents, all of us should remember what Christmas is really about.

Alexis Brawn

Christmas isn't just a time to open presents with your family, but it's a time to celebrate Jesus' birth. Jesus came to live and die as my Saviour. That's what Christmas means to me.

Bryon Bunnell

Christmas means the time to be with family and loved ones. But not only that - it also means the birth of Jesus Christ too. It's a reminder that He gave his only Son for us. It's also to remind us that He loves every single one on this earth.

Jackie Keogh

Christmas is one of my favorite holidays. I like the Christmas tree and the presents, and all the decorations. But, that is not my favorite thing about Christmas. My favorite thing about Christmas is the birth of my Savior and my Lord, the birth of Jesus Christ.

That is exciting. I am celebrating my salvation through Jesus Christ.

Amanda Kindall

My most memorable Christmas is the year my Grandpa died. For 10 years I had spent every Christmas with my Grandpa. That year was kind of a depressing time. That was four years ago and I still cry about it now, though I can look toward the future knowing I will be with my Grandpa in heaven.

Amanda Bugge

It means to me when Jesus was born. Some people just think that Christmas is only to open presents.

David Sparby

At Christmas all my cousins come and play. We took pictures of presents and family members. We watched TV and ate lots of food and candy. I open my presents. The nicest present was a box with the birth of Jesus on the cover. For supper we ate zucchini, peas, and potatoes.

Brittani Dargus

Me and my cousins went to our grandpa and grandma'a and we looked inside our stockings first thing.

I looked inside and found: Hershey's chocolate kisses, and my favorite two kinds: Snickers, and Reeses.

Zachory Sarenson

On Christmas night Santa Claus comes to town. He leaves presents for us. He comes when everybody is asleep. We leave Christmas cookies for him. Our stocking are up. Then we wake up the next morning. "There's candy in our stockings" I yell. Sometime's there is lots of Snow on the ground. This year there isn't any. This year my cousins are coming here. We have lots of fun. My two Gramma's make cookies for us.

Ben J. Thorstad

The year was 98. We were in Montana. We were snowboarding, skiing, and snowcatting. We went to see my mom's mom. It was fun. We watched movies and opened presents. It was lots of fun. We went up in the mountains. One was 9,000 feet high. This is my most memorable Christmas.

Cody Conners

The Christmas of 94. That was the Christmas I opened a present and played with it. I tried to wrap it up before mom woke up...and mom caught me wrapping the present.

That was my most memorable Christmas.

Tyler Peterson

Last year we went to church and we sang beautiful songs. After church we went to our car; but the car wouldn't start. We were on our way to my grandma and grandpa and my aunt's house. My dad had to run back in the church and call my grandpa. Then my dad ran back to the car where we were. Then we saw my grandpa and my aunt come in their car. Then they braught us to their house. We saw Craig and Mya and Angie and Jessie. My grandma and grandpa have a big tree. Outside was a whole bunch of lights. There were beautiful decorations on the tree. That was the best Christmas ever.

Corissa R. Kruse

I like Christmas because Christ Jesus is born. I get to spend with my mom and my dad's side of the family. My most memorable Christmas is the time we went to Colorado. It was really fun.

Joey Dondelinger

It was my favorite Christmas because my whole family was there and we ran around and played hide-and-go seek.

We ate a big supper and we opened presents and my first present was a Cris Carter jersey. And the tree was huge.

Zachary Sorenson

My favorite Christmas is when I went to my grandma and grandpa's house. Me and my brother and cousins had a snowball fight. We had a lot of fun and laughter. My cousins brought their snow cat and we roda it a lot.

Kyle Hougen

I like Christmas because I get to spend time with my dad's family and my mom'a family. I have a great time in the snow. I like to decorate the tree.

Mitchell Martin

When I think of Christmas I think of my cousin. My favorite Christmas was the one before he left. All I have to remember him by is the fort we started to build. In 1994, we started and it still is not done. Now ha lives in Montana, with hia dad.

My Grandpa Hansen, Alyssa, and me keep building on it. Little by little it'a getting done.

Janessa Hansen

Christmas is about the birth of Jesus, presents, singing carols, red and green, love and fun, sledding, Mass, and stockings.

My most memorable Christmas was when I got my most favorite Nintendo game. and I got my favorite board game.

Christmas Through The Eyes Of A Child

My favorite Christmas was when I was 8. My brother got a toy train. We started to play with the train. We didn't get out of our pajamas till 9:45 a.m. Then we got candy and we would go say, "That's my candy!" Then we would go and open presents and we would say, "Tell me if you find one of my presents." "Is there more?" Then we went to my grandpa's house and we opened presents. The best part was it was sunny and everybody had fun! We went outside in the snow. My sister got stuck in the snow, then I did, and then my mom did. Then my dad got us all out!

The THE TIMES SECOND FRONT

Volume 88, Number 51 Wednesday, December 22, 1999

A number of Canadian Geese were still hanging around open water above the Thief River Falls reservoir dam Wednesday, December 15. The geese have been hanging around Thief River Falls all fall. They seem in no hurry to fly south despite the recent cold snap and two- to three inches of snow the area received on Tuesday, December 14.

Minnesota ranked healthiest state for fourth year in a row

For the fourth consecutive year, and the seventh time in 10 years, Minnesota has been ranked the healthiest state in the country, according to a national report released just recently.

The report, previously prepared by ReliaStar and this year prepared by United Health Group, ranks the health of all 50 states according to several criteria, including lifestyle, access to health care, occupational safety and disability, disease and mortality. Minnesota comes out on top thanks to low premature death rates, low unemployment, low risk for heart disease, high rate of high school graduation, and high rates of health insurance coverage.

According to the report, Minnesota "ranked in the top 20 in all measures except adequacy of prenatal care and number of limited activity days." The report notes that adequacy of prenatal care has improved over the past decade, but not as fast as the national average.

"Many people contribute to our great health in Minnesota, including public health workers, health care providers, public officials, non-profit organizations and individual residents," said Malcolm. "We all deserve to give ourselves a round of applause, but let's not let the applause drown out the fact that we still have serious issues to address."

The Minnesota Department of Health recently identified several public health priorities that need attention over the next two years. They include eliminating the health disparities affecting populations of color and other at-risk populations, and preparing for emerging health threats, such as bio-terrorism and drug-resistant bacterial infections.

The department also intends to work toward creating a health system for the next 50 years and improving the health of young people, using proceeds from the tobacco endowments. Both of these priorities are also included in Governor Ventura's Big Plan. "In addition to carrying out our traditional day-to-day duties, we'll focus special attention on these priorities because we know they have the potential to further improve the overall health of Minnesotans," Malcolm said.

Public health is often called the silent miracle because it works quietly behind the scenes to create the conditions that ensure good health. Public health accomplishments have been responsible for 25 of the 30 years of life gained over the past century, according to the national Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. The list of 20th Century accomplishments includes control of infectious diseases, decline in deaths from heart disease and stroke, safer and healthier foods, healthier mothers and babies, family planning, fluoridation of drinking water, vaccinations, and recognition of tobacco as a health hazard.

"The public health accomplishments we've experienced in Minnesota have definitely contributed to our number-one health ranking," Malcolm said. "Those of us in public health are proud of that fact, but we're also a pretty modest bunch, so you won't often find us tooting our own horn."

For more information about the annual state health rankings, log on to the United Health Group Web site, at www.unitedhealthgroup.com.

The Minnesota Department of Health is the state's lead public health agency, responsible for protecting, maintaining and improving the health of all Minnesotans. The department operates programs in the areas of disease prevention and control, health promotion, community public health, environmental health, health care policy, and regulation of health care providers and facilities.

Vettleson herd tops among 15 herds on DHIA report for Oct.

The Wayne Vettleson 3X herd was the top herd of the top 15 listed in the DHIA report for the month of October.

Randy and Margaret Rasmussen, supervisor of the Red Lake-Pennington DHIA, put the following herds at Top 15 in the Association for the month of October 1999: 1) Wayne Vettleson 3X, 165 cows with 91 percent producing an average of 65 pounds of milk, 2.2 pounds of fat, and 2.1 pounds of protein; 2) Todd and Kathy Johnston, 68 cows with 88 percent producing an average of 65 pounds of milk, 2.3 pounds of fat, and 2.0 pounds of protein; 3) Gary and Polly Bakken, 33 cows with 85 percent in milk, and an average of 62 pounds of milk, 2.1 pounds of fat, and 2.0 pounds of protein; 4) Marlyn and Debbie Omquist, 44 cows, 80 percent in milk, producing an average of 61 pounds of milk, 2.2 pounds of fat, and 1.9 pounds of protein; 5) Schafer Farms, 39 cows, 92 percent in milk, producing an average of 61 pounds of milk, 1.9 pounds of fat, and 1.8 pounds of protein; 6) Greg Zak, 44 cows, 91 percent in milk, producing an average of 60 pounds of milk, 2.0 pounds of fat, and 2.0 pounds of protein; 7) Northwest Agricultural Experiment Station (large), 41 cows, 88 percent in milk, producing an average of 59 pounds of milk, 2.4 pounds of fat, and 1.9 pounds of protein; 8) Northwest Agricultural Experiment Station (small), 61 cows, 84 percent in milk, producing an average of 59 pounds of milk, 2.2 pounds of fat, and 1.9 pounds of protein; 9) Beyer Farms, 77 cows, 90 percent in milk, producing an average of 59 pounds of milk, 2.2 pounds of fat, and 1.9 pounds of protein; 10) Tom and Diane Kolstoe, 42 cows, 95 percent in milk, producing an average of 59 pounds of milk, 2.2 pounds of fat, and 1.9 pounds of protein; 11) Tom Willett, 49 cows, with 88 percent in milk, producing an average of 59 pounds, 2.1 pounds of fat, and 1.9 pounds of protein; 12) Walter Brothers Farms, 239 cows, with 83 percent in milk, producing an average of 59 pounds of milk, 1.9 pounds of fat, and 1.9 pounds of protein; 13) Wayne Nelson, 43 cows, 81 percent in milk, producing an average of 56 pounds of milk, 2.1 pounds of fat, and 1.8 pounds of protein; 14) Lyndon Schultz, 91 cows, with 93 percent in milk, producing an average of 54 pounds of milk, 2.1 pounds of fat, and 1.9 pounds of protein; 15) Herb Torstveit, 30 cows, with 93 percent in milk, producing an average of 51 pounds of milk, 1.7 pounds of fat, and 1.7 pounds of protein.

The herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd. The amount of milk or butterfat is averaged out over all the cows. This gives the farmer a record of the earning power of the herd for the month. If too many cows are included in the herd, then the average for the month may be low, even though the cow that is milking produces a lot of milk. . . .

Unemployment can be applied for over internet

Applying for unemployment insurance, also known as re-employment insurance, just got as easy and as convenient as letting your fingers walk through cyberspace.

Now, Minnesotans who have lost their jobs can apply on the world wide web at www.MNWorkForceCenter.org/ui. This speeds up the application process, plus applicants have a virtual library of information at their fingertips.

"Thanks to technology, we can offer the convenience of a virtual Minnesota WorkForce Center that is open 24-hours a day, seven days a week to take applications," said MDES Commissioner Earl Wilson. "Considering that more than half of all Minnesotans have access to the Internet, our customers can file their applications from wherever they have access, whether it's at home, a library, or at a friend's or neighbor's computer."

Customers who use the online application process save the time, expense and potential delays of picking up applications in-person, then either dropping them off or mailing them. The online process has the added bonus of assisting applicants with completing an error-free form, since missing data that is critical to the application will be flagged before the application can be sent.

Customers can still pick up or drop off their unemployment insurance applications at any of the more than 50 Minnesota WorkForce Centers. For the nearest WorkForce Center call 1-888-OET-JOBS (1-888-438-5627; TTY 651-282-5909; TTY in Greater Minnesota, 1-800-657-3973; or check out the online map www.MNWorkForceCenter.org.

Toward True Reconciliation.

A Comment on Lutheran-Roman Catholic Relations.

You may have heard that a declaration was signed that claims to resolve a key difference between the Lutheran Church and the Roman Catholic Church. What you may not have heard is that more than 45 percent of the Lutheran church-bodies in the world did not support the declaration.

The Lutheran Church--Missouri Synod is the oldest and second-largest Lutheran church-body in the United States. We would like to explain why we could not support the declaration.

We rejoice that we have much in common with our fellow Christians in the Roman Catholic Church. Because of what we have in common, we are committed to working toward true reconciliation of our important differences. We could not support the declaration because it does not actually reconcile the difference between us concerning the most important truth of Christianity.

What is that truth? God loved the world so much that He sent His Son, Jesus Christ, to live a perfect life in our place and to die for our sins. God declares us to be totally righteous and completely forgiven because of the life, death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. God gives us eternal life as a free gift through trust in Christ alone.

The Roman Catholic Church teaches that something more than trust in Christ is necessary for us to be saved. It teaches that we are able to merit, through our works, eternal life for ourselves and others. We believe this teaching obscures the work of Jesus Christ and clouds the central message of the Bible.

Therefore, despite what has been reported in the public media about the Lutheran-Roman Catholic declaration, very significant differences remain in regard to how we understand salvation, a fact that the Roman Catholic Church acknowledges.

We pray for genuine reconciliation of differences among Christians. Our church is intent on working for the day when the pure Gospel of Jesus Christ is proclaimed with one voice. We will continue to work toward true reconciliation.

The weather in northwest Minnesota brought the first blizzard of this winter this evening. Many social events were cancelled for tonight due to drifting snow. And the wind chill factor they are reporting on the TV must be for the North Pole and not for the Red River Valley. It's a good idea not to get out in it not only for your good but also endangering those who are required to come and help you.

The congregation of the Bethesda Lutheran Church enjoyed their Sunday dinner in spite of the snowstorm in the forenoon. Gloria Ronstrom also was celebrating her birthday in the afternoon.

Becky Johnson and Jake visited Peter and Pearl Thompson on Friday. Danny Johnson was over there this morning and cleared the snow for them.

Donny and Marlys Lofrooth and grandson, Austin Lofrooth had dinner at Elsie Lofrooth's home on Monday.

Janice Blazejowski and son, Aaron came to challenge Elsie to a game of Aggravation on Saturday and would you believe it? He won. It wasn't that Elsie was out of practice.

The stores are scored in five areas: promotion, operational execution, food safety and sanitation, operational execution, and food safety critical issues.

Marshall-Beltrami SWCD wins conservation award

The Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District and the Marshall and Beltrami Natural Resources Conservation Service were recently recognized by the National Conservation Buffer Council for their success in establishing buffer strips to protect environmentally sensitive areas, most often water.

"Buffer strips are one of the most important ways we have of stopping pollutants from entering lakes, streams and wetlands," said Grant Satre, chairman of the Marshall-Beltrami SWCD. "We've made buffer strip establishment a major part of our on-going soil and water management efforts."

The SWCD and the NRCS established about 324 acres of buffer strips in the district in the past year. The organizations received recognition at the 63rd annual convention of the Minnesota Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts, which took place December 5-7 at the Duluth Entertainment Convention Center.

The National Conservation Buffer Council is a non-profit organization sponsored by a variety of companies involved in agriculture and the environment.

MN Physicians endorse food irradiation

Consumers have nothing to fear from food irradiation, a process that can help prevent potentially fatal foodborne illnesses, according to articles in the November issue of Minnesota Medicine, the monthly journal of the Minnesota Medical Association (MMA). The MMA, which represents about 9,500 physicians throughout the state, endorses food irradiation as a safe and effective process.

Food irradiation kills disease-causing microorganisms such as E. coli, Salmonella, Campylobacter and Listeria, controls insects, and reduces spoilage of fresh foods. The U.S. Department of Agriculture-approved irradiation for use on wheat in 1963, on poultry in 1992, and on red meat in 1999. The Minnesota Department of Health endorses the process as part of a comprehensive program to help prevent foodborne illness.

"There is no controversy in the scientific community about the safety and effectiveness of irradiation," said Samuel Hall, M.D., chair of the MMA Environmental Health Committee.

"Irradiation does not replace the need for avoiding contamination and safe food handling, but used in combination with other safety measures, irradiation can drastically reduce the risk of illness. Irradiation should takes its place among other standards food safety techniques such as canning, freezing, drying, heat pasteurization and simple cooking."

Arctic Cat employees accepted 75 of the 284 total angel tree tags for the Christmas for Pennington County program. Different departments at Arctic Cat held numerous fund-raisers including selling baked goods, ice cream sundaes and chili. Funds raised from these events were used to purchase presents which were then donated to the Christmas for Pennington County. Organizers also noted that even a vendor participated by filling one tag and donated funds for other gifts. Said one organizer at Arctic Cat, this is just another example of Arctic Cat's dedication to the community. The following are the first place essays:

Since the beginning of America, a foundation has been laid, the foundation has been built into a home, and additions have been made to that home. Although these ideas were used in the past, they also apply to our future. As I look for America's role in the next century, I see these principles. In order for our country to continue flourishing, we must build upon that same foundation and add to the concepts already in place.

America's foundation was not laid with concrete, but with ideas both new and old. Pioneers brought with them new government and worship standards. They did not completely forsake previous ideas of worship and government, but combined them with new opinions. They found new ways to grow and obtain a food supply. Many sought new styles and family practices. However, old ideas, such as taxation, were needed to fund programs necessary for growth and wars occurring as land was acquired.

As time progressed, our home and country was built. People forged across the country, founding and settling untamed wilderness. Eventually, land was unavailable. The focus then changed from building a country of land into making additions with what was already available.

Additions of leadership and a strong democracy were made. America became a trendsetter to other nations with peace plans and domestic programs. New inventions were sought to improve quality of life for Americans and foreign tenants. In addition, America became a big brother to nations. Allies were established, and food, money and clothing were given to aid populations.

After reviewing America's history, I believe the role for the next century is to continue what began in the past. Additional programs must be built, but current ones also need to be improved. This building will help to cultivate a vibrant and active society while improvement will help to maintain that same society.

There are many examples of American additions. Space exploration, technology, and health programs are only a few of these. Each of these are continually being built upon. Our country's upkeep may easily be compared to a house. A house without repair will eventually fall into a state of dilapidation, but with careful refinishing, it may last for years.

As America prepares for the next century, we must also look at leadership and government. Because of our leadership, countries followed America's newly charted territories for many years. To once again build this strength of democracy and leadership, we must look to internal power. Authority figures with a passion for government and those with moral strength should be sought. They ought to be elected not for their money or political party, but for their ideals and genuine interest in improving America. Also, by implementing new friendships with other countries, a strong image will be created for America.

For over two hundred years, America's freedom has existed. In the future, continuance of growth, leadership, helpfulness, and innovativeness as well as refinishing our flaws will allow for continued strength of our country. By studying history while executing new practices as our ancestors once did, America will bring her strong foundation far into the next century.

Jacki Mooney
Thief River Falls

With our elected representatives in office, we can amend the Constitution to better fit our needs. In the near future I hope, to fulfill our needs, more money and resources are put towards schools and education. Our country will depend upon our students. Along with this, health care should become more affordable to all those who are trying to earn their way. Within the next year, I believe we will be fixing any problems dealing with the Y2K bug.

Over the next 50 years of our country's development I trust we will realize the need to make it nearly impossible for aliens to cross the borders illegally and to enforce illegalization of drugs. Additionally, we should consider and carry out the act of making smoking illegal or at least to those of the age 20 and under. If this does not occur why should smoking be allowed in public places and what is the need of advertising these substances? Secondhand smoke is one of the top three most preventable causes of death in America and for every eight people who die from smoking, one person dies from secondhand smoke!

I am not sure why this is still this way after our push towards equality, but we have preserved reservations. The people living in them get special treatment with discounts that we pay for in taxes. If they steal something from a town, the local police chase them and if they make it onto their land, then only the police of the reservation can get them.

I would not be surprised if the voting age is lowered to 17. I anticipate women holding more offices and eventually becoming presidents. In the long run I visualize, with our helping to stop wars in third countries, eventually we may become so involved in their conflicts that we will kill many and gain control of them, causing us to force peace.

History repeats itself and with over 50 percent of jobs being government related, there is too much power in the government and the ratio of government jobs to private jobs has become out of hand. Government jobs are increasing, and soon there will be no "people" because we will all be part of the government. What is left of the "people" will revolt once we hit tough times, such as food and money shortages. They will have become so fed up with it and will demand a new way to govern the land.

I expect the Internet will be a dominant form of communication, the processing of pennies, nickels, dimes, and aerosol cans will cease to exist, and robots will do our chores. As the destruction of the rain forests continues, species will continue to become endangered. As less good farming land exists, fewer crops will be grown, less food will be processed, and a food shortage will occur. In this event it may be necessary to set aside land in a controlled dome in order to survive.

Our nation's government is most likely the best in the world. It allows many freedoms, protects our natural rights, and sets necessary limits. On the other hand, in other countries, the people cannot even do or say a lot of the simple words or actions that we take for granted. If they do anything their government disapproves, they will be reprimanded. Though the government of the United States of America is of the greatest, there is still room for improvement.

Adam Hamness
Greenbush

As I envision the United States of America of the next century, I see a country that is not striving to be the dominant power of earth by force, tyranny, depression and corruption. I do not see the U.S. becoming the dominant power by developing new types of warfare and weapons, but I do see the U.S., us, becoming a global leader by invoking peach throughout the universe. I see us using the media to influence a balance of peace and harmony by helping to reform rouge countries that wish only harm to come to the world through the misguided beliefs of the leaders of these countries.

Unfortunately, before we can make peace with the world we need to make peace at home. By bettering ourselves we can then only better the world. When I say better ourselves, I mean that we must "crack down" on violent crimes committed against this country through the eyes of hate, depression and revenge. We must also work together to better the U.S. constitution, which is an ongoing process that will never be complete.

Another factor which will most definitely affect world peace is the need to acquire more friends, more alliances, consequently if there ever comes a time in which it is necessary to defend ourselves, despite our best efforts of prevention, will be quite capable. This capability will only multiply if the U.S. gains friends and allies. After defending against this cruel fate, we and our allies, will be able to start anew our fight against corruption and begin our journey to world peace.

I also see the U.S. in the next century improving or developing new recycling techniques to sustain us until mankind has found a way to possibly colonize on another distant planet, or hopefully renew our planet, which has housed the human race for countless generations. During our short time on earth, we have already managed to mistreat her. We, the human race, have utterly shamed our planet, by polluting her skies and waters and devouring her countless natural resources.

While developing a way to renew our planet we must also, simultaneously, develop the much more difficult alternative to accept colonization of a foreign planet, which in astronomical terms could be close or quite far away.

We Americans must develop faster and much larger spacecraft. Also the U.S. should develop ways of researching other galaxies for possible colonization.

I am positive that many great things are to come in the next century but despite these we, the future generations of the U.S. and future leaders of the world, must undertake and strive to overcome these issues. If we should fail we all will fall into the threat of tyranny and depression.

I believe that if we overcame the issue of world peace, every other issue will fall into place eventually. It's true that world peace is a large undertaking. If we human beings, in spite of our differences, dispense with our vanity and pride, and ban together in one coalition to save our planet, that and only that would be the greatest achievement in all the universe.

Benefits survey helps employers and job seekers

Employee benefits are an increasingly hot topic. For employers, offering desirable benefits packages assists in attracting and retaining employees, especially in a tight labor market. For employees, benefits assist in health needs, future financial security and job satisfaction above and beyond a regular paycheck. Fortunately, the Minnesota Employee Benefits Survey, recently released by the Minnesota Department of Economic Security (MDES), can help both parties better understand the possibilities.

"Employers and employees both need timely and accurate information about benefits," said MDES Commissioner Earl Wilson. "The information contained in the Minnesota Employee Benefits Survey, our second-ever benefits report, can help them make informed decisions about these important matters."

The Minnesota Employee Benefits Survey provides information on the types of benefits offered to both full-time and part-time employees. Information on health insurance, paid time off, retirement plans and benefit cost is also separated out by industry and size of company. The information in the study was gathered from over 2,200 Minnesota firms.

Copies of the Minnesota Employee Benefits Survey are available to view at all Minnesota WorkForce Centers. Copies are available for $5 from the MDES Research and Statistics office at 651-296-6545 or toll-free at 1-888-234-1114. It is also available on the internet at www.mnworkforcecenter.org/lmi/benefits/index.htm.

Musical "Fire of Hope" presented Dec. 25-26

"Fire of Hope," a dramatic Christmas musical, will be presented Saturday and Sunday, December 25 and 26, at 7 p.m. at Open Arms Christian Fellowship (the former Our Saviour's Lutheran Church), 401 St. Paul Ave. South. There is no admission fee. A freewill offering will be accepted. Refreshments will be served following the program.

Doug Holck, who wrote and arranged "Fire of Hope," explains the setting for the musical:

For over 2,000 years the Jewish people had been looking for their Yeshua. Ever since the promise of His coming had been made to their father, Abraham, they had been anticipating His arrival. Hoping, always hoping, that just over the horizon, on the dawn of the next day, with the next passing caravan, there would be news of the King who would set them free from the tyranny of the Roman Emperor. Hope added fire to zeal, strengthened wills, and poured fresh waters of joy into hearts drained by Roman oppression. Yet sometimes hope waned.

Little did the people of Bethlehem know that their dreams were about to be fulfilled and their lives forever changed. Shepherds would be startled by the singing of angels; a king would be born in their humble village. That He would come from Bethlehem was no mystery, but how He would come would defy the wildest imagination. That God would become a man was difficult enough to believe — that he would be born in a manger and welcomed by shepherds was more than some could accept.

Against the backdrop of a Roman census, with lives in turmoil, He came. Unexpectedly. As He sometimes does. Always to those who need Him.

For some, His coming brought great joy; for others it meant momentary disappointment, a change of plans, even pain. The hope He brought and offers to us does not remove life's difficulties, but strengthens us to beat them. It does not eliminate the battles, but gives us victory in them.

"Fire of Hope" is the story of a young mother's compelling quest through the events of her life. She is Hannah, a contemporary of Mary, the mother of Jesus. Hannah was in Bethlehem the night Yeshua was born, but it was 33 years before she met Him.

The cast includes: Joanna Swantek as Hannah, Adrianne Erickson as young Mary, Beth Nelson as the older Mary, Scott Wessel as Joseph, Steve Westerman as the tax collector, Nathan Rittenour, Anthony Wold and Nathan Browning and Joaquin Westerman as soldiers, Philip Hoks as a prophet, Beth Trontvet as a prophetess, Jim Grindley, Jim Matson, Marshall Vagle, Ben and Dan Sayler, Ron Northup Sr., Scott Wessel and Gary York as shepherds, Amy Northup, Shari Westerman and Marcus Mundall as a skeptics, Lauren Rogalla as a young child, ShawnDee Price as Martha, Ammie Tuthill as Elizabeth, Aaron Northup as an agitator, Hannah Kelley as a calming townsperson; Naomi Olson as the town warner; Jillian Larson and Lauren Rogalla as beggars, Bryan Fowler as Jesus, Josiah and Elissa Northup, Skyah Westerman, Laurah and Jennah Kelley, Carl and Melody Rittenour, Kelli Rogalla, Tim and Katherine Sayler as townspeople. Drama director and choreographer is April Mundall. Set design is by Ron Northup, Bonnie Dunston and Ellen Juhl, backdrops by Helen Juhl, costumes by Bonnie Dunston, Ellen Juhl and Marilyn Sayler; and special effects, sound and lights by Ben and Tim Sayler.

Besides the members of the cast, other choir members include: Brandi Fort, Mindy Juhl, Glenda Olson, LeeAnn and John Mirth, Jolayne and Churck Simpson, Bonnie Dunston, Sheryl Northup, Sylvia Grindley, Marilyne Sayler and Tammi Rittenour. The musical director is Ben Sayler. He notes that this musical has some differences from those performed in years past. "We have usually had actors who have performed alongside soloists and choir. This year, the choir and actors are more integrated, and a lot of the acting is done through music. This has stretched us, but the result is exciting!

"The music is full of contrasts — from the collective suffering of the Jewish people under Roman oppression to their hope of a coming Messiah; from sober prophetic utterances to a lighthearted gossip session at the city well. The music is sometimes plaintive, sometimes happy; both haunting and humorous. Through the musical we hope to leave the audience with the sense of having experienced both the history and the personal reality of Emmanuel, God with us."

"Shout for Joy" is a rousing Yiddish melody that brings the people in Bethlehem to their feet in hopeful celebration during "Fire of Hope", a dramatic Christmas musical presented Saturday and Sunday, December 25 and 26 at Open Arms Christian Fellowship (the former Our Saviour's Lutheran Church). Beth Trontvet expresses the joy of the moment during a recent rehearsal of the musical.

Joanne Swantek as Hannah in the musical production of "Fire of Hope," is a young mother whose husband has been killed by Roman soldiers. Through her pain she cries out to God in song asking, "Are you there? Do you care?" Thirty-three years after their sons were infants in the town of Bethlehem, Hannah (Joanna Swantek) meets Mary, the older mother of Jesus (Beth Nelson). Afterwards, Hannah questions how she can believe in a Messiah who has not met her expetations. Mary gently leads her to an understanding of faith in things unseen and eternal.

Area students perform in BSU madrigal

Joseph Linder of Plummer, and Daniel Carpenter of Thief River Falls appeared in the 31st annual Madrigal Dinners presented by the Bemidji State University Music Department.

Linder is a sophomore majoring in music education. He performed in the royal court. Carpenter is a freshman majoring in English education. He performed as part of the royal court.

The Madrigal Dinners combine musical, visual, dramatic, and culinary arts to produce a popular holiday event. The dinner recreates the atmosphere of a 15th century Yuletide feast in an English castle, complete with lords, ladies, jester, troubadours, beggars, and various other characters.

The Bemidji Chamber Singers comprise the Madrigal's royal court. Other vocal, instrumental and acting parts are filled by auditions open to BSU students.

Madrigal Dinners have become a tradition in Bemidji. The performers have also performed the Madrigal Dinners in the Twin Cities, Washington, Wisconsin and New York.

St. Hilaire City Council representatives thanked Aaron Miller for his planning and construction of a warming house at the skating rink in St. Hilaire. The construction of the 12-foot by 16-foot warming house was Aaron's Eagle Scout Project. Aaron organized about 37 people from the community. They obtained donations for the warming house and then spent over 200 hours on the project. It has vinyl siding, plexiglass windows, shingles, benches on the inside and an electrical heating system. Book focuses on hockey in Minnesota

Ross Bernstein has written a book entitled "Frozen Memories: Celebrating a Century of Minnesota Hockey." The book includes many references to teams from Thief River Falls. In addition, there are some references to senior teams from Thief River Falls and the old States Dominion League.

"Frozen memories: Celebrating a Century of Minnesota Hockey," chronicles the last 100 years of hockey in Minnesota: the North Stars, Fighting Saints, all of the college and university teams, women's hockey, junior hockey, the high school tournament, the old pro teams such as the Millers, Saints, Duluth Hornets, Eveleth Reds, and even the Warroad Lakers. Neal Broten wrote the foreword and Brett Hull wrote the afterword.

Other books written by Bernstein include "Fifty Years - Fifty Heroes: a Celebration of Minnesota Sports," and "Gopher Hockey by the Hockey Gopher."

Funds raised from a fish fry at St. Bernards in December served a dual purpose — raise funds for presents and food for needy families, and help raise funds to off-set some of the medical expenses of Jake Altepeter. Jake had surgery to help control seizures. Pictured from left are Stacy Rasmussen, Beth Padilla and JoAnne Brunkhorst, student organizers of the event, and Jake Altepeter and his brother.

The telling of the Christmas story still cherished at The Times

It has been the tradition at The Times to publish the first 20 verses of the second chapter of the Book of Luke in the editorial column. I see no reason to change that tradition. If anything, there is a greater need to continue that tradition.

This Christmas story account is from The New Testament in the Language of Today, written by William F. Beck and slightly revised for its fifth printing in 1964:

Jesus is Born

Luke 2: 1-20. In those days Emperor Augustus ordered a census taken of the whole world. This was the first census, and it was taken while Quirinius was ruling Syria. Everybody went to register, each to his own town.

Joseph also went up from the town of Nazareth in Galilee to David's town, called Bethlehem, in Judea, because he was one of the descendants of David, to register with Mary, his bride, who was going to have a child.

And while they were there, the time came for her to have her child. She had her first son, and she wrapped Him up and laid Him in a manger because there was no room for them in the inn.

The Shepherds

There were shepherds not far away, living in the field and taking turns watching their flock during the night.

Then the Lord's angel stood by them, and the Lord's glory shone around them. They were terrified. "Don't be afraid," the angel said to them. "I have good news for you. A great joy will come to all the people: The Savior, who is Christ the Lord, was born for you today in David's town. And this is how you will know Him: you will find a Baby all wrapped up and lying in a manger."

Suddenly there was with the angel a large crowd of the angels of heaven, who were praising God and saying, "Glory to God in the highest heavens, and on earth peace among people who have His good will!"

When the angels had left them and gone to heaven, the shepherds said to one another, "The Lord has told us what has happened. Let's go to Bethlehem and see it."

They hurried over there and searched until they found Mary and Joseph, and the Baby lying in the manger. When they had seen Him, they told others what they had been told about this Child. And everybody was surprised to hear the story the shepherds told.

But Mary treasured all these things in her heart and kept thinking about them.

The shepherds went back, glorifying and praising God for everything they had heard and seen. It was just as they had been told.

Some things really matter

A long time ago a very young child was sent to bed early on Christmas Eve because he had the flu. Eyes closed tight in hopes that St. Nick would arrive, and in sickness, he clung stubbornly to that eagerness that fills all children with energy of a dozen elves. He finally fell asleep, but very early the next morning and before anyone else had stirred, he awoke and went to the Christmas tree. There he found a G.I. Joe doll with his name on it. With a sigh of relief, exhaustion overtook him, and with his G.I. Joe, he went back to bed and slept the kind of restful sleep his mother wanted for him when she tucked him into bed that very night.

Cherished Christmas memories like the one above are included in this edition of The Times. Many people, too many in fact to name, participated in producing this special Christmas Greetings supplement. Some of these memories will bring a tear to your eye. Some of these memories will make you laugh; but above all, it is hoped that with this edition you too will remember that special Christmas memory that you cherish.

Most of the memories are about families getting together and sharing love and peace on Jesus' birthday. These are the things that really matter, and the things that warm hearts and bring peace and happiness.

Merry Christmas from all of us at The Times.

State focuses on export opportunities

The past few weeks have been a flurry of activity for us at the Minnesota Department of Agriculture, and very little of the bustle had anything to do with the holiday season. Our focus has been on a number of activities that we hope will result in new and profitable export opportunities for Minnesota farmers.

Gene Hugoson
Minn. Dept. of Agriculture

Several weeks ago, I returned from a trade development trip to Japan with Governor Jesse Ventura. One of the major priorities of this trip was to promote Minnesota agricultural products to Japanese consumers and food processors.

While in Japan, the Governor took part in signing a trade agreement calling for Ellison Meats of Pipestone to ship 220,000 pounds of pork each month to the Nichimen Corporation of Japan. This deal is great news for the nearly 80 farm families who own and produce pork for its value-added enterprise. The connections we made with Japanese food companies will most likely lead to similar export deals for other Minnesota farmers down the road.

A week after I returned from Japan, the MDA helped host the Northern Plains Producer Conference in Fargo. One of the major goals of that conference was to assemble farmers from Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Manitoba and Saskatchewan to discuss areas of common interest. Our hope was that by meeting face to face, northern plains farmers could set aside their border disputes and work together to tackle bigger challenges of world agriculture trade, such as how to gain more access to the hard-to-crack markets of the European Union.

As the month of November came to a close, I took off the World Trade Organization (WTO) talks in Seattle. Agriculture had been touted as a primary focus of these talks, but in the end the negotiations were largely overshadowed by raucous street protests and the Clinton Administration's controversial emphasis on labor issues (which was strongly opposed by developing countries.) Trade negotiators from the United States and the Cairns Group (a coalition of South American and Pacific Rim countries) pushed hard for a total elimination of the trade-distorting subsidies of the European Union. The U.S. and Cairns negotiators made progress in this area, as they reportedly persuaded EU officials to accept language calling for "progressive elimination of export subsidies," and "progressive reduction of trade-distorting domestic supports."

Unfortunately, the progress on agricultural issues was the exception rather than the rule. Negotiations stalled on other issues such as labor and environmental standards. By the end of the week-long talks, trade officials from the 135 WTO member nations had accomplished less than they had hoped. The stalemate forced negotiators to declare a "time-out", and many went home frustrated.

Talks are expected to resume in January at the WTO headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland. While the U.S. agricultural community gained some ground in Seattle, no one is certain what will happen next. The EU agricultural negotiators have said that they want to start over from the beginning, while the U.S. and Cairns negotiators want talks to pick up where they left off in Seattle. Time will tell which side gets its way.

With Minnesota producers facing so many challenges in today's world why spend so much time and effort on expanding international trade opportunities? Because the future of our farmers depends on it.

Despite the stymied talks in Seattle, I am proud of the efforts state and national agricultural leaders have put into agricultural trade development. I am especially pleased that Governor Ventura made international trade a key element of his plan to help Minnesota farmers, because I believe that to survive in the long run, our producers must become experts in international marketing.

The slow growth in domestic food demand and the rapid growth in domestic food production means that Americans simply cannot consume all the food we grow. This gap between production and consumption has become even wider now thanks to several consecutive years of near-record harvests. As a result, we must look beyond our borders to find customers. Economists from the University of Minnesota say that if we totally removed export markets from the picture, only about 20,000 of the state's 80,000 farmers would remain in business.

As important as international markets are today, they will only become more so in the 21st century. Experts predict that the world's population will double in the next 50 years. In that same time, world food demand will triple. The reason for this is that the population growth will take place in developing countries with rising per capita income. It has been shown that when people in developing countries see an increase in their income, their first inclination is to improve their diet. That means more demand for soy oil, beef, pork, poultry and dairy — all Minnesota specialties.

That extra production will have to come from somewhere, and it might as well be Minnesota. After all, we have the fertile soil, favorable climate and solid infrastructure necessary to bring abundant crops to market year after year. That is why I hope that when the WTO talks resume, American trade negotiators continue to knock down trade barriers set up against U.S. agricultural products. I am absolutely convinced that our long-term success depends on our ability to win new customers in the world marketplace.

Some got lost in the sales tax safety net

by Rep. Jim Tunheim

In the rush to get sales tax rebate checks into the hands of taxpayers this year, some Minnesotans got lost in the shuffle and missed out on their rebate altogether. Among them are seniors and others who had no taxable income to report in 1997, the year on which the sales tax rebate was based.

I've received many phone calls and letters from constituents who did not receive a rebate. Many constituents were not aware of the June 15 deadline for filing a '97 tax return in order to qualify for the rebate and failed to get a check.

When the tax rebate originally was proposed, Gov. Ventura insisted that above all it be simple, immediate and require no additional forms to file. As a result, the Dept. of Revenue used the most current tax return information already on file (1997) to calculate the rebates in the most expeditious manner possible. Unfortunately, what's simple and fast isn't always fair.

About 120,000 Minnesotans were left out of the formula for this year's sales tax rebate. Although those Minnesotans contributed to the tax surplus by paying sales tax like everyone else, they fell through the cracks.

During the 1999 legislative session, we amended Governor Ventura's original rebate proposal to include an additional 500,000 Minnesotans. But another amendment that I supported that would have further extended eligibility for the rebate to all who were residents of the state in 1997 and were not claimed as dependents was rejected by the majority party.

To make matters worse, the Department of Revenue was of little help in getting the word out about eligibility requirements for the sales tax rebate. While the Legislature appropriated $1 million to the Revenue Department for administering the rebate program, precious little of that was spent on publicizing the requirements needed to obtain the rebate. Many Minnesotans didn't even know there were eligibility requirements in order to receive a rebate, and by the time they found out about them, the June 15 deadline for complying had passed and they were shut out.

I am working with my House colleagues to introduce legislation in the 2000 legislative session that will make this and future tax rebates more equitable for all Minnesotans. I also will seek to extend the eligibility deadline for this year's tax rebate until June 15, 2000.

All Minnesotans have contributed to our tax surpluses, and all Minnesotans should share in the surpluses. Simplicity is no substitute for fairness.

"Ever since the Social Security law became effective in 1937, the tax rate has been one percent. On and after January 1, 1950, the employer will deduct one and one-half percent from the employees' wages and will add a like amount from his own funds; in other words, when the employer files his return for the first quarter of 1950, he will pay to the collector of internal revenue three percent of the wages paid his employees during the quarter."

Turning Back The Times...

Ten Years At A Time

1879 — One Hundred Twenty Years Ago

—Will Arnold [for whom Arnold avenue in Thief River Falls will later be named] was up to the boundary line last Monday, toting his compass around a quarter section of land in dispute, trying to find out the four corners with the thermometer forty degrees below zero. (Northern Tier, Crookston)

—George Crocker [who will later become a resident of St. Hilaire] has the most elegant medical hall to be found outside of St. Paul or Minneapolis with a stock of drugs, oils, glass, varnish, medicines etc. which is complete in every department. (Northern Tier, Crookston)

—Two of Crookston's wicked editors have locked horns and are calling each other terrible names; we don't know what it's about, but the epithets "poltroon," "coward" and "liar" are unmistakable and it must be something dreadful. (Grand Forks Herald, Dakota Territory)

1889 — One Hundred Ten Years Ago

—A tri-weekly stage has been put on between Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire.

—Miss May Morgan will close her term of school west of St. Hilaire this week.

—It's well to act in such a manner that your acquaintances will swear by you and not at you.

FROM THE UPPER FALLS

THE NEWS, JOHN W. EASTMAN, PUBLISHER DECEMBER 21, 1899
THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA

THE BRIDGE
Being Built By The G. N. Across the Red Lake River.

"William Hogan, a civil engineer in the employ of the Great Northern, was in the city the first of the week and made final arrangements for the construction of a bridge across the Red Lake river, which will connect the new planing mill of the Thief River Falls Lumber company with the Great Northern line. A crew of men arrived Tuesday and a pile driver and other bridge-building tools arrived today and work is now being rushed. It is expected to have the bridge completed by the time the planing mill is finished."

WILL IT GO NORTH
Great Northern Said To Be Making Preparations.

"Persons, who should be in a position to know, claim to have inside information that the Great Northern will build from Thief River Falls to Roseau next spring. We have heard similar pipe dreams before, but this time the story seems to come with more authority. The proposed road will not touch the Thief Lake country, but will swing to the north and west to avoid the swampy land near the river and pass through the towns of Excel, Holt and Newfolden. A large grain elevator will be erected at some point at or near Newfolden.

"The same authority informs us that the Great Northern expects to extend the Red Lake Falls branch to Dugdale at about the same time thus connecting this branch with the Fosston extension. When these roads are completed trains will be run from Dugdale to the Lake of the Woods and the Crookston and St. Hilaire branch will be used merely as a freight cut off."

December 22, 1999
OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
PENNINGTON COUNTY
BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS
NOVEMBER 9, 1999 10:00 A.M.

Pursuant to adjournment, the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Pennington County Courthouse in Thief River Falls, MN Tuesday November 9, 1999 at 10:00 a.m. Members present: Bob Carlson, Charles Naplin, Don Jensen, and Arden "Bud" Comstock. Member absent Oliver "Skip" Swanson.

Howard Person, Pennington County's solid waste officer, met with the County Board to discuss solid waste issues. The County Board was informed that no new information has been received regarding the Stipulation Agreement with SWIS CORP, although, the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency is still discussing fines given to SWIS CORP in regards to what the fines are for and how SWIS will pay them. SWIS CORP did receive a $25,000.00 bond to be used for the Grand Forks landfill. This bond will create a financial assurance for the County.

Rick Nordhagen mentioned that during the November 1, 1999 windstorm, that part of the fence surrounding SWIS PENNCO was knocked down. County Auditor Kenneth Olson will contact the Minnesota Counties Insurance Trust.

Howard Person stated that the new waste oil tank is ready and will be installed at the solid waste site. All the waste oil tanks will be on a regular schedule for dumping the waste oil.

Steve Nordhagen started a discussion regarding SWIS CORP raising the tip fee from $58.50 to $61.00 or even up to $63.00. Mr. Nordhagen did not agree with any increase.

Julie Aanenson and Richard Jensen representing the Tri-Valley Opportunity Council's Housekeeping and Heartland Express met with the County Board to discuss funding for 2000. After some discussion Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Jensen to approve the $8,900.00 match appropriation to the Tri-Valley Housekeeping program for the year 2000. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to appropriate $9,852 to the Tri-Valley Heartland Express program for the year 2000. Motion unanimously carried.

Sheriff Michael Hruby met with the County Board. He stated that the Law Enforcement Center started serving breakfast for the inmates on November 8, 1999. The Public Safety Committee meeting requested Sheriff Hruby to attend to report on how well the new jail was doing.

Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to authorize Sheriff Hruby to hire Melissa Blaine as a temporary full-time dispatcher effective November 4, 1999 during the leave of Frank Bruggeman. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to authorize Chairman Carlson to sign the Emergency Management Grant in the amount of $4,000.00 on behalf of Pennington County. Motion unanimously carried.

Sheriff Hruby questioned the County Board on if it was feasible to send out a checklist to county residents regarding the Y2K situation. The County Board directed the County Sheriff to have an article in The Times and The Watch sometime in November.

The cost of housing juveniles out of the county has gotten extremely expensive. The County Sheriff has come up with a juvenile hold construction plan for the part of the old jail. His plan would not add any staff with the possibility of Minnesota Department of Corrections helping to fund the project. The County Board wants a feasibility study done and with cost estimates by Dick Rude.

Keith Thode, Pennington County Highway shop mechanic met with the County Board to discuss his position regarding the union. His current position would require him to pay union dues that he does not agree with. He requested his position be changed to assistant shop supervisor. The County Board felt the highway committee should review this issue and a statement received from Oscar Sorlie, Pennington County's attorney for union negotiations. Until that time, Keith Thode remains in the Pennington County Highway Union.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Jensen to approve a 3.2 off-sale liquor license to the Thief River Falls Golf Club for the year 2000. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to approve the August 24, 1999 County Board minutes as written. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Board discussed comments from Leonard Melin regarding the Red Lake Watershed Challenger Ditch Project #122.

Ray Sauve sent a letter stating that the ditch viewers need to wait for the spring runoff to make the final determination of the benefited area for CO #31 and JD #41. The renaming of the two ditches were discussed. The County Board agreed that JD #31W and JD #31E would work.

The County Board acknowledged a letter from Diane Disrude thanking Pennington County, the City of Thief River Falls, and the Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District for the work done in the natural drain outlet of County Ditch #1 AR/N.

The County Board discussed the Red Lake Watershed bill from the Challenger Ditch Project.

The Highway Road and Bridge Committee met to decide which motor grader was to be traded in. County Engineer Delton Schulz informed the County Board that the 1995 Champion motor grader was the committees, choice to trade. Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to authorize the County Engineer to advertise for bids on a new motor grader with a 1995 Champion motor grader for trade. Motion unanimously carried.

County Engineer Delton Schulz was directed by County Board to schedule a meeting with all of the property owners benefited by CD #38, CD #75, and CO #57. The meeting will be set for November 30, 1999 at 10:00 a.m. in the County Board room to discuss ditch concerns.

Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to approve the installation of a 48-inch corrugated metal pipe through CO #73 in the SE1/2, Section 4, TWP 152N, R39W. The estimated cost of the project is $5,000.00 including the material at $2,269.50. Motion unanimously carried.

Options were discussed regarding the janitorial services at the Government Joint Use Facility.

Wendall Tolgland contacted the County Engineer about a new approach on the east branch of JD #16. The County Board wants the approach to stay where it is at and that the beaver dams are to be removed.

Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to approve the permit to clean one additional mile of CO #75 along Section 8, TWP 153, R 39. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to authorize the purchase of a TV, VCR, refrigerator, and microwave for the Government Joint Use Facility. Motion unanimously carried.

County Engineer Delton Schulz requested the authority to purchase a 2000 pickup and a used survey van for the County Highway Department. The County Board directed the engineer to wait until the beginning of the year to request the purchase of the pickup.

The County Board received an update on the Government Joint Use Facility regarding the construction. The main item that is not complete is the roofing on both the administrative building and the maintenance building. The County Engineer indicated that funds are being withheld from the contractor and the architect until the project is complete.

Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to allow Courtenay Russ from Boy Scout Troop #109 to use a county flatbed to haul trash from the fairgrounds in the spring of 2000. Motion unanimously carried.

Northern Paving and the Pennington County Road and Bridge Committee will meet to discuss the opening or the closing of County Road #61 for the winter.

The Truth and Taxation meeting is set for December 2, 1999 at 5:00 p.m.

Wenzel calls for emergency action to support dairy prices

With milk prices plunging to the lowest level in 22 years, Rep. Steve Wenzel today called on both the state and federal governments to take emergency action - even if it takes a special session of the Legislature - to prevent widespread bankruptcies among Minnesota family dairy farmers.

"In less than a year, milk prices have plunged from over $16 to $9.79, and are likely to stay low until at least next May," Wenzel, of Little Falls, said. "In the next three months, we could see a tremendous rash of failures among Minnesota's family dairy producers, with the gains they enjoyed from higher milk prices and low feed prices earlier this year wiped out. This represents a major expansion of the farm price crisis, and demands a strong and immediate response from the state and federal government. And if we have to have a special session to take action, I believe the situation demands it."

Congress is not scheduled to return to regular session until January, while Minnesota lawmakers won't go back to St. Paul until Feb. 1. Congress could return early on its own, and Gov. Jesse Ventura could call Minnesota lawmakers back for a special session.

Members of the Friendship Club enjoyed a holiday party at the Heritage Community Center on Monday afternoon. The afternoon's activities included a gift exchange, lunch and musical entertainment. The club was organized many years ago by former Thief River Falls resident Val Chommie as a social club for people with disabilities. Since Val moved to the Twin Cities to live with her daughter, Pat Markstrom has continued her tradition as the group's coordinator. Pat is assisted by Eunice Munt and Joyce Fox. The group meets monthly at the Heritage Community Center, and its activities are funded by an allocation of the Thief River Falls Area United Way. Pat expressed her appreciation to the United Way for its assistance as well as the other volunteers who help her with the planning and implementation of the club's activities.

Christmas in schools still legal in MN

"Christmas is still legal in public schools," announced Tom Prichard, president of the Minnesota Family Institute.

"Every year we hear concerns raised by parents who have children in public schools where religious holidays have been essentially eliminated," added Prichard. "In past years, we've heard reports of schools who have banned certain Christmas carols, discussing the origin of Christmas, saying 'merry Christmas' and even red and green paper! Kids do not have to check their First Amendment rights at the door as they enter public schools."

"We believe this is the result of either a lack of knowledge about the law surrounding the so-called 'separation of church and state,' or the imposition of a politically correct orthodoxy by some school officials," explained Prichard.

The Minnesota Family Institute is disseminating a fact sheet to all superintendents and to hundreds of media organizations statewide.

Providing musical entertainment for the Friendship Club's Christmas party on Monday afternoon was Art Stordahl. Music is one of the popular activities often enjoyed by club members at monthly gatherings.

A visit from Santa (Gerald Sanders) was enjoyed by members of the Friendship Club at its annual Christmas party at the Heritage Community Center on Monday afternoon.

There are so many surveys and polls that come across the TV these days that it's disgusting to hear how they spin the facts, trying to build or destroy an idea or another person. It reminds me of the parable of the pickle. Did you know that pickles will kill you? It has been proven pickles are associated with every major illness. Eating pickles breeds communism, causes airline crashes and increases crime. For example—Nearly all sick people have eaten pickles. The effects of eating pickles is accumulative. Ninety-nine per cent of juvenile delinquents come from homes where they eat lots of pickles.

Of people born in 1865 who had eaten pickles, there has been a 100% death rate. All pickle eaters born between 1865 and 1916 have gray hair, wrinkled skin, falling eyesight and have lost most of their teeth. Science has proven the fact that rats fed 19 pounds of pickles per day for 21 days developed bulging eyes, distended abdomen and all died due to cardiac arrest. Spun stories as this makes a person concerned about repeating what you may have heard on TV, lest people will think you are a quart low.

Judy and Lois Kleinvechter were over at Kelly and Vance Jr. Lefrooth's home on Saturday to help nine-year-old Amanda Lefrooth celebrate her birthday. They said they had a very nice time. Happy Birthday, Amanda!

Roy is still on antibiotics, trying to get over the flu and has to stay inside. He never did teach me how to run the snowblower, thinking it wouldn't come a time when it might come in handy if I did understand it. Well, today we were unable to get anyone else to do it so I shoveled a path to the garage before I went and delivered the Meals on Wheels. Now I can only wish to join him in my recliner. It's hard to realize all the things required of him in a day. So I will close, fax it out and give in to the lure of the recliner, the best place for old folks.

Minnesota reports low unemployment

Minnesota Department of Economic Security Commissioner Earl Wilson has announced that Minnesota's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate for November was 2.4 percent. The November rate was up slightly from October but still under last year's 2.5 percent. This represents the 26th consecutive month of unemployment at 3.0 percent or under in Minnesota.

Non-farm employment grew by a seasonally adjusted two-tenths percent in November, slightly under last month's pace for an addition of 4,500 jobs. The big gainer (seasonally adjusted) in November was services, up about 4,000 jobs.

The state's unadjusted unemployment rate was 2.1 percent in November, matching the rate for November 1998 but up by two-tenths percent from last month.

"As Minnesota approaches the 21st century, we can be proud of our economic vitality," said Governor Jesse Ventura. "Now, our workforce development efforts should be geared toward maintaining this prosperity into the next century."

Youth from St. Bernard's held a fish fry on December 3 to raise money for presents and food for needy families in the parish. Stacy Rasmusson, Beth Pedille, and JoAnna Brunkhorst, student organizers, are pictured with some of the presents and food purchased with the funds raised from the event.

Pork export agreement will benefit MN soybean farmers

"Governor Ventura's announcement of a major pork loin export agreement between Pipestone-based Ellison Meat Company and Nichimen Corporation of Japan is good news for Minnesota's soybean producers," said Doug Magnus, Slayton, Minnesota soybean farmer who is in Japan representing soybean producers on Governor Ventura's trade mission to Japan. "The pork industry is a major value-added industry for Minnesota soybean farmers, utilizing over 750,000 tons of soybean meal annually."

Governor Ventura, Agriculture Commissioner Gene Hugoson, Trade and Economic Development Commissioner Jerry Carlson and a delegation of Minnesota business executives and farmers are in Japan on a 10-day trade mission designed to raise Japanese interest in Minnesota, particularly in its agriculture products.

"The MSR&PC has invested soybean checkoff dollars in projects specifically designed to expand meat exports to Japan," said Mike D'Leary, MSR&PC Chairman and soybean representative to the U.S. Meat Export Federation. "This agreement is a real success story for our soybean checkoff program and the soybean farmers of Minnesota."

Ellison Meat Company is owned by a group of nearly 80 southwest Minnesota family farm pork producers. They feed their hogs Minnesota-grown soybeans, producing high-quality lean pork that is processed at Swift's Worthington plant under a contract with the farmers, and then further processed by Ellison at its Pipestone plant. The farmers are part of a unique Pipestone system in which farmers jointly own and operate breeding and farrowing facilities, but raise the hog to market weight at their own family farm.

"This is a good example of what farmers can accomplish by working together and extending their reach in the food chain," D'Leary said. "It shows that Minnesota food processors are ready, willing and able to supply high-quality, safe food that meets the needs of the Japanese consumer. It also shows that Japanese food distributors and consumers have strong confidence in Minnesota products and suppliers."

In a statement from Japan, Magnus stressed the significance of the partnership between the state's hog producers and Minnesota's overseas customers.

"Nichimen Corporation is a large, diversified company with a meat import group that distributes pork to restaurants and retailers throughout Japan," Magnus said. "Their agreement with Ellison Meat Company calls for exporting nearly 100 metric tons per month of premium pork center loins and other processed pork products to Japan. This is a win-win situation for everyone."

The Minnesota Soybean Research & Promotion Council is made up of a board of 14 soybean farmers, each elected to serve on the board of directors by their fellow soybean producers. It is the responsibility of these volunteers to direct the investment of soybean checkoff dollars.

"The checkoff is collected at the time a farmer sells his soybeans at a rate of 0.5% (one-half of one percent) of the market price per bushel" O'Leary explained. "The mission of the soybean council is to give the state's producers a well-defined marketing, research and commercialization program designed to create demand, increase soybean consumption and thereby improve the profit potential for Minnesota's soybean farmers.

Local taxpayers will pay less for courts in 2000

The public will probably see little or no change in the way the court administrator's office operates after it becomes a state office in July, 2000. However, it could mean taxpayers will pay less for the growing cost of operating a court administrator's office.

Legislation approved last year authorized the change in Judicial districts 5, 7, 8 and 9. (Pennington County is located in the Ninth Judicial District.) The Eighth District has been operated by the state since 1990. This is the first step in a process which will result in all district courts being named state offices by July 1, 2003.

Ninth District Judge Dennis Murphy explained that part of the reason for the change had to to with increasing court costs. For example, a state mandate affecting the appointment of more guardian ad litems, resulted in additional costs for counties, but no funds to pay for the program. Additional costs were added when counties were forced to pay for interpreters and provide mandatory transcripts for felony and gross misdemeanor sentencings. Costs were increasing because of these programs, and problems were beginning to appear in what was being offered. "It will allow us to provide the same service throughout the state," said Judge Murphy.

Another reason for the change, Judge Murphy explained, involved a constitutional issue. Although the county has controlled the court administrator's office, through funding, the court administrator's position is a constitutional office. It should be a state office, said Judge Murphy who also sees it as a logical progression. (Not too long ago the County Court became District Court, which was a reflection of the state taking more of an active role.)

Ken Olson, Pennington County Auditor, said the county never made money operating the court administrator's office. In fact, he said, it was costing the county more and more each year.

Olson believes that in the long run, the change will be good for Pennington County, despite a loss of Homestead and Agricultural Credit Aid.

Where there's a change there's always an exchange. Pennington county and the other counties involved in the change over will lose Homestead and Agricultural Credit Aid (HACA), and all fines that had previously gone to the county.

That doesn't sit too well with Pennington County Sheriff Mike Hruby. Although he realizes that it will mean that Pennington County won't be levying for funds to operate the court administrator's office, he's stuck trying to come up with the $40,000 to $50,000 a year that his office loses in fine monies. It isn't a lot of money except when the budget is tight, like now, or

Over 400 served during Community Christmas Dinner

Over 400 people were served during the annual Community Christmas Dinner, which was held at the Evergreen Eating Emporium in Thief River Falls on Friday.

"It baffles me how that many people can be fed," said Tim Loeffler, co-chair of the event. Loeffler admitted to not having much experience with feeding that many people, and said that despite worries that they would run out of food, everything went well.

Volunteers served up 200 pounds of potatoes, 350 to 400 apples and oranges, 200 pounds of turkey, 75 pounds of potato sausage and much more. When everyone had been fed, Loeffler said they had one container of beans left, and were down to the last of the potatoes, sausage and stuffing.

The success of the community meal is the direct result of the efforts of many volunteers and civic minded individuals and organizations who donated time and food for the annual project. Loeffler said they owe all of the volunteer workers a big thank you.

This was Loeffler's fourth year as a volunteer for the community meal. He said the first couple of years they volunteered his family were just volunteers helping out where they could. A couple of years ago, they decided to dive into the project head first. "Although it's a lot of work, you get a good feeling from doing it," said Loeffler.

Dressed in matching vests and Santa caps, Dayton and Arlyene Silk, who were servers said they look forward to the event every year. Arlyene said it was her fifth year and her husband's second year. She said she started five years ago when she saw her daughters having fun working at the Christmas dinner. "We love it," said Arlyene.

Loeffler said they could always use volunteers, especially with the cleanup.

Loeffler said many people deserve praise for doing such a good job. A few of those he could name off the top of his head included Dale Wennberg, co-chair of the event, Peggy Bruzak, Ione Gonsorowski, head cook, Ken Schmalz for setting up the drivers, and Chuck and Theresa Walrath,

State promotes common sense approach to Y2K

From news stories to sensationalized television movies, consumers have been bombarded by a wide range of facts and fallacies regarding the possible effects of Y2K-related computer failures. So, should we be worried, or not? According to the Minnesota Department of Commerce, which oversees the state's energy and telephone utilities, banking and insurance industries, there is little cause for concern. After monitoring Y2K testing and preparations of the state's regulated gas, electric, and telephone utilities since 1998, the Department says that Minnesota's major utilities are well prepared for the rollover to Y2K. In addition, all state-chartered banks and credit unions have received a satisfactory rating.

"We are confident that the vast majority of Minnesotans will not experience any disruptions in their essential services," said Commerce Commissioner Steve Minn. "While 100-percent compliance cannot be assured by anyone, Y2K poses no more of a threat to utilities or financial institutions than a Minnesota storm or a bad winter day." Consequently, the department advises consumers to prepare for the New Year as they would for a long holiday weekend or a typical winter storm. Have essentials on hand such as non-perishable food, medications, and batteries for flashlights and radios. Other guidelines include:

- Be aware of any computer-controlled equipment in your home. Most appliances, including heating and cooling equipment, are not likely to be affected because they use clock rather than calendar functions. Still, it is a good idea to check with the manufacturers of

Lowell Swenson to receive the Ditinguished Fying Cross medal

Sixty-five percent of his air group shot down during the 10-month period he was stationed in Europe

Thief River Falls resident Lowell Swenson will be awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross during a ceremony at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, December 30, in the theater at Northland Community and Technical College.

Swenson was a B24 pilot during World War II. By the time he had completed 50 missions, 65 percent of his group had been shot down. During the 10-month period that Captain Swenson was in Europe, he took part in bombing raids on such important targets as the Ploesti oil refineries in Rumania, targets in Vienna, and manufacturing plants in Germany outside of Munich where jet fighters were being constructed.

Following the completion of 50 missions, Swenson said, officers had recommended to the 15th Army Air Force Headquarters that he be awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, Swenson explained that by the time the recommendation had been approved, he was already on his way home and frankly didn't give it a second thought. The award also has to be presented by a Congressman or General.

The decision, so many years later, to pursue the medal was made when his grandchildren began asking him what he did during the war.

After the war, Swenson became a Certified Public Accountant, and eventually, the owner of Arctic Cat.

On Thursday, December 30, Congressman Collin Peterson will award the Distinguished Flying Cross to Lowell. The ceremony is open to the public.

There are so many surveys and polls that come across the TV these days that it's disgusting to hear how they spin the facts, trying to build or destroy an idea or another person. It reminds me of the parable of the pickle. Did you know that pickles will kill you? It has been proven pickles are associated with every major illness. Eating pickles breeds communism, causes airline crashes and increases crime! For example—Nearly all sick people have eaten pickles. The affects of eating pickles is accumulative. Ninety-nine per cent of juvenile delinquents come from homes where they eat lots of pickles.

Of people born in 1865 who had eaten pickles, there has been a 100% death rate. All pickle eaters born between 1865 and 1916 have gray hair, wrinkled skin, failing eyesight and have lost most of their teeth. Science has proven the fact that rats fed 19 pounds of pickles per day for 21 days developed bulging eyes, distended abdomen and all died due to cardiac arrest. Spun stories as this makes a person concerned about repeating what you may have heard on TV, lest people will think you are a quart low.

Minnesota reports low unemployment

Minnesota Department of Economic Security Commissioner Earl Wilson has announced that Minnesota's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate for November was 2.4 percent. The November rate was up slightly from October but still under last year's 2.5 percent. This represents the 26th consecutive month of unemployment at 3.0 percent or under in Minnesota.

Non-farm employment grew by a seasonally adjusted two-tenths percent in November, slightly under last month's pace for an addition of 4,500 jobs. The big gainer (seasonally adjusted) in November was services, up about 4,000 jobs.

The state's unadjusted unemployment rate was 2.1 percent in November, matching the rate for November 1998 but up by two-tenths percent from last month.

"As Minnesota approaches the 21st century, we can be proud of our economic vitality," said Governor Jesse Ventura. "Now, our workforce development efforts should be geared toward maintaining this prosperity into the next century."

Youth from St. Bernard's held a fish fry on December 3 to raise money for presents and food for needy families in the parish. Stacy Rasmussen, Beth Padilla, and JoAnne Brunkhorst, student organizers, are pictured with some of the presents and food purchased with the funds raised from the event.

Pork export agreement will benefit MN soybean farmers

"Governor Ventura's announcement of a major pork loin export agreement between Pipestone-based Ellison Meat Company and Nichimen Corporation of Japan is good news for Minnesota's soybean producers," said Doug Magnus, Slayton, Minnesota soybean farmer who is in Japan representing soybean producers on Governor Ventura's trade mission to Japan. "The pork industry is a major value-added industry for Minnesota soybean farmers, utilizing over 750,000 tons of soybean meal annually."

Governor Ventura, Agriculture Commissioner Gene Hugoson, Trade and Economic Development Commissioner Jerry Carlson and a delegation of Minnesota business executives and farmers are in Japan on a 10-day trade mission designed to raise Japanese interest in Minnesota, particularly in its agriculture products.

"The MSR&PC has invested soybean checkoff dollars in projects specifically designed to expand meat exports to Japan," said Mike D'Leary, MSR&PC Chairman and soybean representative to the U.S. Meat Export Federation. "This agreement is a real success story for our soybean checkoff program and the soybean farmers of Minnesota."

Ellison Meat Company is owned by a group of nearly 80 southwest Minnesota family farm pork producers. They feed their hogs Minnesota-grown soybeans, producing high-quality lean pork that is processed at Swift's Worthington plant under a contract with the farmers, and then further processed by Ellison at its Pipestone plant. The farmers are part of a unique Pipestone system in which farmers jointly own and operate breeding and farrowing facilities, but raise the hog to market weight at their own family farm.

"This is a good example of what farmers can accomplish by working together and extending their reach in the food chain," O'Leary said. "It shows that Minnesota food processors are ready, willing and able to supply high-quality, safe food that meets the needs of the Japanese consumer. It also shows that Japanese food distributors and consumers have strong confidence in Minnesota products and suppliers."

In a statement from Japan, Magnus stressed the significance of the partnership between the state's hog producers and Minnesota's overseas customers.

"Nichimen Corporation is a large, diversified company with a meat import group that distributes pork to restaurants and retailers throughout Japan," Magnus said. "Their agreement with Ellison Meat Company calls for exporting nearly 100 metric tons per month of premium pork center loins and other processed pork products to Japan. This is a win-win situation for everyone."

The Minnesota Soybean Research & Promotion Council is made up of a board of 14 soybean farmers, each elected to serve on the board of directors by their fellow soybean producers. It is the responsibility of these volunteers to direct the investment of soybean checkoff dollars.

"The checkoff is collected at the time a farmer sells his soybeans at a rate of 0.5% (one-half of one percent) of the market price per bushel" D'Leary explained. "The mission of the soybean council is to give the state's producers a well-defined marketing, research and commercialization program designed to create demand, increase soybean consumption and thereby improve the profit potential for Minnesota's soybean farmers.

State promotes common sense approach to Y2K

your alarm systems, electronic locks, programmable thermostats, garage door openers and other electronic devices that you rely on and ask if the equipment will be affected by Y2K.

- Follow safety precautions when operating any alternative heating or cooking device. Never use open flames or charcoal grills indoors. If you plan to use a portable generator, be sure to keep it outside or in a garage with the door open.
- The safest place for your money is still your bank or credit union. If you decide to withdraw cash, hold only as much as you would for any holiday weekend. Minnesota's banks are well prepared for the date change and the Federal Reserve ensures that banks will have enough cash on hand to satisfy withdrawal requests. But remember — large amounts of cash could be lost or stolen. Your funds on deposit in a bank or credit union are federally insured.
- Keep current records of all personal financial accounts, including paper copies of bank statements, transaction receipts, investment balances, mortgage payments and other major billing records. In the weeks just before and after January 1, 2000, check all bills and receipts for accuracy.
- Stay off the phone and the Internet on New Year's Eve. While our public switched telephone network is not expected to experience Y2K related problems, too many people picking up the phone at one time can overwhelm the system. If this happens, callers may get a message that the circuits are busy or there may be silence. In that case, the smart thing to do is stay on the line and wait for a dial tone, according to US West. Do not keep hanging up and picking up the phone as this will only perpetuate the problem.
- Beware of Y2K scams. Be skeptical of anyone selling products, service or investment that is "Y2K safe", or of any offers for Y2K insurance. Do not provide financial account information (bank account, credit card, or Social Security number) to people you don't know.

"The industries we oversee are well prepared for the Y2K rollover," said Minn. "The built-in redundancies of our critical service systems, along with comprehensive contingency plans, will go a long way to avoid service disruptions."

Consumers wanting more information on their individual utility's Y2K status should contact the utility directly; or visit the Department's web site at www.dpsv.state.mn.us.

Local taxpayers will pay less for courts in 2000

always, laughed Sheriff Hruby.

To Sheriff Hruby, it's another unfunded mandate. "They take it away from us," he said, "and don't give us anything in return."

Thief River Falls Police will still be receiving fine money from cases it handles, but Chief Ken Froschheiser is still concerned. Chief Froschheiser is worried about losing local control, and said he hopes that the practice of turning over revenue from fines to the city will continue.

Judge Murphy sees the change as a good thing for counties. The legislators, he said, even thought of it as a sort of property tax relief.

Paul Maatz, deputy district court administrator, said he doesn't believe citizens will see any change in the way the court administrator's office is being operated. Maatz said it's really about who's paying the bills.

Thief River Falls Archery Club focuses on youth and family

After school youth league ends and regular league season begins next week

by Kathi Carlson
Times Reporter

Nothing beats the winter doldrums better than taking up a new pastime or renewing a hobby that you have enjoyed in the past.

Last evening members of the board of directors of the Thief River Falls Archery Club got together to prepare the indoor range ready for the new season where members — old and new — can enjoy several months of indoor target shooting. The range is located above the old arena in downtown Thief River Falls.

Archery Is A Family Affair

In recent years the popularity of archery has increased to make it one of the country's fastest growing sports enjoyed by men as well as a growing number of women and youth.

The Thief River Falls club is no exception with several female shooters and many young people with the club's membership including husbands and wives, fathers and sons and/or daughters and entire families.

Encouraging Youth

The local club is committed to providing archery opportunities for the community's young people.

For many years, the archery club has provided the manpower and equipment for a booth at the annual Voyageur Trails District Scout Expo in April. The ever present line-up of boys, girls and parents waiting to shoot signifies the activity's popularity.

Members of the club also provide instruction at Cub Scout, Girl Scout and 4-H camps as well as taking part in the annual Activity Day at Franklin Middle School, and other special youth activities in the community. In addition to instruction, the archery club also provides entertainment with its trick shooting archery exhibition team available to perform at area events.

For the past two years the club and the Community Education Department of School District 564 have co-sponsored an after school archery league for youth between the ages of 8 and 16 years of age. Jon Klos provided instruction for this year's program which was held after school on Wednesdays. Funded by a grant, the program is part of the school district's After School Enrichment program.

This year 33 youth, 27 boys and 6 girls, participated in the program, increasing the number of participants significantly over last year. While some youth owned their own equipment, others utilized the youth equipment owned by the archery club.

A pizza party last Wednesday afternoon marked the end of the program's season. Travis Mattson was this year's high scorer with a recurve bow, and Brandon Narlock was the high shooter using a compound bow. Named most improved was Dasty Gagner with a recurve and Wyatt Alby with a compound bow.

Reasonable Costs, Year-Round Fun

Everyone who joins the Thief River Falls Archery Club gets a lot of value for his or her dollars.

The club's $30 membership fee entitles its members to unlimited use of the club's five-lane certified and inspected indoor archery range with the exception of Thursday evenings and Sunday mornings when the facility is used by the Thief River Falls Rifle Club. The range is located above the old arena, and $12 of the membership cost goes to the City of Thief River Falls for a user's fee. For a one-time charge of $5, each member receives his or her own key to the facility. The old arena has housed the archery range since 1952.

Membership also entitles members to the use of the club's 14-target outdoor field course located southwest of the Thief River Falls Airport on land owned by the City of Thief River Falls. Hailed as one of the best outdoor courses in the state, it has been given a three-star rating by the National Field Archers Association. For the 47 years of its existence, the course has been maintained by the club's board of directors and volunteer members.

Numerous events are held for members and their families throughout the year, including several indoor 3-D and target tournaments, a number of outdoor 3-D and target tournaments, a spring bow fishing event, an annual fall weekend club bow hunt and an annual family picnic.

The club also provides its members with the use of equipment which includes an arrow straightener, arrow fletching jig, compound bow maintenance jig and bow poundage tester. The club also owns several recurve bows and arrows for the children of its members to enjoy.

Leagues To Start Soon

Each year 20 to 25 four-man teams form to participate in the league competition that takes place between the second week in January and the end of April.

To encourage more women and youth shooters, the club waives its $20 league fee for new members in their first year. Also, family discounts are available.

Team divisions include cub, youth, young adult and adult men and women, and classes are determined by what type of equipment is used.

The results of team scores accumulated during the season determine places and which teams will compete for first place honors at the end of the season in April. Awards are also given to individual archers who accumulate points throughout the season.

These awards, as well as the club's traveling trophy for its Archer of the Year, are presented at the organization's annual banquet traditionally held on the last Friday evening in April. Archers, whose meals are paid for from their membership fee, are encouraged to bring their families to enjoy the evening which includes a program, awards, numerous prizes donated by area businesses, special games for the youngsters as well as fund-raising activities.

Sharing Its Resources With The Community

Successful fund-raising and careful management of its finances have afforded the Thief River Falls Archery Club the opportunity to share its resources with other organizations in the community.

In addition to sponsoring and providing manpower for numerous youth activities and providing a bow hunting education class, the archery club has provided funding for the Lincoln High School After Prom Party, Arctic Lites Gymnastics club, Little Brother/Little Sister program, Minnesota Deer Hunters Association and UFFDA hunt for archers with disabilities. The club also sponsors and provides instruction for the 4-H Shooting Sports project and the Envirothon competition. Food items are collected for the Thief River Falls Area Food Shelf at an annual spring tournament.

New Members Welcome

Membership sign-up for the upcoming season will be held between 5 and 7 p.m. from Monday, January 3 through Wednesday, January 5 at the indoor range above the old arena.

The club's board of directors includes Dana Klos, president; Marv Carlson, vice president; Wayne Johanson, secretary; Darrel Janisch, treasurer; and directors Al Hugg, Dave Mugaas, Dale Narlock, Jim Carlson, Gary Blakely, Paul Waswick, Steve Broten and Jason Hruby and youth director Chad Bomeman.

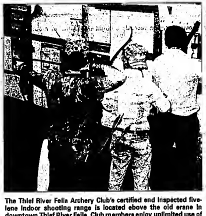
Anyone wanting more information about the club can call any of its officers or directors or stop by the indoor range next week. Those interested in taking up archery as a new pastime will also find these people willing to provide advice about equipment and encouragement, too.

Over the years the Thief River Falls Archery Club has produced many excellent archers, including state champions and national competitors.

Many of the community's seasoned archers will recommend the sport as an excellent parent/child activity and a great way to make winter go by a little faster.

Bow fishing is one of many annual activities enjoyed by members of the Thief River Falls Archery Club. Terry Venthof of Red Lake Falls is one of the club's members who takes part in the annual event.

Along with the Community Education Department of School District 564, the Thief River Falls Archery Club recently sponsored an after school archery league for area youth. Jon Klos was the instructor for the league which was part of the district's After School Enrichment program. The youth enjoyed pizza last Wednesday at a party celebrating the end of this year's program.



The Thief River Falls Archery Club's certified and inspected five-lane indoor shooting range is located above the old arena in downtown Thief River Falls. Club members enjoy unlimited use of the range with exception to Thursday evenings and Sunday mornings when the facility is used by the Thief River Falls Rifle Club. Membership sign-up will be held January 3-5 from 5 to 7 p.m. at the range.

SPEAKING OF . . .

Sherry LaCoursiere
[illegible]

...A Wish for You in the New Millennium

May your hair, your teeth, your platelets, your abs and your stocks not fall, and may your viral load, your blood pressure, your triglycerides, your cholesterol, your white count and your mortgage interest not rise.

May you get a clean bill of health from your gastroenterologist, your hepatologist, your cardiologist, your urologist, your proctologist, your podiatrist, your psychiatrist, your dentist, your plumber and the IRS.

May you find a way to travel from anywhere to anywhere in the rush hour in less than an hour, and when you get there may you find a parking space.

May Friday evening, December 31, find you seated around the dinner table, together with your beloved family and cherished friends, ushering in the New Year ahead. You will find the food better, the environment quieter, the cost much cheaper, and the pleasure much more fulfilling than anything else you might ordinarily do that night.

May you wake up on January 1 finding that the world has not come to an end, the lights work, the water faucets flow and the sky has not fallen.

May you go to the bank on Monday morning, January 3, and find your account is in order, your money is still there, and any mistakes are in your favor.

May you ponder on January 4, "How did this ultramodern civilization of ours manage to get itself traumatized by a possible slip of a blip on a chip made out of sand?"

May you have the strength to go through a year of presidential campaigning, and may some of the promises made be kept. May you believe at least half of what the candidates propose, and may those elected fulfill at least half of what they promise, and the miracle of reducing taxes and balancing budgets happen.

May what you see in the mirror delight you, and what others see to you delight them.

May the telemarketers wait to make their sales calls until you finish dinner, and may your check book and your budget balance, and may they include generous amounts for charity.

May you remember to say "I love you" at least once a day to your spouse, your child and your parent, but not to your secretary, your nurse, your masseuse, your hairdresser or your tennis instructor.

May we live as intended, in a world at peace and with the awareness of the beauty in every sunset, every flower's unfolding petals, every baby's smile and every wonderful, astonishing, miraculous beat of our heart.

Best wishes for the coming year.

In Loving Memory of Gordon Wold

In sad, but loving memory of our father who passed away ten years ago Christmas Day.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember him who once was here,
And who, though absent, is just as dear.

Sadly missed by
Your children and family

PRAIRIE RAMBLING

Gretchen Beito

PRAIRIE RAMBLINGS

In 1965, our children did not have their usual bedtime the night before Christmas. Our pre-school age children, David and Kathryn, could play with their new toys as long as they liked.

Her dad and I loved to watch Kathryn with her new "Larry the Lion." The shaggy lion was a monster of a thing for her to carry around, but nothing could separate her and the gift she had insisted upon. Larry was a remarkable Lion, one that talked. When she pulled a ring on its neck and let it go, the lion's mouth moved and he said, "I'm ferocious, aren't I?" or "Rrrrroar, I scared myself," or any one of a dozen sayings.

Later that night we packed our suitcases and more wrapped gifts into the car and took off for the depot. We had decided to take the train to Minneapolis to visit the relatives because roads were ice-covered that winter.

Kathryn was quite the attraction as she lugged her big lion around the waiting room. "Rrrrroar," the lion would say, "You wanttu fight?"

At 11:20 p.m. the four of us boarded the Winnipeg Flyer bound for Minneapolis and slept through the long trip. Kathy went to sleep, hugging her new lion.

At 7 a.m. Grandmother and Uncle John were waiting for us at the Milwaukee Depot in Minneapolis. As the small girl proudly carried her lion from the train gate, Grandmother asked Kathryn, "Did you get what you wanted for Christmas?

"I did not get my motorcycle!" Kathy exclaimed.

We had never before heard about a motorcycle. But that was the last we heard of it: Larry the Lion was Kathryn's favorite toy, and no wonder. "I'm a very, very, very brave lion," Larry would declare. Or, he would repeat, "I'm King of the Jungle." Larry returned to Thief River Falls with us and remained one of Kathryn's special toys.

One day one of Kathy's friends decided that Larry was an outboard motor. Kathy's friend pulled hard on the ring, over and over and over: "I'm starting the motor," he said. Suddenly he exclaimed, "Ooops! It broke. I'm sorry!" The string had been pulled out.

That was not the end of the loved toy: Kathryn's dad tried to repair the lion, but the lion remained a quiet one. He was too precious to discard, and Larry ended up in a box in the basement.

On a house-cleaning day, Larry went back to the workbench where one last attempt was made to repair him. Finally, the silent lion was relegated to the garage where he only collected dust. His mane was no longer golden, and Larry's once elegant long tail drooped dejectedly. Larry was so dusty and useless, took up so much room, that out he went.

Not long after Larry disappeared permanently, we became grandparents.

"What ever happened to Larry the Lion?" Kathryn's brother asked.

When told of Larry's fate, Dave declared, "I cannot believe you would toss out Kathy's lion!"

We thought that was the end of it, but just before Christmas this year, Dave called. "Come, see what I have in my office!" he said.

I could not believe it. When I went in, Dave retrieved a box from behind his desk. In it was Larry the Lion! The big lion was a little worn, but I pulled the ring and he said, "Let's roar like this. Rrrroar." "I'm a friendly lion."

Larry Two had come by insured mail from a household in Universal City, Texas. Dave had successfully bid on Larry Two on E-Bay on the Internet.

Kathy has a three-year old daughter of her own now, and I said, "What a great Christmas gift for Rebecca!"

"No," said Dave, smiling broadly. "This is for Kathy."

ACTIVITIES

New Year's Shakers

These snazzy shakers would be a great addition to your New Year's celebration!

Decorate a paper-towel roll with crayons or markers. Trace and cut out a star from cardboard and decorate it any way you want. Tape or glue the star to one end of the paper-towel roll. Cut lengths of curling ribbon to tape onto the points of the star. Then shake, shake, shake the shakers to bring in the new year!

PARENTING TIPS

"Difficult" Times With Children

Research has shown that children are more frequently frustrated in the late morning and late afternoon. This has been associated with hunger, tiredness and illness. If your child becomes "difficult" at the same time each day, you may wish to rearrange the family schedule to eliminate or reduce the fussy period. Schedules can be rearranged in many ways:

- Changing mealtimes.
- Providing snacks.
- Changing sleeping or napping times.
- Instituting a quiet time.
- Omitting, rescheduling or reducing house cleaning, cooking simpler meals and freezing them, etc. (and spending more time with your child).

When you are looking for ways to reconstruct time, determine what the underlying needs for you and your family are and then generate as many ways as possible to meet these needs.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk to your child about what will happen next, for instance "after playing, we will have snacks." Sometimes a child's fussy time can be reduced if he/she knows what will happen next.

Down On The Farm

Eric Bergeson

During the summer, I promise myself not to drive in bad weather next winter. When winter comes, however, our minds work differently, and inevitably I find myself out in dangerous conditions, usually for no good reason.

After working outside all day in the summer, one's house is a refuge in the evenings. It is a joy to sit back in the recliner and turn on a Twin's game.

But after spending all day inside during the winter, one's house seems like a prison. You can't open the windows. It gets dark so early that six o'clock is indistinguishable from eleven o'clock. Watching television doesn't have the same appeal.

Even reading is no fun when one gets cabin fever. Ideally, winter would be a time to curl up with a good book for hours, even days, on end. But when winter hits, I am more likely to pace from one end of the house to the other than I am to read.

We all remember the winter of 1997. I am sure the generations to follow will get sick of hearing us tell about it. For the record, I believe there were thirty blizzards that winter, and in the end we had between twelve and fifteen feet of snow. The snowbanks were over the treetops. Those of us lucky enough to survive will never forget.

Anyway, I was trapped in my trailerhouse during one of those blizzards. It was a Saturday night, and it was forty below. Wind gusts were up to forty miles per hour, and there was plenty of fresh snow to blow around.

My trailer house felt like solitary confinement. I had to get out of there. To make matters worse, I knew that there was karaoke in town that night. I love to sing karaoke, and getting to town became more important by the minute.

Although I knew it was insane, I jumped in the pickup and took off. Visibility was low. The drifts were hard. There were no tracks visible. I drove the nine miles to town at about thirty miles-per-hour.

Half-way to town, I had regrets. What if I froze to death out there? Was karaoke worth the risk? If I didn't make it, as one of my neighbors said once, the minister would have quite a time making sense out of that one.

I pushed on. I arrived to find the parking lot at the karaoke place completely full. I went inside. The place was packed. Apparently quite a few people felt they had to get out of the house. Not a word was mentioned about the blizzard.

A good time was had by all, but I knew that I would wake up one night next summer in a cold sweat, swearing never to drive in such bad weather again.

BOOK REVIEWS

Timeline by Michael Crichton tells of the story of a group of historians who travel back to the 14th Century feudal France using the latest computer technology. On the New York Times fiction bestseller list.

Atlantic Found by Clive Cussler pits Dirk Pitt and his team against an ancient maritime wreck that even now could destroy the earth. On the New York Times fiction bestseller list.

The Greatest Generation Speaks by Tom Brokaw is a must read. Brokaw's book The Greatest Generation touched a number of lives and so many letters poured into Brokaw from people who fought in World War II, he decided to do a sequel. Definitely as good as the first. On the New York Times non-fiction bestseller list.

Question of the Month

Could you have a book discussion group? The library hosts a book discussion group during the winter months. We have polled people for the best times and tried them at those times. This year, the two biggest suggestions were to have a monthly book discussion group and to have it on a topic rather than on a specific book. Because we had a poor turnout for the book discussion group last year at noons, we are going back to the evening book discussion group on the third Thursday of the month. The January book discussion group will be held at 7 p.m. on January 20 and will focus on youth fantasy literature. While the Harry Potter books are the currently most popular of this genre, there are a number of other books that are available and a list of some of the titles that the TRF Public Library owns can be obtained at the circulation desk. There is no pre-registration for this group and people are encouraged to just come and enjoy. The topic for February is mystery books and the topic for March is books by Minnesota authors.

Cross-country ski trails open at Old Mill

As of December 23, two miles of the cross-country ski trail at Old Mill State Park are open and groomed. The rest of the trail system will be groomed when adequate snow is received. Anticipated snow may allow grooming of all of the trail system by December 29.

Old Mill State Park is located in Marshall county in Northwest Minnesota. The park is 13 miles east of Argyle, or 11 miles west of Newfolden. Access to the Park is one-half mile off County State Aid Highway 4.

Old Mill State Park contains examples of the landscape as seen by the first settlers over a century ago. In the winter, visitors can cross-country ski on seven miles of groomed trail that loops through level, open tall-grass prairie and winds through the rolling forest that follows the Middle River's shoreline. The mature forest that lines a river in the open plains of the prairie is sometimes called a gallery forest. This describes the wooded shoreline of the Middle River here at Old Mill.

In the late 1800s a pioneer family from Sweden settled at this location and built a grist mill to turn the grain of local farmers into flour. This family also brought seeds from their homeland of a pine tree we now call Scots Pine and planted these seeds on the west side of the river. Four matriarchs and offspring of these Scots pines from Sweden shade the trails and are draped with snow in the winter.

Old Mill State Park was formed in 1937 and later took its name from the grist mill. The final mill operated by the family was restored in 1958 and is operated once a year by the Marshall County Historical Society and Park staff in August.

Two pine plantations put in circa 1940-1950 by Boy Scout and volunteer groups shelter segments of the trails in the park. This combination of prairie, aspen parklands, river forests and pine plantations provide habitat for a variety of animals and birds. Winter sightings of long-eared owls, barred owls, evening grosbeaks, short-eared owls, crossbills, and sharp-sinned hawks have been recorded by park visitors. An occasional moose has been sighted wandering through the park to browse on aspen and dogwood. More often a visitor will see the tracks of these unique mammals.

The picnic area of the park is on the National Historic Registry with excellent examples of stonework from the Works Projects Administration of the 1930-1940s. The park has a warming shelter (one of the historic buildings) and a hillside that is popular for sliding. A groomed snowmobile trail link allows access to the warming shelter in the park from the extensive network of grain-tin-aid trails in Marshall county. Cross-country ski and snowshoe rental is available in the park. Special winter activities planned include a candlelight ski, horse-drawn sleigh rides and snowshoe hikes. Dates of all winter activities are weather dependent.

MN Extension Service says expect positive things from teens

Expect positive things from teenagers? Absolutely. Teens can be enjoyable to be around if you expect positive things and get to know them as unique individuals. But if you assume that teenagers will be difficult and hard to get along with, there's a good chance they will be.

Anything — positive or negative — that we believe about ourselves and others can affect the way we act, says Ron Pitzer, family sociologist with the University of Minnesota Extension Service. He says, "If we buy into the negative images put on teenagers, we may end up with difficult teenagers; partly because that's what we expected."

Teens may also think, "If I'm going to get blamed for it anyway, I may as well do it." Pitzer says we communicate our expectations to youngsters through tone of voice, facial expressions, touch and posture.

"These expectations could influence the child's perceptions of him or herself in a helpful or harmful way," Pitzer says. "Children are apt to live up to our live down to what they perceive is expected of them."

"We see many examples of stereotyping teens as a negative group in our society," Pitzer says. "Parents need to guard against this type of prejudice. Like all of us, teenage children will have their difficult times. It may happen often!"

"But becoming a teen doesn't guarantee problems. Parents and teens may get along better if they can get to know each other as the unique individuals they are."

Pitzer has helped develop a "Positive Parenting of Teens" package for educators who work with parents of 10- to 15-year olds. For training or program information, contact Ron Pitzer at 612-625-8169; or, visit the web site at www.parenting.umn.edu

Minnesota's 1999 bear hunting harvest figure well short of DNR goal

Minnesota hunters harvested 3,582 bears during the 1999 season, it was reported by the Department of Natural Resources.

Although the 1999 harvest was the third highest ever (following nearly 5,000 bears taken in 1995 and 4,110 in 1998), it was 28 percent below the harvest goal of 5,000.

Harvests in all individual bear management units were below goal, despite a record 20,840 bear hunting permits offered in the 11 quota areas across northern Minnesota, and an additional unlimited number of permits outside of the quota areas.

Hunting success was only 22 percent this fall. Yearly hunting success rates average about 30 percent, but vary between 15 and 42 percent depending on availability of natural foods. Poor hunting success, especially in western Minnesota, was due to an abundance of acorns, a preferred food for bears. Many hunters noted that bears stopped visiting their baits just about the first of September, the first day of the season.

Besides the abundance of acorns in many areas, weather conditions on the opening weekend also played a part in the poor hunting success rate.

The low harvest will enable the bear population to grow more rapidly than desired, according to the DNR. The prehunt population was estimated at 27,000. The population is growing at 6 to 7 percent per year. To increase future bear harvests, the DNR is considering opening the 2000 bear season one week earlier than the traditional Sept. 1 opener.

Applications for the 2000 bear hunting season should be available in early April. Application deadline for permits will be May 5, 2000.

Gavin Martell of Thief River Falls tried to break away from Josh Gornowicz of Warren-Alvarado-Oslo during their 145-pound match in a Tuesday (Dec. 21) wrestling duel at Lincoln High School. Gornowicz recorded a third period pin. The Prowlers won their 1999-2000 home debut 59-18.

TRF boys edge Minot 2-1 at Grand Forks tournament...

Prowlers win overtime game

It took overtime, but the Thief River Falls boys broke into the win column for the first time Monday with a 2-1 decision over Minot, ND in the opening round quarterfinals of the second annual Grand Forks Hockey World/Bauer Holiday High School Hockey Tournament.

The Prowlers did it in dramatic fashion. Down 1-0, Thief River Falls pulled goalie Mike Dowers for an extra attacker in the final minute, and the move resulted in a game-tying goal by Steve Wiseth with just 35 seconds remaining.

Brady Anderson then scored the game-winner 1:32 into an eight-minute sudden death overtime.

It was a continuation of a string of down-to-the-wire finishes for the 1-4-2 Prowlers, whose last four starts resulted in two ties, three overtimes, a one-goal loss, and now a one-goal win.

"We played okay," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland. "That's a team we should have beat by four-five goals. We struggled."

But it wasn't the offense that concerned Bergland. "I thought our forwards maybe played their best game of the season," he said. "They had a lot of chances; we just didn't put the puck in the net."

Dowers turned in a strong 27-save matinee performance. "Our goaltending was solid," confirmed Bergland. "Our defensemen struggled."

Since losing a 7-1 season-opening decision to Roseau, the Prowlers, with Dowers in the nets, have given up just 14 goals in their last six games – surrendering an average of just 2.3 goals per game.

The lone Minot goal was scored by Tyler Price with only 35 seconds left in the first period.

"We're not giving up many goals," pointed out Bergland. "If we can average three goals a game ourselves, we'll win most of the time."

The Thief River Falls win was just one of three first round overtime games in the tournament played at Purpur Arena and Eagles Arena in Grand Forks. However, the extra sessions failed to break the two other ties, and shootouts were needed to advance a winner – Grafton-Park River over Crookston and Bismarck over Red Lake Falls. The games go down on the season records as ties.

Host Grand Forks Red River, the Prowlers' Tuesday semifinal foe, shut out Duluth Central 6-0 in the final first day match-up.

■ Semifinals Tuesday, Dec. 28 - (consolation round-Eagles Arena) Crookston vs. Red Lake Falls, 12-noon, Minot vs. Duluth Central, 5 p.m.; (championship round-Purpur Arena) Grafton-Park River vs. Bismarck, 2:30 p.m.; Thief River Falls vs Grand Forks Red River, 7 p.m.

MCCC weekly awards won by NCTC players

Latest Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division Basketball Player of the Week honors went to a pair of sophomores from Northland Community and Technical College.

Matt Moen of Fosston and Jessica Johnson of Warroad were the Pioneers receiving the awards, which are presented on a weekly basis to the top players in MCCC men's and women's basketball.

Moen averaged 28.5 points and 11.5 rebounds in the Pioneers' last two starts – an 85-77 win over Minot State University-Bottineau on Dec. 14 and an 82-80 loss to Lake Region Dec. 18.

Johnson averaged 20.5 points, 15.5 rebounds and 5.5 assists per game to lead the Northland women to wins over Hibbing 64-54 and Mesabi Range 50-46 at the Dec. 17-18 Mesabi Invitational.

The two Northland teams are currently idle for the holidays. They resume play with a Wednesday, Jan. 5, doubleheader at home against Providence College, a four-year Canadian school from Manitoba.

That will be the final nonconference tune-up for the both teams, who will open their 1999-2000 MCCC schedule with Jan. 7-8 games at Mesabi Range and Vermilion. Top four regular season finishers in both the Northern and Southern Divisions earn state tournament berths.

Rick Nikunen-coached Northland men took a 3-8 record into the schedule break. The Northland women, coached by Mike Zachow, are 4-5.

Among the Northern Division men, Moen ranks No. 3 in scoring with a 21.7 average. Teammate Jason Pinkney ranks No. 4 on the rebound charts with an average of 10.4 per game.

Shanna Keskitalo of Northland is the leading rebounder among Northern Division women with 12.2 per game. Johnson is No. 4 in the same category with an average of 8.5.

In the latest MCCC rankings, the coaches selected Anoka-Ramsey No. 1 in both the men's and women's voting. Vermilion was second in the men's poll, followed by Fergus Falls, Minneapolis and Ridgewater. Rochester was second in the women's poll, followed by Fergus Falls, Bethany and Vermilion.

■ In his December Prowler Newsletter, Lincoln High School head football coach Jeff Mumm reported that he is waiting to see if Thief River Falls has been accepted into the Sea Range Conference, where the Prowlers would join Cloquet, Duluth Central, Duluth Denfeld, Duluth East, Grand Rapids, Hibbing and Virginia. They have faced Grand Rapids, Hibbing and Virginia in recent years. Administration and board approval is needed before move can be completed. Conference membership would be a major help in the scheduling department for the Prowlers, who have been facing a never-ending problem to fill out an eight-game regular season slate of games.

IRS looking for Minnesotans who have tax refunds due

The Internal Revenue Service is looking for more than 1,000 Minnesotans. These people have undelivered federal tax refunds available to them, according to the IRS.

The most common reason for an undelivered refund is that the name or address on the return is incorrect. Some people move and do not give IRS their new address. The 1,094 refunds are all that remain from the over one million checks sent to people in Minnesota this year.

The refund checks are not issued by local IRS offices, but are mailed six to eight weeks after a person contacts the agency. People who believe they are due refunds from returns filed for 1998 or earlier should call the IRS toll-free at 1-800-829-1040. The lines are open 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. For all inquiries, a person should have on hand the name and address as it appears on the return, social security number, type of tax return, year for which the return was filed, and dollars amount of the refund.

The IRS says one way to avoid the delay of an undelivered refund is to send the agency a change of address, Form 8822, when moving. You can also avoid a lost, stolen, or undeliverable refund by having it deposited directly into your checking or savings account. About one in four refund recipients chose this option this year.

Direct deposit is available regardless of whether you fill out your return yourself, have it filed electronically, or use the services of a professional tax preparer. It's also available to those who do their returns over the phone using the agency's TeleFile system.

ECHOES FROM THE PAST

From the Pages of The Times

50 Years Ago • December 29, 1949

Red Lake Electric Co-op In New Home

"Friday, December 16, was a big day for Red Lake Electric Co-op Incorporated, for on that day the cooperative starting moving into its new $100,000 headquarters building in the southwestern part of Red Lake Falls, says the Gazette of that city.

"The new building was completed by the Sauers Construction company, after unavoidable delay due to the non-arrival of materials. The contract for the construction was let last spring. No date has yet been set for the dedication but arrangements are being made to have a good speaker for the occasion."

900 Children Guests At Free Movie Party Friday

"Approximately 900 children from throughout the Thief River Falls community strained the capacity of the Falls theatre last Friday afternoon, when they were guests at a free movie show sponsored by the Pharmacy, Bridgeman Creameries and the theatre management. Following the show, treats were presented to the youngsters."

Farmers Union Head Hits At Egg Price Slump

"Roy E. Wiseth of Goodridge, president of the Minnesota Farmers Union, said Saturday in Wilmar that the Brannan farm plan would have averted the 'disastrous' drop in egg prices according to press dispatches. Wiseth charged that the agriculture act of 1949 failed to include adequate protection for the egg producer. He said the act was at the root of the downward egg price trend which began when federal purchases of eggs were curtailed this month."

Heat Being Turned On This Week At Water Treatment Plant

"Construction of the new municipal water treatment plant has progressed to the point where heat can be turned on in the first floor this week, City Engineer Douglas Stewart reported. At the same time work is progressing on the laying of brick on the second floor walls. Stewart added that work on the new First street bridge also is making steady headway. Concrete was poured last Thursday for the footings of the west pier, and excavation work is underway for the west abutment."

Normal Training Party

"The Normal [Teachers] Training department entertained at a Christmas party last Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the high school gymnasium. Gifts were exchanged and games and contests proved delightful entertainment until 11:30 when a delicious luncheon was served. About thirty normal training students; the instructors, Miss Alice Stapleton and Miss Loretta Kopriva, Supt. I. T. Simley, Supt. O. K. Sande and Principal Morris Bye were present."

Children's Party

"On Saturday, December 20th, the local travelling men entertained the children at the Masonic hall. It goes without saying that the event was one that the kiddies have been looking forward to and their expectations were fulfilled in every respect. The ladies accompanied the children to the hall at 2 p.m. and the afternoon was spent in games. John Ward, dressed up in his Zu-Zu clown suit, entertained the kids royally featuring his performance on the one-string fiddle. There was speech-making, novelty dancing and while the merriment was at its height, Santa Claus appeared on the scene and after viewing the Christmas tree, which had been artistically decorated, he proceeded to pass out goodies to the children headed by their leader, the Zu-Zu clown. At 5 p.m. the children were guests of honor and a chicken dinner was served them while Mother and Dad had to wait. The members and their ladies also enjoyed a 6 o'clock dinner and the latter part of the evening was spent in a social way. All those who attended will look forward to the children's party in December, 1925. Those who did not attend should bear it in mind."

THE PINE SUPPLY

"Some newspapers are just now discussing the probable ending of the lumber business in Minnesota. An estimate was made that the business would end soon, and Frederick Weyerhaeuser gave the following opinion on the matter: The idea that the pine supply of Minnesota will be exhausted in five years is foolish and the statement that only 7,000,000,000 feet of standing pine remain is wide of the truth. Our mills, the Pine Lumber company at Little Falls, and the Cloquet Lumber companies at Cloquet, have timber enough to stock them for fifteen or twenty years, and we are buying more all the time. Our new mill at Lake Nebagamon will be sawing for 14 years. I would be willing to accept an estimate of twenty-five billion feet in Minnesota and pay a good price for it. I believe the total amount is nearly 40 billion."

Nationally, regionally, personally, Y2K -- ho, ho. . . hum.

The stock market hasn't crashed, people don't seem to be hoarding supplies, putting concertina wire around their homes, or cashing in their stocks, bonds and bank accounts. In general, people seem to be approaching the new year and Y2K with a collective, but cautious "so-what."

I believe there has been a gross exaggeration of what could happen. There was no need to speculate and generate fear, but there has been quite a bit of speculation, followed by movies and television series. I guess that's just entertainment to some. But truly, there was only a need to solve the problem. Thankfully, some have attacked the problem instead of adding to the hype; and it is only because some set aside the hype and addressed the problem, that I believe that there will be few if any problems as a result of Y2K.

For those of you who are blissfully unaware of what it is, Y2K is the name given to a computer problem. Basically, in an effort to save computer memory, some computer programmers used a two-digit abbreviation, such as '99 instead of 1999. On January 1 when these computers (some, not all) record '00, it is feared that computers will shut off, fail, or create functional or data errors. (By the way, most appliances and autos, do not have date related functions, and therefore pose no Y2K-related problems.)

When programmers became aware of what could happen, they began trying to fix the problem. Fixing the problem has been the goal of many citizens. Employees at utility departments, banks, law enforcement and other essential, but often taken-for-granted, offices have put in many long hours trying to fix the problem. The Y2K non-event that I anticipate, is the result of hard work on the part of many people. That hard work hasn't ceased. When asked what many of these hard-working people will be doing on New Year's Eve, their answer will probably be — working!

So, it seems odd, if not inappropriately comical that when computers record January 1, 2000, and nothing happens, you will have these people to thank. Yes, you'll be thanking them for — well not quite "nothing", but you get the idea.

Although I believe there has been an exaggeration of Y2K, it's nothing to joke about or be complacent about. Locally, The Times carried a supplement on Y2K, which included stories and statements from utilities, hospitals, clinics, banks and many others in our community indicating their preparedness for Y2K. I hope many of you held onto your copy of "Y2K and You." It was a very informative and useful publication. It shows that many of our friends and neighbors spent long hours trying to solve the problem.

Like a lot of people, I believe there has been a gross exaggeration of the problem. I'm not taking the threat lightly though. I'm preparing to face the new year in the unlikely event that there is a problem.

Yes, it is also possible that something unforseen could happen; and if it does, we should be patient and understanding. Nearly everything we have or use today has a computer chip in it, so how could we expect these people to catch every possible problem or think of every possible scenario. The people who worked on the Y2K problem also know this and contingency plans have been prepared.

A common sense approach being promoted by President's Council on Year 2000 Conversion suggests preparing as if you were approaching a long "holiday weekend" — a little extra cash, a three-day supply of food and water, a tank full of gas, flashlights, tools, batteries etc.... Doesn't sound like a fun holiday. It sounds more like preparing for one of our winter storms, and it sounds sensible.

Although I don't think there will be a problem when the clock ticks past midnight and the year 2000 begins, I'm glad government and business took the initiative to make sure they are Y2K ready.

It should be clear to you that I don't think there will be a problem when the new year begins. That's not quite accurate, however. I believe there will be at least one problem — paying for Y2K. One estimate places the cost to government and business to repair the computer glitch at over $114 billion by 2001, and you and I know who will pay for it.

I like to face each new year as if it holds hope and promise for peace and prosperity; so this year, once we've gotten beyond this Y2K "storm", I'm hoping for a Y2K dividend. That is, government and business finally will be able to invest their money and resources, and our tax monies on services or new products that we really need.

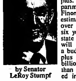
Discussion about Minnesota's surplus to dominate 2000 legislative session

Well, Minnesota has done it again.

Even after providing record-breaking tax cuts and sales tax rebates in 1999, Minnesota's economy has produced yet another eye-popping surplus. The Department of Finance has estimated that over the next six years, the state taxes will produce a budget surplus of $1.6 billion more than projected in February.



by Senator LeRoy Stumpf

So the question on everyone's mind is: What do we do with the extra money? The 2000 legislature will have a chance to discuss proposals for more tax cuts and rebates, as well as some needed investments in our state's infrastructure.

Clearly, there will be another round of tax cutting. Just like last year, I'd like to see some of the tax cuts and rebates directed at our state's ailing farm economy. When the Governor refused to address the farm crisis in a meaningful way last year, a bipartisan group of rural legislators banded together. DFLers and Republicans won a one-time farm aid payment of over $70 million, and permanent agricultural property tax cuts worth $51 million.

Recent research indicates our state is slipping into a "two-economy" system - a growing economy for the metro, with larger average salaries; and a failing economy for much of rural Minnesota, with the farm crisis looming large over farm families and main street businesses. Since it looks like farmers will be facing more of the same crisis in the months ahead, more farm-related tax cuts and assistance are in order.

There will be several ideas for cutting other taxes too. So far, there are proposals to cut the state sales tax from 6.5 percent to 6 percent; eliminate the MinnesotaCare tax of 1.5 percent on medical bills; cut income tax rates; reduce the fee for motor vehicle licensing; and a whole host of smaller tax cuts. There will be a great deal of discussion on the best way to cut taxes. Please know that I will only support tax cuts and fee reductions if the greatest benefit goes to middle-income Minnesotans, not just the rich.

I will also be re-introducing my bill to cut the state tax on charitable gambling. We won a partial reduction in 1999, but we should do more. Local charitable organizations should be able to keep the money they raise and spend it for good works in their communities, rather than sending money to the state to pay taxes.

Other priorities that the legislature should address in 2000 include transportation, education and local government. Funding for road and bridge repairs has been under-funded for several years now, and the Governor's veto of additional funding last year didn't help. The legislature should secure more stable, long-term funding for road repairs and improvements - dollars that the state Department of Transportation and counties can count on having well into the future. I'll be looking at several proposals.

Also, I'm interested in seeing an increase in education funding - for both K-12 and higher education. After years of flat funding, the legislature provided a well-deserved base budget increase for K-12 schools over the past two budget years. Continuing this funding not only helps children, it keeps the school district from raising local property taxes.

An unexpected and sharp increase in the number of students attending the Minnesota State Colleges and Universities - more than was budgeted for - has increased the costs for the system. A modest increase in their budget is in order.

Finally, I'd like to reduce the number of small fees, taxes and other costs that the state places on local units of government. These small costs add up quickly. The result is that local governments raise property taxes to pay for state-imposed policy.

Specifically, I will author a bill to repeal the state sales tax on local government purchases. This has been a source of complaint for cities, counties and townships for far too long. The state should take the opportunity to repeal this tax while we have enough revenue.

As always, I welcome any ideas or input you may have. Don't hesitate to contact me if I can be helpful to you.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

I'm writing a follow-up on the Miles Knutson story. I was surprised at all the people who enjoyed the story.

I have to tell one incident, which adds to the story. Miles' troop in Germany was stopped by a German Lady waving a lantern and shouting, "The bridge is out", in German. One of the men in the troop understood German and the troop was halted while the bridge was checked. Sure enough, the bridge used to cross the Rhine river was gone. Communication of this incident saved a lot of American soldiers. My husband was one of them because he couldn't swim.

He thought those Germans were okay. He came home and married a true German — me! He was pure Norwegian, and we raised four kind, honest, hard-working and intelligent children.

The irony of this is we are training kind, honest, caring (may have wife and children) young people to kill other kind, honest, caring people in other lands. We will even bribe them to sign up for the armed forces.

Sincerely,
Bernice Knutson

V-Chip helps protect kids from violence

"V for Victory" was once a popular slogan. Now "V for V-chip" may herald another victory — a victory to help parents protect their children from violent and sexually suggestive TV shows.

The V-chip is a device built into television sets that allows parents to block shows they do not want their children to see. The V-chip works in conjunction with the voluntary ratings system designed by the television industry. The first V-chip equipped TV sets are in stores now.

FCC Commissioner Gloria Tristani, chair of the commission's V-chip Task Force, noted that children spend about 28 hours a week watching TV, more time each year than they spend in the classroom.

"Much of what they are watching is violent. By the time they complete elementary school, children have witnessed about 8,000 murders and 100,000 acts of violence."

She noted that no parent can possibly know what's on TV all the time and, in many cases, children are in single parent households or household where both parents work.

"These parents want and deserve the ability to protect their children as much as parents who are able to closely monitor their children's viewing habits," she said.

The V-chip will give parents a modern tool to help raise their children in the modern world. Under the voluntary industry rating system, parents will be able to receive the information they need in order to determine whether an upcoming program contains sex, violence, offensive language or suggestive dialogue.

Commissioner Tristani warned that the V-chip will not relieve parents of the responsibility of determining what their children watch on TV, but will help them to fulfill that responsibility.

Television programmers "encode" programming so that the television rating information can be "read" by a V-chip equipped TV set. "The V-chip is essentially a remote control device with a longer range. It allows parents to 'turn off' programs while they are at work, at a PTA meeting, or at a movie."

Children are unable to un-block programming because only the parent knows the "PIN" number needed to program the TV set.

Some critics have said that the V-chip is too complicated for parents to use. However, many who have used the V-chip found it to be no more difficult than programming a VCR. In addition, "parents will do things for their children that they won't do for themselves," Tristani said. "I may not take the time to learn to program my VCR to record a movie, but I'll take the time to learn to program the V-chip to protect my children from objectionable material."

Consumers can also purchase a stand-alone box with V-chip capabilities that can be attached to an older television set that does not have the V-chip built-in.

"As parents begin using the V-chip, I am hopeful that they will come to value it as an effective and easy-to-use tool for blocking programming that they deem harmful to their children," Tristani said.

Happy New Year to you and yours!

Funeral services were held Friday, December 17, 1999 from the St. Helena Catholic Church in Minneapolis for Mrs. Sarah Oberpriller, 92, who passed away at a nursing home in the Twin Cities area. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Sarah Sorenson was born November 21, 1907 to Carl and Bergit Sorenson in the Plummer area where she attended grade school and graduated from high school in Thief River Falls. Later she moved to the cities where she was employed and later married to Frank Oberpriller. Mr. Oberpriller passed away in 1992. Sarah is survived by a daughter, Evonne, and four sons, Gary, Lon, Dean and Dan, 18 grandchildren, 7 great grandchildren and 3 great great-grandchildren. Also survivors are two sisters, Avis Frelland of Plummer and Edna Hill from Wisconsin. Attending the funeral from here were Arthur and Avis Frelland, Wevall and Lloyd Sorenson and Karl Sorenson.

The Christmas Lighting Contest sponsored by the Plummer Community Club (with funds donated by the Red Lake Electric and Ottertail Power Companies) proved to be a difficult task for the judges and as a result we have 1st Place co-winners. Marvin Engesether and the Tom Braaten, Jr. families who each received $50.00. The Tony Gerardy family received 3rd Place and a check for $30.00.

Honorable Mention goes to the Dean Torkelsons, the Steve Eskells, the John Paradis', Jeff Engesether, the Julie Dulka family, the Don Langtine and the Jim Kelleys. Their displays are beautiful and would be well worth your time to see. It really puts one in the Christmas spirit.

A special thanks to Ottertail Power and Red Lake Electric for their generosity and to all of the participants, you've really "Lit up our Lives" for this Holiday Season!

The Plummer American Legion Auxiliary held its annual Christmas party on December 9, 1999 at the Legion club rooms. As our honored guests we had the Department President Joyce Nordell, 9th District President Anne Olo and the 9th District Secretary Karen Fredrickson. A potluck supper was served and Christmas carols were sung. Santa Claus was there to hand out the presents for the present exchange. A good time was had by one and all. We, the Plummer American Legion Auxiliary, would like to wish a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all.

Linda (Luxenberg) and James Drapela of Houston are proud parents of a baby girl, Catherine Elizabeth, born on December 8th. Bob and Sue Luxenberg are the grandparents. Samantha is the "Big Sister" and Hazel Ollie of Plummer is the great grandmother.

Ray and Reinette Wolter and Roger and Janel Wolter hosted an afternoon luncheon party Sunday for their employees and their families. Among those attending were Herb and Esther Wolter, Al and Lorraine Fisher, Margaret Lull, Todd and Nancy Gustafson and sons, Ray and Marilyn Fisher, Ryan Riendeau, Joey Riendeau, Denny Konickson and Scott McMullen and other relatives and friends. Brian Wolter of Las Vegas, who was visiting his parents Ray and Reinette, also attended.

Owen Hugo, a former Plummer resident, passed away at the Hillcrest Nursing Home in Red Lake Falls Sunday, December 19th. Funeral services were held here at Immanuel with Rev. Clarence Johnson Pastor officiating. Burial was in Emerdville Cemetery.

Fern Eskell had as her guest Thursday for a Christmas luncheon Bunny Duchamp, Jean Carpenter, Amelia Eskell and Edna Hyde. Casey provided some afternoon entertainment by opening her Christmas presents.

Blair and Vicki Gustafson and family visited Monday evening at the Roy and Mary Beth Westlake home.

The Sunday school group and their teachers presented their Christmas program on Sunday evening with a large crowd attending and enjoying each part of the program. The theme was "Stars of Wonder" and all those happy eager folk, big and small, were all stars. Debbie Duchamp was M.C. for the group and expressed her thanks to everyone. Linda Olson was organist with a number of young people playing Christmas solos. Rev. Johnson also spoke and expressed his thanks. Gifts were handed out and lunch was served by Tabitha and Hannah Circles.

A reception party was held in Grand Forks Friday for Aaron Rostan, son of Byron and Sharon Rostan, who graduated from UND in Grand Forks. Among the guests were Byron and Sharon; sisters, Tracy and Catherine of Plummer; Carol Cardinal of Edina; Dale and Brad Mossee; Ted of Hopkins; Ernie Cardinal of Brooks; Donna and Arvis Mossestad of Plummer; Jim, Debbie and Marci Duchamp; Stuart, Margaret and Dave Peterson; Rocky Josperson, Bryce Huotari, Jeremy Cata, Aaron Chaput and Steve Kloety.

Jeremy Buckta, Jr. was also one of the graduates. There to help him celebrate was his father, Glen Buckta and brother, Glen Buckta and family.

RoseMary Eskell spent several days in the Thief River Falls hospital due to surgery. "Glad you're home, Rosie."

Al and Lorraine Fisher visited Sunday afternoon at the Edna Hyde home.

The Plummer Senior Citizen's Christmas Party was held on Thursday, December 16th at the Plummer Hall with a potluck dinner. Everyone sang Happy Birthday to Margaret Greenwald who had a December birthday. The Business Meeting was led by President Anne Jaeger. Frances Schiffert gave the Secretary's report. Margaret Greenwald gave the Treasurer's report. They were approved as read. The First Grade class and their teacher Sharon Rostan made special Christmas cards for each. Thank you very much for your efforts! Senior meals were discussed. Following adjournment the Plummer School Band with the instructor Nancy Pearson entertained us with three lively selections and everyone enjoyed the decorated Christmas tree done by Cindy Jaeger Ault.

The Committee On Aging Christmas Party was held December 14th at Third Base in Brooks with about twenty present for the noon meal. Christmas songs were sung and a State Fair report was given by Bill and Pauline Purath and a special reading by Marie Seeger. This was followed by many jokes and lively conversation.

The Holly Hock Homemakers held their Christmas party at the Lorna Neilson home. Jean Carpenter called the meeting to order and conducted the business meeting. Following adjournment, the group made cute snowflakes after which Lorna served a Christmas luncheon.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
PENNINGTON COUNTY
BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS
OCTOBER 12, 1999 10:00 A.M.

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Pennington County Courthouse in Thief River Falls, MN Tuesday, October 12, 1999 at 10:00 a.m. Members present: Bob Carlson, Charles Naplin, Oliver "Skip" Swanson, Arden "Bud" Comstock, and Donald Jensen. Members absent: none.

Chairman Carlson opened the Levy Certification Tax Rate Hearing at 10:00 a.m.

The following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Comstock, seconded by Commissioner Swanson and upon vote unanimously carried:

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the State of Minnesota has enacted Chapter 243, Laws of Minnesota 1999, Article 6, Section 2 requiring a County Board to have adopted and filed an authorizing resolution if its county's tax rate turns out to be higher the following year than a theoretical tax rate for the previous year under the law, and

WHEREAS, Pennington County prides itself on beginning its budget process as early as possible in the calendar year in order to maximize input by all concerned parties and allow full review of all expenditure items, and

WHEREAS, there are numerous factors that are beyond the control of county board and that can potentially cause tax rates to rise, including but limited to: A. Class rate changes by the state on various types of property; B. The economy and its effect on the tax base, including real estate and new construction growth or lack thereof; C. Tax Increment Financing (TIF) districts created by cities; D. Limitations on what percentage the market value of property can rise each year as set by the state; and E. Unfunded mandates upon local governments and reductions of federal and state aid; and

WHEREAS, because of those outside factors beyond control, a county may need to have a higher tax rate for the following year, and if the tax rate has to go up, Pennington County wishes to be in compliance with the law with an authorizing resolution adopted and filed; and

WHEREAS, Pennington County's property tax levy has been set each year well within the levy limitations imposed by the State of Minnesota, and,

WHEREAS, even during those years when the state has not enacted levy limitations, Pennington County has had its own self-imposed levy limitations to protect the interests of the county's property taxpayers.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that if the tax rate of 65.00% for the year 2000 is higher than the tax rate certified by the County Auditor under clause (3) of Section 2, Article 6, Chapter 243, Laws of Minnesota 1999, the higher tax rate is hereby authorized by the Board of Commissioners.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that regardless of outside factors impacting tax rates, the Pennington County Board of Commissioners remains firmly committed to the delivery of mandated and other important services at a cost well within established levy limits in order to hold down property taxes of the citizens of Pennington County.

BE IT FINALLY RESOLVED, that an official copy of this adopted resolution be filed with the County Auditor, who for purposes of this law in Pennington County is the Division Manager of Property Records and Taxation.

Chairman Carlson closed the Levy Certification Tax Rate Hearing and opened the County Board meeting.

Phyllis Schmidt, Pennington County Welfare Director, met with the County Board to discuss the 60-month time limit for TANF funds. She stated that the current policy prescribes for a lifetime 60-month limit of TANF funds for adult individuals. The policy does provide exemptions in which particular months are not counted toward the 60-month lifetime limit due to varying circumstances. Examples are, when a client opts out of cash assistance, or is a victim of domestic abuse with an approved safety plan. There is no provision for exemption from counting months for individuals who have obtained full-time employment. Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to approve the proposal to add additional exemptions from the 60-month time limit for TANF funds. Motion unanimously carried.

Leon Heath from the Northwest Regional Development Commission Land Use Planning met with the County Board. Mr. Heath stated that Denver Tolliver and Associates are currently working on a draft of the Land Use Plan for Pennington County to be finished by the end of October. Commissioner Jensen requested that two committee meetings be scheduled before the public hearing on the Land Use Plan.

A Red River Basin Planning Project overview was handed out to the County Board. The project is aimed at connecting counties, who are the only body with general land use control authority, to the extremely complicated system of planning bodies, which currently operates in the Red River Basin. The project will be a joint effort between the Northwest Regional Development Commission and the Red Lake Watershed District, targeted towards Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake and Polk Counties. Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to participate in the Red River Basin Planning and appoint Commissioner Jensen as Pennington County's representative. Motion unanimously carried.

Sheriff Mike Hruby met with the County Board to discuss bills submitted for payment. The Pennington County dive team went to Marshall County for a job and came back to Pennington County to eat breakfast. The County Board informed the County Sheriff that no meals eaten within Pennington County are reimbursed to employees as stated in the County Policy.

The sheriff also discussed a hospital bill for $519.00 received from the city police department. The County Attorney was directed to send a letter to the City of Thief River Falls regarding the bill.

The County Board was given an update on the population of the jails.

After more discussion on the Pennington County dive team breakfast, Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Jensen to authorize payment of the breakfast bill out of the Boat and Water Fund. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to approve May 25, June 8, June 24, and July 13 County Board minutes. Motion unanimously carried.

Silverton Township had contacted the County Engineer about needing an approach with a 30-inch corrugated metal pipe, band, and two aprons installed at the Silverton Town Hall. The total cost of the project is estimated at $1,586.00. Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to authorize the Pennington County Highway Department to install the 30-inch pipe, band, and two aprons through a new approach at the Silverton Town Hall. Silverton Township will be responsible for $500.00 of the project with Pennington County participating. Motion unanimously carried.

A letter from Oscar Breiland notified the County Engineer that a centerline pipe is needed through County Road #68 near the intersection of County Road #58 and #68, sections 27 & 28 in Kratka Township. According to Pennington County's Policy, County Road centerline culverts, under gravel roads, will be furnished and installed by the county. The cost of installation shall be split 50/50 with the benefiting property owners. The County Board directed the problem to the County Highway Road & Bridge Committee.

The County Engineer voiced his concerns regarding P.A.W.S. (Pets Are Worth Saving) using part of the old Highway Maintenance Shop in North Township.

Marvin Bakken will be submitting a petition to clean County Ditch #73 for a total of two miles in Section 4 and 9 in Hickory Township and Section 33 in Star Township. Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to approve cleaning County Ditch #73 upon receipt of the petition for the two miles in Hickory and Star Township. The approval rides on that the petition will state where the spoil bank will be placed. Motion unanimously carried.

The Minnesota Department of Transportation wants the County to install a culvert through the approach on C.S.A.H. #17 off U.S. #59 on their right-of-way of John and Cindy Nissen's property. The estimated costs are $4,500.00. The County Board directed the County Engineer to do a survey to place the culvert in the correct spot.

Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to approve modifications to the administrative workstations in the amount of $2,599.01 for the Government Joint Use Facility because of metal support columns. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to complete the second approach to the main parking lot at the Multi-Cultural Events Center on Trunk Highway #1 as Pennington County's final obligation. Motion unanimously carried.

Howard Person, solid waste officer and County Attorney Dave Olin discussed a proposal from SWIS PENNCO. The proposal stated if Pennington County contributed towards SWIS PENNCO's fines from Minnesota Pollution Control Agency that they would hold the tipping fee at $61.00. There was discussion that the tipping fee should stay at $58.50 since SWIS PENNCO is not fulfilling their end of the contract. Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to not participate in any fines associated with SWISS CORP as stated in the contract Sections 2.2 and 2.6. Motion unanimously carried.

Steve Nordhagen joined Howard Person to inform the County Board that Lee's Sanitation will start recycling office quality paper at volunteer sites. The Courthouse will be participating with the recycling.

Rick Nordhagen spoke from the audience stating that the waste oil tank has sprung a leak and is unfixable. Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Jensen to approve the purchase of a steel waste oil tank from the St. Hilaire Supply. Motion unanimously carried.

Scott Peters, STS crew leader met with the County Board. He discussed the request from the County Board to have a STS person readily available to do outside work during the year for the custodians of the Courthouse. Scott stated that a STS worker is already set for shoveling snow in the early mornings for the Law Enforcement Center, the Courthouse, and the Welfare Building.
